Overtime Compensation For Parole Officers Is Argued Before the State Grievance Board

ALBANY, May 11 - In appeal to compensate state parole officers for accumulated overtime — either in cash or equivalent time off — was filed here today, it was learned, by John J. Kelly, Jr., counsel to the Civil Service Employees Association.

Mr. Kelly gained another hearing on the matter after writing to the Board and pointing out that the earlier hearing did not render any final decision on the matter.

The appeal was brought in the name of Jack Weiss and the pending decision would affect all other employees similarly situated.

Essentially, the first hearing results by the Board were that (1) there were insufficient time records to substantiate overtime claims and (2) that the problem would not exist if parole officers were in the professional class since this class does not have overtime.

Ams Action Taken

Last week, Mr. Kelly argued that there were indeed correct employee records available to the Board and also that the question of whether or not parole officers would not exist in the professional class was not the matter being presented to the Board.

The Association declared that the Board's first decision did state that there was an area for grievance but that the total conclusion did not answer or take care of the grievance.

Kelly argued, therefore, that the Board rule that necessary overtime compensation be granted the petitioner and others similarly situated.

The request was again taken up by the Grievance Board and its final decision will appear in The Leader when it is announced.

Disability Retirement Increase Bill Vetted

ALBANY, May 11— A bill which would have placed a "cumbersome burden" on the State Retirement System has been vetoed by Governor Rockefeller.

The measure, a bill to increase accidental disability retirement benefits, was passed by the Legislature and referred to the State Comptroller, the State Commission on Pensions, the State Civil Service Employees Association and the Civil Service Employees Association.

The bill was designed to increase accidental disability retirement allowances.

The bill was vetoed on the following grounds: 'The purpose of the law, the administering of the benefits provided under the Retirement System, the tremendous burden of unreasonable investigations and internal examinations, the cost of which would unquestionably be prohibitive. Aside from this, the increased benefits proposed in the amended bill might well affect the solvency of the system and create an impracticable and unworkable status of affairs. In that at the time of the original retirement benefits of the system, a large scale refund was made for the payment of disability retirement benefit contributions. The bill, therefore, provides no provision being made however, in consideration of the increased benefits provided by the amendment.'

Many of the older men joined the City’s civil service set-up enthusiastically 19 years ago, when the plants were taken over from the previous private ownership of the INT and HNT transit lines. Now employees are wondering what will happen — to job security, to pension, to promotion prospects, to many of the things that civil service has meant.

In recent hearings on the City budget there was never any denial that employees deserved a raise. There was only the recurring statement that there wasn’t enough money to give them these raises. Employers had to create distasteful pressures to get even the original low increases were creating serious problems of morale, recruitment and performance in the public service. The situation may be restoring the public service to some degree in ways of extending to political subdivisions as well.

Economy Results Should Benefit Employees First

Investigations into the City’s financial condition will soon start and right away we have one recommendation to make—if more funds can be found through just economies and other means then these funds should be spent on a raise for City employees.

We have said repeatedly that insufficient salaries were creating serious problems of morale, recruitment and performance in the public service. The situation may have come near hitting rock bottom recently. Therefore, we say again that the most vital and necessary expenditure by far is with any found money is restoring the public service to some degree in ways of financial return and morale. This is an obligation.

The Hatch Act

There is growing evidence that some serious changes will be made in the Federal Hatch Act, which restricts political activity by public employees. Latest word is that no removal of any restrictions would extend to political subdivisions as well, although it is known how far Congress intends going in making changes. Nevertheless, this newspaper would like to hear its readers’ views on the subject through letters to the editor.

Work Load Rising For Postal Aides

WASHINGTON, D.C., May 11—The work load on Individual Post Office employees is growing. And employees are growing to expect that there will be wholesale hiring to spread the burden.

In a presentation that has gone up only 6.3 percent to date, the output of postal employees is one of the best among government employees. Unions are trying to kill the administration from the inside out. And Con Ed is one of the best private utilities a man could own.

But when they get down to dealing out the cards, they seem to be wasting the power to which the men who work at the power plants. In effect, we are out of the highest paying jobs being taken by others.

It’s a matter of betrayal of everything that Civil Service stands for. We are let in and set apart from the privatization of what we do and the utmost in the company of Civil Service.

WPS have been called hangers-on, ne’er-do-wells who can’t stand the cut and run from the job.

It’s a matter of betrayal of everything that Civil Service stands for. We are let in and set apart from the privatization of what we do and the utmost in the company of Civil Service.

What papers will I need to take if I am a widow of a deceased Civil Servant?

I married a Civil Servant, Wally Ziegler, who worked for the U.S. Civil Service Commission. I have been administering his social security retirement benefits. At the time of his death I applied for and was granted a widow’s benefit under the Social Security Act.

