Preller Group to Cover Transfers, Leave, Layoff

ALBANY, June 7 — The next public hearing on proposed revisions to the Civil Service Law in the State Commission on Revision of the Civil Service Law, will be held by the State Temporary Commission on Revision of the Civil Service Law in the State Capitol at 10:00 A.M. Assemblyman Preller of Dolgeville, chairman, will preside.

The chairman said he will not make non-permanent appointments, open-competitive and promotion examinations; eligibility lists, certifiers, and examination schedules; competitive and non-competitive service; transfers, leave of absence, leave without pay, furloughs, disciplinary actions, layoffs and other changes in compensation of State employees. He said he will ask that interested parties be notified of their intention to be present, or of the intended locations of such positions in the Commission at 270 Broadway, NYC.

DON'T REPEAT THIS

If Dewey Doesn't Run

THERE'S a settled opinion in poll-taking circles that they would have a high bid for the nomination under a man who will not run for the Republican candidacy for President.

But what if Dewey doesn't run? He has been on a long vacation and, for whatever reason, he may not run. Preller Group to Cover Transfers, Leave, Layoff. For DE Workers.

Looking Inside

BY H. J. BERNARD

The U. S. Civil Service Commission has offered a sensible and a workable plan for converting permanent on indefinite employees. The "indefinites" would enter a new group, called "career-conditioned," and by that act attain competitive status, if they got their jobs through a competitive examination. For the first time in the nation's history, permanent employees would be laid off before permanent career employees. The first career-conditional year would bring a pay increase; for the next three years the same career-conditional employees would become permanent automatically, with maximum protection against layoffs, factors of veteranship or non-veteranship assumed equal. "Indefinite" not hired through a competitive exam would be given opportunity to pass one. The plan did not come as a surprise, since the Commission, especially through speeches by Chairman Philip Young, gave the gist of it months ago. The news is that the Commission tentatively approved it. Final action will be taken only after employees, veteran and non-veteran, are consulted through formal proceedings. The Commission's steady policy of letting the employees and the public at large know in advance what it is considering doing results in that earlier consultation having been tentatively approved until preliminary comments had been received from the very groups now given an opportunity to take a formal stand. This is good civil service and good public relations.

Amendments to the plan may be necessary; the Commission even invites suggestions in that direction, but basically the Commission has a concrete and practical plan. It is a shame that employees in permanent jobs have been compelled to endure permanent non-status, many for years. The Commission is courageously trying to remedy an injustice not of its own making.

The STATE Civil Service Commission conducted a guided tour of its offices for reporters for the civil service press in conjunction with the first press conference of Chairman Oscar M. Taylor after those long months of preparation from N.Y.C. for themselves and others to learn how much better the State Commission is equipped to perform its duties than the NYC Commission. Not only is the extent of personnel to be reported upon by the two agencies, in the opinion of the committee, the only one that can judge the cooperation from the other departments. A tough salary formula is to be applied, and more work has to be done than the State Commission. In most cases, answer of other departments pitch in, as members of a committee, as the reporters saw. This results largely from the Governor's interest. The State Department heads more overburdening the NYC Commission than helping it. Mayor Wagner has still another task to perform, even if his new Personnel Director, yet unselected, will be in charge of personnel. The Mayor is conscious of the task. He has decided each department to have a personnel officer of its own to cooperate with the citywide Personnel Director. It will be an interesting test to see how well cooperation denied in the past will succeed in the future.

THREE CHEERS—make it four—for NYC Police Commissioner Adams for boldly taking the leadership of the drive by the line organizations of the uniformed force for a decent wage.

The classified U. S. employees are as much interested in the postal pay raise as are the Post Office employees. The postal employees are strongly organized and what they receive and the wage rate sets the pace. They may almost be said to win the raise for the others, as well as for themselves.

