Protection Without Examination

Rochester Seeks Freeze On 12 Lawyer Positions

(From Leader Correspondent)

ROCHESTER, N.Y., Nov. 27—The State Service Commission has been asked to determine whether 12 city lawyers now holding jobs by appointment should be given Civil Service protection.

The lawyers were appointed under a Republican administration which loses control of the city Jan. 1, as a result of the election earlier this month.

If the state agency approves the change, the lawyers would be protected without having to take examinations. All future appointments, however, would have to be made from lists established after competitive examinations.

Actually, the changes have been under consideration since last spring when the Municipal Civil Service Commission added new regulations affecting 23 city jobs.

Dr. Joseph L. Gunczler, chairman of the Municipal Civil Service Commission, explains the state has for years allowed the cities to bring Rochester into conformity with other cities in the state.

Other Exemptions Sought

Under the recommendations, top city jobs, such as deputy city attorney, would remain exempt. The 12 lawyers to be considered are appointment counselors and his first deputy who are now in the exempt class. The job has been made exempt on the basis of similar positions in other cities.

Other city jobs that have been recommended for change to non-competitive status include:

Three at the city museum, one deputy director and superintendent of real estate.

The new director of the diocesan records in the assessment department, city engineer, director of the bureau of maintenance and operation, water works director and administrative director of the hospital, are not included in the changes.

The discussions will be held at 3:15 p.m. at 210 E. 86 St. on Dec. 7 at the Student Prince Restaurant. The ticket price is $5.

UTICA, N.Y., Nov. 27—The Oneida County Chapter, Civil Service Employees Association, will appoint a committee soon to study the effects of the new county charter on Civil Service employees in county government.

The plan to appoint the committee was announced by Mrs. Ruth Mann, president of the chapter, after reports of the November elections.

County government will be reorganized starting Jan. 1, 1963, under the terms of the new charter. An executive form of government will be established.

The charter states that "The Civil Service status and rights of all county employees and their beneficiaries, including but not limited to those with respect to retirement and Social Security, shall not be affected by this charter or code."

Vincent Delmar, chairman of the committee that helped draft the charter, spoke recently to members of the county chapter. He discussed how the charter would affect government employees.

However, Mrs. Mann said this would be followed up by an appointment of a committee to determine the specific effects of the charter.

J. F. Feeney New Dep. Comptroller

ALBANY, Nov. 27—Joseph F. Feeney, Jr., of the State Service Employee Association, re-emphasized today that recent public charges of the Association alleging the violation of the spirit of the merit system were directed against the State Civil Service Commission, and did not reflect upon the administration of Governor Rockefeller.

In a statement to the Leader, Mr. Feeney said: "The President of the State Civil Service Commission, Mr. Rockefeller, has made a public statement that any leader of protest dated Oct. 16, represented 'poor nonsense.' Naturally, I cannot agree. Our central purpose in making this matter is to make certain that the personnel of the New York State constitution, which guarantees to all the citizens of the State the right to compete for Civil Service positions for which competitive examinations are practicable, is upheld. We contend that the reasons furnished by the Commissioner, for exempt positions, of this nature, have been insufficient and that, in fact, it was practically to hold competitive examinations for these very exempt positions."

"At the same time, I should like to make clear that our criticisms are not of Governor Rockefeller, whose administration, with respect to the provisions of the Civil Service Act, has been an enlightened one in almost all areas. Rather, our comments concern an attempt to be directed to the State Civil Service Commission. Our complaint is that although the Commission is reducing the exempt class, it is doing so by transferring positions from the exempt to the non-competitive class. Mr. Kaplan is reported to have stated that the total number of exempt positions has been reduced by 315 since the time he became president of the State Civil Service Commission."

Mr. Kaplan stated that the "figures are quite interesting, except that they wholly fail to explain why the public at large has not really noticed."

From the point of view of the Association, the merit system is based upon two fundamental concepts. First, an opportunity to compete for advancement through open competitive examination, and second, protection from the vacat-ions of political influence through the requirement of a hearing and charges before dismissal. The only reason that anyone who falls under a true merit system in this sense are competitive class employees, and non-exempt employees are not included, unless they happen to be county employees whom volunteer for service.

Mr. Kaplan stated that the "figures show that the number of state employees has been reduced. This we already knew. What the Commission has done, however, is to move the bulk of this exempt group of employees into the non-competitive class rather than the competitive class, and thus, from the point of view of a true merit system, the employee is no better off than they were in the exempt class."

