Monroe County
20-Year Aides Win Extra Week

An extra week's vacation for veterans Monroe County employees has been won through efforts of the Monroe County Chapter, Civil Service Employees Association, it was announced recently by Mrs. Ruth McFee, Chapter President. Through this amendment to the County's personnel rules, the 304 County employees with at least 20 years' service will get four extra weeks vacation.

The new ruling brings County leave poliey into line with the Rochester City employee leave policy. Both County and City employees get two weeks vacation after one year and three weeks after three years' service.

The Monroe CSEA Chapter asked originally for the fourth week, but the Board of Directors of the Civil Service Employees Association has named a nominating committee to select candidates for the annual election of statewide CSEA officers and executive representatives and it was announced recently by Mrs. McFee, Chapter President.

"I am most grateful that the delegation opposed the amendments which would have prevented an increase in the annual leave of the employees," Mrs. McFee said. "The decrease was specifically called to consider an increase in membership dues."

ANALBANY, June 1—The Board of Directors of the Civil Service Employees Association has named a nominating committee to select candidates for the annual election of statewide CSEA officers and executive representatives.

The meeting was presided over by Mrs. McFee, Chapter President, at the home of Mrs. Powers, who later expressed deep gratitude at the result of the amendment.

Employees Buying Plan Seeks to Enroll More Participating Stores

A call for suggestions naming stores suitable for participation in the Public Employee Buying Plan was issued by the Plan management committee, as members of the Association continued to send sales slips to current members for rebates. Most rebates amounted to 1/4 percent of the amount of the purchase. However, sales slips asked to be classified as discount hours so as to limit the rebate to 1/4 percent of the total amount of the purchase

All members of the Civil Service Employees Association are automatically eligible for the benefit of the plan. Almost a thousand stores throughout New York State have already indicated their willingness to participate in the plan. These are listed periodically in a special section of the Association's newsletter, and with additions and changes made from time to time. Additions to this list are made by recommendations of prospective stores by consumer members. Store plans are routine, and the Association is not a solicitor of support for any particular store. The plan hopes to attract merchant members from all parts of the State covering all essential products and services.

How is the plan worked? Here is how the plan works for civil service employees:

1. Eligible consumer members (including all members of CSEA, State Department of Mental Hygiene, and other agencies which have been authorized to participate in the plan) receive sales slips to the merchant for reimbursement.

2. The Plan forwards the sales slips to the merchant for reimbursement.

New York City residents are squeezing themselves to meet a new tax—elevate a higher city levies recently approved by the state legislature. Some city officials, anxious at the rate for not approving more new taxes and not granting the city a bigger share of state aid, have raised the threat of Gotham seceding from the Empire State.

In Wilmington, Del., business and professional men are stewing over a city ordinance taxing employers $1 a month for every employee and calling for license fees ranging from $50 to $1,000 a year for everyone doing business in the city.

To save money, municipal governments in 28 communities around the country are putting city employees into Christmas and Mardi Gras instead of federal figures. Costs also have been decreasing in a major depression and during a major depression. And many city officials say that urban residents may rebel at higher taxes.

New York City's net debt alone is over $3.2 billion, four times as large as that of any other U.S. city. Besides taxes, cities get general revenues from two other main sources—funds contributed to other governmental units, mainly states and the federal government, and service charges, such as for water. Taxes produce about 60% of city revenues, but many have been increasing less rapidly than other money sources.

And the Statewide Plan is the best and most comprehensive plans provided to any group of employees!

I Apologue

The New York State Civil Service Commission consists of three Commissioners who are appointed by the Governor. These appointees are usually not more than two Commissioners from the same political party. The Governor selects one Member of the Commission to serve as the Chairman.

The Commission and the Department of Civil Service is responsible for the administration of the State Civil Service Law. An important part of this responsibility is the establishment of qualifications that appointments and promotions in the civil service of the State shall be made according to merit and fitness to be ascertained, as much as possible, by examination which, as far as practicable, shall be competitive.

Fortunate Choice

Our employees are fortunate to have such fine members of the Commission as they presently have. H. Ellison Kaplan, president of the Commission, is an expert in the field of retirement service and over forty years of experience is considered by many to be the best friend our Civil Service has ever had. Mary Coote Knutze has a long record of public experience and a real feeling for the public employees. She is and that the two combine the best and most pro-service personnel our State has known.

