Rumors On Pay Increase
Orbiting Around Capitol
As Budget Message Nears

(Special to The Leader)

ALBANY, Jan. 23—A Rockefeller-ordered report is expected to be ready this week and may provide the basis for what some insiders say is a special recommendation to bring State salaries in line with those in outside industry.

Meanwhile, the Administration maintained tight-lipped allegiance to the speculation that the Rockefeller survey would show the need for a $69,000,000 expenditure.

The report is being prepared by McKinney & Co. of New York City and Washington, a management consultant. It was authorized last fall to survey State salaries and the pay rates for comparable jobs in private industry and other governmental jurisdictions.

Studies by the Civil Service Employees Association have shown that the State's salary structure now is far below that of private industry.

When the firm was retained, Mr. Rockefeller said its findings would provide a basis for con-ing the Administration and the Legislature in making state salaries competitive with so-called outside salaries.

Speculation Is Rife

As the deadline for presentation of the Governor's budget message in the Legislature draws near, some insiders have it that the Governor might seek raises totaling from $6,000 to $8,000 for state department and agency heads.

Another report, also not confirmed, had salaries of most of the State's scientific and professional workers being boosted substantially, while those in lower level jobs received only a token raise.

It has been generally assumed that whatever recommendations on State pay Mr. Rockefeller will have for the Legislature will be based on a McKinney survey, set for delivery Feb. 1.

His chief fiscal advisor, Budget Director T. Herman Hoyt, reported to be studying a plan calling for salary increases totaling $7,000,000 to $10,000,000. True, Dr. Hoyt's recommendations would only go slightly more than halfway toward accomplishing the reported recommendations of the McKinney survey.

The Employees Association is waging a campaign on Capitol Hill for a general upward revision of State pay rates for three years. If approved, the plan would provide an approximate 15 per cent raise for all State workers.

A recent survey, conducted by the staff of the Classification and Compensation Division of the State Civil Service Department, comparing state and private salaries has been completed.

The employees association recom-mandations have not been made public.

There were reports, however, that the staff findings had called for a State appropriation of $17,000,000. In order to place state jobs on a competitive level with those in private industry.

Some Other Whispers

Other rumors in orbit around Capitol Hill are:

1. That the salary increase will be granted in two stages; half of this year and half during 1962.

2. That institution workers will get special consideration in the Governor's recommendations on pay.

3. That the lawmakers will vote to fund increased expenses accounts, possibly raising their present allowance from $1,000 to $4,000.

4. That in order to equalize State salaries, to which he has committed himself, Governor Rockefeller will raise salaries on the lines of the McKinney report.

The above rumors are strictly skywriting.

Time will tell.

Your Public Relations IQ

By LEO J. MARGOLIN

The President's Gold Medal award to five government officials for distinguished Federal services emphasizes that Government is keenly aware of its good public relations toward the people who really make Government work.

The President's Gold Medal award is the only government award for public relations worth while. It is a recognition of the great importance of public relations in our democracy.

The President's Gold Medal is one of the strongest public relations boons between more pay and more awards. The stronger the Civil Service impresses itself on the public consciousness as a valuable part of our national life, the more favorable will be public feeling toward a valuable civil service.

In the public relations, we consider awards of any kind a dramatization of a fact or a situation. The award points up the achievement in the public interest. Thus, more awards from more sources, particularly from citizens' groups of various kinds, would further the desirability of the person of the civil servant.

The "Times" agrees that Government "must attract the best talent available for this important work. Certain the salary scale has discouraged many from entering the field. The Mayor's offer is a step toward that goal."
Conservation Aides Put Heads Together for $$5

ALBANY, Jan. 16—The interest of State employees in improving government efficiency is being rewarded through the New York State Employees' Suggestion Program. H. Blot Kaplan, President of the Civil Service Commission, announced the names of 38 State employees whose ideas for efficiency and economy have gained them Merit Awards. Each was awarded $50, and some of them have been introduced previously in the fact that at some time (we hope not in the too distant future) the importance of the public servants will be recognized.

We hesitate to cite any of these bills by name or description, lest as Imagination be created that they are going to receive more attention than others. This is not true. All legislative representatives have received instruction to place hard for each of our bills. Next week, we will start a regular legislative informative bulletin. We will then be collaborating so that all members can be informed as to the names of sponsors, print and introductory numbers and progress.

