Schlossberg Named Chairman of Metropolitan Conference; Galpin Addresses Delegates

Twin Schlossberg was elected chairman of the Metropolitan Conference of the Civil Service Employees Association when the Conference held its election meeting recently at Pilgrim State Hospital.

It succeeds A. J. Coccaro, of Kings Park State Hospital, who is Schlossberg is employed in the State Insurance Fund.

Other officers elected were Sal- vatore Butera, first vice chairman; Solomon Bendet, second vice chairman; and Kenneth A. Valentine, treasurer.

The post of secretary is un- designated at present.

Galpin Speaks

Chief speaker for the event was Henry Galpin, CSEA salary re- searcher.

Mr. Galpin reviewed the salary points of the Association for 1958 and stated that although the "political climate" was not favor- able at that time, it is hoped that next year appears "to hold promise."

The employees have not had a salary raise in two years, Mr. Galpin said, and he declared that "cruel actions in cutting existing salaries." Particularly pressing are the appeals of clerical personnel, the Association official added, and they are being pushed with the Di- rector of Classification and Com- pensation.

Conference Business

Following Mr. Galpin's talk, discussion was held on the possi- bilities of special sessions of the Legislature to reconsider action on salary increases for State employees.

Acting upon a motion of Mr. Bendet's, the Conference ap- proved a resolution calling on the Association's Board of Directors to ask for such a session.

Also adopted was a motion calling for a CSEA committee to meet with the State to study the salary compen- sation plan recently proposed for consideration by Comptroller Arthur J. Levitt. Mr. Schlossberg then asked for the Conference to form a committee of its own to study the plan and that this was given approval, too.

James Beach Meeting

The annual James Beach out- ing of the Conference will be June 28, at which new officers will be installed during a luncheon meeting.

Mr. Schlossberg pointed out that the outing offered most of the facilities of the beach.

The Conference voted to pay special tribute to Mr. Coccaro for his work in the Conference and to Edith Fruchtstein be honor- ed for her outstanding service.

Both were voted honorary mem- bers and delegates to the Con- ference.

The Peace Palace, the seat of the International Court of Justice, was built largely with money donated by Andrew Carnegie in 1913. Each country belonging to the League of Nations entered a permanent fixture of decoration in the building. From within, it is impressive, as it appears, that all large and graceful structural forms can be, is a few minutes from the nearest park, in which the beautiful forms inside the building is the hand-carved oak used in the various buildings in the United States. It would take hours and days to paint each room—only the elderly of the peace will experience the entire sight every day. We were all very glad we made the trip.

After leaving The Hague, we bought things like the fashionable ready cruise of Sleeverlens, which is just getting ready for the first class of Sleeverlens is small boat. A little like our New Orleans resort.

When we crossed the Holland section when the tourists go across. It is the largest concentrated area of people in the world. Then, the flower beds! Anyone who has seen the miles and miles of gardens. Most of the flower beds would never believe there could be anything so breathtakingly beautiful. They are more like a fairy tale, and "aww" all of us as we passed through. Add the lingering flowers and the green, the smell of the flowers and the color, the technology and imagine how it made us feel.

When we arrived at The Hague about 7:30 A.M. and went to the Park Hotel for breakfast. The menu was less exciting than we had been to breakfast and those we had in England, but everyone seemed to enjoy it. The cheese and smoked pork looked like the average breakfast in the hotel. The coffee and tea were the best of the day. The person who was the best of all was the probably the last. Those few people who thought the park was far away from the center of Amsterdam, accepted all the hotel. The restaurant was operated by Mrs. MoneTo tomatoes, which are a major component of the tour. We were especially "dressed up" to the day before in honor of the Queen's birthday, and were left to our own devices. Seeing the countryside of England, but everyone seemed to have breakfasts and those we had in Europe, and it will never forget.

When we entered The Hague it was raining, and we thought the day would be drizzly. But the sky cleared up, and we were on our way. Simon is counting the hours until we are ready to go to Brussels. We are just about ready to be on the way. Simon is counting the sheep to see if we are all there.

When we go to Brussels from here, we shall be ready to be on our way. Simon is counting the sheep to see if we are all there.

Theodore Roosevelt Honored For Contribution to Merit System
WASHINGTON, May 26 — A monument to Theodore Roosevelt, former President and one of the nation's most famous New Yorkers, was unveiled at the Brooklyn Navy Yard. The monument is located near the Centennial and the 75th Anniversary of the Civil Service. In addition to Roosevelt, the ceremony honored a man who was a member of the Commission from 1895 to 1899. Mr. Roosevelt's passion for public service as a defender of the newly formed municipal league of New York led him to support a strong supporter of the movement against the spoils system. As a member of the New York Legislature, he led a movement to pass a bill that brought about the first state merit system. Shortly after the Federal law was enacted in 1874.

