PW Aides Urged To Claim Lost Vacation Time Now

In a letter to employees of the State Department of Public Works, John F. Powers, president of the Civil Service Employees Association, urged those aides who were unable to use vacation time through no fault of their own, and thus lost it to file for compensation at once.

The Civil Service Employees Association and the Highway Engineers Association had filed a suit in the Supreme Court, Albany County, which sought a last case to restore with credit or cash this lost time.

Since then, Governor Harriman has approved a bill which would permit payment for lost time, where it was not the fault of the employee. Mr. Powers asked that Public Works employees who know the whereabouts of persons no longer employed but are entitled to recover the lost time, to contact these persons and the estates of deceased employees so that they, too, could file.

In his letter Mr. Powers said: "This letter is directed to you because you were one of the employees." (Continued on Page 14)

U.S. Broadens Job Opportunities for Engineering Aides

WASHINGTON, May 6 — Better utilization of Federal manpower in the engineering field through the utilization of trained technicians is the aim of new job classification aids and standards issued to Federal agencies by the Civil Service Commission. The new classification will soon determine whether a job is professional or technical, and what qualifications one must have to fill it.

At present, there are about 45,000 professional engineers in the Federal Government. In addition, a professional engineers can be filled by technicians. In addition, a professional engineers can be filled by technicians. Many engineers, the Commission pointed out, have transferred to professional positions through a combination of years of experience and some formal education.

SOCIAL SECURITY QUESTIONS

POINTS ON COVERAGE ARE CLEARED UP

RECENT EDITIONS of The Leader contained some excellent articles on the new Social Security legislation. However, we would appreciate further clarification on some points mentioned.

In the April 8 issue it was stated that the four-quarter retroactivity for women will run out this year. The official pamphlet mentions no such time limit.

This issue also mentions that survivor benefits will not be available if the insured was not currently insured. I understand that this limitation only applies to a dependent widower 65 or over.

The section explaining how the referendum will be conducted needs further clarification. It was my understanding that U.S. Public Law 761 provided that a referendum must be held among all members of the Retirement System. The Federal law requires that each employee be notified by certified mail or personal service. Do not be confused at this point. The referendum speaks of in the State as possible, and not same as the informal poll taken by the Department of Audit and Control. The referendum is not the same as the informal poll. The employees are going to vote twice for the same thing. To many, this may seem silly and confusing, but it will not be.

The referendum provides for 90 days notice before a referendum can be held, the prospects that it will be held before the summer are slim. There is nothing important to hold the referendum. The referendum will be held only among those who want it. The referendum will be held only among those who want it.

The Referendum

When this informal poll is completed, we are ready for the second step—the referendum. Under the Federal Social Security Bill, before Social Security is joined with any public retirement systems, a referendum must be voted on by all members of the Retirement System. 2-Conference Workshop Turns Into Huge Success

The first annual spring workshop of the Metropolitan and Southern Conferences of the Civil Service Employees Association was a huge success. It was April 28 and 29 in the Concord Hotel, Kingston Lake.

The imaginative work of A. J. Concert of the Metropolitan unit and Nellie Davis of the Southern group gave the 500 CSEA members and guests who attended the event in the Concord Hotel a fine working week.

The hotel itself went all out for the two conferences and welcomed the group with a cocktail party on the first day.

The first program item was a lecture by CSEA President Maxwell Lehman, former editor of The Leader and now Deputy City Administration of New York City, who was guest of honor. Members of the two conferences presented Mr. Lehman with a depliant in recognition of his long years of devoted work to the cause of the civil servant. Thomas Connolly was toastmaster.

Mr. Lehman was so surprised at the presentation he was unable to deliver his speech which he said "could have in no way expressed my gratitude for your kindness any more than I can express my gratitude for the honor you have bestowed in this way."

The following morning seminar was conducted on the 1957 CSEA legislative program, presided over by Irwin Schlossburg, second vice president of the Metropolitan Conference.

ARCHITECTS OF SUCCESS

The huge success of the first annual spring workshop of the Metropolitan and Southern Conferences is due mainly to the tremendous effort put into the project by the two conference presidents. They are Nellie Davis, left, president of the Southern Conference and A. J. Concert, president of the Metropolitan Conference.

Levitt Says Immediate Steps Being Taken On Starting Social Security

ALBANY, May 6—State Comptroller Arthur Levitt announced that immediate steps will be taken by the State Social Security Agency to assure that more than 500,000 public employees in the State will have an opportunity to participate in the new Social Security program.

As a result of Governor Harriman's action in signing the Van Lare-Wilson bill all employees of the State and of its political subdivisions who are members of a public retirement system will have the right to supplement their retirement system coverage with Federal Old Age and Survivors Insurance.

The Social Security Agency will be expanded to meet the needs of more than 500,000 eligible employees. Only those who actually vote to join will be eligible to participate, the Comptroller emphasized. Those voting "no" cannot enter the program at a later date.

Members of the New York State Teachers Retirement System will also have the opportunity to indicate whether or not they desire the Federal coverage.