Salary Isn't Only Goal

So much has been written about State salaries, an impression may be formed that this subject is obviously, is very important, the proposals for the increase of salaries do not always handle the daily flood of legislation which falls into the public work. As sponsors are found for them. As this involves a lot of leg work, it proved in the competitive class in equal attention. Several of them are very important, some of them of State employees in improving the efficiency of the Civil Service Commission, State Employees' Suggestion Program, Employees' Retirement System, Mrs. Stewart entered the Maintenance Chapter, Civil Service Employees, Association, holding Patricia Hick; Dr. James I. Allen, Jr., Commissioner of Education, holding Maureen Hughes, and Dr. Theodore Wentz, CSEA treasurer and master of ceremonies for the party, holding Denise Tierney. Standing next to these three is the person of interest in the conference, Mr. Emmett said the tour is strictly limited to Conference members and their families. No other need apply. The group will leave New York July 18 and return Aug. 14 from Tel Aviv. First stop will be Paris, where there will be sightseeing in the world's most beautiful city, time for shopping and a side trip to lovely Versailles.

THE OTHER BILLS on our program will be introduced as rapidly as sponsors are found for them. This involves a lot of leg work. It may take a week or two before the whole program is legislative form.

THE ASSOCIATION will care for each of the bills it sponsors with equal attention. Several of them are very important, some of them have been introduced previously in the fact that at some time (we hope not in the too distant future) the importance of the public servants will be recognized.

City Register to Teach Course at The New School

A course on constitutional law for lawyers will be given at The New School for Social Research, 66 W. 12th St., Manhattan, by New York City Register Lewis Orgel.

The course, according to the New School, is of particular interest to persons in politics and civil service. It is based on a discussion of representative cases decided by the U. S. Supreme Court, including such topics as: the Federal system; taxation, spending, and public use; labor disputes and regulations of hours and wages; civil rights; police power and public health, safety, and welfare.

The course begins Monday, Feb. 6, at 2:30 p.m. and runs for 15 weeks. Register in person or by mail until Friday, Jan. 27, or in person after that.

Mr. Orgel was formerly an assistant corporation counsel for the City, and is a lawyer, lecturer, and author.

City Test for Jr. Mechanical Engineer

Opens Feb. 1; $5,150

Beginning Feb. 1, applications will be accepted for a New York City test for the title of junior mechanical engineer. The starting salary for this position is $5,150 a year. The maximum salary is $8,500 a year.

Candidates for this test should have a B. A. in mechanical engineering or a high school diploma and four years of experience in mechanical engineering. A junior mechanical engineer is eligible for promotion to assistant mechanical engineer. The salary for this position ranges from $8,400 to $10,500.

The written test is expected to be held May 15 and will consist of multiple choice questions on mathematics, physics, heating and ventilation, combustion, elementary machine design, and strength of materials.

Applications will be available between Feb. 1 and Feb. 21 at the Application Section of the Department of Personnel, 66 Duane St., New York, N. Y.

Accidents take a terrible toll.

Yet sickness accounts for 70% of all disabilities!

It's a fact, each year millions of Americans lose billions of dollars in lost wages as a result of accidents and sicknesses. Statistics show that 1 out of 3 people will be disabled before age 65, and approximately 1,000 people are permanently disabled due to accidents alone each day.

The C.S.E.A. Accident and Sickness Insurance program administered by Ter Bush & Powell, Inc., offers this vital protection to any active C.S.E.A. member. Over 33,000 employees are already covered and many have received benefits which total millions of dollars. Enroll now in the C.S.E.A. Accident and Sickness Plan and provide an income if an accident or sickness disables you.

Grievance Machinery In Condon-Wadlin

It is generally accepted that the anti-strike provisions of the Civil Service Law do not benefit employees who are employed in political subdivisions who have no grievance procedures. In principle, a workable anti-strike law could be effected by setting feasible punishment for violation of the law. "Let the punishment fit the crime," the Employees Association proposes.

Rewriting the law along reasonable, sensible and workable lines is a must for the 1961 Legislature.

The "Fire Officer"

The New York City Uniformed Fire Officers Association is an organization of highly-trained professional fire fighters who have risen from the ranks to positions that involve considerable expense to its members, a thick booklet outlining how the pay is computed. We can only hope further that his proposed raises will be granted, according to the American Federation of Labor, and have sworn to protect the lives or loss of property of the citizens we are sworn to protect.

I think we should have binding arbitration in addition to a right to strike or to settlement of both of our line organizations, but I am aware of the circumstances, that we should even threaten to strike.

