Health Plan Board's Fourth Meeting Set For Sept. 20; Two New Members Appointed

The Temporary Health Insurance Board will hold its fourth meeting on September 20, with two new members in attendance. Alexander Falk, president of the State Civil Service Department, and president of the temporary board, said he is "hopeful" that the health insurance plan will be in effect by Jan. 1.

Two members of the 5-member board resigned recently because of "conflicting interests." They are Reinald A. Dohaus, vice president of the board of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., and Dr. George Backer, president and medical director of the Health Insurance Plan of Greater New York.

Appointed in their place were Robert L. Schenckwerter, administrator of the Wilson Memorial Hos- pital in Johnson City, and director of medical services for the Endicott Johnson Corp., and Dr. Ray- mond F. Gillette, chairman of the School of Public Health and Administrative Medicine of Columbia University.

The Civil Service Employees As- sociation, whose efforts obtained the health insurance plan for state workers during the last session of the Legislature, recently again assured assurances from Mr. Falk that the plan would start on schedule. White Plains chapter, now a CSEA presi- dent, wrote Mr. Falk declaring that "State employees anticipate as the start the membership on January 1 and will be extremely dis- appointed if the start is delayed."

Mr. Peck said it was the clear intention of the Governor and the Legislature that the program start on that date, citing the fact that the appropriation of $1,500,000 for the present fiscal year is one-fourth of the estimated annual state contribution for a full year and provides the funds to start the program on January 1.

The Association has made a $2,000 proposal on benefits it wants covered in any plan approved by the Temporary Health Insurance Board. The board chairmen must approve all plans.

YONKERS—Sept. 10—A warm welcome was extended to the newly appointed teachers last week in the form of an unusual Teacher Orientation Day. The Chamber of Commerce took the teachers on an automobile tour of the city and to a reception in their honor at Patricia Murphy's Candlelight Restaurant.

"The New York City Personnel Department opened their adult education program to state employees in the metropolitan area. Registration will be held September 11 through 13, inclusive, at Charles Davis House, North and Central Commercial evening trade schools. Classes will start the week of September 17. In such subjects as stenography, office practice, business English, arithmetic and IBM writing.

State officers will preside at the meeting, hosted by Gowanda State Hospital. Mr. Ruhl will speak on Social Security and will conduct a question and answer period.

Cicalea Rosenblatt, newly-elected Conference president, will preside at the meeting, hosted by Gowanda State Hospital of the CSEA. The session will be at 3:30 P.M. County employees in the Conference will hold a workshop, also at 3:30 A.M. Viola DeMenos will preside.

Speaker for the county session will be Henry McFarland, director of the Municipal Division of the State Civil Service Department. An open discussion on the membership- ship will be held later.

A dinner-dance will follow both events and will be held at 8 P.M. in the VFW Hall. The dinner speaker will be announced later.

A large attendance is expected for this first fall meeting.

One discussion group pointed out that an ordinary breakfast causes a drop in blood pressure within 30 minutes. Doctor Alan W. M. Smith and Charles F. Code of Rochester, N. Y., first found the change in blood pressure after an ordinary breakfast, including butter and cream, explaining that a fatty breakfast "stays with you longer."

MODERN PUBLIC ADMINISTRATION

One-Man Police Patrols Approved

CITIES MAY FIND IN THE one-man police car at least partial solution to the problem of better protection for citizens, when funds are limited.

The study led to use on a small scale of one-man police cars in St. Louis about a year ago. Other cities using the one-man patrol regularly include New York, Los Angeles, Baltimore, Cleveland, San Francisco, Milwaukee, Houston, Minneapolis, Cincinnati, Seattle, Kansas City, Mo., San Diego, Dallas, Denver, and San Antonio.

Check-Writing Produces Complete Record

Chicago has started using a punched card unit that makes it possible to write a check code and from this single writing get the full account of every writing. This is reported as the logical source of aid to the communities after a study of one-man patrols in 15 U.S. cities of more than 100,000 population.

A tabulating card or series of cards are punched at the same time that a clerk is typing a check. Every following operation is possible from this single writing.

The City has prepared a manual describing this new method, "A Procedure of Municipal Disbursements."

Examinations at Night

The Civil Service Department of San Jose, Cal., has been giving examinations at night. The tests usually last two hours or less, and are never for positions of a highly technical nature, because the candidates who fail to appear for the written examination during the day, and on weekday evenings. This Is reported as the logical source of aid to the communities after a study of one-man patrols in 15 U.S. cities of more than 100,000 population.

Names for Housing Projects

One of New York City's many problems is to select names for housing projects. This is the responsibility of Warren Mueser, executive director of the Housing Authority. A project now is named for a person only if he is dead. Geographical names predominate. If the project is in an area easily identified geographically, no names of persons are used.

Larger Staff For Traffic Safety Called State Need

Thomas N. Boote, manager of the Accident Prevention Department of the Association of Casualty and Surety Companies, urged the New York State Conference of Mayors to back State safety aid during the day, and on weekend evenings. This work requires increasing the staff.

He said that the insurance industry has provided 63 New York communities with free traffic safety aid, as an experiment. The traffic record of the participating communities, he reported, has been found better than that of non-participating communities. Although the companies involved receive only a limited form of aid to the communities after the end of this year, Mr. Boote declared that the logical source of this assistance is not private industry but state government.

Talk by Wagner

Mayor Robert F. Wagner of New York City recommended the national approach to solving problems of communities in metropolitan areas. He said that of all sites, regardless of political affiliations, could work together in solving the problem, and as proof, pointed to the metropolitan regional conference set up last June in Cleveland.

