CSEA Board Votes to Recommend Dues Rise: Special Session of Delegates to Be Convened

CSEA Condemns Salary Results

Board's Action Is Unanimous

* ALBANY, June 13 — Dues Is the growing response of State employees to the recently-revealed reclassification (to salaries) this was told the Board of Directors of the Civil Service Employees Association by board members from all parts of the State.

A resolution unanimously adopted reads:

"Resolved, that the Board of Directors of the Civil Service Employees Association express Its complete dissatisfaction with the activities of the Director of Classification and the Budget Director in their recent salary actions; and be it recommended that power over such salary actions be vested in a group rather than in one man."

The Association, now making a thorough study of all the reallocations and reclassifications, will take strong action. A letter has already gone to the Governor.

D. G. HERZBERG NAMED TO BUDGET DIVISION POST

ALBANY, June 13 — Budget Di- rector Paul H. Angley announced the appointment of Donald G. Herzberg, 99, of Pittsburgh, as administrative deputy, Division of the Budget, to succeed Grant D. Danilo, who has been named to the State Liquor Authority.

Mr. Herzberg will assume his duties June 15. Salary for the post is $12,500.

More State Salaries Changed

ALBANY, June 13 — Through reclassification, effected in conjunction with title changes, State jobs have been upgraded. Three other titles have been reallocated upward.

Reclassification involves title changes, with or without changes of grade; reallocation is change of grade without change of title.

There were two downgradings, but incumbents' pay will not be reduced.

Six Raizes and Titles Changes

The six title changes, with upward reclassification, and the new pay range, follows:

- Reorganization insurance, grade 23, to associate insurance examiner (statistician), grade 16, $6,800 to $9,510.
- Chief, bureau of physical education, grade 24, to supervisor of physical education and recreation, grade 25, $7,500 to $9,800.
- Deputy manager, grade 28, to senior property manager, grade 33, $6,000 to $8,700.
- Senior office machine operator (inventor), grade 7, to senior inventor, senior clerk, grade 26, $5,600 to $8,700.
- State laboratory administrative office, grade 26, to financial officer, grade 33, $5,600 to $9,470.
- Supervising insurance examiner (rater), grade 31, to chief of insurance rating bureau, grade 33, $11,030 to $13,140.

The State Board of Accounts has been eliminated, with other titles for which there has been no substitution mentioned.

Three Upward Reallocations

Principal months from the following relocations, additions to those announced by the State on May 28, 1963, to last (now pay range listed):

Deputy superintendent and counsel from grade 24 to grade 33, $12,300 to $14,400.

General manager of Thousand Islands parks, from grade 23 to grade 28, $6,550 to $8,700.

Secretary, Department of Civil Service, from grade 14 to grade 19, $4,800 to $7,800.

CSEA珑 Lions Only

The title of administrative officer, Board of Finance, was changed to finance and personnel officer, and left in grade 20, while that of associate pathologist became assistant director of plant industry, and left in grade 23.

The two instances of downgrading under the reallocation, additional reallocations follow:

Assistant general manager, Niagara Frontier parks, from grade 24, $6,040 to $8,470, down to grade 23, $6,500 to $8,070.

Assistant health consultant, from grade 32, $10,470 to $13,140, down to grade 31, $8,000 to $10,700.

Mr. Powers emphasized the fact that the program was new in Albany, based on recommendations by official CSEA units. In data which he himself has issued, President Powers has also expressed the need for expanded representation before the legislature, and the need to be ready for strong campaigns to raise pay and improve retirement provisions.

During its debate last Thursday, the Board of Directors did not bring into serious question any of the proposals. Mr. Powers pointed out that the delegations generalized to certain of the proposals and rejected some of them. However, some board members felt that public employees should accept even a higher dues figure, for health and headquarters of the county representatives, on the other hand, suggested that only the State division members be boosted, to $6, so that $1,000 could equal the amount now being paid by county members.

The final motion, passed by a narrow majority, included the phrase "not to exceed $10."

Few In Opposition

Significant, however, was the fact that many of those who voted against the motion as it stood requested the secretary to record their "No" vote with a qualification: It did not mean that they opposed the principle of a dues increase. They wanted it clear they were not opposed.

