Health Plan Enrollment On
As Sov. Harriman Seeks To
Inside Oldsters' Coverage

ALBANY, Nov. 4 — New developments on the health insurance front for state employees are making these headlines:

(1) About 50-48 per cent of all state employees have signed up for the new State Insurance Program.

(2) A check by State Civil Service Department officials has shown that approximately 99 per cent of the agencies that have any employees have joined for health insurance coverage.

Actual numbers for the Civil Service Department itself show that 421 employees signed up out of a total of 504.

75 Per Cent Needed

Under the law, 75 per cent of eligible state workers must go into the program in order for it to be operative.

Early reports, and not conclusively, indicate a lesser number of institutions personnel have taken advantage of the program than those in state offices.

Appeal for Older Aides

In a letter to Mrs. Joyce Kline, chairman of the State Commission on Pensions, Governor Harriman wrote:

"I understand that several hundred members of the State Employees Retirement System retirement became mandatory before Dec. 5, 1957, will not be eligible for the new State Health Insurance Plan, although they have already signaled their intention to join one of the proposed plans, unless they are continued in service beyond Dec. 5.

Other state employees who are not required to leave the services on attaining age 70 only because of their contribution to the salaries of the State Employees Retirement System will have the benefits of the health plan, even though they may leave the service shortly after the plan becomes effective.

The success of the Civil Service Employees Association in securing Social Security was the most important event of the year for State employees. CSEA was gratified by the favorable action of the President and Congress in approving the desired legislation that will provide Social Security to State and local government employees.

How to Get Social Security Card Quickly

Employees who never had a Social Security card must have one, because this certificate is required by Old Age and Survivors’ Insurance.

Application must be made on a special form issued by the Social Security Administration. The form can either be obtained by mail or presented in person at any local Social Security office, or mailed, in the case of persons employed in and near New York City, to the Social Security Administration, Room 404 at 42 Broadway, New York City.

In the run of a case a card is received within three days after the filled-in form has been submitted. If an applicant previ- ously had a Social Security card, that fact will be inserted in the form. The card will be mailed.

Correction Officer Exams

New York City is receiving applications for correction officer jobs. Two examinations are open, one for men, the other for women. Starting pay is $4,172. You must have completed the 12th grade, have a high school graduation or an equivalency diploma is required, but only as a means of assessment, not for purposes of applying for the test. An equivalency diploma may be obtained in time for appointment by passing a Board of Education examination. Apply for the test at the New York City Police Department, 110 Livingston Street, Brooklyn.

Women must not be less than 22 on November 21, the last day to apply, and not more than 31 on November 1, 1957. Men must be not less than 20 nor more than 31 years old.

WANT TO PASS A CIVIL SERVICE TEST?

During the next 12 months there will be many appointments to U.S. Government jobs in the greater New York area and throughout the country. They are available to men and women between 18 and 30 years of age.

These will be jobs paying as high as $377.60 a month. They are well paid in comparison with the same kinds of jobs in private business. There is plenty of opportunity for advancement. Many of these jobs require little or no experience or specialized education.

In order to get one of these jobs, you must pass a Civil Service test. The competition in these tests is intense. In some cases as few as one out of five applicants pass! Anything you can do to improve your chances of passing is worth doing.

Franklin Institute is a privately owned firm which helps many pass these tests each year. The Institute is the largest and oldest agency in the field of preparation for government employment. Many of these jobs require little or no experience or specialized education.

To get full information free of charge on the Government Job test, fill out, stick to postcard and mail the coupon at once, TODAY. Complete application for your test. The Franklin Institute will also show you how to qualify yourself for these tests. Don’t delay—act NOW.

Questions Answered On Social Security

I HAVE BEEN EMPLOYED by the State for 10 years prior to being signed for Social Security. Will I be able to collect benefits if I retire or die before reaching my retirement age?

Your situation is covered by Social Security. The legislation finally enacted into law closely followed the recommendations of the CSEA benefit committee to all members of the State Retirement System employed by the State or political subdivisions. By taking positive action to provide retroactive coverage under Social Security, the State law now covers compensation for this period. The benefits would apply to anyone who retired or died before reaching your retirement age.