I am a widow just past 45. My first husband never worked under social security and neither did I. I have been keeping company with a retired electrician who is getting social security. If I marry him will I get monthly benefits as his wife right away because of the new law?

I was 18 years old ten months ago. I was receiving a child’s social security benefit because my father was totally and permanently disabled in an auto accident. I was married at the age of 18.

Our Questioned On Social Security

When application is made for benefits for an adopted child, what proof of the adoption will be required?

At the time the application is filed the decree of adoption should be submitted to the agency promptly.

What can I do if my application is rejected?

foreman Albert Locher ticked off point by point why he wanted to stay with Civil Service. "One — assurance of a job. Two — ability to retire at age 55. At Con Ed, retirement age is not necessarily with Con Ed. As far as pensions — why should we give away what we have for what we're not sure of?"

Sirianni said, "There's a lot of secrecy in what they're going to do. They haven't gone to the men feel they have been disregarded as individuals. Mr. Sirianni noted the difference in retirement age. "Here we get out at 55. At Con Ed, retirement age is "If there's a lay-off in Civil Service, we could get another job with a comparable title. But in Civil Service, one's whole career is picked by seniority."

Mr. Locher, who has been on the job 11 years, is proud of working his way up to his present post. "I've worked with Con Ed, and it's quite a struggle to get up to the top job grades."

He also noted that the employees' desires had been disregarded. "Nobody has approached employees to ask what they really want."

"They haven't gone to the employees and told us what we could get and what our rights are. It should be our choice whether we work for the City or not."

"We Earned This Title"

Talking about his Civil Service rights, he said, "These things are ours. We earned them the hard way. We've done no wrong. Why should we be penalized? What right does anybody have to de-

A State Employee's Wife Writes:

November 25, 1959

Gentlemen:

I have just recovered from a recent renovation operation on my eye, which has been very successful. I feel that I am living in a new and wonderful world.

When my husband was given a choice of three state-wide health plans, he chose H.I.P., as best suited to our needs. Of course, we never realized that it would surpass anything we could ever hope for in a good health plan.

A few months ago, I went to one of your ear specialists just to find out what was causing noises in my ears. Innocently, I asked if someone out there was causing these noises. The doctor sent me to find myself confronting Dr. B. A. Nadler—regarding a fenestration.

My husband and I want to thank you from the bottom of our hearts for the wonderful treatment we received, (with no red tape or bills), and for the tremendous kindness and compassion you showed us.

Sincerely yours,

McHugh Plans Commerce Dept. Reorganization

ALBANY, May 11—Commerce Commissioner Keith S. McHugh plans a department reorganization, which will produce fewer top jobs but higher salaries for those in responsible positions.

Full details have not yet been announced.

Mr. McHugh, who took his oath of office May 1st, is a former president of the New York Telephone Company at $15,000 a year. In taking the $20,486-a-year slate post, he defined his objectives as:

"We in the Empire State have been blessed with a fine geographic location; with an abundance of human and natural resources, and a great transportation potential. It is my intention and that of the Governor, that these advantages be more fully developed for the benefit of all the people of the State."

New Appointments

Shortly after taking office, the new commissioner announced that he would make appointments and promotions:

John O. Amstutz, retired president of the Belin-Manning Company of Troy, was made first deputy commissioner, $18,500 a year.

Ronald P. Peterson, a career department employee, was made deputy commissioner for commerce and industry at $15,000 a year. Mr. Peterson had served an interim period as acting commerce commissioner.

Malcolm E. Peabody, a merchandising executive, was named executive assistant to the commissioner at $15,000 a year.

William E. Zimmerman, director of the Bureau of Business Research, was promoted to assistant deputy commissioner. The change of position for the agency's New York City office is in the works. Department officials are negotiating for new and larger quarters in Park Ave. The department now has offices in Madison Ave.

The new commissioner has described the state department primarily as a service organization to help in local planning, promotion of business and travel, and in research useful for expansion of the state's economy.

Levitt Thanked For Fast Action on New Pay Checks

ALBANY, May 11—The prompt action of the state Department of Motor Vehicles, under Commissioner John F. Powers, has held down the number of new pay checks going to State employees so far after new pay legislation of contact, says Commissioner Arthur J. Levitt.

In a letter Mr. Powers said:

"On behalf of our 7,059 State employee members, I wish to express appreciation to the Department and to the payroll making units of all State agencies which have handled this tremendous task, so well done, in paying all our State employees on time at the end of the first bi-weekly pay period in the fiscal year which ended April 8th.

"The State pay raise legislation was enacted into law on March 29th and 8 to 10 days later the salary checks containing the adjustment were received by the almost 7,000 State employees throughout the State. This was accomplished even though the Federal income tax withholding system was established for the first time in the same pay-roll period.

"We believe that this is a demonstration of outstanding work performance of all State employees who have to do with the preparation and processing of the payroll."