Another Plea for Time Off For Braving Storm

Editor, The Leader:

There are limits such as bribing or corrupting or attempting to bribe or attempting to corrupt a legislator for which the law fixes a maximum penalty of ten years (Section 3217 of the Penal Law). Short of such limits any legitimate means may be used to influence a legislator's vote. They may not be "in the open," but the tricks are the same.

Meeting Was Inspiring

I recently attended a meeting of the Long Island Legislative Society of the Metropolitan Conference of the Civil Service Employees Association, at which representatives from the Nassau and Suffolk County Chapters, and from the Nassau County, City, and Welfare Department, I am happy to report that that was the first time they had heard of the bill, and they were obviously impressed with it. They could not have learned about it in a more effective way—"in the flesh." One of the legislators remarked that there ought to be a bill like that for men elected to the Legislature.

LATER, PETER J. PEARSON, Chairman of the Central Islip Chapter legislative committee, read a paper in support of the legislation, to give non-competitive employees tenure after five years of service. The legislators said that whatever the hardships, he may know the judge personally and no one should compromise this year. When Mr. Albright finished the legislators apparently speaking for the entire group, them said that they appreciated the employees' sentiments and assured them that if the bill was sponsored favorably by the Finance Committee, that they would vote for it.

Out of Committee

The TRIBUNE on July 6th issued the legislation out of the Finance Committee. That would depend on whether the State administration is for the bill or against the bill. More meetings like the one held by the Long Island Committee, where legislators from an area know that the issue is important, and the service employees want the legislation, will cause them to inform the State Administration that they want the bill because their civil service constituency wants it. If enough of them do, the bill will pass.

Starting in January, 1961, I have worked in the Legislature and have been a member of the Finance Committee. The Long Island Committee meeting was one of the most intelligent approaches to including the message of legislation I have observed since.
City Promotion Test to Assistant Supervisor Opens Feb. 1; $5,150

February 1 is the opening date for a City promotion examination to assistant supervisor of the Department of Welfare. This examination is open only to employees of the Department of Welfare who have served in the title of social investigator or a satisfactory equivalent for at least six months. The salary range is from $5,150 to $5,300.

Applicants must have a B.A. plus four years of experience in social casework or a satisfactory equivalent. An M.A. may be substituted for two years of experience.

Both a written and a practicum test are required, each counting one half of the total grade. The written examination will consist of questions on social casework philosophy and practice, principles and techniques of supervision, community agencies and resources and psychological and psychiatric concepts.

Applicants will be given out and received from Feb. 1 to Feb. 21 at the Applications Section, Department of Personnel, 96 Duane St., New York 7, N. Y. Applications will be mailed on request if the request is accompanied by a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Do not ask for applicants until Feb. 1. The name list will not be available until that date.

Two Bills to Liberalize City Teacher Pension Plan Are Introduced

ALBANY, Jan. 23—A Brooklyn school board has asked the Legislature to eliminate the "death gamble" in the pension system for New York City teachers.

Senator William T. Conklin, a Bay Ridge Republican, has introduced two bills liberalizing the pension system. One measure affects teachers while the other affects Board of Education employees.

Under present law, the beneficiary of any teacher or employee who dies before retirement receives what the deceased has contributed plus interest. Contributions made to the Board of Education Retirement System by the city of New York are returned to the city, except an amount equal to one year's average salary.

The senator said the "death gamble" is taken when a teacher or employee has reached retirement age and chooses to remain in service to eliminate this possibility, he said, many teachers and employees prefer prompt retirement and he believes the full amount of the city's contributions should be paid to beneficiaries.

Mayor I respectfully request that you withdraw your name from the balloting for Administrative Employee Member of the Personnel Board, which was to be held on January 30, 1961.

I have had the great privilege of representing my fellow employees on this body since 1948 and have enjoyed participating in the many challenging discussions which have taken place there.

Either Resolution 695 has to be withdrawn or a perfect plan to withdraw as a candidate, with the assurance that a man of Mr. Geller's proven ability and stature will succeed him on this board. The action is taken reluctantly and occasionally solicitously due to my increased duties and responsibilities.

I would like to take this opportunity to thank you, my director and my colleagues on the Board of Personnel, as well as all their cooperation and consideration and for your own personal kindness to me.

Social Security Questions Answered

Below are questions on Social Security problems sent in by our readers and answered by a legal specialist with a background in Social Security law. If you have a question on Social Security should write it out and send it to the Editorial Staff, CIVIL SERVICE LEADER, 71 Duane St., N.Y.