"The immediate concern," the Comptroller Levitt stated, "is to provide every member with the information necessary for him to make an intelligent decision on the merits of this program relative to his own situation."

Local Unit Decisions Needed

The Comptroller indicated that this poll will be conducted shortly after each local unit of government adopts a formal resolution indicating the extent of retroactive coverage to be provided. Each employer has the option to provide either six quarters or four quarters of current coverage. The Social Security Agency will provide each of the more than 5,000 participating municipalities with the information necessary to adopt this resolution and the other steps that they will be required to take. This will include the criteria to estimate the cost of the alternative forms of coverage and how to select the proper coverage best suited to the needs of their employees and the demands of their budget. This material will be sent to the political subdivisions early next week.

The Comptroller also revealed that the Social Security Agency will be expanded to meet the demands of this extensive educational campaign and to process the thousands of applications and forms that will be necessary to comply with the Federal regulations and to service a potential membership of over 500,000 employees and employers.

The State Social Security Agency is a part of the New York State Executive Department.

Funds are voted for climber-pruner raise

The Board of Estimate appropriated $124,030 to adjust current pay rates for New York City climbers and pruners and to provide a back-pay differential. The adjustment follows the action of the Career and Salary Plan's placement of these men in Grade 7, effective July 1, 1954.

Certified Shorthand Reporter Test Opens

The State Board of Examiners of Certified Shorthand Reporters announced the annual examination for the certified shorthand reporter certificate, to be held on Friday, June 21, in New York City. Applicants must be residents of the United States, citizens over 21 years of age, and have successfully completed four years work in a high school recognized by the State Board of Regents, or the equivalent thereof; also, they must have had technical training in verbatim reporting on matters involving law, medicine, and science, and produce proof showing five years' experience in stenographic work.

Candidates admitted to the test will be examined in reporting of court proceedings at speeds up to 200 words per minute, and in matters relating to elementary law and legal procedure. The passing mark is 95 per cent. Candidates must supply their own typewriters, shorthand notebooks or stenotype machines.
Time to Get Busy

While the State is providing six quarters of retroactive Social Security coverage for its employees, if employees who are members of State retirement system approve the tie-in with the Federal plan, New York City is showing no sign of doing likewise. The employee organizations should get suddenly busy trying to induce the City to follow that same line, or, if that can't be done, to seek retroactive coverage by supplemental appropriation. The cost of retroactive coverage could be provided by supplemental appropriation.

One way or another, the additional funds should be voted, so that there would be retroactive coverage to April 1, 1956, and employees could retire, with Social Security benefits added, a year or half a year sooner, if they qualify.

Anything for a Laugh

A job that pays $3,900 to a year to a head of large department, But a job that pays $75 a week, offers start, or about $3,650 a year, and again he meets up with some journalist or publicity man still plugging away at a book, and he is asked, "What is your biggest problem?"

"It's a nice idea, anyway, that a job pays $3,900 to a year to a head of large department, But we're always after more. What is your biggest problem?"

"What is your biggest problem?"

"Anything for a laugh."

WASHINGTON, May 6 — The United States Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia, in the case of Postmaster James J. Uncle Wethbee's Column

The Great Upheaval

At this time of the year a great upheaval takes place in most homes.

Woodwork is washed, window drapes are down to be cleaned... even the rug mats get vacuumed. Not a mess or a corner is missed. Dad's room is put into such order that he can't find a thing. Just as you get out his baseball uniform and Mother's in a rush over slip cover samples.

All this is known as Spring Cleaning Time.

It's the ideal time for you to be thinking of converting your old furnace to clean gas heat. With warmer weather coming on, it's a joy for the woodstove to work hard and the job can be done in less than a day. Write Con Edison, 4 Irving Place, New York 3, N. Y.

Now where did Tex put my dustcloth?
Edward Meacham, right, director of personnel service for the State Civil Service Department, and Janet Casey, left, CSEA field representative, at the CSEA Metropolitan Conference, during a session on the forthcoming State health insurance plan. The discussions were held at a spring workshop of the Metropolitan and Southern Conferences, which took place in the Concord Hotel, Kiamesha Lake, April 28 and 29.

Meacham Tells Next Steps On Health Insurance Plan
A discussion on the forthcoming State health insurance plan, which was a feature of the 2-day workshop held by the Metropolitan and Southern Conferences of the Department.

Mr. Meacham reviewed the steps which were necessary to have his health insurance plan in effect. He declared that at this time the work had not been completed. It would be necessary to have the plan in effect for one year, until June 30, 1968. There is, however, a distinct likelihood that the benefit may be extended for a further period by the next Legislature.

With the increase in the insurance plan, there has been a widening gap between the ordinary death benefit and the benefit which would be paid to a beneficiary after retirement, if the appropriate option had been chosen by the enrollee.

Also, the cash payment is not only a boon to the state employee because of the actual sum received but also because it increases his retirement system benefits.

The three changes which were discussed in detail represent important advances for members of the State Retirement System. There were also other changes, which are somewhat less important, and therefore are not being discussed in detail.

In conclusion I would urge all members to file the election for the new 50-year plan just as soon as the opportunity is made available.

Mr. Weinstein explains