Kaplun stated further, "We are not far from the day when instead of apologizing for being in a State service that one will be proud to be in the service," and he added, "We have given us the lead. Each State employee should do his part to speed the day when he will be proud of his work by making the effort necessary to help the public understand.

Institution Teachers, Others Placed in Competitive Class

The New York State Department of Civil Service will hold its summer vacation meeting on June 23 and 24 at the Wellington Hotel, Albany. The conference officers are Al- bert Foster, president, Dannen- more Hospital State School, Edward O'Leary, executive officer, and Charles Lamb, secretary-treasurer, Green Haven State Prison.

It is expected that the follow- ing delegates will attend: Averell Harriman, Atkis State Prison; John D. Paul, Auburn Prison; Mary Brounson, Albany State School; Charles DeC, Clinton Prison; Joseph Lucik, Dannemara State Hospital; Edward O'Leary, executive officer; Robert Bil- den, Eastern Correctional Insti- tutions; John Davidson, Great Southern Correctional Institution; Cornelius. Ruile, Green Haven State Prison; Meredith Westfall, Marcy State Hospital; Edward Lawlor, New York State Vocational Institution; Fred Lavin, Elmira State Prison; Harry Cullen, Wallkill State Prison; Murriel Manning, Westford State Farm; Jack W. Woodstock Correctional Institution.

The business session will be called to order on Tuesday, June 23, at 10:30 a.m., and will be urged by President Foster to be on time so the meeting can be called to order at the scheduled time. He would also appreciate chapters submitting their items for discussion at the Commission's office, no later than June 8. If no problems are to be submitted, notify Mr. Foster im- mediately. It is mandatory at this meeting that resolutions from Correctional Chapters be submitted in written form for adoption so they may be presented for ex- penditure and submission at the 1960 legislative Session. Mr. Foster also requests that items be prepared for discussion at the last Correctional Conference meeting that have not been discus- sed as yet, be submitted for immediate attention at this meeting.

The Correctional Conference has the distinction of being the only- oldest conferences of employer-employee groups in the nation as State Civil Service. Its operation over many years has proved its effectiveness, not only to the employees, but to many Warden, Superintendents and Commissioners as well. Many other departments now use the Conference to handle grievances situations and problems, which proves the original plan of having a body of people trained in so many merits over other types of organizations which must depend on ad hoc ad hoc meetings in comparison with dis- cussions and decisions around a table.

Mr. Foster reminds the vari- ous delegates that the officers of their organizations, and especially those that are effective if the many problems affecting the employees at their place of employment are not to be settled on a local level, are submitted to the Conference for inclusion in the agenda for discus- sion. He also states that the Conference represents all Correc- tional officers, uniform and civilian alike, whether we are affiliated with any organization or not. All such employees must do is have the matter attended to, is to present it to the conference through its delegates. The names of such are listed above.

The gates on applications for the huge new general housing caretaker examination have been flying wide open by the New York City Personnel Department. Pay starts at $3,000 on the job and no formal education or experience is required. And those who get jobs have the Housing Authority's promise that they don't have to leave New York City residents.

The annual salary rises every year to a 6% level. Applicants are eligible for promotion to foremen of housing projects, with a salary range of $4,000 to $5,080. The filling for the City attendant job has been switched to the Department of Personnel, a welcome from the City Department.

The application fee is $2 and must be included with the completed application form. The application must be mailed to the Application Section of the Department of Personnel at 96 Duane Street, New York 7, N. Y. It will be also be mailed on request. The current eligible list for the position is down to 1,080, largely because of a huge certification exam on May 6. The written test will be of the short-answer type and will be designed to measure the candidate's general intelligence, common sense, judgment and ability to follow directions. The written test (passing is 70%) is weighted 50%; performance and seniority (70% required) are also weighted 50. Filing fee is $4.

Alaska Offers 100 Cool Jobs in Electronics

A job in Alaska with the Federal Government is not only a probable thing but a cooling one. The Federal Aviation Agency expects to hire a minimum of 100 electronics technicians for Alaska duty during the next year. Salaries range from $4,450 to $4,980 a year. In addition, there is a 35% cost-of-living allowance — non-taxable. Men hiring on may move themselves, their families and their possessions at U.S. expense. Opportunities for immediate employment, training and advancement are good.

