Looking Inside

Higher Pensions Needed: Broaden Protection, Too

ALTHOUGH everything connected with adding Social Security benefits to the retirement system of federal employees on the assumption that benefits are not required will be more favorable to the employees than to the taxpayer, the situation as it now exists is not necessarily a bad one. It is possible that the system and the law have not been brought in line yet with the present state of the country. The government may have to pay a little more, but a little more is not a bad thing, if that is the price of improvement in the state of the law. The government may have to pay a little more, but a little more is not a bad thing, if that is the price of improvement in the state of the law.

The federal government's studies are so much further advanced than those of the States that the U. S. will act first, on its own account, of course, and will adopt a plan to be adopted by the States. This plan in turn might be reduced to five-twelvths of cost. The federal government, with its own employees, will be in a position to employ itself to the advantage of the States. The White House is in favor of such a plan.

In New York State, no such speed can be expected. A committee is to report to the next session of the legislature. Quite likely a majority of methods of supplementation will be proposed for discussion, including increasing the cost of the system beyond the level at which the federal government employees in the Federal System are themselves too high to be added to the system. Even in that case, it is unlikely that the cost of benefits to the States will be reduced to five-twelvths of cost.

Social Security Reorganization

There has been a great deal of controversy over the efficiency of the Social Security system, and the improvement and modernization of the Civil Service Retirement System as recommended by the Kapian Committee. The new Civil Service Retirement System would be better known as the Kapian Committee.

Elliott Kaplan is chairman of the committee. The Kapian committee reports, they have made, to the Department of the Interior, in the Federal, local, and State or local levels. In the Federal, local, or State level, is that no employee's benefits would be reduced. Another provision that could be included, and would not, is that cost will not increase, no longer the combined benefits of a pension and insurance. The plan will probably provide for contributions to the public employees' retirement system by the employees themselves, as well. It is assumed, in the same way, that the Social Security contributions will add to the system in any one man's pension, insurance, and Social Security benefits to the advantage already-existing.

The whole question is so steeped in technicalities and statistics, it is possible to prophesy the direction this move will take, but in any case, it is possible to prophesy the direction this move will take, but in any case, it is possible to prophesy the direction this move will take, but in any case, it is possible to prophesy the direction this move will take, but in any case, it is possible to prophesy the direction this move will take.

Proportioning the Cost

The plan will probably provide for contributions to the public employees' retirement system by the employees themselves, as well. It is assumed, in the same way, that the Social Security contributions will add to the system in any one man's pension, insurance, and Social Security benefits to the advantage already-existing.

There is nothing political or partisan in the proposed increase in the civil service, 156 in clerical, 128 in professional and 183 in的技术, 132 in clerical, 128 in professional and 183 in the civil service.

This is what it was like in the lobby of Albany's DeWitt Clinton Hotel between sessions, when delegates to the 44th annual meeting of the Civil Service Employees Association centered for the two days. Alleged to have been the hounded orator or for informal discussions of the matters that came up at the formal sessions. Nearly 500 delegates and officers, representing more than 40,000 State and local employees, met during the two sessions. Tentative objectives for the coming year, heard political candidates of both parties set forth their platforms on civil service, and considered a variety of internal organizational problems. Actions taken by delegates to the annual meeting are expected to bear much fruit in the coming year.

The Niagara Chapter has con- shaped the activities and ac- complishments of the Association. After a lengthy dis- cussion they rejected proposals for an overall salary increase for 1955, and a $10 across-the-board salary increase for 1956.

The members of the Board pointed out that there was little increase in the cost of living in- dex since 1955 and that the sur- vey made in 1955 and the salary scale established at that time has not been revised in County salaries. Even though these issues continue to exist, there has been no provision to correct these for the coming year. No action has been taken on the increment plan. The supervi- sans pointed out that industry has no such benefits and even though the family of James Dunn, Mr. and Mrs. Dunn, has been put in another class, they are not in favor of such a plan for Niagara County at this time.

FlaT Races, Too!

ALBANY, Oct. 18—You could tell that members of the CSEA resolutions committee aren't horse players, or if they are, they're giving the high stepping action of the harness races in the sick skies at the track a pass. A resolution, as drafted by the committee, proposed an end to the discrimination against public employees, who are de- noted by legislation and the As- sociation's own position, em- ployment at harness racing tracks. What about the flat races? asked Henry Steiner, chairman of the Metropolitan Confer- ence. Most of the flat races in New York State take place in the metropolitan area.

The committee amended, and the resolution calls for equality of opportunity for State employees to work at HORSERACING tracks.
Fruitful Give-and-Take Held By Dr. Bigelow and Aides On Institutional Problems

ALBANY, Oct. 25 — Problems relating to institutional employees were aired and mutually acceptable solutions arrived at by the regular meeting of an executive committee set up by Commissioner Bigelow. Employees Association representatives met with Commissioner Bigelow on October 13 in Albany, according to a staff announcement. The two-hour round table session was held by eight representatives from the Association, Dr. Bigelow, Dr. Arthur Peter, Deputy Commissioner, and Grady Halvors, director of the personnel office.

