Serious Consequences of Inadequate Pay

SUR-STANDARD SALARIES are notorious in the NYC government and the effects are serious.

Recently Police Commissioner Francis W. Adams dramatized the effect of low police pay, and numerical inefficiency of force, on the moral outlook and juvenile delinquency.

The public has never had an opportunity to vote, in recent years, its conviction about police pay, but there is no doubt that vote would be more for than against the firemen always get the support of the people at the polls. Public officials who deny the uniformly forces the pay they deserve, however great the difficulty of providing adequate pay, and equally great the consequences of insufficient pay, are dangerous counsellors, both civilly and politically.

In fact the Board of Hospitals recommends that new hospital projects be deferred, partly because of the difficulty of furnishing the extra funds required, and mostly because of lack of proved need.

When police protection is less than NYC deserves, and crime and delinquency flourish as a result, when hospitals to care for the needy in all public aid is not provided at the subsidizing efficient pay offered, it is obvious that other, though less vital, obligations to the public can not be, and are not being met, and that therefore the reclassification project of providing adequate pay, and recognizing the sound public opinion in this respect, is of importance.

The U. S. TREASURY DEPARTMENT will issue regulations governing Social Security benefits for public employees, and it is hoped that these regulations will be accepted by the various States, as the provision in which public employees and pensioners are particularly interested are not in the dubious category.

Because public employee pay often lags considerably behind that of workers in private industry, the benefits gain significance for government workers and pensioners more than for university. For instance, being able to claim an exemption for a dependent son or daughter who is a student, regardless of the amount of money earned by the child in part-time or summer work, puts an end to the ridiculous habit of government workers, even when those benefits apply generally. For instance, in some liberalization, under which no tax will have to be paid, up to income of $4000, and 3 per cent, instead of 5 per cent, of income, to determine the amount left as deductible.

There are ordinary and line-of-duty retirement provisions, independent of such food and lodging, called maintenance, not be a part of compensation, hence not taxable. This gain was won by the Civil Service Employees Association and represents the rectification of an indefensible burden, particularly on New York State employees who work in institutions. From January 1, 1944, the effective date of the entire amended tax law, no tax on maintenance will have to be paid. A suit

Chairman Clifford Amsom noted that some people have already made plans for the coming summer. He encouraged everyone to plan early as the weather is excellent for summer activities. The Association will review appeals from individuals in each chapter regarding time, place and dates of any of these meetings.

As a matter of fact, the Association is desirous of a time and place to be set down to the maximum extent in the operating schedule of appeals, so that the widely separated members of the Association will know when to appear to present their cases, and to the extent feasible to have each and every chapter use the same time, place and date for any of these meetings.

U. S. to Fill Clerk, Teacher, Steno, Nursing, Librarian, and Other Jobs Overseas

A wide range of civilian technical, clerical, executive, and administrative positions will be available in many locations throughout the world for U. S. civil service and personnel officers of the various agencies. These positions are both in the classified civil service and those in the civil service of the military services. Schedules A and B are exempt from the civil service law and require the approval of the U. S. Civil Service Commission.

Most overseas jobs are on a cost-of-living basis, including the cost-of-living allowance, or both. For signal jobs, to Chief Personnel Officers of the various agencies, jobs are in the classified civil service. Schedule B is the most commonly used at the depot, and a sharp drop in both coverage and comprehension among other employees.

One of the sound methods of improving the pension plan, though no substitute for adequate pay during his period of service. In fact, inadequate pay can not be satisfactorily offset by any tax break, even if it is substantial.

The reduction of the contributions of NYC pensioners and free men, to 25 per cent of pay, as against former 35, was in recognition of their great sacrifice for the country, not for personal enrichment. When The Travelers became the Insurer on the Association's Accident and Sickness Plan, July 1, 1953, it provided several substantial additional benefits, at no extra cost, on a temporary basis pending accumulation of experience needed to find out the effect of the additional benefits on the Plan. Statistics are being compiled as rapidly as possible and every effort is directed to providing the broadest benefits that can be afforded on a sound basis.

Many thousands of dollars are being paid each month by The Travelers and hundreds of Policyholders have written Ter Bush & Powell, Inc., The Travelers and the Association, expressing their thanks for the kind consideration given their claims and for the very prompt payment of benefits.

The Plan is administered by Ter Bush & Powell, Inc., under the direction of "Chuck" Carlisle with the able assistance of Larry Hollister.

The Plan is underwritten by The Travelers Insurance Company, Hartford, Connecticut, under personal supervision of an Accident Department Secretary and several underwriters.

Claims are supervised by the Company's Home Office Life, Accident and Group Claim Department, assisted by 13 claim managers in the Field. Unusual questions on claims are channeled through The Travelers claim manager at Schenectady who conducts preliminary discussions with "Chuck" Carlisle before the Company renders an official decision.

The handling of this Plan is very smooth. Broad underwriting experience and sound practices of The Travelers have made it possible for many persons to receive protection under this splendid insurance.

Claims are paid promptly and correctly. Everyone seems very happy over the new set-up and the extremely broad benefits provided.
