Fall Meeting of Central Conference is Sept. 14; Ft. Stanwyck Host Chapter

BUFFALO, Sept. 2—State Senate Majority Leader Walter Mahoney and William B. Lawless, Jr., president of the Common Council of Buffalo, will be principal speakers at a special meeting of the Civil Service Employees' Association to be held April 14, according to Celeste Rosenkranz, Conference president.

The affair will be held at the Erie County Home and Infirmary, Allen, N.Y., at 2 P.M. Miss Rosenkranz reported. Erie County chapter, CSEA field representative for the first time.

A county workshop will be held in conjunction with the Conference meeting. Starting at 3 P.M., the meeting will be presided over by Viola Demoet.

The program schedule will include an organization tour starting at 2 P.M. general Conference meeting and county workshop at 3 P.M.; cocktail hour at 6:30 P.M. followed by dinner at 7:30.

Sen. Mahoney to Address Western Conference Meet

Suffolk County chapter of the Civil Service Employees' Association has called a general membership meeting at 7 P.M. September 4 at the Sayville High School Auditorium, Sayville, L.I., for the purpose of informing chapter members about the new classification and salary plan currently being installed in Suffolk County.

All county employees are invited to attend.

Chapter President Arthur Miller has arranged to have Association staff representatives on hand at the meeting. They include Henry Galpin, CSEA salary research analyst, and Benjamin Sherman, CSEA field representative.

Mr. Galpin and Mr. Sherman will discuss the classification and salary plan, after which there will be a question and answer period on specific points.

The chapter officers also announced that the Association's state board members, the General Conference Board that has been set up by the governor, will take a look at the new plan. The board will take a look at the new plan.

Dr. E. J. Galpin, president of Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, Troy, and member of the Conference Legislative Committee, will be the keynote speaker.

Nassau Unit's Clinic Helps 300 on Appeals

Since 300 employees of Nassau County rallied themselves of the 4-day clinic for appeals on the county's new classification plan, that clinic was sponsored by Nassau County chapter of the Civil Service Employees' Association.

Ivraa Franzen, chapter president, reported that Association staff members, in cooperation with CSEA headquarters in Albany, were highly successful in explaining and helping on appeal procedures.

Association staff members who helped a band were Henry Galpin, CSEA salary research analyst; Benjamin Sherman, CSEA field representative; and Harold Herbert, regional attorney for the Association.

Mr. Franzen, as well as county officials, continued to urge all employees who feel they have just grounds for an appeal not hesitate to file an appeal.

The chapter clinic was held at Rensselaer and was available to all county employees.

When Madeline Fraszler, left, reached her 30th anniversary as an employee of Roswell Park Memorial Hospital in Buffalo, her fellow employees did not let the occasion pass without appropriate notice. Mrs. Betty Burns is seen pinning an orchid spray on Miss Fraszler during a surprise party for her. In honor of the workers also presented the guest of honor with a piece of silver for every year of service.

The Police Department is offering a special pay rate for its patrolmen, with a starting pay of $4,500. After three years, this pay rises to $5,881. Besides, policewomen get a uniform allowance of $125 a year, which may be considered as additional pay, the addition being tax-deductible besides. The allowance is granted after an appointee successfully completes his nine-months probationary period. During that period a patrolman is taught the basic elements of the profession at the Police Academy, including how to handle rough characters, how to report scientifically on accidents, how to administer first aid, what are the laws and rules a policeman must know, also the meaning of legal terms to handle them successfully. New York City has just approved 32 resolutions as the State employees up to the age of 70.

1. Increase in salary.
2. Creation of a 37.5-hour week for institutional patrolmen at State employees.
3. Benefits to have choice of family to a pension board.

Home Economist Jobs Are Offered by NYC

Among the New York City positions for which filing opens September 4, is that of home economist. Currently, there are 7 vacancies in the Department of Welfare. The home economist in the Department advises the case staff in-service training program, teaches clients to improve work credit.