CSEA Hits Reply to Charge

WATERTOWN, N.Y., Nov. 7 — The CSEA has proposed a state grievance board as a "court of last resort" for legitimate civil service employee complaints.

The proposal is by Commissioner Wadlin, who has been chairman of the New York State Assembly's Civil Service Committee 13 years, and said that the proposed grievance procedure would not go far enough, but "would go a long way toward" Wadlin anti-strike law.

"With the passage of the Act," Mr. Wadlin told The Leader, "that in recent years a lot of laws have been passed to strengthen the Concord-Wadlin bill, but there has been no feeling that it will reflect the loyalty and dedication that our state workers have.

The five per cent pay boost, state, and many municipal, workmen received by those in the non-competitive class through smaller retirement costs, will be re-enacted in the new legislation.

Members of Mr. Wadlin's joint legislative committee Friday agreed at a meeting in Albany to present the bill again to the governor, as he said, "full confidence will win overwhelming support of both houses of the legislature and be signed by the governor."

Retirement Studies

The New York assemblyman said that his joint legislative retirement system committee is making "a continuing study of problems besetting retired workers."

He said that there is a total of 425,000 civil service employees in New York state whose future depends on the retirement system. This tremendous total of people "pose the biggest problem on the committee," he asserted.

The civil service committee chief told those present, "We are of the present time, some men in advance of being in the government are advocated that the state pay the workers' full share of retirement costs.

Divided Opinion

Commented Assemblyman Wadlin:

"Opinion at present is about divided as to the wisdom of this move."

"Many concessions employees feel that if the state contributed the full amount they will have no control over the retirement system."

Assemblyman Wadlin said the civil service aspect of his state retirement system was a "prime interest" in his life. "I feel I've been more fortunate than many workers, free to represent the chairman of the assembly civil service committee," he said.

I've had men such as Eliot Kaplin, president of the state civil service commission; John Donovan, chairman of the CSEA, and Harry Albright, chairman of the state Board of Supervisors, through the years. Their interest in the affairs of the civil service retirement board has been most flattering."

HS-College Students Earn While Learning Under Federal Program

Employment while completing high school or college is offered for Federal jobs through the Young Student Trainee program. Salaries for these part time or summer positions are as high as $77 a week, depending on scholastic level and hours worked.

Students may alterate periods of school attendance and employment, may be employed part-time while attending school, or may work during school vacation.

The student trainee program offers students the opportunity to train in nearly 20 occupations, mostly in the science and engineering field.

The student-trainee program is designed to recruit college students and well-qualified high school students for the student-trainee opportunities offered with Federal agencies throughout the United States. Most of the occupations are in physical sciences, engineering, and agricultural sciences, with limited opportunities in economics, statistics, and accounting.

Nature of Program

The program enables students to work in their fields under the guidance of experienced and capable professional employees. It also gives trainees an opportunity to observe and participate in an area of work and decide whether they later would like to join in for a career. Programs for trainees in the fields of architecture, forestry, research laboratories and offices from coast to coast.

Applications generally must be filed within 45 days after the first day of school. Eligibility in the student-trainee test is good for five years or until graduation from college.

SOME weeks ago, these columns warned the public service not to be over-compliant about the Merit System, and pointed out that it was still an unknown blessing in some areas.

Now come charges that the Merit System of New York State is under a "frontal attack" because of an unusual granting of requests by the State Civil Service Commission to place government employees in the competitive class for the first time in history.

The charges were made by the 98,000-member Civil Service Employees Association and were laid at the door of H. Eliot Kaplan, president of the Civil Service Employees Association, New York City.

The CSEA viewpoint is that every single position in state service should be considered for the competitive class and that any other classification should come only after the most painstaking examinations prove this is not feasible. Mr. Kaplan therefore denies sufficient notice to interested parties, therefore denying them the right to comment on the change and not enough time to consider the requests without first considering them for competitive status.

The Employees Association has also attacked the method by which the minimum meetings of the Commission are held. The CSEA charges that these meetings, where requests for classification changes are approved or disapproved, are held without sufficient notice to interested parties, therefore denying them the right to argue for or against the calendar requests.

Mr. Kaplan’s reply to the CSEA charges was—"Nonsense!" And as to a special meeting held last month to approve the state and federal government current offers this extra to pensioners. Why can’t you?

Mr. Kaplan’s answers are hardly a defense against the Government Employees Association charges. Nor do they disprove the Association’s contentions that he is compromising the Merit System by authorizing continuing exempt or non-competitive class employees.

A more detailed, logical and serious answer is needed, Mr. Kaplan.

