Lefkowitz Predicts Premium Overtime Pay, Vested Rights As Public Employee Benefits

County Health Insurance, Payroll Dues Deduction Bills Signed Into Law

ALBANY, April 28—Two major pieces of legislation affecting public employee benefits have been signed into law by Governor Averell Harriman.

The first measure — the Con-way-March bill — authorizes payroll deduction of dues of employee organizations. The bill is a permissive one.

The second piece of legislation — the Albert-Streit bill — permits all political subdivisions, except New York City, to participate in the State Health Insurance Plan at the same rate paid by State employees.

Both bills were drafted and supported by the Civil Service Employees Association and mark a significant step in the area of county legislation.

Several counties already have indicated they were willing to allow employees the advantages of both measures.

Other Legislation

Governor Harriman also signed several other Association bills into law.

The increased use for retirement loans and increased insurable amount were approved, as was an extension of the one-year death benefit. The additional death benefit bill, however, was vetoed.

Also approved was inclusion of the Air National Guard in the Retirement System; restoration of eligibility to the Retirement System; permission to pay retirement deficiencies in multiples of $10 or by payroll deductions of $10 each and payment of health insurance fees through reductions from retirement checks.

The Governor signed a bill that would extend the one year retirement provisions now in effect. This extends the privilege of making additional contributions, loans over age 60; borrowing by members of the Armed Forces; re-employment in public service to those whose retirement allowances are less than $5,000 per year to accept employment at harness racing tracks.

Employees of Cornell and Alfred Colleges will be able to participate in the State Health Insurance Plan and the Temporary Disability Income Plan.

CSEA First Vice President Joseph Lochner addressed the joint conference meeting and announced that his department was studying the use of variable annuities as an answer to pension problems.

The Speaker also termed vested benefits as "an answer to pension problems."

"There are some who say that the granting of vested pension rights would cause a wholesale departure by employees from State service," he said. "I doubt seriously that there would be such a casus belli and I want to say that I will act in your right for this right." Mr. Lefkowitz also urged in favor of increased death benefits.

Seek To Halt Firing Of Claims Referees

The firing of two Workers' Compensation Claims Referees as of April 23 was halted by court action and arguments on the case were to be heard starting April 25.

The workers, Leon Ellerman and Lena Bigman, were given notice of their dismissal from the Albany office and both were exempt employees and Republicans.

The Attorney General expressed his disappointment that employees were not given even minimal notice of their dismissal from the Albany office and he called this type of final salary for death benefit purposes.

Other approved legislation will allow newly created political subdivisions to cover their employees under Social Security and set the effective date for coverage for police and firefighters throughout the State.

Credit Payments

Signed into law was a bill to permit political subdivisions to pay employees for unused vacation and overtime at separation.

Also signed was a bill which will permit State employees earning less than $5,000 per year to accept employment at harness racing tracks.

Employees of Cornell and Alfred Colleges will be able to participate in the State Health Insurance Plan and the Temporary Disability Income Plan.

CSEA First Vice President Joseph Lochner addressed the joint conference meeting and announced that his department was studying the use of variable annuities as an answer to pension problems.

Mrs. Lefkowitz, a Republican office holder, declared he was one who "urged members of my party to at least go along with the Administration proposals for a pay boost." He told his audience that he felt that an even bigger pay boost was in order and that he was GROSBINGER, N.Y., April 23 — Many benefits enjoyed by workers in private industry but not by those in public employment will eventually become a part of the civil service job picture, Attorney General Louis J. Lefkowitz predicted.

Mr. Lefkowitz, addressing the second annual Spring Workshop of the Metropolitan and Southern Conferences of the Civil Service Employees Association here, said he would "do anything I can to make this come true."

The Attorney General was one of two major speakers on the program of the three-day event. He was introduced by Joseph Polly, CSEA first vice president.

Previously, Comptroller Arthur J. Levitt addressed the joint conference meeting and announced that his department was studying the use of variable annuities as an answer to pension problems.

The speaker also termed vested pension rights "an answer to pension problems."

"There are some who say that the granting of vested pension rights would cause a wholesale departure by employees from State service," he said. "I doubt seriously that there would be such a casus belli and I want to say that I will act in your right for this right."

The Attorney General expressed his disappointment that employee payments were not given even minimal notice of their dismissal from the Albany office and he called this type of final salary for death benefit purposes.

State All Set to Celebrate 75 Years of Civil Service

On May 4, 1958, Governor Grover Cleveland signed an act into law that provided for competitive examinations for testing the fitness of applicants for state civil service, less than four months after a similar measure was enacted by the Federal government.

Beginning Sunday, May 4, the State Department of Civil Service, together with the various other state agencies and municipal units of government throughout the State, will observe the 75th anniversary of the establishment of the State Civil Service Law. The day also marks the beginning of the State's second annual Open House Week, the theme of which will be service.