Labor Dept. Aides To Get Emergency CD Assignment

The more than 8,000 employees of the State Department of Labor will shortly receive essential post-attack Civil Defense assignments to be carried out in the event of an enemy attack.

This was announced jointly by Lt. Gen. C. R. Huebner, State Civil Defense Director, and Charles E. Hughes Deputy Industrial Commissioner of the State Department of Labor.

Mr. Hughes and division heads from the State Labor Department met with the staff to work out a plan for continuity of service following an attack.

The meeting was held at the State Civil Defense Commission's headquarters, 124 East 28th Street, Manhattan.

Mr. Hughes said:

""In the next several weeks, as a result of today's meeting, every employee of the State Labor Department will be given a job he would do in the event of attack, thus assuring 100 percent continuity of service by this State agency."

Our primary mission after an enemy attack is to swiftly activate a Manpower Service that would place New York State's roughly 8,000,000 able-bodied workers into trade in the coming year. ""The net result would be that every man who gets on the patrolman eligible list would be reached for appointment, which would not be true in the sanitationman case."

SPECIALIZED TECHNIQUES TAUGHT TO ROOKIES AT POLICE DEPARTMENT'S ACADEMY

The patrolman (P.D.) examination that New York City has just opened, and which closes on September 24, figures to offer the best opportunities to men for a career in the City service, even if the number of applicants considerably increases, compared to recent experience.

The key to success during the life of the list, for instance, will far exceed those for sanitationmen. General Rule: application closes recently. In the sanitationman test the number of applications, 23,806, was the largest in a decade of history of the City Civil Service Commission.

There is no telling how many will apply in the patrolman test, but it is certain that the total will be to where near as large as the sanitationman figure. Thus there remains only the difficulty of the test to be considered.

It is generally agreed that the patrolman examination is more difficult, because the written test is more searching, and, besides, is competitive. The physical is only qualifying. In the sanitationman case, the written is qualifying, the physical competitive. The patrolman physical is considered more demanding that the sanitationman physical.

Job for New Eligible

The net result would be that every man who gets on the patrolman eligible list would be reached for appointment, which would not be true in the sanitationman case by a long shot. The police eligible can have the job if he wants it, and more and more eligibles are wanting it, since the pay has been increased, and new fringe benefits provided. The fringe benefits, however, are not superior to those that a sanitationman enjoys.

Sanitationman starting pay is $2,250 a year and rises to $5,000 after three years, whereas patrolmen are appointed at $4,500, and after three years at $5,881.

Besides, policewomen get a uniform allowance of $125 a year, which may be considered as additional pay, the addition being tax-deductible besides. The allowance is granted after an appointee successfully completes his nine-months probationary period. During that period a patrolman is taught the basic elements of the profession at the Police Academy, including how to handle rough characters, how to report scientifically on accidents, how to administer first aid, what are the laws and rules a policeman must know, also the meaning of legal terms to handle them successfully. HARRIMAN URGES CARE TO PROTECT ONE'S VISION

Sixth Annual Month, proclaimed by Governor Averell Harriman, is now in effect in New York.

The proclamation was made as a result of the increasing number of persons who lose their sight each year. It is hoped that by drawing the attention of the public to the importance of proper eye care, particularly with advancing age or the continuous use of the eyes in computations that require constant use of them, the future can be reduced to a minimum.

In his proclamation, Governor Harriman stated: "Much more must be done in the campaign to alert all our people, both young and old, to the need of taking proper precautions to protect their precious vision."

Failure to Get Welfare Pay Raises Deemed

The employees in the New York City Department of Welfare have not been well served in their appeals for upward reallocation, said Henry Perlmutter, president, Local 317, Teamsters, so his union is going to show how the job should be done.

The whole past of investigator files has stood still, when asked, were clearly in order," he added. "Other City Welfare employees, in jobs for which the minimum requirements are less, have been upgraded, but regarding the record appeals for Welfare Department employees in the middle and lower groups is one of failure after failure.

The employees are promised much by the union that has been dominant there, only to be disappointed.