The 14-10 vote of the House Post Office and Civil Service Committee for a 7 per cent raise for the postal workers, a considerable improvement over the Eisenhow administration's plan, gives promise that the Federation of classified employees, about to come up for committee vote, will be determined to follow the same pattern.

The $100 allowance for uniforms appears certain of being voted by the House Judiciary Committee, will be changed to follow the same pattern. The House of Representatives for the civil service press, in conjunction with the National Press Association, is entitled to that allowance. The Public at large know long in advance what it is considering doing. The overall drop since Eisenhower and the administration's plan, gives promise to career-conditional status of those who pass high enough. No change in pay is made. The overall drop since Eisenhower and the administration's plan, gives promise to career-conditional status of those who pass high enough. No change in pay is made.

GOING DOWN! That's still the call. In the report on NYC professional. On June 1 there were 8,792, or 168 fewer, in permanent vacancies, 2,651 fewer than April 1. For the first time in several years, the number of people unemployed was reduced to 3,521; social investigator, second with 450. The overall drop since January 1, nearly 1,300. The NYC Transit Authority promoted 495 employees as a result of the pay raise. The Commission made the recommendation effective June 1; increments on the new basis, January 1, 1955. 33 State Employees In 18 Agencies Picked For Year's Training

ALBANY, June 7 — Governor Dewey has named 33 men and women in 18 State agencies selected as participants in a two-week training program.* They were nominated by their department heads as part of the State's effort to train public administrators and enhance the ability of public agencies to serve the public. The final selections were announced by Governor Dewey, who has appointed a public administration committee to conduct the training sessions.

Six of the new trainees are women, and 18 of the 27 senior positions are filled by men.

This training program was initiated in 1951 and has continued each year since then as part of the State's program to improve public administration. It provides training opportunities for employees who have been selected by their department heads as promising candidates for administrative leadership.

The trainees will join with similar groups in other agencies in formal training sessions in personnel management, budget and accounting, and other aspects of government administration. They will also have the opportunity to study personnel administration for the past seven years.

The trainees will be led by the State's Department of Civil Service.

The employee trainees will join with other public administration interns in formal training sessions in personnel administration, budget and accounting, and other aspects of government management. They will also have the opportunity to study personnel administration for the past seven years.

EGO-SATISFACTION

To the Editor, The LEADER

As moonlight glistened upon the rooftop of the Daily News, and the thousands of the overcharging blackmailer were counting the money they had been blackmailed, I was interested in your recent column "Trying to Care: Or Kill, Doc?" which appeared under the heading "CIVIL SERVICE LEADER," June 30, 1954.

The author's first paragraph even begins with a quotation and suggests that I, as an overcharging blackmailer, have been blackmailed and blackened by the author of the Daily News. It seems that the author has been blackmailed by the public and blackened by the press.

Yet, the author does not seem to have been blackmailed by the public, as he continues his column with, "The Daily News summed it up: "Certainly the HIP . . . is well regarded. Operating on insurance principles, ..."

Incidental to this, I would like to point out that the author of the Daily News is blackmailed by the public, as his column "Trying to Care: Or Kill, Doc?" is well regarded by the public. His column is written in insurance principles, which is well regarded by the public.

Yours sincerely,

Statisticians Hear Moore

ALBANY, June 7 — The first annual New York State Conference on Government Statistics, held last week in the State Assembly Chamber, featured an im- portant address by David Moore, former Lieutenant Governor Frank C. Moore.

The conference was sponsored by the Albany chapter, American Statistical Association, which comprises many State officials.

On the program, in addition to Mr. Moore, the keynote speaker, were:

Robert W. Surgeoner, census director, U. S. Department of Commerce; Booth David, University of New York; Dr. Edwin Hildebrandt, University of Michigan; and T. Norman Harril, State Budget Director.

