Feily Hits 'Press Trial' of Rent Aides Reputation

ALBANY, Aug. 5—Unsupported charges of bribery and corruption by rent control employees during their service with the State Rent Commission were termed an unfair slandering against a whole body of personnel whose loyalty was unimpaired by any crime having been committed.

Joseph F. Feily, president of the 107,000-member Civil Service Employees Association, said last week that these employees, now working for New York City, were suffering unnecessary humiliation because of irresponsible actions on the part of Louis Kaplan, New York City Investigations Commissioner.

"I have read with great concern charges emanating from the offices of the Mayor of New York City against approximately 100 public employees administratively over control law of the State of New York in the New York City area. These charges have been made in the public press, evidently as the result of anonymous letters dropped into the Mayor called 'squawk-box.' The public employees involved have never received any formal charge which they are entitled, both under the law and as a matter of fact.

"The first news of these allegations was learned by all of these employees by a statement that says integrity disregarded. 'As president of the Civil Service.'"

Keogh Pension Denial May Be Constitutional Violation, CSEA Warns

ALBANY, Aug. 6—Attempts to deny a pension to J. Vincent Keogh, Supreme Court Justice who was recently sentenced to a two-year prison term for attempted bribery, may be a violation of the State Constitution, the Civil Service Employees' Association warned last week.

CSEA viewpoints on the Keogh pension case were transmitted by its president, Joseph F. Feily, to Attorney General Louis D. Lefkowitz, who last week had a hearing on the issue.

The New York City Board of Estimate earlier voted to deny Keogh the City portion of his pension.

Feily said that he was aware of "the indignation aroused by the revelations that certain public officers have dishonestly their trust.

\"He said, however, that he felt the Employees Association must support the conclusions of Comptroller Arthur Levitt that the 'Constitution and the statutes of the State of New York require that the pension be paid.' Levitt declared that he had no power to alter the Constitution States Requirements in agreeing with the Comptroller."

Kaplan Tells Supervisors

HUNTINGTON, Aug. 5—(From Leader Correspondent)

The Association victory in the recent demotion of numerous meetings between individual committees appointed by Syracuse Mayor William P. Walsh and Onondaga County Executive John H. Mulroy. It was, in fact, for the first time in the history of the city and county, a single code regulating working hours, vacations and other working conditions for both city and county employees.

Salaries Similar

The two municipal executives have expressed "the hope" that the personnel codes will eventually lead to a single salary schedule for both city and county employees.

At present working hours, vacations, sick leave and off periods vary widely between city and county departments in the two municipalities.

The salaries of county and city employees also are different for the same comparative positions.

CS Commission Acts On Title Appeals

Correction Officers Win; Turn Down Nurses

ALBANY, Aug. 5—State Correction officers have been re-located to Grade 12 in a State Civil Service Commission review of an appeal that was earlier re-ruled by the State Director of Correction. The decision was made by the Civil Service Employees' Association, announced last week.

At the same time, the Commission upheld J. Earl Kelly, Compensation and Classification director of the Association's upgrade state institution nurses.

A special Compensation Committee of the CSEA had filed the appeal, seeking reclassification to Grade 12. The Nurses Committee had sought a reclassification to Grade 11 from Grade 8.

The upgrading of correction officers was termed a "step forward for correction personnel," by Joseph F. Feily, CSEA president. "However, continuing, we are extremely disappointed that the Commission did not give us the answer that these nurses have an equal and urgent need of reclassification."

The Association victory in the correction officer reclassification eliminated an extended drive by the CSEA to upgrade these em- ployees. The reclassification, however, must be approved by the Director of the Budget before it becomes final.

Feily said he was contacting T. Norman Hurd, Budget Di-rector, and urging him to give approval immediately.

Four titles trimmed in supporting the special Correction Committee were Charles E. Lamb, Bing Bing; Edwin D. O'Shea, Arthur P. Blum, Director, and Thomas Cupp, as-stant director, of the CSEA salaried employees.

The Correction Department committee was asked by the support of the CSEA stand on the appeal.