Committee of Notables
Governor Harriman has appointed 51 prominent New Yorkers to the Civil Service Jubilee Committee of Notables, headed by Jerry Piekstalt, publisher of The Leader, on the committee.

For the observer, the annual Open House Week begins Sunday, May 4, with the dedication of the State's central personnel agency, a new 600-acre office site on Albany's upper Washington Avenue. Public relations have been arranged for this celebration, which will continue through Saturday, May 10.

Open House Week Big Event
Dressed in clean white uniforms, visitors will be welcomed to hundreds of State facilities in each of the 83 counties. The programs have been arranged for officers, hospitals, schools, colleges, police stations, National Guard armories and air bases, game farms, laboratories and historic sites. In addition, throughout the week, the lower level exhibit gallery of New York City's Grand Central Station will house a display depicting the activities of State agencies.

The department will conduct guided tours through its modern, escalator-equipped building. During the tours, visitors will be explained to them the functions of the State's central personnel agency and to see at work the department's approximately 500 employees. They will also be shown a 15-minute motion picture entitled "The 75th Year" and a "Commemorative Program" will be made for them to take a sample civil service test.

The documentary film was especially prepared for showing on television stations during the jubilee celebration. The sample test program is designed to familiarize the public with the multiple choice type of test used in civil service examinations and to show in operation the automatic scoring machines used by the Department.

A Hicks on the function of the Department of Civil Service, the 75th anniversary has been marked with a motion picture entitled "The 75th Anniversary of the State Civil Service Law," recently published by the State Department of Civil Service. The film is designed to familiarize the public with the State's civil service movement in the State from its outset to the present. The booklet, "75 Years of Civil Service," will be distributed to high school students throughout the State by the State Education Department. Copies are obtainable free from the Public Relations Unit, State Department of Civil Service, Albany 1, New York.

Falks State Government
The New York State Department of Civil Service is the central personnel agency for the largest State government. Its goal is to make the State of New York a model employer and to assure the State's residents of an effective and efficient public service, said Alexander A. Falk, president, State Civil Service Commission.

There are more than 2,700 different job titles in the State government. Numbered among them are accountants, clerks, factory inspectors, economists, office administrators, chemists, editors, and secretaries in many hundreds of other trades and professions.

John W. Johnson, State Superintendent of Public Works, dedicated May 4, the State Public Works Day, Department of Public Works offices throughout the State will open to public inspection.

ALEXANDER A. FALK
Governor Harriman, Charles B. Scaife, state's second annual Open House Week, of the State Civil Servce law. The date also marks the beginning of the State's second annual Open House Week, the theme of which will be service.

The questions which will not be part of any civil service examination, will be on history, current events, mathematics, sports and other topics.

Dinner on May 9
Also as part of its observance of the establishment of the merit system, the Department of Civil Service will hold a jubilee dinner in Albany's Sheraton Ten Tower Hotel Friday evening, May 9. Featured speakers will include

G. Joseph Morgan, Morgan's Restaurant, 144 Fulton Street, New York City, at 6 P.M.

The meeting will be held at Miller's Restaurant, 144 Fulton Street, New York City, on May 13. There is no charge for executive committee members. A charge of $4.50 will be made for guests. All executive committee members planning to attend should make reservations immediately with Joe Byrnes, Cortlandt 1-9880, extension 310. Thursday, May 8, is the deadline for reservations.

Candidates in the election to be held at the meeting are Max Lieberman for president; Sam Bimeltti, first vice president; Al Caram, second vice president; Seymour Shohr, third vice president; Edward Arranaga, treasurer; Ted Monitto and Al Di- Antonio, financial secretaries; Margaret Shields, recording secretary, and Irene Winters, corresponding secretary.

H.I.P. Members Need To Be Hospitalized Less Often!

H.I.P. subscribers require hospitalization nearly 20 per cent less frequently than persons enrolled under a medical insurance plan providing doctors' care mainly in the hospital.

A recent study* of two comparable population samples—57,000 persons insured in H.I.P. and 53,000 persons insured under a well-known medical indemnity plan—showed that the rate of admission to hospitals was 7.4 per 1,000 population for H.I.P. enrollees as compared with 95.8 per 1,000 for the enrollees in the other plan. Both groups were insured for the same hospital benefits.

H.I.P. members are entitled to comprehensive medical, surgical, maternity, pediatric and other specialist care without extra charges beyond the premium. The only exception is a $2.00 charge for a home call requested and made between 10 P.M. and 7 A.M.