Grant Health Insurance To Retired Employees

The Board of Estimate last week heard arguments from twenty-five representatives of employees groups favoring a change of benefit plans. The Board is now considering the matter and will re-open the hearing on Nov. 21.

We hope that they will vote to accept the report and grant the request to all city employees. However, as James Xing vice president of the New York Association and Commissioner, with an automatic, the measure does not go far enough and should be seen as an interim report. Retired members should be brought into the picture to see if the arrangements are still relevant.

The cost of any extra benefit can be a burden to a retired man, especially if he has a family.

Mr. Kaplan’s answers are hardly a defense against the Government Employees Association charges. Nor do they disprove the Association’s contentions that he is compromising the Merit System by authorizing continuing exempt or non-competitive class employees.

A more detailed, logical and serious answer is needed, Mr. Kaplan.

The NewPolice Laws

The New Police Laws CONCEIVELY, the law provided that no patrolman shall be assigned more than forty hours per week for any consecutive seven day period. The law is stated in effect.

THERE was an exception to the law in New York City where a resolution of the Board of Estimate made pursuant to Section 884-4 of the Administrative Code authorized the Police Commissioner to extend the week by one hour to forty-two hours with additional compensation. The Commissioner noted that on this authority, consequently, the maximum work week was forty hours throughout the State, generally, and forty-two hours in New York City (with additional compensation).

The Fight Starts

ON APRIL 17, 1964, the New York City Police Commissioner issued General Order No. 17, the subject of the controversy about which I am writing. The purpose, stated in the Order was "to provide additional police coverage during the evening hours when maximum patrol hazards exist." A new tour of duty from 6:00 P.M. to 2:00 A.M. was added by the order and it required patrolmen to work six consecutive eight-hour days, with the exception of a single "double patrol" day.

At that time the Mayor could not put out the plan into action by his order. The Court of Appeals had not yet ruled at 6:00 A.M. to 2:00 P.M. This case now and the Mayor can run the city as his conscience knows, what is just and fair.

The Welfare Police have been made political pawns of Welfare Union 311 and other pressures. The Mayor can now put an end to the problem. He can run the city as his conscience knows, what is just and fair.

The law expressly prohibits more than 60 hours of work in any seven consecutive days and the Mayor can do this. The law states in effect that the maximum work week is 40 hours but the Mayor can run the city as his conscience knows, what is just and fair.

SOME of the patrolmen affected by Order No. 17 brought a proceeding in the Supreme Court to have the law declared illegal. The Police Commissioner, in an effort to prevent that, provided for additional work week by hours, with the exception of a single "double patrol" day. The proceeding came before Judge Frederick Backer, sitting in Manhattan. He wrote the kind of opinion lawyers like Master of Solicitor M. Murphy, New York Law Journal, August 18, 1961, page 3. That is, a legal opinion which implied a rule of law and instructed the Mayor to run the city as his conscience knows, what is just and fair.

Social Security

Below are questions in Social Security which went in by our readers and answered by a lay expert. The answers are taken from a question on Social Security should it write out and send it to the Social Security Employee, 31 Duane St., New York 7, N. Y.

I understand that men can now get social security benefits at 62. I will be 62 in the fall. Should I apply for my social security benefits?

The 1964 amendments to the social security law do make it possible for men to receive social security insurance benefits at 62. Instead of waiting until they reach 65, you should do so immediately, that is, if you file for benefits early, your insurance benefits will be reduced. In other words, your benefit will always be paid at 65 on the basis of your past earnings.

U.S. Offers Career Police Jobs Starting At $5,355 a Year

The U.S. Government is offering career police jobs starting at $5,355 a year, or qualified men.

The $5,355 figure is the pay for a probationary training period, after which the salary goes to $6,886 a year.

The official title for these jobs is immigration patrol inspector. Information can be obtained from the regional office of the U.S. Civil Service Commission, 220 E. 42nd St., New York 17, N.Y.

The principle duty of the border patrol is to prevent smuggling and border security into this country. Inspectors patrol areas by automobile, on foot, by boat and in aircraft.

There are no experience requirements for these jobs.

Apply to Nov. 30
For Card Punch Operator Jobs
Card punch operators (alphabeters) are needed by the U.S. Government in this area, and the office machine operator examination has been reopened for applicants in this specialty.

Application forms and further information can be obtained from the regional office of the U.S. Civil Service Commission, 220 E. 42nd St., New York 17, N.Y.

Facts . . . not speculation

Stock market experts advise their clients about investments on the basis of fact . . . not speculation or rumor.