Organizing the Employees

Local 237 started organizing employees of the department immediately after being granted recognition by Commissioner Henry L. McCarthy.

"Employees of the department are little to little 237," Mr. Feinstein declared, "for various good reasons, one of them being that they are disfranchised with taking up many trimmings in appeals cases."

He emphasized that the union's objective is to have the whole social service upgraded.

"Comparison of pay in other jurisdictions, including neighboring ones, and in Federal and State service, proves the justice of this aim," he asserted.

He declared that $1,000-a-year increases are in order.

Pigeons Taking More Office Space

ALBANY, Sept. 2—The pigeons have taken over another floor of the State Office Building.

Recently, a colony of the birds took over an empty third floor outside the windows of the State Division of Classification and Compensation. Now, they've invaded the 23rd floor.

Employees of the Civil Service Department reported to work the other day only to find a pigeon asleep inside the window. All the windows were closed.

How he gets in a mystery. He was seen flying through an open window for his exit. Quipped a department wit: "It was either that or filling him under P."

Credit Where It's Due

POLICE and firemen have not always been prone to the idea of Social Security coverage but once they discovered its value, they continued to press for it. This was true of pension systems but would also add to them, they sought such coverage with vigor.

Part of the awakening to the desirability of Social Security was due to the efforts of the Civil Service Employees Association, which, years ago, took the lead in advocating Old Age and Survivors Insurance (the technical name) for public employees in New York State.

Working with the Fire Fighters Association of New York State and police benevolent associations, the CSEA not only worked with other employees groups to the facts about Social Security but also aided in the fight to get Congress to approve legislation which would enable policemen and firemen to take Social Security coverage on an implementation basis as other public employees in the State may do.

This legislation is now awaiting President Eisenhower's signature and we hope that favorable action will come soon.

Thousands of police and firemen throughout New York State will then receive a retirement group and protect possible survivors. And it was mainly through the efforts of the identified public employee groups that it will have come into being.

When the prize is won there will be, as always, many others who will claim credit for the victory. Before this happens we want to give credit where it is due and we do not want to overlook the retroactive coverage? H.B. 6840, which provides for your salary credits. Even though you have to accept the retroactive benefits, they would always be entitled to the future benefit, for the protection of your own interests and possible those of survivors.

I AM A WOMAN 68 and plan to retire in another year, I understand my pension will be close to $100 a month. I plan to marry a man retired under Social Security, but I have been told by people that a woman's pensions do not carry over to her husband.

The trouble with the theory of probabilities is not the theory itself but often the missing facts.

Effect of Shortage of Facts

Often more facts are desired than one has at hand, but since an acceptable result may be obtained from them, people may take a prohibitive length of time, they are ignored, this being one of the circumstances that tend to introduce a result other than the most acceptable. The trouble with the theory of probabilities is not the theory itself but often the missing facts.

Looking Inside

The Generalities of Peeks into the Future

MAN HAS ALWAYS BEEN fascinated by the hope of being able to peek into the future, to predict various outcomes with a reasonable degree of accuracy. The attempt has been made from time immemorial, and the idea of peeks into the future was, in fact, one of the circumstances that tend to introduce a result other than the most acceptable.

The trouble with the theory of probabilities is not the theory itself but often the missing facts.

Questions Answered on Social Security

I STARTED WORKING at the Albin State Training School December 1, 1924, and I was 18 years old at the time. My mother had been covered by Social Security for some 16 or 20 years. What benefit will be paid to me if I pay retroactive coverage? H.E.

If you want coverage on the back of the Social Security State job you will have to accept the retroactive provision. It may help to build your own security. Even though you are fully insured, your possible benefits may shrink, but not unless you are under Social Security. You would be entitled to the minimum benefits, but unless you exceed it, you would be paid $50 a month, or less than half the present maximum primary benefit. You should accept the provision, with the compulsory retrospection, for the protection of your own interests and possible those of survivors.

Sadly or otherwise. With two dice, the probabilities are 2, the possibilities 12, equals 1/6. The numerator and denominator are multiplied by two, each of them, hence the ratio does not change. How does it change for a larger number of dice.