Each member of the Board spoke on the important issue. And became apparent that whatever they felt with respect to amount, or timing, or the calling of a special delegates meeting, there was near-unanimity on the basic problem itself: the need for an increase in dues.

Arriving at $10

The $10 figure was arrived at through a computation of tentative cost of dues in a document entitled:"Increased present service and new services to members proposed by Association committees, chairs and members during recent years.

Among the proposed new services and cost:

Funds to provide legal advice on representation to protect members against illegal or unjustifiable dismissal from service.

Additional field representatives. A branch headquarters in New York City.

An assistant to the Director of Public Relations.

An enlarged educational program, for the benefit of CSEA staff as they could more adequately assist employees.

Distribution of an informative handbook to chapter officers and committees.

Building Up Reserve

Building up a reserve for an emergency public service fund.

Publicity activity to educate the public on services rendered by CSEA.

Additional staff for membership section of headquarters.

At that time there were only about 12,000 members in the Association. The dues were $1.00 per year. Within six years, approximately 25,000 State employees had joined the Association. One of the important growth stimulants during this period was the growth that existed for employees of State institutions. The Association had been struggling for a long time to accomplish this. Before the passage of the Desmond bill in 1936, establishing the 8-hour day for all institution employees, the Association had for many years actively supported this bill in the legislature.

It was in 1934 that the Association again raised its dues to $1.50. About 28,000 employees were then members. Between 1941 and 1943 many employees had left for service in the armed forces. However, by 1947, dues had increased to $29,000, and from that point on the growth upward has been very steady, despite the fact that the dues have been raised twice since 1943. In 1946 they were raised to $3.00 per year — the membership was then 39,000, and in 1948 they went to the present $5.00 and $6.00 per year, with a corresponding membership rise to 48,000. Since that date to the present — the Association has increased from 48,000 to 75,000 active members, which would have been impossible without the dues increase, membership gained. With the added income, the Association could expand its services.

It could do more for its members. It could take a more active role in the affairs of government. It could more adequately represent the employee in his many contacts with government. It hired a research staff, it started a public relations unit, it established legal counsel in six different parts of the State, it increased its field service staff to handle the problems of 150,000 members.

It could represent the employees before local government boards whether they be in Buffalo or Suffolk County. It could produce more literature on employee and other problems of interest to the membership.

These are only a few of the expanded services. Each service was in response to a need and started at the insistence of the membership.

Room for Growth

There is no reason to believe that the present growth will not continue. There is no reason to believe that the growth that has occurred in recent years is anything in the nature of a temporary spurt due to any single cause. The strength of the Association is the greater, its accomplishments. By the same token, the expenses of running the organization have increased because of the greater services that have been provided.

Your Association has had many years of experience — it has officers, committees, and staff which know quite a lot about employee organizations and employee problems. Its list of accomplishments for public employees is long. Its failures have been relatively few. Surely now that the Association finds that its income can no longer adequately service its expanding rolls, no one can deny the validity of an increase in dues. The only difficult question is when. The Board of Directors, meeting Thursday, voted to recommended an increase to the delegates, who will be assembled in special meeting.

This action is the beginning of decisions to make the CSEA a stronger, more vigorous organization — with financial resources to perform what the employees want and ought to have: more assistance on individual problems; legal protection in the event of unjust discipline action; a mighty effort to obtain better pay for each individual employee, at the State and local levels; and an equal effort to gain an overhaul of our antiquated, inadequate retirement system.

As a member of the Civil Service Employees Association, you are entitled to ask the question: "What is a dues increase worth to me, personally?"

I'm sure you'll come up with only one answer. You will say: "I want my organization to have the means to protect the employee in the future as it has the past, to represent the employee. And I'm willing to do my part by accepting the increase in dues to make these things possible."

NEW JOB AT HUDSON RIVER

A NEW POSITION, director of volunteers at Hudson River State Hospital, has been officially set up in the Department of Mental Hygiene. Director of the hospital payroll.