Facts should be the basis on which a plan for hospital and medical care protection is chosen. This is essential to assure that a family or an individual is making the wisest and most secure investment with maximum dividends in the form of benefits.

Government employees in New York, state and local, as well as public school teachers are eligible to join the Statewide Plan for hospital and medical care benefits. This plan is a combination of Blue Cross, Blue Shield and Major Medical which offers the most liberal benefits at the lowest possible cost. This is an established fact. It's also a fact that the Statewide Plan is the only plan that provides uniform coverage for all New York State employees, active and retired.

Be safe. Be secure. Be sure. Get the facts about the Statewide Plan now. See your Personnel or Payroll Office. Make a wise investment.

Percy Caplan Wins $250
For Idea: Others Paid

ALBANY, Nov. 7 - Twenty-two State employees received cash awards last week in October, marking another in a series of time- and money-saving ideas submitted to the Employees Suggestion Program by Elise Kaplan, President of the State Civil Service Commission, announced last week.

Top award — $50 — went to Percy Caplan, 150 Onondaga Street, Albany. Senior Clerk in the Department of Motor Vehicles. Mr. Caplan suggested revision of his Department's form for failure to display inspection stickers on automobiles more than four years old. The form will ask if inspection has been made between the time of arrest and the time of conviction. This will prevent the automatic suspension of registrations in 78 per cent of such cases. It will eliminate several costly form processing steps and improve public relations.

Charles Jordan Wins $100
Second highest award winner was Charles Jordan, 880 Eighth Avenue, Albany. Senior Clerk in the Department of Motor Vehicles. Mr. Jordan suggested purchase of a small 450-horsepower boiler during the summer.

Ray Brook CSEA Has Fall Revel

Approximately 154 members of the Ray Brook chapter of the CSEA, and their friends, attended a Halloween Party which was held at the Summer Bear Restaurant on Oct. 31st. A buffet luncheon was served and dancing followed.

State Eligible Lists

Quite a few of the guests appeared in costume and prizes were awarded to the following: Grand Prize to Tony Internoules for the best costume; second prize to Branner Ryan for the Sunflower and Third Prize to Hilda Marks for the most original. Judges were Mrs. Jordan and Mrs. Ed. Pendergast and they certainly had a difficult job. The ballroom dance was held by and it was good to see some of the people from the outside department.

Eslave Easterly Honored

A dinner party was held at the Governor's Mansion in Tupper Lake honor of Betty Finkelstein, 24 Cortland Street, Albany. Mrs. Easterly received $150 for suggesting purchase of a small 450-horsepower boiler during the summer.

Other new officers of the new State University Chapter of Brature are: Miss Janet Campbell, President, account clerk, College of Forestry, first vice president; David Beggs, staff, assistant, Admissions, office assistant, College of Forestry; and Mrs. Hazel C. Ranger, senior stenographer, Education Department, secretary.

About 135 persons attended the group's organizational meeting at the College of Forestry, where the new officers were elected.

The new chapter's first regular meeting will be held Dec. 19 in the medical center, where Ben Roberts, CSEA field representative, will install the officers.

In Manhattan this week there are 500 jobs for experienced telephone feeders to hand-tied cards or printed paper and cardboards on a Thompson-Hughes teleprinter press. The jobs pay $50 to $75 a week, depending on experience. A maintenance mechanic is also needed, a man with at least ten years' experience, to rebuild air compressors and pumps. And to make repairs on the machinery as required as at $3 an hour and up, depending on experience.

There is still time to get a Christmas selling job in one of New York's department stores. Women earn extra income for a few weeks of interesting work and make themselves eligible for generous employee discounts too.

In Brooklyn, a cloth brushing and rolling machine operator is needed, a man who has had experience in operating a cloth brushing and rolling machine. $2.07 an hour for a four day workweek.

Men and women experienced in hand painting on glass are wanted, a job that pays $5 to $6 an hour up, depending on experience.

Hospitalization Plan for Oswego School Retirees To Be Further Studied

(From Leader Correspondent)

Oswego, Nov. 27 — A proposal to provide formerly-retired school employees with hospitalization insurance will be studied further “with an eye to providing some type of coverage in the 1963-64 budget,” Charles Allin, president of the Oswego School Retirees, has announced.

The Board deferred action on the plan until next year on the proposal because funds were not appropriated in the 1961-62 school budget. The proposal would have affected 37 retired employees not covered under the State Insurance Plan. Blue Cross-Blue Shield recently approved the plan for employees. Maximum cost would have been $4,170.96 annually.
