Seniority of Employees Argued Before State Board

ALBANY, Nov. 15—The State Employees Personnel Relations Board has heard a grievance concerning the right of an employee to a "preferred" shift of duty.

The grievance originated in the Brooklyn State Hospital. Two supervising nurses, Huntingley Murphy and Anthony Conte, had requested a transfer from the evening shift to the day shift 4:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.

There was a vacancy on the day shift, but this was filled by the promotion of another individual. The grievance was filed by Murphy, and is a brother of Stanley Murphy, chairman of the State Civil Defense Commission.

Three Arguments

The case went through the Albany, State Board of Education, then to the State University Associated, and finally to the State Personnel Relations Board, on which the grievance was argued.

The argument in favor of the seniority system was made by Mr. Murphy, who said that seniority is the rule which is followed by the hospital in filling vacancies.

The argument against the seniority system was made by Mr. Conte, who said that seniority is not the rule which is followed by the hospital in filling vacancies.

Politics and Civil Service

Conscious of the importance of political changes on the affairs of public employees, The LEADER has prepared a report dealing with the significance of these changes. The report has been written after lengthy research and interviews with the top men in the new administration which takes office Jan. 1.

The article was to have run in this issue, and was so announced last week. In the meantime, however, The LEADER’s editors were gathering material for the listing of exempt and non-competitive jobs in State service. These positions, and the persons who hold them, are certainly of the deepest interest to all civil servants. The names of some who will hold exempt jobs under the incoming Democratic administration have already been announced.

Therefore, we have decided to run the entire listing of exempt and non-competitive positions this week and next, in the meantime holding off for a subsequent issue our discussion of the effects and significance of the recent election upon public employees.

Together, the information in this and in coming issues, dealing with the intimate facts of politics and its impact upon civil service, will constitute a contribution of major importance to all connected with public service.

The State Scene

The Los Angeles office of the Director of Veterans Affairs have sailed for Europe, but they will be back within a month. It's the first vacation in some time for the division chief.

Scene stealer in the Commerce Department bowling league, is the "jeans row," now operated under ABC sanction. That's the American Bowling Congress, of course.

Frank Sullivan, top man in the Civil Service Department's top bureau, finds the election result brought a sudden flood of inquiries about Section 22 of the State Civil Service Law. That's the section that spells out "protection" for non-exempt employees, among others, against dismissal if they are volunteer firemen or veterans.

Dashing here of the recent GOP campaign wasn't a professional politician. It was scholarly William J. Embery, the numerical expert for Audit and Control. He asked the question that brought about the major Republican drive on school aid. The post credit the issue as getting out a big upstate vote.

Report along Capitol corridors that Saul Kaplan, popular legal braintrust for the Assembly minority, was offered post of secretary to Averell Harriman, Governor-elect, but declined.

Ironic note: Some State officeholders, now worried over their prospects under the incoming Democratic administration, formerly were Democrats who switched sides during the 12-year Dewey tenure.

And some GOP officials face the prospect of looking for new jobs on their own time after January 1. This column learns that many of the top Dewey aides are staying on the job rather than taking vacation time that is due them, in order to help make the transition in government as orderly as possible.

Clair E. Smith Succeeds
E. T. Gawkins in $13,570 State Public Works Post

ALBANY, Nov. 15 — The retirement of E. T. Gawkins, well-known Deputy Chief Engineer, in charge of Highways, Parkways, and Thruways in the New York State Department of Public Works, came after 43 years of service in the State.

In announcing Mr. Gawkins' retirement, Superintendent of Public Works, B. O. Schlossberg, said many pointed out that during his service in the Albany office, he had assisted materially in programming the present system of modern highways and parkways and on Long Island, that recently he had reviewed all preliminary plans for the New York State Thruway.

Clair E. Smith Gets Post

Mr. Gawkins has been succeeded in the post of Deputy Chief Engineer in charge of Highways, Parkways, and Thruways by Clair E. Smith, a career employee for 31 years.

Mr. Smith entered State service in 1923 as an engineering laborer in the Albany office of the Department of Public Works. He spent 13 months in Greenland as resident engineer in the construction of the Thruway. During World War II, he spent 11 months in California as resident engineer in the construction of the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge. Returning to New York in 1945, he became Principal Engineer in charge of Plans and Design under Mr. Gawkins. His provisional appointment pays $13,570 a year.

Employees Win Awards

ALBANY, Nov. 5 — The New York State Merit Award Board yesterday announced the following awards granted to State workers for constructive suggestions promoting efficiency and economy in State operations.

