ALBANY, Jan. 11—The long running dispute over a set of attendance rules for the State’s troopers appears to have produced action.

A spokesman for the Civil Service Employees Association, which has been fighting the issue for months, told The Leader last week that he learned from a qualified source that the rules were now in the process of being drafted. The Division of Police is also reported to be finishing a set of attendance rules to cover its citiean employees, the spokesman said. These rules, it was reported, will be similar to those rules effective for all other State employees. Attendance rules in State normally cover hours of work, sick leaves, vacations, leave of absence, parental leaves and related matters.

In another area, the Association is also continuing its efforts to gain a further reduction in work hours for troopers. The CSEA earlier this month achieved a successful fight to have their hours reduced from 138 to 60 hours per week.

LEVITT PLANS OWN STATE PROGRAM OF REORGANIZATION

ALBANY, Jan. 11—State Committee Author J. Levitt has advised the Governor to conduct a survey on fiscal reorganization of State Government. His announcement followed the release of Gov.

Rockefeller’s reorganization plans for the State.

Speaking on his proposal, Mr.

Levitt declared: 1. plan, as the chief financial officer of the State, to conduct a bi-partisan committee of outstanding citizens and financial experts to consider the fiscal re-organization of the State government. In so doing, I am also taking the Governor at his word as he asked that his recommendations be given careful study.

Unlike the Governor’s approach, which was to develop his program in secrecy in the office of his Secretary, the Committee’s program will hold public hearings, consult with experts in fiscal management, and generally conduct its affairs under public scrutiny. The timing of reference of this committee will extend to all

Governor Tries to Eliminate Pay Inequities Feilty Declares

ALBANY, Jan. 11—In his opening address to the State Legislature last week, the Governor, civil servants, requested several improvements in pension and retirement matters. He also called for the correction of salary inequa-ties.

As was expected, the Governor made no reference to any salary increases, having stated his position on that matter prior to the opening of the Legislature.

Governor’s Main Proposals Are On Retirement, Silent Again On Salary Increase

ALBANY, Jan. 11—Taking note of a 200% increase in State civil service salaries in the opening session here last week, Joseph P. Feilty, head of the Civil Service Employees Association, cited the lack of mention in the area of salary increases for state workers.

In commenting on the Governor’s opening address, Mr. Feilty recognized the recommendations for needed improvements in the pension system but at the same time declared that:

The Annual Message to the State Legislature, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, presented much about the civil service and the State's budget. While there is no direct statement that there will be no pay increase for the State's public workers this year, it is there is the promise of the vesting of pension rights and also financial aid to the already retired employees.

A 10% 1/2% increase, however, is not totally barren, as there is the promise of the vesting of pension rights and also financial aid to the already retired employees.

AFGE Evaluates Merit Promotions

In a special bulletin to all lodges, the American Federation of Government Employees national president, James A. Campbell, called for the evaluation of the Merit Promotion Program, which now has been operating for more than 18 years.

Mr. Campbell stated: "We are interested in an honest, objective, evaluation of the Merit Promotion Program with the broadest possible cross-section of opinion."

In order to furnish the National Office with as honest and objective an evaluation as possible, the Executive Board recommended that all lodge members be given the opportunity to state their opinion of the program.

1960 is Year of Three-Day Week-Ends

The 1960 leave year which began Jan. 9 for post office employees and the next day for most other Federal workers is conspicuous for a number of three-day weekends it contains.

Four holidays fall on Monday, the first of which is a holiday weekend: George Washington's Birthday, Memorial, Independence Day and Labor Days.

Veteran's Day, Nov. 11, falls on Saturday, another three-day weekend.

This makes a total of seven during the year, the maximum number possible. Thanksgiving, the only other holiday, falls on Thursday.

Prospect brighter for US Employees in 1960

A more tractable attitude toward collective bargaining, in a high Federal Government legislative and administrative circles has resulted in the implementation of the predictions that 1960 will be a boom year for Federal employees.

With all predictions indicating this year's profits, full employment and rising productivity for the economy generally, many of the more thoughtful officials is reported, are concluding that the Federal Government, while not a ready-deal Federal Government, is still the best job in town.

The present 24.2 million person Federal service face what is generally considered to be a fairly good, if not excellent, year, which means an increased pay and fringe benefits.

Prospects Uncertain For CS Legislation

WHAT ACTION the State Legislature will take on civil service or any other measures is uncertain as the 1960 session gets underway.

Prior to Governor Rockefeller relinquishing the Presidential campaign, the dominant GOP bodies in both houses of the Legislature were said to be under a lot of pressure to keep the line on the program — whether they liked it or not.

At this writing, the mood to lend full support to the Governor's tight budget plans for the coming fiscal year appears to be changing. How much it is changing and in what direction cannot be forecast now. But the feel of the fire is freed.

From the necessity of finding swiftly behind the man who might have been — and despite every statement still might be — the next President of the United States, Civil servants can only hope that a shift in thinking — especially in the area of expanding on the Governor's budget — augurs well to them. For that reason, contact with legislators hobs much more important than previously.

Man to man talks are definitely urgent now if the City's public workers are to gain their goals this year.

Strike Threats: Only Way to Living Wages?