DO NOT REPEAT THIS

(Continued from Page 1) I have written to the newspapers and on the nomination, continues, at this writing, to say nothing regarding any particular candidate but is for unity and unity alone. Throughout the state have their favorites, but no one is the overall favorite—yet. It is hoped that all groups will gather all these forces together behind one, strong candidate and put up a good race against so formidable an opponent as Rockefeller.

The area around McKee's in party headquarters at the Commodore Hotel report that he works intensely through the night and into the early morning, sounding out opinions of local leaders, keeping an eye on the performances of announced candidates, watching for public reaction and always keeping in mind the fact that whatever the slogan may be, it is "no hurry." In September does not necessarily have the votes in November—when it counts.

The campaign is raising its money slowly coming through, it is reported. The result is that the Democratic leaders have made no announcement of seeking office and some of the dark horse candidates are said to be becoming more attractive in the eyes of those who must make the final choice.

The avowed candidates are certainly not giving up at this point, however, and one who is working away, hard at work to make the good impression (and reported making it in some important counties) is County District Attorney Frank D. O'Connor.

O'Connor has many things going for him besides his known record as a hard-hitting but judicious district attorney that he has four years to stand. He has his own county behind him, a county that is powerful and lively in terms of votes. It is reported that leaders in some other important counties look favorably upon him, as well as the County Board of Erie County (Buffalo City) rumored behind him.

Whispers that since Bud Luddy's Westchesterites like O'Connor have been making the rounds, too. Congressmen Charles Buckley, the political sage, and one who has the last of the early Kennedy supporters, is said to be for him.

Other assets being circulated by O'Connor supporters point up his Catholic background, his treatment, his good government, his public service as a public servant.

One thing is certain: O'Connor believes in his candidacy, believes he would serve the state well as its governor—and believes in fighting to the end. Many feel he is still very much in the race.

Another prominent Democrat who has made no attempt to get into the picture is an individual who is looking at with considerable interest is the City's veteran ex-American, Mayor Wagner. His Budget Director and new City Controller.

Beame has a way of getting along that has not gone unnoticed. He invariably gets a good-natured reception before civil service employee groups, although he is the City fiscal watchdog and this area includes employee salaries. He does believe in the good weekly he called for a reduction in Federal income tax for the middle incomes and the financial woes of local governments. His arguments, which reportedly had a pleasant sound to them, was that if live voters, that a tax reduction would stimulate local tax revenues through an increase in the number of tax-paying citizens. It happened in is he would turn around areas as welfare and, to him, most important, would help local communities escape the need to increase local taxes while still maintaining essential services (schools, health, etc.) at a high level.

Some feel that his Jewish origins, his personal style, his possible vote-getting strength and his support in Brooklyn is a highly-valued asset. Another factor is that Mayor Wagner could be expected to look favorably on the suggestions of his Budget Director and newly appointed Beame. Wagner's announced list of desirable candidates to head the State ticket.

One feel it is of course, no single candidate, awoke or not, has the nomination. Trail ballots will continue to be sent up "ballroom" will continue, dark horses will boom and fade.

It must always be remembered that the New York State Democrats are not only trying to elect a governor but also, to some extent, very hard trying to remove Rockefeller as an opponent to President Kennedy in 1964 by cutting down the votes of Rockefeller and running a moderate candidate.

This dual, heavy responsibility lies a great deal on the shoulders of Bill McKeen, who is trying with the state assembly to see how to buy Rockefeller as an opponent to President Kennedy in 1964 by cutting down the votes of Rockefeller and running a moderate candidate.

Two dual, heavy responsibilities are the major aspects of the political issues of the campaign, government, government, government, North vs. South, highlighted by Prof. Van-mer on both sides came from a certain understanding of the force which he advocates, an "understanding provided by propaganda, by crude attempts in the field of public relations."

The Civil War became largely a war of opinion, a war to win public approval. The Jefferson Davis, president of the Confederacy, was the candidate to try to win public support.

Both sides used many standards for public relations: speechers, leaflets and pamphlets, sermons, newspaper stories, and textbooks. Even arithmetic problems were put in a public relations manner: "If one Confederate soldier can whip seven Yankees, how many more Yankees can whip 40 Yankees?"

The Confederacy established newspapers in London to win European support. Lincoln had a terrific advantage over Davis on public relations because he had long been a stump-speaking office seeker. He could promise county voters and eased many political relations while Davis' honors came by appointment or unsupposed election. Experience taught the North's lader how to talk to people, how to engage their help, win their votes for their candidates. This is what the North's lader accepts, their opposition."