$50 jointly to Charles P. Strick, 178 Colonial Avenue, Albany, and Joseph W. Sipma, 182 Hill Street, Troy, for their "Taxation of Income Tax Exemptions," with the Department of Taxation and Finance; $25 to Robert H. Stone, Clerk in the Motor Vehicle Bureau's offices at 504 Central Avenue, Albany, for his suggestion to devise a new form which substantially improves the procedures for handling Motor Vehicle licenses, operating records between the Albany and New York City offices of the Bureau. $25 to Abraham Paikin, 320 Warren Street, Albany, for his suggestion to use a form requesting information on a different of gain from the sale of a personal residence.

Certificate of Merit were also voted by the Board to James E. Chrlstian Memorial chapter, Health Department, CSEA, who attended the chapter's steak roast at Picard's Grove in Salem, N. Y., recently. The group includes, left to right: Dr. William Siegel, past chapter president; Charlotte Coppler, CSEA secretary; Sally Degnan, chapter member; Dan Kulok, chapter president; and Carol Van Gysel. Edward G. Freitag took the photo.

Mr. and Mrs. Ward J. Robinson, who have been in charge of the Glor-Burr Colony for Girls, Gloversville, since 1933, were guests of honor of a retirement party given by co-workers and friends of Rome State School. The couple has 22 years' State service.

A Paycheck Every Two Weeks?

This has been waved away as not feasible in New York State and in various local communities. The fact is, however, that the bi-weekly paycheck may be not only feasible, but also desirable.

Community leaders have tried it and found that both employer and employee like it when paychecks are handed out every other week instead of twice a month, according to the Municipal Finance Officers Association.

In Bristol, the change was made to apply to the Municipal Finance Officers Association, although not at the State level.

The bi-weekly paycheck is common in some communities, although not at the State level.

The federal government has used the bi-weekly method since 1945. Detroit, Mich., adopted the plan in that year, too. Among other public employers to use the method are: the Port of New York Authority; Cincinnati, O.; Fort Worth, Texas; the Port of New York Authority.

Workers prefer getting their pay every two weeks on the same day because it means getting paid more often. They also get an extra day's pay, because the fiscal year consists of 52 weeks and one day. In Leap Years, they get two days' extra pay.

Why Employers Like It

Employers like the system for a variety of reasons. For instance, in Bristol, the change was made to apply once a week to school department employees and the next week to city employees. In this way, Bristol leveled out the work load in the paymaster's office. In Kansas City, one reason that the bi-weekly system failed was then: it made mechanical accounting faster, because calculations for income tax, social security, and other deductions are now based on the same number of days.

Other benefits seen from the employer's viewpoint include:

(1) Some reduction in the number of employees working when pay day is on Fridays.

(2) Absenteeism often happens on the day after pay day but would not be so great when the next work day is on Monday.

And (2) less need to advance pay for Thanksgiving, Christmas, and other holidays. "Advances" are not so common in some communities, although not at the State level.

The federal government has used the bi-weekly method since 1945. Detroit, Mich., adopted the plan in that year, too. Among other public employers to use the method are: the Port of New York Authority; Cincinnati, O.; Fort Lauderdale, Fla.; Richmond, Va.; Milwaukee city and county, Wis.; Rockford county, Ill.; and Seattle, Wash.

The bi-weekly paycheck is in something for New York State and its various communities to consider.

TWO PHENOMENAL GIFT VALUES
made to sell for $12.95

Yours for only $4.43 plus 22c for handling and mailing, with two coupons from the Civil Service Leader or your mailing label if you are a subscriber.

ALICE
Alice is the latest in beautiful dolls, with rooted hair you can comb and set. She's a big doll too — 19 inches in her stockinged feet, almost two feet tall if you count the brim of her pretty picture hat. Her head is made of lifelike vinyl plastic, with cute blue eyes that close when she's asleep. And she cries "Mama" when you squeeze her. She's wearing a stunning faille dress trimmed with lace, and knit panties. Perfectly molded of latex, she can take a bath any time her little momie wants her to. And there are two curlers to help set her hair.

ANNE
Anne is a pert little baby you'll love to cuddle. Dressed in a wooly snow suit, she's just big enough to wear Size 1 regular clothes. All of 24 inches tall, with adorable lifelike vinyl plastic head, she has eyes that open and close, cries "mama" when you speak her. Of course, Anne is made of latex throughout so that you can bath her again and again, dress her and undress her just like a real baby. Anne is looking for a little girl to love her and give her a home.

The Leader's Lay-away Plan
Reserve Alice or Anne, or both, for Christmas giving to your favorite young lady. Send $1 in part payment and fill in the coupon below. We will put the dolls of your choice away for you as soon as they are ready.