The Plan Merits Thought

IN A SPEECH before the second annual workshop of the Metropolitan and Southern Conference last week, Comptroller Arthur Levitt stated that he is giving much thought to a plan which might, in its application to the State's Employees Retirement System, bring some alleviation to the State's pensioners during periods of inflation. This was the use of the variable of the variable annuity. The variable annuity refers to an annuity plan where the payments are made not in a fixed number of dollars, in the usual annuity plan, but vary in accordance with the earnings of common stocks in which the contributions of the plan are invested. The theory behind the concept is that during periods of inflationary dollar rises the annuitant would get increased dollar payments.

Desires Thorough Study

This plan and its application to the Retirement System deserves a thorough and hard study. It might have great merit and it also might have some defects. There is no question but that the deficiencies of our present pension plan during the recent period of our inflation have caused great concern not only to the State's pensioners but also to the State's officials. It is also possible, as some economists think, that the economy of this country is going to face a continuous inflationary trend for the indefinite future. It would be nice if one could think of some workable answer could be found to help future pensioners meet this problem.

The Conference asks for the help of all participants to give his thinking on this question. He asks that employers, after much thought and discussion, send him their reactions to the theory regarding the variable annuity. He wishes the idea not to be merely opposed to it, or indifferent to it. He emphasizes that the plan is only under study and is in no way at this time being formulated into a proposal. The concept is to raise the employees of the public servants to rush headlong into a decision without a thorough and careful study.

CSEA Analyzing Ideas

The Civil Service Employees' Association, while at the moment it does not have any positive opinion, is seriously discussing the theory. Among the officers, staff, and, in the appropriate committees, it is being studied whether the variable annuity position is the same now and it was two years ago when we first discussed the theory of the variable annuity in this column. On July 1, 1955, we wrote the following regarding the use of the variable annuity concept in the formulation of a State pension:

While this column at the moment does not have any definite opinion as to the validity or invalidity of this concept, it is felt that it is definitely worth while for the Civil Service Employees Association to interest itself in the discussion and closely follow its development. Whether the subject may have some application to our own pension system.

Said Effect of Inflation

"One of the things which has disclosed unfounded numbers of public workers has been their retirement during inflationary periods. Their assets virtually are wiped out in the upward spiral of prices. They no longer have the purchasing power, as did the dollars of the employer-paid pension amounts paid by the State. These dollars were to have been used in buying for their retirement. The dollars that they paid into their annuity account for years came back, with interest, exactly as promised, with a vengeance. Fixing the dollars to the retirement at a fixed rate of interest, the dividends from their investment, the dollars that the public servants looked forward to as the piece of security during the retirement, and the dividends from their investment, their annuity account for years came back, with interest, exactly as promised, but the dollars paid to buy a retirement at a fixed rate of interest, the dividends from their investment, are now plentiful in the employee benefit program as of some years to come. It would be a great help to everyone if some workable answer could be found to help future pensioners meet this problem."

Herbstain Honored

Herbstain was honored following his address, the Attorney General, appearing in behalf of the State's employees, expressed his appreciation for the efforts of this group in bringing about a pension plan.

The two conferences cited Mr. Herzstein for his devotion to the employees of the Metropolitan and Southern Conference, present a bill to Harold Herzstein, CSEA regional attorney for the Metropolitan area.

The two conferences invited Mr. Herzstein for the discussion of the variable annuity plan announced earlier by Comptroller Levitt as well as other aspects of retirement.

Under the alias chairmanship of Henry Shenin, a lively discussion of the rights of civil service employees under the Workers' Compensation Law was held.

The capable and interesting speeches for this event were Dr. Solomon E. Senior, director of the Compensation Claims Department of the State Insurance Fund, and J. Soloffsendak, director of Claims Administration for the Workers' Compensation Board.

Max Weinland, actuary for the State Retirement System, was the popular speaker for the discussion on the eight of civil service employees under the system. Mr. Weinland spoke on the possibilities of the variable annuity plan announced earlier by Comptroller Levitt as well as other aspects of retirement.

The Harriman Administration had proposed its own pension plan for State workers, but the bill died in G.O.P.-controlled committees.

Mr. Ahlering also criticized the GOP bill for presenting a possible conflict of interest in that the State Budget Director would be chairman of the Authority and also issue the initial certificate of availability for $600,000 to launch the project.

Cornaing Won't Bill Signed

The Governor was urged to sign the bill by Mayor Corning of Albany, who referred to defects in the measure but urged approval in the interest of the State and southern cities.

The Harriman Administration had proposed its own pension plan for State workers, but the bill died. The bill was introduced and backed by Republican legislative leaders.

The Governor's veto came as a surprise since there had been no prior indication. Mr. Harriman felt the bill was totally unemployable.

