Plan to Fatten Pay Checks Backed By Mayors' Conference

ATTENTION on the state Legislature is focused mainly on salary measures for public employees, but civil servants are reminded that several other important pieces of legislation are under consideration as well.

Visa rights, moving of expenses, increased pensions for retired employees, higher mileage rates in political campaigns are all items that are being considered in Albany.

What happens to a worker's pay check is important but his attention should not be riveted to that one issue. For the average employee, the money coming home from his paycheck is a matter of great importance and one that he should concern himself with.

The surest way of drawing attention to legislation is for a legislator to hear from many of his constituents on the matter.

The fact that the attention of legislators is reached at the peak of its activity, now is the time to act. Let them know what your concern is and act on it.

Pay Not Only Issue Before Legislature

CIVIL SERVICE NOTES FROM OVER

TIMES AID: The city department's new workman's compensation carrier, the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., has been approved for the city's employees. The carrier is expected to be in operation by next month.

The city department also announced that it will now pay for the expense of travel to and from work for its employees. This change is expected to save the city thousands of dollars per year.

A month has passed since the city department began paying for the expense of travel to and from work. During this time, the department has already saved over $5,000.

A nationally known expert on social security problems, Mr. John Smith, has been retained by the city department to handle all social security claims.

Mr. Smith has been with the city department for over 10 years and is known throughout the state for his expertise in handling social security claims.

How Can I Know?

"Free choice of doctor" is a much-used — and much-abused — term. In health insurance it can mean very different things. It can mean the right to choose a physician blindly — or the right to choose intelligently.

Everyone will concede that choosing a doctor is considerably more important than selecting a washing machine or a vacation resort. Nevertheless, for many people the casual recommendation of a friend or neighbor is all too often the determining factor.

In H.I.P., your choice of physician is safeguarded. It is the only Community health plan in the New York area which maintains professional standards for all its affiliated physicians — family doctors as well as specialists.

Every doctor practicing in an H.I.P. medical group has been approved by a medical board of eighteen physicians distinguished in their profession ... And each doctor gives only the kind of service for which he has been professionally trained.

Teacher Wins Police Widow’s Pension

A retired New York City school teacher and police patrolman’s widow has just won her fight for a widow’s pension after 20 years in the Police Department as a school teacher. Mrs. Wallace, who was denied by then Police Commissioner Kennedy last week, is in charge of the Licenses Division.

When her husband died in 1938 after 20 years in the Police Department, she went back to school and became a school teacher. Mrs. Wallace sued and won.

Widow’s Pension was denied by then Police Commissioner Kennedy last week, after 20 years in the Police Department.

Con Edison has held the price line on electricity.

Please keep this in mind when you hear or read about electric rates.

FACTS YOU SHOULD KNOW ABOUT ELECTRIC RATES

The long-term trend of Con Edison's average electric prices has been steadily downward. The average residential rate, for example, declined from 4.04 cents per kilowatt-hour in 1945 to 2.63 cents in 1959. Likewise the average commercial and industrial price declined from 3.11 cents in 1945 to 2.63 cents in 1959. Can you think of anything else in common use that has gone down as much?

From time to time, adjustments in rates have slowed but have never reversed this downward trend of electric prices. But during recent years the downward trend has been in the face of rising costs. So the company had to ask for certain increases. Early in January the Public Service Commission authorized adjustments in electric rates as a step to bring them more into line with today's conditions.

Over all, the increases are moderate. New York's average residential consumer will pay only 1% more… which averages about 6 cents a month. The large commercial and industrial customers will bear the greater part of the increase.

WHY THE BIG FELLOW GETS THE BIGGER INCREASE

Rates are set with the aim of playing fair with everybody. Electricity, like most everything else, is sold at a quantity discount. The more you use, the less you pay per kilowatt-hour. This is a sound principle. However, the quantity discount rates for the largest users were too low in relation to the cost of supplying electricity today and the big fellows simply weren't paying their way. At the same time, as their demand for electricity increased, they were taking more and more of the lowest rates. Last year none of them were paying less than 1.5 cents per kilowatt-hour and this was below the cost of service.

If you sell too cheap, the more you sell, the more you lose. The new rates tend to correct this. Naturally, the large users are not particularly happy at the prospect of paying more. Nor do we like to charge anyone more—but each group should pay its own fair share.

At the same time, we can well understand people asking, "Why should anyone pay higher rates?" We think a few facts will give the answer.

IT COSTS MORE TO SUPPLY ELECTRICITY TODAY

Everything that goes into supplying electricity costs more today—boilers, turbines, wire and cable, materials and supplies, wages and, of course, taxes. But what a lot of people don't know is that if it weren't for the tremendous advances and improvements Con Edison has made in generating and distributing electricity, we would have been forced long ago to raise rates drastically. Now costs have risen so fast they have overtaken the best that science and industry can do to hold the price line.

While we're talking about costs, there is one point that we think deserves special mention. That is taxes. Con Edison is the most heavily taxed electric company in the United States. Just recently New York City added an additional 3% tax on utilities, and this extra tax rate up every cent of the additional money residential customers will pay us because of the recent rate adjustment. A tax on us is a tax on you.

WHY IS THERE A NEED FOR PROFITS?

We've heard people ask why a public utility like Con Edison has to make profits. Every time we pay a dividend to our stockholders, some people point to this as though paying for the use of somebody's money is a "giveaway." They forget that our national, state and municipal governments, as well as thousands of businesses, have to pay dividends or interest for the use of money. They also forget that your company has to pay profits. Every time we pay a dividend to our stockholders, some people point to this as though paying for the use of somebody's money is a "giveaway." They also forget that your company has to pay profits.

Con Edison has to build for your future.

New York grows on electricity! And it certainly is true that every day sees a greater and greater demand for electricity. This calls for constant building of new generating and distribution facilities. In 1959 alone we spent $160 million on new additions to our system… and if we plan to spend well over a billion dollars during the next five years. Anything that would prevent us from raising this money would mean that we could not provide all the electricity you will need in the years to come.

By constantly developing and installing the most modern methods and equipment we have brought about savings that have helped offset the steadily increasing costs of doing business. We've spent money to save money! This would like to continue to do— for it is the best way in the long run to hold down costs and the price of electricity to you.

We hope you'll keep these facts in mind when you read or hear about electric rates. Con Edison's aim is to provide you with all the electricity you need—now and in the years to come—at the lowest practical rates.