How To Order Your Doll
To get Alice or Anne immediately, send $4.43 plus 22c for mailing and handling charges. (In N.Y.C. please add 12c for city sales tax). If you prefer, you may visit The Leader office after November 1 and carry off the doll of your choice.

Comparable dolls have been advertised in New York City Papers as $12.95 value.

Broadway Bonanza

A Broadway hit show is a Broadway Bonanza. The returns on the investment are absolutely fabulous, compared to the usual returns on the usual investments. Ask any of the lucky investors, who belong to the exclusive circle of investors in Casanova, Kiss Me Kate, Seven Year Itch, The House Of TheAuger Moors, Oklahoma, Guys And Dolls, Kiss Me Kate, South Pacific, Peter Pan, Ray Friend, Fanny, and so many more. I repeat, a Broadway hit show is a Broadway Bonanza.

Public Invited

The purpose of this ad is to give the public a chance to own a piece of a Broadway Musical Comedy. 295 Units have been presently allocated to the public, at a price of $500 each, or half of one at $250, or a fifth of one at $100.

Each investor gets his customary share of the net profits from the Broadway company and road companies. Plus these potential Stage productions in Great Britain and the Dominions: Albion, Record, She's Music, Pictures, TV, Radio; Commercial Commercials, etc. These by-products are substantial amounts for many shows.

Experience

After 25 years experience as an executive with major picture companies, and many Broadway shows, you develop a sixth sense about stars. I saw Jackie Gleason in a secondary role, and gave him his first star part in a big musical. I gave June Havoc the same big break. I saw Jackie Gleason in a secondary role, and gave him his first chance to be a star, this "Lucky Star.

Lucky Star

She is in Lucky Star, 7th daughter of a 7th daughter. She "peeps out the stars", for Hollywood stars, and tells them when to get married; get divorced; get a new contract, etc. He is Horace Cope, Oklahoma, South Pacific, Kiss Me Kate, Guys and Dolls, etc., didn't have to advertise guarantees that they would be successful shows. Their lucky investors took their chances, and hit Bingo—with a Bang! And now they positively know, that "There's No Business Like Show Business," and no profit like Hollywood profits.

Lucky Investors

Summarizing, here's your chance to own a piece of a Broadway Musical Comedy. There are just 293 Units presently open to the public, at $500 each. You can buy more than one Unit, or a half of one for $250, a fifth of one for $100. Those lucky investors have no patent on Broadway Bonanza. You now have the same chance to make an investment, and the same chance to make some of those fabulous profits.

Send me this coupon and your check, and hitch your wagon to this star, this "Lucky Star.

Standard Contract

Pursuant to established custom and usage with Broadway shows, a Limited Partnership will be formed under the laws of the State of New York, after subscriptions are closed. The "Standard Thoroughbred Contract For Limited Partnership", as revised for "Lucky Star", will then be sent to all subscribers, and a Master Copy filed with the County Clerk of New York County, as prescribed by law.

WASHINGTON, Nov 12 — The Personnel Director system of administration, which New York State and NYC adopted in 1853, has been considered in the Federal government. The Personnel Director, or Weighed for Civil Service, held the position of President, or Commission President, in the early years. The role and powers were handled by the Commission, which would function in the White House presidential office.

The reorganization, if it is adopted, and if it follows the New York State and NYC pattern, would mark a major improvement of new Civil Service Commissioners. This is part of the general decentralization of the Local Board plan. The course consists of seven lectures. Eisenhower, though he has given some general decentralization, has been plugging for the Civil Service system. Under the proposed new U.S. plan, if it is adopted, now being considered by Congress, the federal government would have to do their own special examinations and examinations, an extension of the Local Board system. The Commission would have to do examinations and examinations, an extension of the Local Board system. The Commission would have to do examinations and examinations, an extension of the Local Board system. The Commission would have to do examinations and examinations, an extension of the Local Board system.

The Personnel Director usually headed the Commission, as in New York State and NYC.

The Personnel Director plan for New York State has been adopted by the Governor. In this plan, he was asked to study the personnel system of the General Assembly. He came back with a somewhat enlarged plan that was presented, and it was enacted. The NYC reorganization, if it is adopted, will be without a hitch, at the first attempt. This is part of the general decentralization of the Local Board plan that now exists. The Federal Civil Service plan that exists is that three-member Commission. The Chairman, or Commission President, has been changing gradually.

The Federal civil service plan has been changing gradually since the war. More and more Local Boards of Examiners in depart- ments are conducting tests. This is part of the general decentralization. Under the proposed new U.S. plan, if it is adopted, now being considered by Congress, the federal government would have to do their own special examinations and examinations. The Commission would have to do their own special examinations and examinations. The Commission would have to do their own special examinations and examinations.
