The Sad Plight of Harriman, Javits

ALBANY, March 14 — The gridiron-type show put on by the Civil Service Employees Association last Thursday contained 17 shots firing at the politicians.

In one of these, Governor Harriman (acted by Patrick J. Rogers of Saratoga) and Jacob J. Javits (acted by John H. Flanagan of Education) were singled out by the 45th annual dinner of the organization, he made these points:

1. State services are expanding, which means more employees will be needed.

2. In the forthcoming plan for a new grievance procedure, every employee will have the right to appeal over the head of his supervisor. He has recommended that State, county, and local employees be on the same basis as private employees as far as employment insurance is concerned.

3. Higher jobs — by which he meant exempt posts — must be available to civil servants in return for competition.

4. An employee who is reinstated in the civil service in this capital...
More Frequent Pay Checks
An Undisguised Blessing

ANYBODY who has worked in private industry, and takes a government job, has to reorganize his personal budgeting, because he is paid twice a month, instead of weekly, or 24 times a year, in the case of employees covered by personal service contracts. Budget or no budget, the effect of the new pay day is disturbing to a public employee. He feels a momentary rush of affluence on one pay day, followed by an equally momentary stretch on the next. In the NYC Pay Board's words, "a man pays twice a month, instead of twice a week, or twice a month, instead of twice a week. A bill to the same effect has been introduced in both houses of the legislature."

In government, improvements come slowly, but it does appear as if the shorter wait for pay days will come to pass, on the measure, if not the improved scale. The day should come when public employees, like almost everybody else, get paid every week.

And while shortening the pay period is in public officials' minds, they might consider a plan of sending out pension checks often than once a month.

With The FireFighters

As the NYC eligible list for promotion to battalion chief on the Fire Department is subject to renewal of the March 29, 1955, the Fire Commissioner Edward P. Cavanagh is trying to get the whole thing finished either on this date or before the summer solstice.

For a number of years the eligible list was subject to challenge. A number of men challenged their right to promotion and their challenge was upheld by the courts.

Mr. Cavanagh will relieve the 47 men of the necessity of taking the written and oral examinations, since they already passed one such test, oral and written, and work for the fire department apparatus shall, at all times, prove with due regard for the safety of all persons using the street.

Carton backs bill for 2-man patrol cars

John R. Carton, president of the NYC Patrolmen's Benevolent Association, called for the enactment of the bill in Albany to require two men on patrol cars, one being assigned to each patrol car.

The eligible list will last at least a year, unless exhausted before April 3, a date two weeks after the exam closes. Applications will be made, said Francis S. McGurk, Superintendent of State Employees, at a meeting last night of the State Employees Association, to remedy the situation.

A delegation of more than 100 NYC sanitation workers to pass a test that would qualify them for the same pension contribution reduction at the NYC Police and Firemen's Retirement Fund. Employee contributions would be 15 percent, instead of about 30 percent, and the City would pay the remaining 15.

ALBANY, March 14—An effort is being made by employees to correct an injustice inflicted on them just because they did not happen to be appointed or promoted at the most beneficial time. Last year's law under which a reclassification was undertaken provided that reclassification benefits should be paid to employees who applied for the effective date of the reclassification, April 3, which resulted in many employees with longer seniority, and who had stood higher on the list, receiving less pay for doing the same work in the same title, as others appointed later.

A bill introduced by Senator Nute, and referred to the Finance Committee, with a companion measure by Assemblyman Strong, referred to the Ways and Means Committee, is being closely backed by the Civil Service Employees Association, to remedy the situation.

Among those affected are employees in the Division of Employment, State Department of Labor. The Association asks employees affected to file their grievances and to assemble, urging a favorable vote on the bill.

Correction Officers And Psychiatric Aides

The title of a job is more than a word. The title can accurately describe what a man does, and give a sense of the dignity and importance of his duties; or it can be meaningless, or even demeaning. And what a worker is called to make a large difference in his attitude toward his job—and even more important, the public's attitude toward his job. To give a few mundane examples: "a fiddler" is different from a "violinist"; the word "administrate" causes a different impression from the words "senior clerk."

All this is preliminary to a suggestion which The Leader feels ought to be adopted. The term "prison guard" and the term "hospital attendant" ought to be erased from our vocabulary. In the first case, the employees should have the title they want, which is "correction officer." In the second case, the title should be changed so that it more accurately reflects the duties of the men and women involved in a sense of dignity and quality in their work.

Here is something that doesn't involve cash outlay. The change does bring job-title more in line with actual duties; it does help to overcome certain unfortunate connotations that have been placed against existing titles; it does provide a better vehicle of public appreciation for the jobs being done; and does offer to the men and women involved a sense of dignity and quality in their work.

County Employees Push For Modern Job Plans

COUNTY employees are beginning to attack the job-jungle that still prevails at many local levels of government. Employee organizations in Nassau and Orleans counties are applying continuous pressure for enlightened classification surveys. The County Executive Committee of the Civil Service Employee Associations has laid the groundwork for introducing similar reforms.

The move is obviously desirable. Faced by rising costs and citizen demands for improved service, county governments will ultimately have no alternative but to abandon their outmoded, rigid job systems, and to adapt modern methods to public service. The sooner these are undertaken, the sooner will results be achieved. The county executive, therefore, has asked that similar requests in all county jurisdictions.