Fortunately, the dice cases are an example of possession of sufficient facts. We further facts as all are necessary, except that the throwing is on the level, the dice aren't loaded. That much is assumed.

Horse-Race Betting

Betting on horse races presents a different situation. Many variables, unknowns and imponderables are involved, so that the theory, in the absence of any proof to the contrary, remains inscrutable. Besides, the "facts" are a jumble of realities and guesses, and conditions must be described in terms of number even though assigning numbers to them is subjective and probably erroneous.

Assume that the quest is for the winner, the horse to finish first. Attention would be paid to the percentage of times the horse won in the past, on the theory that past wins have a bearing on the probability of future ones. This would be definable if it were a relationship of cause and effect, as distinguished from more chance.

Horse-racing is in the realm of chance, not based on cause and effect and is taken regardless of the odds against possible success.

The total amount of money a horse won would have some significance in the computation, too, both for this year and last year; also the weight carried, post position skill of the jockey, distance of the race (some horses ran as amateurs, others as winners and nearly others at all distances), the class of races in which the horse ran, compared to the one in which it is now competing, and, when it won, by how much did it win? A photo finish victory ordinarily would not be considered as winning as one gained with "daylight between". Then, too, the number of times the horses was in the money—finished first, second or third—might be considered.

80 REPORTER VACANCIES

More than 80 vacancies for hearing reporters are to be filled from the list to be established as a result of a New York State examination to be given on October 26. Applications may be obtained until September 10. The jobs pay from $4,750 to $8,660 annually.

The list may also be used to fill vacancies in the counties of New York City, for which only residents of the respective counties would be eligible. For these jobs some pay rates are as high as $9,950 annually.

Wagner Honored by Jewish Group

The Council of Jewish Organizations and the Civil Service representing 82 groups comprising 75,000 New York City, State and Federal employees, workers of the Jewish faith honored Mayor Wagner as the "Civil Service Man of the Year." Mayor Wagner was presented with a silver trophy, in recognition of "universal opportunities for all, regardless of race, color or creed.

Presentation was made by Dr. Herman P. Mankiewicz, President of CJO, and Rabbi Harold H. Gordon, repre- senting the New York Board of Rabbis. Rabbi Gordon is in charge of the New York City Bureau of Religious Education. The Council of Jewish Organizations presented the Mayor with a book and a watch in recognition of his leadership in Jewish matters.

Harriman and Mayor Vow Speed on Social Security For Policemen and Firemen

Both Governor Alfonse Harriman of New York and New York City Mayor Robert F. Wagner, Jr., have promised speedy action in providing Social Security benefits for policemen and firemen under the amendment to the Federal law that makes them eligible. The bill was passed by Congress. While President Eisenhower had not yet signed it when the promises were made, signature is considered foregone.

"My Administration will proceed without delay," said Governor Harriman, "to set up the machinery to provide these benefits for policemen and firemen whose hazardous occupations entitle them and their families to all assistance.

The policemen and firemen of some States were excluded from Social Security at their own request, but a change in sentiment among members, after a careful canvass of the benefits promised, in the present successful drive for repeal of the restriction.

In this method of playing he first bets $1; if he loses he bets $2; if he loses that he bets $4; if he loses that he bets $8; and if he then gains he has lost $1 plus $2 plus $4, equals $7, and he has gained $1 more; and so many more bets he loses, the first one he gains will make him $1 richer than he was at the beginning. In that way, he will probably gain at first; but, at last, he will come when the run of luck is so against him that he will not have enough money to double the amount, and must, therefore, lose his bet.

"But whether a gambler plays in this way or not, or any other, the result is, and always will be, that if he plays long enough, he will be sure some time to have such a run against him as to exhaust his entire fortune."