I HAVE HAD no other Social Security coverage except that recently received from the State. If I become qualified by working long enough but retire before reaching 65, will my benefits reach the maximum? I earn $4,200 a year. Miss E.V.

Your benefits will not reach the maximum until age 65. You would have 8 quarters of coverage. Ordinarily you would need an average of 40 quarters of coverage to qualify. These may be obtained by continuing to work at your present job through the first quarter of 1955. However, under the alternate insured status provisions of the Social Security Act, if you continue to work until you are 62, you would be fully insured at that time and could retire then.

AM I ENTITLED to receive survivor insurance benefits for the children of a deceased wife or father?

Yes, you are entitled to receive benefits for the children of a deceased parent. If you were married to your deceased parent, you would be entitled to monthly payments. However, payments to you would be suspended for any month during which your annual earnings exceeded $60 above the $1,200 permitted for the year. The children's benefits would continue during this period and you would be entitled to the full amount when your earnings again equal or fall below the $1,200 limit.

BOTH MY WIFE and I work for the State and earn more than $4,200 each. When we retire will we have Social Security and half of mine?

Each of you will be entitled to benefits based on your own wage record. Because your wife's benefit on her own account will be larger than your own, you would receive only a fraction of your benefit. She will only get her own benefit. A wife or widow can not receive both benefits, only the larger of the two.

President Riehenower for approval of such Federal legislation. CSEA was gratified by the favorable action of the President and Congress in approving the desired legislation so that policemen and firemen and all other State and local government employees would have Social Security coverage at an early date. This means Social Security coverage will be provided for the approximately 100,000 State and local government employees who were previously outside, CSEA Police new members of CSEA.

Your Association obviously took all possible action to provide Social Security coverage for State and local government employees. The legislation to this end was introduced by Charles C. Dubuar, chairman of the State Retirement System Committee.

At the meeting in Albany held November 4, dealing with the above topic, the Association alerted the County Division Chairmen to the necessity of assuring bodies of public employees that the new law takes positive action to provide retroactive Social Security coverage. The Association, therefore, strongly encourages all public bodies of employees throughout the State to contact their local government employees and to get them to apply for Social Security card by December 21.

The plan for payroll deduction of Association dues was a boon for the organization during the past year. It was a new tool in developing efficiency certain dangers which are not immediately apparent. One of the most important and dangers of the chapter were charges with responsibility of individual collections. They learned that the members of the chapter would be interested in the organization. If the money was not collected, the member who was with us today is not interested tomorrow, that members leave the public service for outside employment, and that there is always a new tax. The change is not only fluid, but it is always in flux.

Dues collections in the state service have become automatic. A machine does the work that an individual did before. It is done speedily, easily, and efficiently. But no matter how efficient the new method, the old constant problems of membership still persist. The changes take place. There are still resignations, retirements and death.

Dangers of Complicity
The danger to the public service is that it has generated a complacency among our chapter officials. They feel the membership problem is solved — has become automatic. They have quickly forgiven their own past. They are proud of the fact that membership, as stated above is never static but always in flux.

There is still work for the officers of the Association. Work against the people-pleasing. Non-members have to be solicited to replace the vacancies left by the old; non-members have to be informed about the programs of the Association. The victory has, however, been won. Any organization with a large expanse of members have to be convinced that CSEA is an effective and potent instrument for the public employees. Non-members have to understand their membership with CSEA. As a result there is greater assurance of achieving its goals than anorganization with a few members.

Need for Human Tools
This is not the time to neglect the human tools of the chapter organization. This is not the time for the chapter to abandon its most valuable and expensive tools. There are still many people in the state service who do not belong to CSEA. Each of these people in each department has to be individually approached. There are still people in this chapter to be convinced that his signature on the payroll deduction card is a tremendous help to the total strength of the organization.

Any organization depends in the last analysis upon the size and strength of its membership.

Brockport Civil Service Employees Association

The Brockport Civil Service Employees Association is sponsoring a $200 scholarship named in honor of Bernard Drake. Former Director of the College, who passed away recently, was frequently used for student loan fees. It has been large enough. Mrs. Drake, wife of Bernard Drake, is now assisting in administering the fund, has announced that she has already received over 200 applications from students, colleagues and friends who knew Mr. Drake during his tenure of service in the normal school and the college.