The meeting was attended by almost all the State Department of Labor representatives; Dr. Herman E. Hildebrandt, Deputy State Health Commissioner; Donald H. Davenport, Commerce Department, and Milton O. Loyns, director of State Division of Employment

Three officials of the State Edu-

Correction Group

To Meet on Two Days This Month

The semi-annual meeting of the Correction Group, to be held at the Hotel Wellington, Albany, June 13, will include a session on personnel and of school attendance officials and other pupil personnel workers, focusing on the facilities for the early detection and prevent-

Better personnel relations. Many of the present pension system will be studied. The House of Representatives last week voted to include State employees in Social Security. The question will take a good deal of study, said the Wrightsville Independent, and it will be studied.

Other speakers were: Isaac D. Geffe, assistant commissioner of the Children's Court, Franklin County, Lake Placid; Isaac S. Hungerford, administrative director, Federal Employees' Retirement System; Daniel Daly, chief, Bureau of Employment Services, State Labor Department; Dr. John E. Trask, director, State Hospital and Mental Services, Nisana Falls, and G. Howard Gould, executive secretary, New York State Teachers Association.

He Was a Fine Fellow

The death of Dr. Harry M. Archer, NYC Second Deputy Fire Commissioner, fills tens of thousands of persons with a sense of personal loss and remorse, not only in the city, but throughout the State. Dr. Archer, at 78, was a well-known figure in the world of fire prevention, and his death is a serious loss to the field.

Dr. Archer was the younger brother of the late Dr. James M. Archer, who served as the first Fire Commissioner of the City of New York. The two brothers were both prominent in the field of fire prevention, and their combined efforts helped to establish the modern fire prevention programs that are in place today.

Dr. Archer was born in New York City in 1875 and graduated from the College of Physicians and Surgeons in 1897. He served as a fireman for the City of New York from 1903 to 1917, and then went on to become a fire prevention officer for the New York City Department of Consumer Affairs. He later served as a fire prevention officer for the federal government.

Dr. Archer was a member of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers, the American Institute of Mining Engineers, and the American Society of Naval Engineers. He was also a member of the New York City Fire Department and the New York City Board of Estimate.

Dr. Archer is survived by his wife, Mrs. Harry M. Archer, and two sons, Dr. James M. Archer and Dr. William M. Archer.

NYC SIDELIGHTS

The mayor's committee found the city's residential requirements for police protection and fire prevention programs. A big question is the city's ability to solve the problem, and that an adequate police force is a prerequisite. And in some parts of the city, there are no police at all.

The city's police force is understaffed, and the fire department is understaffed as well. The city's residents are concerned about the safety and security of their homes, and they want to know that they will be protected.

SCHOLARSHIP PRESENTED

The employees of the NYC Housing Authority presented a four-year scholarship to David Goldstein, son of Mrs. Rose Goldstein, an Authority employee. David, who ranked highest of the children of HA employees in the State Regents' scholarship exam held last month, will receive a $1,000 check for four years in addition to the state scholarship award. A Lafayette High School senior, David will study mechanical engineering at the Polytechnic Institute.

The U.S. Air Force needs 125 chart makers to meet its needs for a year, with varying levels of skills. The job requires a 13-week course and pays $2,450 to $3,100 per year.

U.S. Jobs/Operate Outside State

The U.S. Civil Service Commission listed the following vacancies outside New York City:

- Laundry worker (male), Fort Detrick, Maryland.
- Nautical and Intelligence public relations officer, St. Elizabeths Hospital, Washington, D.C.
- Clinical psychology intern, $2,200, and resident clinical psychology intern, $3,000, at the Department of Veterans Affairs, Long Island, New York.

A MEETING of the executive council of James E. Christian Meters, CBEA, took place on June 3. In his report, the following:

The annual picnic will be held on June 26 at Tioga State Park, near Avella Park, N. Y.

Arcadia was played and the picnic included a lot of music and dancing. The picnic was attended by a large number of people. The weather was fine and everyone enjoyed themselves. The food was excellent and there was plenty to eat. The band played popular music and there were other entertainment. The evening closed with a dance at the campfire.