Chairman Harris Ellsworth of the U. S. Commission dedicated the monument. A wreath was laid at the 3-foot-tall bronze statue of Roosevelt, a more modern statue of Roosevelt will be placed in front of the statue. The statue was unveiled at the Centennial and the 75th Anniversary of the Civil Service.

N.Y.C. FIREMAN EXAM REQUIREMENTS ARE NOW BEING WEIGHED

The fireman (F.D.) examination, tentatively scheduled to open in September, promises to be the most popular New York City one of the year.

Prominent among listed advantages is the retirement plan for firemen, which sets the pension rate in the most liberal in the City government. The City pays 75 percent of the cost, the employee 25, contrasted to the approximately 50-50 ratio for other City employees. Firemen, like policemen, may retire on half pay after 20 years. A man entering the department could retire at 51.

For each year that a fireman works over the 20, he receives an additional $50 a year for up to 18 years of such continuance, thus half-pay plus $500 a year becomes possible. Now that firemen have been made eligible for Social Security, it is possible to, if one is 65, to retire as half-pay, plus $500 a year and Social Security. But no man who retires from the Post is to be forced to retire for age until he is eligible for Social Security.

Promotion Opportunities

There are 22 Department titles in the present budget and the same number in the budget that goes into effect June 1. Firemen are eligible for promotion to Lieutenant, and thereafter the employees can rise to captain, battalion chief and deputy chief, and chief of department. A lesser scale of promotion is open to marine and chief marine engineer.

What Price Bargaining?

Although the "little Wagner Act" has been the law in New York City for nearly two months, it cannot be said to be in operation, as some features of it have proved obnoxious to important unions.

The chief provision in Mayor Robert F. Wagner's executive order of April 26 established the opportunity for exclusive collective bargaining, even though the objectors do not object to the principle of such bargaining, for they are part of international unions committed to that principle. The objectors, however, demand that the Labor Commissioner be given authority to decide at will in which groups the competition for exclusive bargaining is to be permitted, under either secret ballot vote, or, if that's rendered unworkable, by arbitration, or exchange rolls, or, lacking a checkoff, by a count of membership cards.

Field Day for Small Groups

If small groups, one after another, are to be allowed to hold elections to determine the majority entitled to exclusive collective bargaining, then a large number of splinter groups could mushroom in the City government.

That would hardly be in the spirit of the Wagner Labor Relations Act on which the interdict order is founded, and the Mayor hardly would be following the precepts established on the federal level which, if properly tailored to conditions, are the real basis of the Wagner Act.

The purpose of a Little Wagner Act for New York City is to end confusion, not create more of it. The City is to end confusion, not create more of it.

Tells How Cost of Car Insurance Can Drop

Automobile insurance costs can be reduced if the general public becomes aware of the existing causes for increased insurance rates," said Milton D. Peasow, president of the New York City Insurance Company of 184 West 31st street, New York City.

"Spreading, following the car in front too closely, cutting in and out, failing to signal and refusing to give another driver the right of way, are but a few illustrations which gives to the problem. In addition there is an increasing number of grossly exaggerated or entirely baseless property damage and personal injury claims made in even the most minor accidents.

HEALTH OFFICIAL QUITS

Dr. Maurice H. Correll has resigned as director of New York City Mental Health Services. He will leave the $22,500-a-year post on September 1.

J. J. ORLANDO GETS CITATION

Joseph J. Orlando received a Department of Army Outstanding Employee Rating at Governors Island.
What Workers Want

Opinion Research Institute of Princeton, N. J., in a recent survey among workers in Industry, found this is what they want, in order of importance: increased unemployment insurance, increased hospitalization and insurance, a shorter work week for the same pay, larger pensions and, way to the bottom, more money.

As of course, is not true with State employees. First, employees in Industry generally earn more money than civil servants in comparable jobs. Secondly, in most industries costs of living can never be increased when a new benefit cuts into the take-home pay of the civil servant.

The State employee needs more money, today, tomorrow, and next year. While not wishing to appear avaricious, the plain, unpretentious State employee is in a different situation when it comes to the green. When I say money I mean not talking of 1000 yearly rate. All State workers should get a 500 yearly rate.

Years back, when John L. Lewis had just signed a fine contract for his miners, the newspaper asked him, "What will you look for next year?" and Lewis replied: "More money.

In State service we have had no "fine contracts" but we are asking for more money in the year 1959.

A True—But Sad—Story

The following story is true. I was there and in some small measure it indicates the aroused interest in employee problems in our Department.

During the 1956 legislative session, a 40-hour bill for correction officers was introduced by a legislator who, for obvious reasons, shall remain nameless. The State Civil Service Employees Association, Cor-•