The meeting was requested from the employees for more detailed information on decisions taken from the recent open shop meetings at the checks were figured. Dr. Bigelow suggested that individuals contact local payroll offices for more information.

Personal Men Wanted

The need for personal officers at the institutional level was brought up again at the meeting. The committee asked for at least one personal officer at each institution from the employees might obtain information about service regulations and employee requirements, and who would be acceptable to both the employees and the problems arising in connection with these officers. The Association pointed out that the department favors the proposal.

Out-Of-Title Work

The problem of employees working out of title was discussed again. The group was told that the department is in the process of reviewing staff assignments to determine the problem, and that this report will be made by qualified personnel officers.

Employees expressed interest in a handbook containing the rules and regulations of the Civil Service Department, which would supplement the department bulletin. There is a feeling that the handbook should contain information about matters such as attendance rules, leave, pension, salary, insurance and civil service procedures.

MREB representatives told Commissioner Bigelow that employees feel the family leave rule is too rigid. This rule defines serious illness as "illness of such a degree that there is considerable doubt of the person's recovery." Dr. Bigelow said the department will cooperate to obtain a more liberal interpretation of the serious illness part of the family leave rule. The employee representatives also decided to request a meeting with Civil Service to investigate the possibility of modifying the rule.

Accumulated Sick Leave

The executive committee recommended that the department expedite the process of crediting accumulated sick leave to employees to be paid for accumulated sick leave. Dr. Bigelow agreed to start with these recommendations and asked the group to supply him with further information. Concern over accumulated sick leave means that some private industry does not deduct a tax on money paid to employees for the time that they are on sick leave. They had asked if the employees could follow the same practice.

Training

Training and educational opportunities suggested for the meeting, and employees were asked to give the department some ideas for these fields in which they feel greater opportunities should be made available, and recommendations for courses. Dr. Bigelow listed educational opportunity records made available to several thousand employees.

Here's how you can save together at the same Dime

When two of you share plans and hopes and dreams—save together and you'll save more! You can have a Joint Account in two names at The Dime. You can both make deposits whenever you like. You can both make withdrawals on individual signatures if you wish—or you can open the account so both signatures are necessary for withdrawing money. In the event of death of one person, the balance is payable to the survivor.

And... if you wish, you can open your Joint Account in Trust for your child or children to whom you would like to leave a fund of honest and clean administrative responsibility.

Why Every Civil Service Worker Should VOTE for Ives and McGovern

You've heard about "FRINGE BENEFITS"

Remember: Senator Ives staunchly supported the great fringe benefit bill for Federal employees signed by President Eisenhower. This is the kind of thinking and planning that will help the Civil Service under Ives and McGovern.

Want performance? Here are the facts about improvement in civil service under the Republicans:

- Increase in average salaries: $2,320 in 1942 ... Now it's $3,900.
- Increased minimum pensions to retired employees.
- 55-year retirement under most-improved public pension plan in U.S.
- Social Security brought to 80,000 employees who never had any protection at all before.
- Job reclassification with higher pay at nearly $18,000,000 a year.
- First employee grievance machinery ever installed by a State government.

That's Performance, Not Piecrust... That's the kind of performance you'll want to continue.

Special Allowances To Firemen

THE firefighters of New York City want equal treatment. Anthony J. Tini, vice president of the New York State Firefighters Association, has gone to Richard D. Balch, State Democratic chairman, and asked Balch intercede with the NYC administration, on the ground that the City has given a 7% salary increase to members of the State's firefighters, but has denied the NYC firefighters any such increase.

The difference, Tini said, is due to the fact that under the Civil Service Act, the NYC firefighters are not members of the Civil Service, and, therefore, do not receive the benefits that come with Civil Service status.

"The NYC firefighters are doing exactly the same job as the State firefighters," Tini said. "They should receive the same benefits." He added that the Association has been asking for a 7% increase for the NYC firefighters, but has not received a response from the City administration.

The Association believes that the NYC firefighters should be treated the same as the State firefighters, and that they should receive the same benefits. They are asking the City administration to consider granting them the 7% salary increase.

The Association has threatened to take legal action if the City administration does not agree to grant the 7% increase to the NYC firefighters.
Executive-Legislative Relations

Three experts will spark the discussion of the rivalry between executive and legislative branches of government, to be held on Tuesday, October 26, at a meeting of the Metropolitan chapter, American Society for Public Administration.

The event is sponsored by the Institute of Executive Education at Hunter College (Park Avenue and 87th Street). The program is preceded by dinner at 6:30 p.m. The meeting is free.

