Rejection of Nurse Title Appeal Will Be Reviewed; CSEA Refutes Disapproval

ALBANY, Sept. 18—The Division of Classification and Compensation has informed the Special Nurses Committee of the Civil Service Employees Association that it will undertake a review of its disapproval of the state's nurses' reallocation appeal, The Leader has learned.

The decision to review the un-favored nurses' appeal was made by Division Director, T. Earl Kelly, was arrived at last week at an informal conference of the Special Nurses Committee and members of the staff of the Division of Classification and Compensation headed by Assistant Director, Arthur Markziner.

Chairman Capilla, chairman of the nurses' committee, presented a point by point analysis of the director's unfavorable determinations of its amended appeal of last January. The initial appeal for the nurses—salaried classification plan was made in October 16.

CSEA Refutes

A resume of the principal reasons advanced by the Special Nurses Committee in its original appeal, the director's unfavorable determination and the committee's denial are as follows:

The Republican party, backing John Lindsay, has scored upon the Burns "safety officer" issue and is vigorously opposing the plan hoping to turn civil service votes its way in the November general election.

The O.P.t is pinning its election hopes on its belief that, the best tool for the first time, in years a third party has entered the election, it will pull enough votes in this nominally Democratic city to carry Langford into office.

Ogdensburg Safety Officer Plan Looming as Political Issue in November Election

From Leader Correspondent

OGDENSBURG, Sept. 18—Mayor Francis B. Burns' controversial plan to make firemen "safety officers," trained to do police work as well as fight fires, will be an issue in the upcoming mayoralty election campaign in this city.

The Republic party, backing John Lindsay, has scored upon the Burns "safety office" issue and is vigorously opposing the plan hoping to turn civil service votes its way in the November general election.

The O.P.t is pinning its election hopes on its belief that, the best tool for the first time, in years a third party has entered the election, it will pull enough votes in this nominally Democratic city to carry Langford into office.

Three-Party Race

The Ogdensburg O.P.t party committee has just announced a ten-point city election platform, headed by its avowed opposition to the Burns "safety officer" program.

The committee says it believes the best interests of the city would be served by opposing the so-called "safety officer" plan by continuing to have a full-time paid department with its own chart.

New Travel Agency Formed to Offer CSEA Wider Service

A new travel club for members of the Civil Service Employees Association and its friends, has been formed and will offer travel arrangements for individuals as well as group tours.

The organization, Civil Service Travel Club, Inc., replaces Specialized Tours, Inc. as travel agents to the CSEA and has taken over the CSEA travel program. Under complete new management, the "Civil Service Travel Club" is located in the Time Life Building, New York, N. Y., and is under the direction of Worth L. Thompson.

First project to be sponsored by Civil Service Travel Club is a Caribbean cruise that will visit six ports in 14 days, leaving New York City March 16. The cruise is being operated in conjunction with Knickerbocker Travel Service, which operated the highly successful Caribbean cruise for CSEA members earlier this year.

PLAN UNDERWAY

In addition, tours to Hawaii and Florida are now being planned in three CSEA conference areas and announcements on these programs will appear in the coming issues of The Leader.

CSEA members are also advised that a new requirement from a single air line (Continued on Page 10)

Decided This Month

The Executive Council declared, "Firm, prompt, and vigorous action should be taken by the Congress and the Executive Branch to halt and reverse the continuing contracting-out of a large volume of work traditionally done by Federal departments and agencies, and the mounting use of military personnel in civilian Federal positions.

"At the same time, the Executive Council notes with encouragement the facts that during recent months both of these problems have been the subject of study and concern on Capitol Hill and in a large number of department and agencies.

"Both of these practices — are unusual, wasteful, and contrary to sound administration."

Way Radios Could Be Great Police Aid

A major problem facing the patrolmen in a sudden crisis is the need to get additional help—and the time to call for it.

Reports on the use of individual, two-way radio sets for patrolmen must be the answer. When the need for help is sudden, a patrolman cannot take time out to call headquarters and, unhappily, bystanders do not always come to his aid nor do they always have the presence of mind to call for additional police help.