Included in the first time in the history of the National Association of Civil Service Employees was the appointment of a director of volunteers. This is the result of an 18-month demonstration program carried on at Hudson River State Hospital with the cooperation of the New York State Society of Mental Health.

Duties of the director of volunteers, under the supervision of Dr. O. Arnold Kilpatrick, director of Hudson River, consist of planning, organizing, and directing the volunteer program at the hospital. Another aspect involves acting as liaison between the hospital and the community; recruiting volunteers and interpreting the hospital program.

Experience shows, Dr. Kilpatrick declared in reporting on the demonstration program, that a program conducted as a full-time volume director "provides new outlets and pleasures in a variety of therapeutic endeavors vital to patient care and recovery."

The position of director of volunteers at the hospital was created In October 1939. At that time Barbara Griffiths, a former American Red Cross supervisor of volunteers at St. Luke's Hospital, New York, "opened the program at the hospital to carry on a demonstration program. Her appointment, first of its kind in the New York State mental hospitals, was made possible through a grant from the National Foundation for Mental Hygiene. This grant was obtained by the State Society for Mental Health, who sponsored the program."

The CSEA represents a great number of local organizations, explaining the proposed program to over 150 community groups. Volunteers were recruited from schools, houses of families, local recreation centers, and professional groups. They were oriented and assigned to specific projects under the supervision of Miss Griffiths and hospital staff members. Before the program started, director Griffiths interviewed persons who the doctors thought would benefit from individual attention. Six months after the program was initiated, there was only one service in the hospital which had not been used.

Experience indicates that, as a result of using organized volunteers under the direction of the director of volunteers, the hospital achieved a greater, stronger, more vigorous organization — one that could produce more literature on employee and other problems of interest to the membership. Last year the CSEA’s publication "Empire" sold a total of 6,000 copies. This year we would like to sell 10,000.

Guaranteed Annual Wage For Hourly Workers?

P ART-TIME workers in at least three U. S. communities are getting something that resembles a guaranteed annual wage.

The Civil Service Assembly says a plan for guaranteed annual wages, while common in private business, is not frequent in public service. Plans now in effect in Dearborn, Mich., Lincoln Park, Mich., and Milwaukee County, Wis., are examples.

The Milwaukee plan is the most comprehensive. All 500 hourly workers of Dearborn come under its plan for their full-time employment. Some Dearborn employees are paid on a part-time basis and are excluded from coverage. The assembly is working to get more coverage for these part-time workers in public service, sewer, and park departments.

Union pay checks are guaranteed for park employees in Milwaukee County.

The Milwaukee program’s guaranteed wage is spreading. Shouldn’t employers and officials in towns and counties of New York State, as well as the State itself, start thinking about the possibilities involved in such a plan?

Supreme Court’s Loyalty Decision

U NDER the present Federal loyalty program, the Loyalty Review Board attempted to assert jurisdiction it did not have. Concerning him the board, relying on unidentified findings of the United States Supreme Court, in the case of Dr. John Peters, contended that, in being denied a position free of menace to the innocent, one as fair to the employee as it is to the Government, and administered in such a way as to avoid miscarriage of justice.

RELOCATION PLAN

We, who are clerks, in Local Office 535, Division of Employment, note with keen interest, precarious and uncertain future that the blanket of habeas corpus for Federal and N.Y.C. workers this year. We note that the Civil Service Board and City and City government will get to know the limitations involved in such a plan.

THIS SHOULD ‘STAND’

STATE’S LAWYERS

Editor, The LEADER:

I have read with interest the article in the THE LEADER of May 24, describing the arguments made by representatives of the State administration in a case involving the dismissal of war veterans from the State Tax Department, without charges or hearing. You reported that the Tax Department contended that lawyers employed by the State have an attorney-client relationship and are not subject to discharge at will by their superior.

This argument should startle lawyers who are employed by the State and who are employed in the competitive class and who are under the impression that they may not be removed except upon good charges and after a hearing, under the new amendment, which was passed this year. The idea that which this unique approach has been made for two war veterans who held exempt class positions at salaries much lower than many attorneys employed by the State in competitive positions. Their salaries are similar to those of other attorneys employed by the State and, so far as the matter under consideration, it is not possible to determine, whether they are in the exempt class or competitive class is immaterial.