In disapproving the measure, Mr. Harriman quoted from a memorandum filed by State Budget Director Clara D. Ahlberg, who said the bill was finally wound because it provided for sale of bonds to finance construction of parking facilities and the parking project could not be self-liquidating.

The Harriman Administration had proposed its own pension plan for State workers, but the bill did not proceed because of its unemployability.

SOCIAL SECURITY QUESTIONS ANSWERED

I HAVE BEEN TOLD I can name a beneficiary for my Social Security benefits in the death of the wage earner. How do I go about this? G.A.

It is not possible to name a beneficiary for Social Security benefits in the death of the wage earner. Benefits are paid to survivors according to their relationship to the insured person and dependents on the insured person.

People who might receive Social Security benefits based on the death of the wage earner, are widows, dependent children, divorced wives or parents. In addition, there is always a lump sum death payment which can be made to the surviving spouse who was “living with” the wage earner, or if there is no such spouse, to whoever paid the burial expenses.

An Opportunity to Save Many from Loan Sharks

The Municipal Credit Union in New York City has an excellent opportunity to rescue employees of the Department of Hospitals from loan sharks by liberalizing its rules regarding borrowing. Now such employees frequently borrow $4 from a loan shark for a week, for which they have to pay $5, which is 25 percent a week or more than 1,200 percent a year. Loans they make from the Credit Union, which would pay off the interest, would be available if they borrowed from the Credit Union. Once that is done, and approval by superintendents of organization dues from employee payrolls, the employees would be able to borrow up to $350.

Next, if a raise is forthcoming, and, finally, meal money will be reduced, and the employees will be restored from their present low state to its former peak.

Two Worthwhile Laws

Two bills have been approved by Governor Averell Harriman — both permissive — which can affect the welfare of employees in public service.

We hope that as many counties as possible will take advantage of both pieces of legislation which offer work and political advantages. Any county, for example, may authorize the setting up of a(A) state lottery. The money raised by the State Lottery Law would be divided among the counties, with the amount to be distributed to each county depending on its population. It is academic for teachers in New York City and other large communities which have their own pay schedules with a minimum above $4,000. Most teachers affected are in upstate New York.

The New York City Plan made an excellent start. Public employees had more voice at every stage than they ever had in government. So much time was given to conferences and hearings that perhaps the function of Parliament in other countries in making laws to establish pay scales, and appeals to the government would be more decentralized. The City pay increase was obtained because it is a barricade to free and timely discussion of labor relations.

The denial of this privilege, which In private industry is a taboo, except the employer? No law forbids bargaining even under a ‘closed shop' agreement, which the government relations program that permits exclusive bargaining. Bargaining may be expected. To the Editor

More Vacancies Pop Up
For Postal Clerk Eligibles

The New York post office filled all its vacancies as of April 19 from the eligible list established on that date, but more than 150 new vacancies are expected imdoubtedly.

"The employment opportunities at this office are excellent," Bernard Katz, executive secretary of the Board of Civil Service Examiners at the general post office, said Friday.

The chief reason for the continuing opportunities for appointment are the 150 vacancies normally created each month by promotions, retirements, and resignations, but a survey now being conducted of the actual mail power needs of the office may create even more posts.

Applications Pour In

The quota of regular clerks at each post office is fixed by law. In addition to this quota of civil service career appointments, each office is allowed one substitute clerk for each five regular clerks. When additional help is needed to move the mail, temporary clerks are hired from the civil service register.

Since the general post office was unable to fill even its regular quota until the present drive began, no adjustment in the quota was made.

Now, with a steady number of applications coming in and the established jobs in the office filled, the survey will determine whether or not that quota should be raised. This would raise the number of substitute posts allowable under the law proportionally, if approved.

On April 3, 1,111 clerks had been appointed, of whom 119 were women. 109 were appointed on March 8, 801 on March 25, and 302 on April 5; 140 eligibles who had previously been appointed have reconsidered and will probably be appointed effective May 3, the next appointment date. The office makes appointments effective as of the next pay day.

More Than 70,000 Applied

The total filing to date has been 70,659, all of whom have been scheduled for examination either for past tests, or for those being held May 5.

Those who filed with the fourth group, March 6 to April 7, numbered 16,057. Notices of their ratings will be mailed to them and the list established on May 1.

A large percentage of those who attain eligibility with the fourth cut-off group will be appointed as of May 17," Mr. Katz says.

For the last week, the office has been processing part-time clerks.

Those interested in the clerk jobs should apply to the Board of Civil Service Examiners, Room 2906, General Post Office, 33rd St., Dear Ninth Avenue. Exam-dates will be scheduled promptly as the post office tests about 440 clerks a day and the U. S. Civil Service Commission at 641 Washington St. tests an additional 2,200 a week.

There are no experience or ed-cational requirements and no maximum age. Starting pay is $1.25 an hour.