Just this past week alone, The Leader has learned of police using so called “walkie-talkies” to excellent advantage. A lone patrolman in Washington, D.C., when attempting to make a proper arrest, was set upon by five men. It so happened that he was carrying a two-way radio in his pocket and, within a few minutes after calling for additional help, the arrest and to quell the disturbance.

Such equipment for New York City patrolmen would appear to be a must. At the very least, City officials should look into the use of such devices and determine the value of radio equipment for the lone police officers.

A patrolman needs every bit of help he can get—mechanical as well as human.

Suffolk Supervisors Can-Prove Sincerity

WHETHER or not the Suffolk County Board of Supervisors is interested in the welfare of its police employees at heart—and the interest of a competently served community, as well—will be shown by its action on a set of reasonable and just proposals coming before it through the Suffolk County Board of Supervisors Employee Association.

Last week, these columns reported on the fact that the County Board had created a double standard for its employees by granting 600 policemen nearly the same money as the CSEA and the County Board had created a double standard for its employees by granting 600 policemen nearly the same money as the CSEA and the County Board had created a double standard for its employees by granting 600 policemen nearly the same money as the CSEA and the County Board had created a double standard for its employees by granting 600 policemen nearly the same money as the CSEA.

Apply For Career Jobs in 60 Fields With U.S. Test

The current cut off date for Federal Service Entrance Examination filing is Sept. 28. Those who file before that date may take both the P.E.E. and the management internship test on Oct. 14. The test is one test in thousands of jobs in 60 career fields. Last year about 9,000 appointments were made from this exam to career positions located in Washington, D.C. and throughout the country.

Some of the positions to which appointments will be made are in such fields as general administration, economics, and other social sciences, management analysis, communications, personnel management, electronic data processing, food and drug inspection, recreation, geography, and natural sciences.

Those who are appointed are given the opportunity to work on problems of national and international importance while they are trained for positions of responsibility and leadership.

Candidates earn attractive salaries, a minimum of $4,200 a year, with regular raises and additional payments based on merit. Federal employees enjoy many fringe benefits such as liberal vacation leave each year, sick leave with pay, an excellent retirement system, good group life insurance, health insurance and a progression incentive awards program.

This test is designed primarily for young people with college education or its equivalent. The number of management internships available is limited and only outstanding candidates are rated eligible. Most of these management internship positions are located in the Washington, D.C. area. Those jobs are in grades GS 7 at $5,355 a year and in grade GS 9 at $6,435 a year. Minimum qualifications are a baccalaureate degree or four years of appropriate experience or a satisfactory equivalent combination.

N.C.R. Operators Needed at $3,000

Filing is now open to fill jobs requiring the operation of national cash registers. Applications will be given out in grades GS 7 at $5,355 a year and in grade GS 9 at $6,435 a year. Minimum qualifications are a baccalaureate degree or four years of experience in administrative, professional, investigative, technical or other responsibilities which may be similar to the job.

Applicants must have had sufficient experience to operate efficiently the appropriate N.C.R. machine.

A printed test will be sent for all of the grade. In this test the candidate must demonstrate his skill to operate the N.C.R. machine.

Applications will be given out and returned at the Application Section of the Department of Personnel, 96 Duane St., New York 7, N.Y. Within 21 months a four year course may be completed or expected to complete within 24 months a four year college course leading to a bachelor's degree. Those years of experience in administrative, professional, investigative, technical or other responsibilities may also be satisfactory. Such experience must have included at least one year at the grade GS 4 level or its equivalent. Any equivalent combination of the above education and experience will also be satisfactory.

In combining education and experience, and academic year of study will be considered equivalent to nine months of experience.

For the grade GS 7 jobs, $5,355 a year, candidates must have an additional year of grade study or a year of experience at the GS 5 level or a combination of grade study and experience totaling one year.

College students who are in graduate school or in their last year of college may be offered an appointment if they pass this examination.

Management internships are also offered. This test is to recruit people with management potential for special training. The number of management internships available is limited and only outstanding candidates are rated eligible. Most of these management internship positions are located in the Washington, D.C. area. More Police; More Respect Necessary! Says Lefkowitz

State Attorney General Louis Lefkowitz, Republican candidate for the New York gubernatorial election, denounced awareness and the lack of respect for police officers at the national convention of the police officers association of America in New York.