I was right."

Your editorial pin-pointed the problem of other attorneys employed by the NYC Tax Department, with whom you have given us, in the course of your work.

I am not 18 years old. I was licensed to take exams for police and fire service.

I believe that if 18 year olds were again allowed to take exams for police and fire service, the State would be better off employing these 18 year olds.

Everything you have said, and will continue to say, as a result of the recent amendment, I have made, and will continue to make, even if it means to the public as possible.

All State employees should be grateful to you for the help you have given to them in their fight to obtain employment and benefits. It is my hope that the test will be continued.

MODERN PUBLIC ADMINISTRATION

This column is designed to be of service to administrators, supervisors, and employees who are interested in new ideas pertaining to government operations. The material is gathered from communities throughout the United States.

SURVEYS SHOW ATTITUDES TOWARD PUBLIC EMPLOY

Surveys by two U. S. cities of their workers’ feelings about their jobs showed that for the most part the employees are satisfied, but a few were not. The survey revealed that 18 per cent would rather work for the city than a private firm if the pay was the same for both jobs.

WHAT IS THE FEASIBILITY OF VESSELS VARY WIDELY

The number and kinds of vessels used on police patrol vary widely among U. S. cities over 10,000 population.

The 1955 Municipal Year Book shows that the number of police patrol cars in the United States varies as a result of the number of police cars in cities with one or two patrol cars. Other vehicles used in police work are two-wheel and three-wheel motorcycles. Los Angeles reported the highest number with 23,046, followed by Chicago with 20,000. The most three-wheel cycle—153.

In 196 of the 1,000 reporting cities, one-man patrol cars are used exclusively for police patrol. A combination of one- and two-man cars is used by 269 cities, and 233 cities use two-man cars only. Of the 100 cities reporting, 75 use one-man patrol cars part of the time.

The types of one- and two-man cars are used — day, evening, and night — also differs from city to city. A total of 165 use them on day, evening, and night shift; 129 use them on day and evening shifts; and 27 use them on a day shift only.

Dr. Peters' Hollow Victory Puts Loyalty Program Right Up to Congress

WASHINGTON, June 13 — The decision of the United States Supreme Court, declaring that Dr. John P. Peters, senior professor of medicine at Yale University, was illegally dismissed on grounds of doubtful loyalty from his part-time consulting job with the U.S.邮 inset severely up Congress the necessity of safeguarding Federal employees by legislation.

Much as Congress would like to avoid the controversy, a statement by Associate Justice Hugo Black, as a separate opinion concurring with the majority, questions the loyalty of the Presidential Executive Order under which the Loyalty Review Board obtained Dr. Peters’ removal.

"That (Presidential) order and others associated with it," wrote Justice Black, "embody a broad far-reaching espionage program over government employees.

Another reason for the need of legislation is that the court split on the necessity of the Loyalty Review Board to take jurisdiction over cases that a departmental loyalty board decided in the employee's favor.

A third reason for legislation would be the comity of the policy of investigative branches of government of protecting informers by keeping them anonymous. The Federal Bureau of Investigation and other agencies insist that unless they keep the identity of informers secret, they lose informers and the prospects of obtaining any others, hence such accusers do not face the arrow. In Dr. Peters' case they did not face him, and their accusations were not even made under oath.

While nobody disputes effect of disclosing informers' identity, the lack of objectives goes to the very root of constitutional guarantees of liberty. As Associate Justice William O. Douglas said in his separate concurring opinion: "Confession and cross-examination under oath are essential. If the American ideal of due process is to remain a vital force in our public life.

"If he were condemned by Congress and made ineligible for government employment, he would suffer a blow of atrocity, outlawed by the Constitution... An administration agency — the creature of Congress — certainly can not exercise powers that Congress itself has been found from exercising.

Big Issue Avoided

The reference is to the regulation attempting to bar for three years employees dismissed on loyalty grounds.

Fourth, opinion of one judge raised doubts about the President's authority to institute a loyalty program by executive order, saying that was a legislative power that only Congress possesses. If Congress sees the issue in the same light it will have to adopt a loyalty program.