Dr. Raye Conrad, dean of students, Mr. Henry A. Atwood, director of the division of education, and Mr. R. G. Johnson, director of guidance education have both resigned from the position of chairman of the board.

The Chapter voted to hire Joe Halak as its new executive director. Mr. Halak had served in the same capacity for the past five years. He is a member of the chapter and is paying all costs of the CSEA Special Memorial Plaque Committee, reported.

The first meeting approved by the Association's Board of Directors was held on Tuesday, May 15, 1957. The first meeting was attended by Mrs. Elsie Geraghty, widow of Francis Geraghty, Jnr., and Mr. Michael Geraghty and son; a brother, Martin Geraghty and a niece and nephew. These relatives were entertained by Mrs. Jenius Smith of Manhattan State Hospital following the conclusion of the meeting.

Present, too, were the widow of James Doughar, and Mrs. and Robert Doughar, daughter, Elizabeth Doughar, who enclosed the plaque, Frank Wai, wife of Robert Doughar, and Jack Doughar, son of the late James Doughar.

A proposal to arrange a low-cost cooperative European tour that would be open only to Chapter members was adopted by the members present. It was determined that the trip visiting eight European countries in 33 days with all expenses included could be arranged through the local travel agency.

The Chapter voted to hire Joe Halak as its new executive director. Mr. Halak had served in the same capacity for the past five years. He is a member of the chapter and is paying all costs of the CSEA Special Memorial Plaque Committee, reported.

The plaque is a gift of the Southern Conference of the CSEA membership. A thank you note to the Chapter was very active in the Association. It carries the names of deceased members who, while Association members, contributed outstanding service to the organization and to the state service.

Present at the ceremony were Mrs. Elsie Geraghty, widow of Francis Geraghty, Jnr., and Mrs. Michael Geraghty and son; a brother, Martin Geraghty and a niece and nephew. These relatives were entertained by Mrs. Jenius Smith of Manhattan State Hospital following the conclusion of the meeting.

The New York City Civil Service Commission recommended that there be an examination set up in the Transit Authority for the position of bus line operator. The exam is open to all citizens of the United States who have held a motor vehicle operator's license for a period of at least three years. The exam is scheduled for the last Saturday of each month and there is no charge for the test.

The exam will consist of three parts: a written test, an oral test, and a physical examination. The written test will cover general knowledge and common sense questions. The oral test will consist of role-playing scenarios related to job responsibilities. The physical examination will assess the candidate's physical fitness to perform the job.

Candidates must be at least 22 years old, have a high school diploma or its equivalent, and be able to pass a background check. The exam will be held on the last Saturday of each month at various locations throughout New York City. The exam fee is $10 per candidate.

The New York City Civil Service Commission is committed to providing equal opportunities for all citizens regardless of race, color, religion, sex, national origin, age, or disability. The Commission encourages all qualified candidates to apply for the bus line operator position.

For more information, please visit the New York City Civil Service Commission website or call their customer service hotline.

Flirting With Disaster

H owever commendable may be the efforts of civil service commissions to utilize fast hiring as an incentive to recruitment, the method is a makeshift for avoiding paying high enough salaries.

The commissions themselves can not be held to strict account for the pay levels or for granting leave-which is not to establish them, and only the U.S. Civil Service Commission has any degree of freedom respecting pay, and even that is limited.

The fact that pay must be raised, if chronic difficulties in filling jobs is to be ended, is confirmed by every impartial survey made. The Federal committee, headed by Philip Young, former Chairman of the U.S. Civil Service Commission, for instance cited to the White House that hiring and retaining of engineers and scientists has become a critical problem, and recommended large pay increases.

Neglectful Practice Must Stop

The Civil Service Employees Association, whose membership includes 80 percent of all State employees, makes the same recommendation regarding raises, though on a broader scale, since, apart from recruitment and retention, fair dealing and consideration for one's employees require that pay reflect the growing difficulties of maintaining a suitable standard of living. The consumer price index is slowly going up, now higher for the thirteenth successive month.

In New York City the employee organizations long have been demanding higher pay for engineers, architects and draftsmen, in view of the City's persistent failure to attract a sufficient number of candidates, or get enough acceptances of job offers, to meet the needs of the service.