Calling for the return of respect to the policeman, the Attorney General said:

"The free American way of life is founded upon a heartfelt respect for police officers at the core of our community. But today we see far too many symptoms of lack of respect for law and order. The most vicious of these symptoms is the recent wave of physical attacks by citizens on members of the police force."

This is moral delinquency at its worst. It is a contagious community disease which must be checked quickly and effectively.

"Liquor is enforcement of the law will act as a deterrent to repetition of these outrageous acts on men who are risking their lives to protect the public. The police force must be made adequate in numbers, and shown that it is backed up by the trust and confidence of both government and the public."

"But even all this is not enough. It must be complemented with a broad public education program which will make every person understand that he owes to the police officer a debt of gratitude for his contribution to the order, discipline, and personal security which is vital to our free society."

"The citizen must understand that he has no better or more faithful friend than the conscientious police officer. Upon his shoulders falls the great task of defending with his life, if necessary, against those who attack our society. Daily we read in our newspapers and hear on the radio and television of the police officer who has saved a life at some disaster. In an emergency he is both a doctor and a nurse. One is not a physician and the other police officer in seeking to wipe out the causes of juvenile delinquency, and in helping the youngster to enrich his own life and to become a useful member of the community. Yes, in his every day unhired daily work the police officer is a social worker, a father confessor to those who seek his advice, a parent to someone else's child, and a benefactor to all in need."

"We cannot afford the luxury of necessities and anarchy in the face of today's growing legislation of disorganization to authority. Our political, religious, social and cultural leaders must raise voices loud and clear in protest against anti-social behavior."

"We must make our civic indignation and shame the catalyst for effective action."

CSEA Gets Kelly To Review Decision On Nurse Reallocation

Kelly agreed that the above salaries paid to nurses in New York State are comparable to Staff Nurse (New York) by the several states which border New York State were higher at the minimum, and except for Connecticut at the maximum.

In the committee's analysis, it pointed out that, "as for comparison with other states, New York should be under the microscope and not a follower. We should place our house in order instead of pointing to other states and saying that they also give a low salary to the nurse. The analysis also stressed the continued seriousness of the nurses' recruitment problem in New York and elsewhere because of low salaries, and stated that "qualified prospective candidates for nursing in the CSEA study are reluctant to enter the field because after three years of intensive preparation, they can look forward in many cases to a lower salary than unskilled labor."

Education Comparisons

II. Salaries for nurses are lower than in other states. Occupational Therapists, Institution Teachers, Recreation Instructors and Psychiatric Technicians are which are comparable to nursing classes.

In the negative determination, the Director of Classification and Compensation said that appointment to positions of Occupational Therapists, Institution Teachers, and Recreation Instructors, are higher from among those who have completed a full four-year college program which includes specialization in the appropriate field, and professional social work positions require, at the minimum, completion of at least one full year of graduate study at a school of social work. The committee noted that within this area the division is ignoring the fact that the same number of weeks are required for the preparation of nurses and the other professionals used for comparison. The nurse should not enter on her preparation with graduation but continues to undergo intense training, and must also obtain additional college credit in order to promote to Head Nurse, Supervising Nurse or other titles in the promotional areas.

Quality of Care Disputed

III. There are a large number of vacancies in nursing positions and continued recruitment difficulties.

The Division stated that there is no evidence that New York State is not attracting its fair share of nurses and that the State is not attracting as many nurses as it should. The committee agreed that the shortage of nurses is a serious problem, and strain working under abnormal conditions, with abnormal patients for the most part in locked buildings. The large number of injuries to personnel in our State hospitals supports the fact that this type of nursing is more hazardous than elsewhere."

At the original hearing on the case, January 25, 1961, Mr. Kelly agreed with the CSEA study that the salary grade for Instructor of Nursing was low. He authorized a reallocation for that class from Grade 14 to 15 and a compensation from Grade 15 to 16 for Instructor of Nursing (TBI).

The CSEA appeal also called for the following reallocations:

Staff Nurse, Grade 9 to Grade 12; Head Nurse, Grade 11 to Grade 15; Supervising Nurse, Grade 14 to Grade 17; Chief Supersurving Nurse, Grade 19 to Grade 21; Chief Super-