Information (Announcement 11-187-1-534) and application forms are available at the Second Civil Service Region, Christopher Street, New York, N. Y.; the U.S. Civil Service Commission, Washington, D. C.; and almost any main post office. Seed applications are to be sent to the Executive Secretary, Anchorage Joint Board of U.S. Civil Service Examinations, Pouch 5, Anchorage, Alaska.

Male Cleaner Pay Higher; City Prepares New Filing

The New York City civil service job of male cleaner, now paying the highest salary in the history of the post, is being readied for the filing of applications, soon to start.

Applications for the job, which starts now at $3,000 a year, will be issued starting two weeks from now, from June 15 to June 30. The filing of applications will take place on three days only — June 27, 28 and 29. The annual salary moves up in yearly steps to a top of $3,900.

Filing must be done in person, not by mail. The fee is $2. The passing candidates will be ranked in the order in which they file — the earlier you file the faster you will be appointed.

There are only a few names left on the old list of eligibles, which means that the first applicants can expect a job in a very near future.

Filing applications at the Application Section of the Department of Personnel at 98 Duane St., Manhattan.

What He Does

The male cleaner, under close supervision, does work of ordinary difficulty in cleaning public buildings and the grounds around them, plus related labor and other work.

Typically, the male cleaner sweeps, 4 amp mops and wet mop office floors, men's toilets, corridors, lobbies and other assigned floor areas, washes walls and floors with a brush or by using an electric machine; scrubs floors with an electric machine; washes and dries window stains and stair landings; empties waste basins and disposals of refuse; vacuums rugs and carpets; removes and cleans Venetian blinds; performs high dusting of walls.

He also polishes furniture and metal work; cleans mirrors and glass in bookcases and doors; washes electric light fixtures; replenishes bathroom supplies in men's toilets; sweeps sidewalks and removes snow from sidewalks; washes sidewalks and lower portions of buildings with hoes and loppers; attends a lower floor area.

Inflation and the Public Employee

The past twenty-seven years have seen an almost uninterrupted spiral of increasing prices, more than toppling the cost of living and bringing with it a better standard of living for most of the population. But in this period there has been a radical readjustment of income and status. For, justifiably or not, the social status of most of our citizens is directly related to their comparative income.

Most oldtimers will remember poignantly the years when Civil Service was a career of great prestige. It offered position, security and income commensurate with the competitive status it represented. Of all the employed, Civil Service was the most remunerative for people—has offset the often mythical security of tenure. For, justifiably or not, the social status of most Civil Service employees—has offset the often mythical security of tenure.

Somehow, the public must be made to appreciate more what they have, and to give to public employees the recognition they once enjoyed. Perhaps this recognition will result in better pay for public employees. It is a vital area.

A Vital Area

Unfortunately the decades of inflation have also accompanied by rising public services and rising taxes. Unthinkingly the taxpayer looks at his neighboring government employee and says to himself, "It's getting my money." And in his fight for lower taxes, he envies the individual employee as the source of his higher payments to the government.

The increasing importance of Government in everyday living makes public service a vital area of national progress. The execution of the functions of government is the work of the public employee.

The preservation of recognition for its importance, for its service, for the talents it requires, and for the dedication it entails is a vital area.

Somehow, the public must be made to appreciate these services more, and to give to public employees the status they once enjoyed. Perhaps this recognition will result in better pay for public employees. Or perhaps it will be necessary to get the better pay first, for people, somehow, appreciate more what they pay more for.

I work for the Transit Authority, and am a member of the Transit Employees Association, which comprises employees of the Transit Authority who wish to remain in Civil employment.

I live in Nassau County and I am a member of the Transit Employees Association. While the leadership of the group is in competent hands, and is attended by an able staff, it is often in need of support.

I am a member of the Transit Employees Association, and wish to express my support for the group. There are about 1,200 men and women who will be affected by any change in the status of the group, and I am an active member of the Association.

I might add that you have acquired a large number of new readers.

JAMES DEMPSEY

SUGGESTS CITY USE U.S. CSC AS EXAMPLE

Editor, The Leader:

True, by dint of much pressuring by organized employees, wage scales have been raised, and an attempt was made to keep up with the position of labor throughout the nation. But in the process there has come a gradual shift of comparative compensation.