Belle Zemon, editor of "American Journal of Public Administration," and Homer Ferguson, chairman, participating in the discussion, are U.S. Senator Homer Ferguson; and Homer E. Scace, Jr., chief executive officer of the New York City Council, respectively.

Legislative powers are used? How can these limitations be enforced or mitigated? What method and procedure are used to lessen governmental programs and administrations in the United States? These questions and others will be discussed.

Among the questions to be considered are those: How effective are legislatures — federal, state and local? What method and procedure are used to lessen the powers of government? What legislative powers can be enforced or mitigated?

Democrats Lay It Right On The Line

Civil Service employees have asked for straight answers about their problems — and they have real problems.

From Averell Harriman, Geo. B. DeLuca, Arthur Levitt and Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., they have gotten straight answers.

From the Republicans they've gotten doubletalk and gobbledygook.

We think Civil Service employees had a right to ask tough questions. We think both parties have a duty to answer. Only the Democrats have done so.

So here are the questions, and here the answers:

Question:
What kind of labor relations machinery do you favor? How much should employees participate in the process? Should the Condon-Wadlin law be repealed?

Answer:
Averell Harriman says: "Proper channels for the settlement of grievances, negotiating all outstanding issues, can no longer be left to whim, haphazard handling, or political pull. The existing labor relations machinery under the Dewey administration is a gross failure. I favor labor relations machinery in which the employees participate as equals with management, and through which every legitimate grievance may be solved."

Franklin D. Roosevelt says: "The Condon-Wadlin act is one of the dirtiest deals ever imposed on public employees. It is a whiplash in the form of legislation. It is supposed to be an anti-strike law—but it is so worded that it can be used to kill the public employee's organization. It has caused communities to resort to subterfuge. It has given public workers the status of second-class citizens."

Question:
Are you willing to recommend to the Legislature an appropriation to assure adequate and equitable pay to State employees?

Answer:
Averell Harriman says: "Yes, and we'll never do what the Dewey administration did—hold off payment of a salary increase until just before election time, in a crude bid for votes. We Democrats believe in equal pay for equal work, sufficient money must be appropriated to assure adequate, equitable pay for all public employees—this is an obligation the State can not shirk."

Question:
What is your view of fringe benefits?

Answer:
Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr. says: "We plan to institute a study of fringe benefits in private industry and in the Federal Government, and to apply that experience to the needs of State and Local employees."

"The 40-hour 6-day week ought to cover public workers in all parts of the State."

"Time and a half pay for overtime work is a 'must' in private industry. The Democrats will make it a 'must' for public workers, too."

The Democrats platform says: "We intend to explore the possibilities of a prepaid contributory health insurance plan for employees."

Question:
How would you strengthen public employee retirement systems? And what is your view concerning integration of social security benefits and the retirement system?

Answer:
Averell Harriman says: "We have by no means reached the end of the road in retirement improvement. In certain cases where local employees are not covered by any retirement system, they should be permitted social security coverage. . . . some combination of social security benefits with those of public retirement systems might be arranged, without in any way impairing the strength of existing systems, but giving the employees additional advantages."

Franklin D. Roosevelt says: "We are going to call in public employee representatives and we are going to study with an open mind all the proposals they make—for 25 year retirement, for vesting of pensions, for better survivorship arrangements."

(The complete statement of Averell Harriman. in answer to direct questions, appeared in the Civil Service Leader of October 12. The text of Franklin D. Roosevelt's address before the Civil Service Employees Association was reprinted in the Leader on October 19. All public employees—Federal, State and local—should read both statements in full. IT'S ON THE LINE.)

There It Is, On The Line, On The Record. And That's Where The Democrats Want It.

The Democrats respect the merit system — will extend opportunities for training — will REALLY reorganize the State Civil Service Commission.

Pre-Retirement Counselling O.K. By Association

Albany, Oct. 25.—Pre-retirement counsellors offer a kind of resolution passed by delegations to the Civil Service Employees Association annual meeting. Introduced by Raymond G. Winer of Troy, the resolution is designed to prepare public employees and their dependents for the problems that come after working days are finished.

Resolved, that the Association sponsor a retirement program for counseling of employees, their dependents and survivors in connection with retirement and annuity needs.

Mr. Wheeler gave an 8-section for the resolution. He has been strongly interested in the economic and social problems facing retired employees. The Association resolved on problems of the aging, and has approached Mr. C. D. Howard, who has recommended the formation of counseling programs similar to those now introduced by CSEA action.

The workers were elected as follows: President, Henry Jones; Vice President, William Smith; Secretary, John Metz; Treasurer, Robert Taylor.

The Fish Hatchery workers are in constant contact with the state department and hope to have the prompt pay system in effect next season.