All of the opinions rendered either stated or implied that it would be bad, so far as Justice Black said, that the Government should be regarded as a loyalty risk. Accused of having been a member of the Communist party, he denied it, and the accusation was not supported by proof. The lack of association or sympathy with subversive organizations, he explained all his connections with associations.

The Government's loyalty board found in his favor; the Loyalty Review Board assumed jurisdiction, unanimously, the court held.

While Dr. Peters sought vindication on constitutional grounds, the majority opinion avoided that issue, stating that since Dr. Peters was dismissed vindicated on other grounds, the constitutional question need not be decided.

Associate Justice Stanley Reed dissented from the majority (voted to sustain the dismissal) and was joined by Associate Justice Harold H. Burton to "hand its internal problems of administration in its own way." The legality of judicial review of such intra-executive operations as this is for me not completely free from doubt.

Constitution Versus Expediency

The majority opinion, written by Chief Justice Earl Warren, avoids the constitutional issue without casting any doubt on the legality of that issue, but confined itself to reasons of expediency.

In this court, petitioner urges us to decide the case solely on the constitutional issue. This issue, if reached by the court, would obviously present serious and far-reaching problems in reconciling fundamental constitutional guarantees with the procedures used to determine the loyalty of government personnel... We find, however, that the case can be decided without raising the constitutional issue.

"From a very early date, this (Presidential) order, and others associated with it," wrote Justice Burton, "anticipate a question of constitutional law in advance of the necessity of deciding it.

Findings Review Board at Fault

The majority found that the Loyalty Review Board's action in assuming jurisdiction over a former employee, and accepting his dismissal, was so patently in violation of the Executive Order — in fact, beyond the board's delegated jurisdiction under the order — that the constitutionality of the order itself does not come into issue.

Dr. Peters, though trafficked over being sustained on the merits, deplored the court's failure to pass on the constitutional issue. Justice Douglas did pass on it, in concurring with the decision, holding that the constitution protects the

The Jerry Finkelstein Award, for the outstanding master's thesis, was presented by N. H. Mager, Personnel Director, and James P. Googe, executive director of the New York University Welfare and Health Council. "A good administrator knows how to administer, and that is all that is required of him." Awards Made By NYU To Graduates

There is a great need on both the national and international scene for trained public administrators, J. Donald Kingsley told a gathering of New York University last Thursday. "An administrator need not be a specialist in the particular field in which he serves," said Mr. Kingsley, executive director of the New York University Welfare and Health Council. "A good administrator knows how to administrate, and that is all that is required of him."

For full details of the comprehensive medical benefits of H-I-P, write to Dept. I, 1 E.

The only fee for which doctors are permitted to charge is $10.00 for a home visit after 5 p.m. These are, of course, emergency treatments such as hospitalization, treatment of injury or accident, etc., as well as a few hospital services. All visits are subject to prior approval, and if performed by the hospital's own medical staff. These services are explained in detail in the H-I-P brochure.

FRANCIS J. MURPHY,

Employees Back Dr. Peters' Plea For Safeguards

The prevailing opinion frankly stated: "This court has recognized that a 'badge of infamy' attaches to a public employee found disloyal.

The victory proved hollow to Dr. Peters because his term has expired, but the Eisenhower administration could have the term extended, and reappoint him, or could appoint him to some other non-political job.

Dr. Peters began the action in the District Court, District of Columbia, which granted Mrs. Orela Culp Hobby, Secretary of the Department of Health and Welfare, where he was a consultant, judgment on the pleadings. The 6th Circuit Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia Circuit affirmed the decision. The case went to the U. S. Supreme Court on a writ of certiorari (to save the record). The highest court of the land declared that Dr. Peters' removal was invalid, but ordered the finding of the Legislative Board, that there was a reasonable doubt as to Dr. Peters' loyalty to the United Statesetz from the record.

FRANCIS J. MURPHY,

PAL WORKER, HONORED

A majority of the 6th Circuit judges in personal and guidance was awarded to Francis J. Murphy. He is in charge of the 6th District Lehigh Leagues in the 6th District, Lehigh, N. Y.