I therefore feel that the special service of employees has become generally accepted fringe benefits of all employees. Unemployment insurance—denied to public employees—has offset the often mythical security of tenure. Paid holidays and vacations are now more numerous in many industries than those received by public employees. Some industrial groups, finding insufficient legal holidays, even provide a day off on birthdays. Retirement benefits are now universal, with pension and welfare funds often greater than provisions of public employee retirement funds.

Moreover, the depression years and the years of oplos-system, created a myth about public employees which has not been entirely erased.

Race Against Prices

In less than three decades the picture has changed sadly for civil servants. The cost of living has forced an almost constant struggle to keep salaries up with the higher rents, higher food bills, higher prices on everything that went into everyday living.

True, by dint of much pressing by organized employees, wage scales have been raised, and an attempt was made to keep up with the position of labor throughout the nation. But in the process there has come a gradual shift of comparative compensation.

I therefore feel that the special service of employees has become generally accepted fringe benefits of all employees. Unemployment insurance—denied to public employees—has offset the often mythical security of tenure. Paid holidays and vacations are now more numerous in many industries than those received by public employees. Some industrial groups, finding insufficient legal holidays, even provide a day off on birthdays. Retirement benefits are now universal, with pension and welfare funds often greater than provisions of public employee retirement funds.

Moreover, the depression years and the years of oplos-system, created a myth about public employees which has not been entirely erased.

A Vital Area

Unfortunately the decades of inflation have also accompanied by rising public services and rising taxes. Unthinkingly the taxpayer looks at his neighboring government employee and says to himself, "It's getting my money." And in his fight for lower taxes, he envies the individual employee as the source of his higher payments to the government.

The increasing importance of Government in everyday living makes public service a vital area of national progress. The execution of the functions of government is the work of the public employee.

It deserves recognition for its importance, for its service, for the talents it requires, and for the dedication it entails.

Somehow, the public must be made to appreciate these services more, and to give to public employees the status they once enjoyed. Perhaps this recognition will result in better pay for public employees. Or perhaps it will be necessary to get the better pay first, for people, somehow, appreciate more what they pay more for.

NYC Police Give $24,671 to PAL

The New York City Police Department Charity Fund has presented a $24,671 check to the Police Athletic League as its contribution to the League's $850,000 goal for the year.

Police Commissioner Stephen P. Kennedy made the presentation to Deputy Commissioner Alexander Aldrich, in charge of the Police Department Youth Program and president of PAL.

The ceremony took place in the Board Room of Manhattan Police Headquarters.

The money will be used to help keep the League's 50 youth centers and its 45 playgrounds and play streets operating this year.

Champ Typist Hailed At Adelphi Schools

Cortez Perry, holder of a world one hour typing record of 141 words per minute, was welcomed by the entire staff and student body at Adelphi-Educational Schools recently.

During the demonstration, Mr. Perry amazed the entire group of Adelphi by typing 200 words in one minute, and received a round of applause when several sentences with misspells on the Adelphi-educational Schools are in Brooklyn, at 1712 Kings Highway and at 1560 Flatbush Avenue. The schools, members of the National Association and Council of Business Schools, are known for their Secretarial, Bookkeeping, Accounting, Business Machines and Switchboard Courses.

Postal Employee Appeals Dismissal

Saverio Bianco, an honorably discharged veteran, who was dismissed from his position of clerk in the New York Post Office, effective April 24, 1959, has filed an appeal with the Second Regional Director from his dismissal by the Postmaster.

Mr. Bianco was dismissed after years of postal employment, because of a claim that he was sending 85 and getting 66 in return from other Postal employees. Determined by attorney Daniel Reinoff, Mr. Bianco claims that the Postmaster, in violation of his rights refused his request for a hearing. Mr. Bianco further claims that there is no postal rule or regulation which prohibits the sending of money, etc.

CONCESSIONS

Members of the New York State Telephone Operators Forum has presented condolences to their president, Mrs. Marie Jackson, son, of 1607 15th St., Brooklyn, on the death last week of Mrs. Jackson's husband.
Six more people have retired from Rockland State Hospital, bringing the number who have retired since October to 59. The six were honored at a party given by the hospital at the Children's Unit auditorium on the night of May 15. They were Josephine Reilly, senior laundry worker; Gustav Heehs, plumber; Ann Barnum, staff attendant; Marius Anderson, attendant; Charles Hrabanek, occupational therapy instructor; and Thomas H. Gallagher, assistant cook.