How long disregard of the necessity of raising pay can continue without incalculable damage to the public itself, no one can say. The employee morale is hard to figure, but employee patience certainly is near the point of exhaustion, and there is a limit to how much or how long government can shirk its responsibilities.

Long Record of Neglect

The Federal Government has instituted immediate hiring, in some instances, New York City offers such rapid examination and rating of papers that appointments to some jobs are promised within 24 hours after application. The State no doubt will swell the ranks of those offering fast hiring, though it has been resorting to the practice in any branch of government for many years.

But the public is quick to realize that the proof offered that there is no greatest number in the domain of the infinite, George Cantor, a genius, developed a new theory of the infinite, stating also that there is no greatest number in the domain of the infinite. Bertrand Russell, the philosopher-mathematician, though admiring the pioneering in mathematics, that had been accomplished, exclaimed the proof offered that there is no greatest number: 'In the infinite, in fact, stated that the conclusion that such a number did not exist was false. Some years later, in a reprint of the Reasons for Resignations

The easiest resignations are ascribed to the immediately higher pay offered, although some arose from problems of advancement. The yearning for faster advancement should prompt the Federal Government to expedite its plan of introducing a standard promotion system, to replace the informal one that has persisted for years, and which requires an abnormal amount of work blessing by the Civil Service Commission to limit, since it cannot completely prevent, personal and political favoritism.

The Federal government needs 10 percent of the supply of engineering graduates, but is getting only 5 percent. The City of New York, with lesser needs of this particular type, have experienced similar disappointments.

All the facts point toward deterioration of government service at all levels because of failure to meet competitive pay schedules. The fact that the jobs are competitive must no longer be used as excuse to avoid making pay competitive, too.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

FASTER HIRING APPROVED AS RECRUITMENT AID

Editor, The Leader:

A deterrent to applying for jobs in any branch of government is that it takes so long to get appointed, even if one places high on the eligibles list. And even that may be put on the spot. It is therefore advisable for government to conduct an examination process. Certainly time is required, and in large examinations consider- ing point of paternity of public service, engineers, architects, social investigators, stenographers, typists, the employer and the candidate. New York City has seen the truth in recent months. At least 24 hours in the Federal Service entrance examination and the State's equivalent examination have been scheduled for candidates. In the Federal government is resuming the on-the-spot hiring in some instances.

J. COLOATE RAWLINS

SAYS 90,000 REFUSE TO JOIN ORGANIZATIONS

Editor, The Leader:

It surprises me, how some New York City employees, other than those in the uniformed forces, or employees of the allied Authorities, treat organization as if it were sin. Actually, the employees could benefit much by joining organizations dedicated to their interests.

Civil service has become so technical, so involved, and requires so many new terms, that professional and specialist are almost certain to be lost in attempts to gain desired information. But, employees, in choosing employment specialists to process salary and classification appeals, analysis of proposed legislation, and otherwise will take care of the employ- ment needs.

The employees concerning whom this letter is written are mostly those in the Career and Salary Plan, of whom there are about 125,000. Or this number probably has been increased by 25,000 or 30,000 members of labor organizations. Why do the 90,000 others, mostly clerical and other office workers, keep their existing organization? One can hardly blame the unions that tried hard enough to enrol them. But the stone wall should crack soon, if the employees, as a group, prize what's best for them.

Contrast the situation at the present time, with the Civil Service Employees Association practically pretexts the scene, just as in the Federal employees, the Civil Service Employees Association, the Uni-

A glance at the diagram, which shows two pencils, should enable one to determine which of the two is the longer. Russell frankly admitted in a footnote that he was wrong, and that the proof offered that there is no greatest number in the infinite is incorrect.

perception are being tested. A keen sense of spatial values and forms are being accepted. It should be obvious that a truth that is universal ously right or obviously wrong.

The problem is by no means in the realm of the ridiculous. Great experience often unnecessary. FREE

Million Eye Movements Per Novel!

If you spent 10 days reading the latest historical novel, you would have moved your eyes muscles about a million times. These muscles can take an enormous amount of punishment. They are about 100 times as strong as they need to be and are the most exercised muscles in the body. Minute changes in focus take place as the eye moves across the page. Reading glasses aid those who have difficulty in focusing.