I am 35 years old and was badly crippled in an accident six months ago. I worked steadily for 2 years before I was 25 years old. I was able to return to work a few months after the accident. I can get rehabilitation service 1 month ago, I worked steadily

Yes, your condition is found to be so severe that it keeps you from doing any kind of work. If your condition is found to be so severe to enable you to return to work, the amount you receive each month will remain the same.

When you reach 65, your earnings for the last year — W-2 certificates, and proof of tax paid; and proof of his age. Seven of these tests are open-competitive, plus ten per cent for night shifts, plus maintenance, for a full sea-son. This applies not only to new employees, but to graduates of college programs in social work or related fields.

Wanted are accountants or bookkeepers with experience in the making of booklets. Wages 60 to $125 per week for day work. For night work, $5.00 to $10.00 per week. Apply at the Manhattan Commercial Office, 1 East 19th Street.

The open-competitive examinations are as follows:

I employ three people. Is it all right if I report social security for my household help on my business return?

An employer is liable for social security taxes on salaries for employees as defined by the Social Security Act.

Will my disability benefits be cut off if I deduct social security taxes from her wages. There is nothing in the law to prevent you from paying the entire social security tax, including her share, if you so de-sire. It is better, though, if she can be persuaded to contribute her part since this will help her understand your own social security law and that she is paying toward future benefits that have real value.

If you get unemployment benefits, you are entitled to the social security benefits that will enable you to do some other kind of work.

The kind of work you did before was not acceptable. You are unable to engage in substantial gainful activity.

I have a small business in which I engage in selling office supplies. My problem is the definition of 'gainsful activity.'

Clerical workers must have completed at least one year of office work experience in an office setting. Any additional course work in office and/or data processing is favorable. Typists must have a typewriting speed of 50 words per minute. Clerks must have 20 words per minute. Transcribers must have a 50 word transcription speed.

Clerical workers must be residents of Suffolk County for at least one year prior to the examination date. Applicants must have a diploma or certificate in stenographic work or clerical work, a high school diploma, or be able to show knowledge of job-related subjects.

Applications can be obtained from the Suffolk County Civil Service Commission, 105 State Street, Albany, N. Y. 12207. For further information write to Mr. Boyle at the Department of Civil Service, Madison Avenue, New York, N. Y. 10010. Ask for announcement No. 2-5 (1957) for the Office Worker Test.

Fitpatrick Heads Welfare Workers Personnel Classification Unit

Mr. Boyle has announced the appointment of John B. Costello, Superintendent at State, State and Industrial School, Industry, New York, as welfare supervisor for the Welfare Classification Unit.

Mr. Costello was formerly employed at the Department of Social Welfare in the Welfare Administration, has served on the 1960 Legislature to review and establish qualifications for public welfare workers.

Mr. Costello also has appointed Dr. Edward A. Latts of Cornell University as a member of his staff. Mr. Latts is a member of the State Board of Social Welfare.

His appointment is the result of an examination and application forms will be available at the office of the Civil Service Commissioner, 105 State Street, Albany, N. Y. 12207.

Musicus Returns To State Education Dept.

Mr. Musicus, an assistant secretary to Governor Rockefeller, has recently returned to his former position as assistant commissioner of the Department of Education and Personnel in the State Education Department.

Mr. Musicus has worked closely with Dr. William Rosan, secretary to Governor Rockefeller, and was instrumental in the successful coordination of the planning and implementation of the funding of the State Educational plan for state government. He is a graduate of the College of the City of New York and received his Master of Arts degree from Columbia University. He holds a Bachelor of Science degree in education from New York University.

John Boyle Honored By Supreme Court

Attaches Association

John Boyle, Assistant Librarian, Supreme Court, First District, was honored last month by the Associated Free Public Library Attaches Association of the Supreme Court, First Judicial District.

Samuel Spindel, president, presented a gold wrist watch to Mr. Boyle, in the presence of the Board of Directors, for his successful efforts rendered in the prosecution of a lawsuit instituted in the Supreme Court, First District, to permit the enrollment in the State Health Plan of employees of the New York State Supreme Court.

Mr. Boyle is a graduate of St. John's Law School.
Psychedelic Institute Chapter Brings Christmas to Children

The Psychedelic Institute chapter of the Civil Service Employees Association recently held its annual Christmas party in the State Office Building for mentally handicapped children. The party was held in a room that had been newly opened to the public by the State Department of Mental Hygiene. The children were given various gifts, including toys and games, and were also treated to a special meal. The event was a great success, and the children enjoyed themselves greatly. The party was sponsored by the Civil Service Employees Association, and was attended by many local dignitaries. The party was a great way to bring the community together and to give back to those who need it most.