Plaques were presented to those with 15 years or more of service by Dr. Alfred M. Stanley, director of Rockland State Hospital, who expressed regret at having lost so many experienced employees in such a short period. Receiving plaques were Mrs. Heehs, 25 years; Mrs. Barnum, 24 years; Mr. Hrabanek, 16 years; and Mr. Gallagher, 15 years. Mr. Anderson had 11 1/2 years of service.

A Government Savings Bond was presented to each by H. Underwood Blaisdell, hospital business officer. Nicholas Pointuferi, president of the Rockland State Hospital Chapter of the New York State Civil Service Employees Association, presented membership pins to Mrs. Reilly, Mr. Hrabanek, Mr. Gallagher, and Mr. Heehs.

A telegram in appreciation of Mr. Hrabanek's 16 years in occupational therapy was received from Virginia Scullin, director of occupational therapy services for the Department of Mental Hygiene. It was read by Emil M. R. Bollman, supervisor of Industrial Shops, who was master of ceremonies.

A gift for Mrs. Barnum from her co-workers was presented by Eunice Miller, head nurse, Charles Davidson, supervisor of the laundry, presented a gift to Mrs. Heehs. Gifts from fellow workers had been presented to the others previously.

Since neither Mrs. Barnum nor Mr. Anderson were able to be present, the honors accorded them were accepted respectively by Louise Melia, attendant, and George Cornish, staff attendant.

A buffet supper was served by Mildred Thompson of the food service department, assisted by Joseph Press.

Progress On Easing Hatch Act

The probabilities for favorable Congressional action on amendments easing the Hatch Act seem quite strong. The Administration in Washington has indicated, through the U.S. Civil Service Commission, that it will take a stand on HR 206 soon.

A subcommittee of the House Administration Committee has unanimously approved the following:

- Recommend the withdrawal of the Hatch Act restrictions for state employees who are citizens of a state or territory other than the state in which they work.
- Prohibit the use of the Hatch Act to bar state employees from being selected for promotions.
- Permit state employees to serve in the military if they are volunteers.
- Ensure that state employees are not required to serve in the military if they are volunteers.

The committee's decision is a significant step toward easing the Hatch Act's restrictions and expanding the rights of state employees.

Furthermore, the committee has recommended increasing the salary of state employees to more closely align with the federal sector.

The recommendations will be presented to the full committee for further consideration.

The committee is expected to dispose of the legislation within the next month.

CSEA Counsel's Report On 1959 Legislative Session

NOTE: Each year following the close of the 41 day bill period, Counsel John J. Kelly, Jr. submits a report to the CSEA Labor Relations Association, Inc. reports on civil service measures and other matters of interest to public employees that were considered by the State legislature. Counsel Kelly annually publishes this report for the information of Association members.

CAPITOL PARKING

Chapters 497, 496, and 489 of the Laws of 1959, enacting into law three bills sponsored by the Department of Public Works to contract with the Residential Parking Management Corporation to establish parking areas for public employees in the vicinity of the Capital and downtown State Office Buildings. The Governor'sMemo to of approval probably summaries as concisely as possible the basic provisions of these measures. The Governor's memorandum reads: "The three bills are designed to alleviate the vexatious parking problem in the vicinity of the State Office Buildings. The bills provide an adequate parking area for State employees and remove a perennial source of annoyance to the public. The long standing problem at hand is now being attacked. The bills are self explanatory; they remove a noxious spot." The bills are as follows:

Section 276 requires a sworn report from labor organizations showing financial condition and financial transactions of the organization during each year. It must contain the name of the organization, the names, titles, compensation allowances and expenses of its three principal officers and of any other officers or agents whose aggregate compensation allowances and expenses exceed $10,000. It also requires a report of loans or gifts of funds by the organization to officers or employees.

The contents of such financial reports shall be public information and available for public inspection, and the law requires the establishment of procedures for the availability of such reports to labor organizations. The law concludes with a provision creating an advisory council to the Governor in the field of labor organizations.

This Association since its foundation has made available to its members, directors and delegates all copies of the reports of this organization which are less than thirty years old. It is questionable whether such reports should be made public, if they are to be used in the way they are.