YTHEORES HAVE it that Mayor Wagner has planned no major change in the 1961-62 fiscal program, while the Mayor's office protests that "such a conclusion cannot be drawn" from the annual letter Mayor Wagner wrote to the Board of Estimate.

There will be no major change, however, if no mention in any advance reports on the letter on any provision for salary increases.

The letter's purported purpose is to outline the City's long-range plan for the fiscal program both of which have been approved by the Board of Estimate in executive meetings.

The letter leaves room for the individual pay raises mandatory under the Career and Salary Plan but maintains a general "status quo" as far as general wage levels are concerned.

It appears that the less highly organized members of City service will probably be denied salary increases while such groups as the Transit Workers Union get substantial raises only because they have the power to make strike threats.

The 35,000 employees of the Transit Authority who belong to the TWU had to fight tooth-and-nail for their raise, but they got it. This, then, is the only way City employees can get a "living wage?"
Pilots Needed in N. J.

Experienced pilots with at least 2,000 hours' flying time in command of airplanes can file now for the $7,920 to $9,890 a year jobs as pilots at the National Aviation Facilities Experimental Center in Atlantic City, N. J.

Occasionally other positions in New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania will be filled from the register resulting from this exam, the Personnel Division stated.

When you want a job done well...

When you want a job done well, the sensible thing to do is to go to the man best qualified to do it. This is the essence of H.I.P.'s approach to medical care.

In H.I.P., you select a group of physicians to take care of your health. Since your medical needs may be many and varied, your group of physicians must be skilled in all the major branches of medicine. They must be able to work as a team — making their combined resources available to you as a patient.

Doctors picked at random cannot make up such a team. True group practice requires that they be selected with care so that each can contribute a special kind of skill and experience to the operation of the group.

This explains why H.I.P. maintains professional standards for all its affiliated physicians — family doctors and specialists. This also explains why H.I.P., as the only group practice prepayment plan in the New York area, is also the only plan in this area to have such standards.

Every doctor practicing in an H.I.P. medical group must be approved in advance by a medical board of eighteen physicians distinct in their profession.

Questions Answered On Social Security

I have, through the years, managed to acquire three houses on Long Island, and to rent them out for a total of $325 rent per month. I plan to retire when I am 65 in February. Will my income from these houses keep me from drawing my social security benefits when I retire?

No. Any money you receive from the houses is considered to come from a trade or business and for this reason is not included in your social security benefit calculation. Under age 72 it is earned in a year without losing one or more social security credits.

For several years I was drawing a widow's benefit based on my husband's social security earnings. At the age of 71, I married a man who is also drawing social security. When I notified my social security office, my widow's checks stopped. Is there any way that I can get payments on my husband's social security account?

Yes. You should file a claim immediately; your benefits may be payable to you beginning with a payment for the month of remarriage. Under a change in the law made in 1959, if you are married to a government employee or marry someone who is also receiving payments as a worker, you may receive your own benefits on your new husband's earnings without having to wait the previous required period of 9 years.

I have been paying social security taxes on my own earnings and know that I am entitled to social security benefits when I retire. However, I have been unable to determine how much benefit I would be entitled to receive under the social security law.

The amount of the disability benefits does not depend on a person's benefit entitlement under the social security law; it is the same as the amount of the old-age and survivors insurance program. To determine if you are entitled to receive any benefits, you should check your record at least every three years, as it is then easier to correct any error or your employer failed to report or has reported incorrectly.

I am 48 years old and became disabled in March, 1971. I will never be able to work again. Is there any protection for me under the social security law to prevent my future benefits from dropping because I am no longer paying into social security?

Yes. You should apply at once and in the next several years you will be entitled to receive Disability Insurance benefits. If you freeze your earnings record immediately; wife's benefits may be immediately available without having to wait the previous required period of 9 months.

There are jobs for stationary engineers, with men with at least one year of experience, to operate and maintain stationary equipment. Work from schematics, use color codes. May also do fabrication, erecting, welding, and do some welding and fitting. Driver's license. $150 a week depending on experience.

There are jobs for boiler makers and auxiliaries to set up and operate high pressure boilers and auxiliary equipment. May also be required to maintain refrigeration and air conditioning equipment. Must have New York City stationary engineer license. $90 to $110 a week.

I am a widow, women, are wanted in Manhattan and Bronx to strap, tie and slap unions, and do some welding and fitting. May do some manual work. $2.03 an hour after 9 months.

Workers are wanted in the East Flushing, patch, retube, repair and do some welding and fitting. May do some manual work. $2.03 an hour after 9 months.

Pay Check Erosion

We cannot believe that the Administration is not conscious of the precarious position in which the civil servants are being placed and that they will be unwilling to do something to meet the problem. The public sector is suffering from continual erosion of his salary check. The extraction for future benefits and taxes materially reduces the site of his check and the continual depreciation in the purchasing power of the dollar relentlessly eats away what is left.

Everyone who has seen The Civil Service Employees Association’s salary study says a good case has been made for a 15% increase. We cannot believe that for the sake of ciphers and numbers on a balance sheet the civil servants are being placed and that they will be unwilling to do something to meet the problem. The public sector is suffering from continual erosion of his salary check. The extraction for future benefits and taxes materially reduces the site of his check and the continual depreciation in the purchasing power of the dollar relentlessly eats away what is left.