Looking Inside

In this method of playing he first bets $1; if he loses he bets $2; if he loses that he bets $4; if he loses that he bets $8; and if he then gains he has lost $1 plus $2 plus $4, equals $7, and he has gained $1 more; and so many more bets he loses, the first one he gains will make him $1 richer than he was at the beginning. In that way, he will probably gain at first; but, at last, he will come when the run of luck is so against him that he will not have enough money to double the amount, and must, therefore, lose his bet.

But whether a gambler plays in this way or not, or any other, the result is, and always will be, that if he plays long enough, he will be sure some time to have such a run against him as to exhaust his entire fortune."

"But whether a gambler plays in this way or not, or any other, the result is, and always will be, that if he plays long enough, he will be sure some time to have such a run against him as to exhaust his entire fortune."

The reason he advocates gambling by millionaires is that he finds many millions of dollars of capital at no more advantage than a few millions. He himself has multiplied and played the stock market heavily. He died all the wealthier for it.

J. Daniels Heads New Public Works Bureau

ALBANY—Sept. 2—The appointment of Gov. John F. Barber, of Saratoga Springs, as head of a new bureau of budgetary and administrative planning in the State Department of Public Works, has been announced by Superintendent John W. Johnson.

Mr. Daniels was formerly assistant superintendent of the new bureau is John Daniels, former principal bookkeeper examiner in the State Board of Public Accounts. Mr. Daniels will receive $13,900 a year.

Mr. Johnson said the new bureau would direct and coordinate "Preparation of annual budget requests, capital construction estimates and long-range projections; special studies of highway, water and other capital financial planning. Also develops program costs, performance standards, budget criteria, improving systems for reporting financial information; preparing summaries and recommendations for the assistant superintendent for administration, deputy superintendent and commissioner."

The new bureau will also launch an improvement program for work simplification and increased efficiency.

The crisis that has developed over a Federal pay increase has got the employees all excited. They knew that bills providing for raises would be passed. The only doubt about actual enactment was, and still is, President Eisenhower's signature to the two measures now on his desk.

What the Bills Provide

One of the bills provides for an increase of 11 percent for classified employees, and persons employed in the legislative and judicial branches. The provision was in the House bill. While the Senate Post Office and Civil Service Committee felt that the raise should be only 7 1/2 percent, that committee and finally the Senate itself went along with the House proposal. Reconciling the divergence through conference sessions would take weeks, and there were no weeks to spare. This Senate compliance with House percentage gave weight to the assumption that both measures were being passed without expectation that they would become law.

For the classified-legislative-judiciary group, the limit on any raise would be $1,000, and no pay could be increased through the percentage raise 1 1/2 percent. The postal measure provides in general for an across-the-board increase of $546 a year, amounting to about 12 1/2 percent. It would benefit carriers, clerks, motor vehicle operators, supervisors, craftsmen, transportation service mail handlers, mailmen, switchmen, postmasters, rural carriers, special delivery men, maintenance employees, and others.

No Looking Back

Next year should be an interesting and illuminating year for the State employee. The Governor through several official sources has indicated that the State is planning an extensive employee program in 1958.

It is hoped to take a top priority and commence with the position and the times. An annual salary of $3,000 was a good wage years ago, but it is not enough to raise any family.

Standard of Living

National trends definitely show that the average work week has been reduced and will be reduced even further. The cost of living has increased. More and more we are levied with experts who have incorrectly predicted deflations of recession or depression.

The State employees have lost millions of dollars in the salary bargaining process. As a result of this, the salaries will be increased in private industry. Regularly, the cost of living will be increased, the cost of food will be increased, and perhaps a progressive and elastic salary program if it is to achieve the status of the model employer.

Our Status

Since World War II we received several general salary raises but they have always been lower than those of private industry and have been relatively meager. There are many reasons why our salary increases have been lower since the advent of the wage freeze, one reason is that we have been called by a so-called expert who has incorrectly predicted deflations of recessions or depressions.

The State employees have lost millions of dollars in the salary bargaining process. As a result of this, the salaries will be increased in private industry. Regularly, the cost of living will be increased, the cost of food will be increased, and perhaps a progressive and elastic salary program if it is to achieve the status of the model employer.