Mayor Donald E. Roseman, John son City, was named president of the conference.

Rambling on Home Rule

Assembly Minority Leader Eugene F. Bannigan asked that the mayors act on home rule changes. He declared that New York City is the only city under the domination of rural communities," and added that 25 per cent of all laws enacted at the last Legislative session concerned only local affairs. City home rule, he said, is a "fiction" and a "sham," since 20 percent of the state's voters elect an assembly majority, and 41 percent, a State Senate majority.

Goals That Deserve Harriman's Support

GOVERNOR Averell Harriman said in a public statement recently that he plans on being in Albany for "years to come." During his first year in office, Mr. Harriman took some positive steps toward bettering the lot of the civil service worker and, although much remains to be done, we feel his record was a pretty fair one.

The Governor, himself, has publicly pointed with pride to his accomplishments on this score.

Let us hope, then, that Mr. Harriman intends to continue with forward action, particularly on the following items.

40-Hour Work Imperative

First of all, a 40-hour week for all state employees (without an accompanying reduction in salary) must be established. The four-hour reduction in the work week has already declared his intention of getting a higher work week for Public Employees (without an accompanying reduction in salary) must be established. The four-hour reduction in the work week has already been declared to be more than the increments provided by the salary scale. The four-hour reduction in the work week has already been declared to be more than the increments provided by the salary scale.

Second, a real salary increase. Governor Harriman has already done all his intention of getting a higher budget than ever for New York State. After the chief executive already knew that it is going to cost more to run the state next year, he should also know that it is going to cost the civil servant more to run his household.

Third, Social Security for all public workers, in political subdivisions as well as the state.

End of an Era

The public employee is in line for numerous other benefits long considered part and parcel of the private worker's lot.

A concerted effort to place the public worker on a par with his fellow in private industry will be service to the state citizenry as well.

Governor Harriman knows well the cost of efficient government.

Let us hope that he shows a willingness to pay the necessary price for it, by bringing the era of the second-class working citizen to an end.

Group Effort Pays Off For Public Employees

PUBLIC employees don't always realize that they need their organizations as much as their organizations need them.

In a recent case, New York State employees entitled to a refund of Federal income taxes paid on maintenance, could not have achieved, by themselves, the splendid results that accrued from the law suits and energetic follow-up instituted by The Civil Service Employees Association. Not only do they represent this nature abroad, but gains won are won on pay, attendance rules, working conditions, and the like, through organizational efforts.

The public employee who is not a member of an employee organization truly stands alone, and to his serious disadvantage.

Social Security Questions Answered

WHAT IS A quartet of coverage?

A calendar quarter in which you are paid $400 or more in wages under Social Security. If you are self-employed under Social Security, you receive four quarters of coverage for a year after 1960 in which you have $400 or more in net earnings. The number of quarters of coverage is used to determine whether benefits may be paid.

IN WHAT YEAR is the rule for determining insured status L. C.?

If you do not qualify under the regular rule, you may be fully insured under the special rule. If you have quarters of coverage in all but four of the quarters that have passed after 1964, you may be fully insured under the special rule. The minimum required is six.

A SMERtt EMPLOYEE DEPRESES RAISE DENIAL

Editor, THE LEADER:

In your September 4 issue you published a story about Government employees who have been denied a raise of $350 by the State. The employee was re-enlisted by the State.

The Editor did not tell the whole story.

Employment of the Division of Military and Naval Affairs employed as superintendents, engineers, or assistants in the City, did not receive any raise, other than the increments provided by the salary scale.

Some employees of the Division did receive the raise, but not those mentioned above. Such discrimination is found in published. Equitable remedial action must be taken by the State in all fairness.

The Governor did not tell the whole story.

The Governor was re-enlisted by the State.

The question is raised pertinent to unchanged titles and unchanged duties at least, especially if the only reason for failure to provide retirement benefits is the lack of sufficient support to get around to doing so sooner. Moreover, some of the improvements resulting from improvements in the on-the-job studies represent the result of the promotion in the promotion list for the same title. These four quarters were from the promotion list. Petitioners seek to set aside action of the Commission in transferring these four to the promotion list.

The question is raised pertinent to unchanged titles and unchanged duties at least, especially if the only reason for failure to provide retirement benefits is the lack of sufficient support to get around to doing so sooner. Moreover, some of the improvements resulting from improvements in the on-the-job studies represent the result of the promotion in the promotion list for the same title. These four quarters were from the promotion list. Petitioners seek to set aside action of the Commission in transferring these four to the promotion list.

PROMOTIONS, as could have been expected, are proving to be one of the last stages of the Career and Salary Plan. At the outset, promotion opportunities were generally limited under the Plan. No more promotions were to be made unless they were promotion vacancies. Previous policy included the provision that the promotion salary of the employee was not to exceed his or her current salary and that his or her current salary and that his or her current salary.

But there were a few thousand employees performing work that far back and in the back salary level before abolished. But back salary levels before abolished. But back salary levels before abolished. But back salary levels before abolished. But back salary levels before abolished. But back salary levels before abolished. But back salary levels before abolished. Competitive appointments are coercive upon the Federal Service. Persons offered the Federal Service as a career-conditional appointment have been given career appointments subject to completion of a one-year probationary period. Competitive appointments are to become career appointments unless other 5 per cent or more may become career appointments subject to a one-year probationary period. If recommended by the agency. As for age, maximum age limits for all positions in the competitive civil service have been removed. All currently open examinations and announcements which provide for a maximum age limit were amended to remove the maximum age.