The Civil Service Employees Association Unit in the Village of Floral Park has adopted the following program of employee-benefit requests and submitted it to the village trustees for action.

1) A grievance procedure,
2) Five deduction of CSEA dues and group days personal leave,
3) After seven consecutive days of illness, 50 percent compensation for employees in cash for a sixth day worked in any week and a vacation plan consisting of one week after six months work; two weeks after one year; three weeks after five years; and four weeks after 10 years.

The CSEA president pointed out that pensions are guaranteed under the State Constitution and that the funds needed for retirement were needed for retirement. They are:

1. The applicant must have attained retirement age.
2. He must have lived in the State for the required period of time.
3. He must file with the Commissioner an application for retirement which must specify the effective date of his retirement which shall not be less than 30 or more than 60 days due subsequent to such filling.
4. These are the requirements and for "good reasons." Social Security Protection for All

He declared that "This section was written into the Constitution and accepted by the people to protect the interest rights of the employee and employer.

Our Changing Times

Dems, GOP In Nassau Vie For Credit On Employees' Gains

(From Leader Correspondent)

MINISOLA, Aug. 6—The old-time CSEA member, passing by the corridor in the county government building, was heard to chuckle lightly and say, "My, my how times have changed now." Under his arm, the old-timer was carrying a newspaper story, one which had been prepared by any of Nassau's early veterans of the battle for CSEA recognition and respect.

Headline Tells Story

"Nick and GOP Dispute Credit for New Plan." That was the headline of the story. It might be considered simple enough. County Executive Nedrow, a Democrat, and the Republican-controlled Board of Supervisors, headed by Vice-Elect John Burns of Oyster Bay, were squaring off over which side should get the credit for the new unified pension plan by the county workers, Jan. 1.

The dispute began when the Republicans announced they planned to review personnel policies and employee relations in the towns and in the county, with a special eye on the vacation program. The county workers appealed to the Nassau Civil Service Commission in May to draw up such a program, and that he had just received a plan which called for the following:

One month's vacation after six months; two weeks after three years; three weeks after five years; four weeks after 10 years.

The commission also suggested that county employees work six days a month, with a maximum of 120 days, as well as five days each year for personal leave.

Hard to Keep Score

As to which side will get credit for its interest in the employees' welfare, it is hard to be able to tell. Standardized work rules were first proposed during the 1880 campaign for county executive by the Republicans (at the prodding of the Nassau CSEA chapter), the study by the Civil Service Commission was called for by Democratic winner McKee in 1938; and when a plan is adopted by the GOP-controlled board, it'll probably be with the thanks of the CSEA.

The purpose of the story, the old-timers would guess, is: mix a little of CSEA determination in with the politics, and see if the public relations man will come out of it.

Against Rent

The County Executive's Office, an arm of the Nassau County Government, has revised its rental rules and regulations to the following effect: rentals will be increased by any of Nassau's early veterans of the battle for CSEA recognition and respect.

SEND A HOME — PAGE 11 TO BUT, RENT OR An Unnecessary Hurt

CITY Investigations Commissioner Louis Kaplan performed a misservice to public employees last week when he charged that certain rent control personnel, while employed by the State, had accepted bribes and granted illegal rent raises. If he had substantiated these charges, no one would deny that he should press the matter.

Unfortunately, however, that Kaplan named no names and, when pressed, had no particulars to present. In the meantime, the reputations of the rent agency employees has been put in disrepute by Kaplan’s charges in the public press.

Public relations are a constant source of concern in the civil service. When the good image of the public employee is damaged by one of his own kind, the average civil servant certainly has cause for dismay.

Without specific charges and names, Commissioner Kaplan should have spared his fellow workers this unnecessary blemish on their reputation.

Uphealing The Law

When asked for an opinion on whether or not Supreme Court Justice J. Vincent Knecht, sentenced on bribery charges last week, would receive the State portion of his pension, Comptroller Arthur Levitt replied: “He is entitled to it under the law; I cannot re-write the law.”

Comptroller Levitt is right and the 107,000-member Civil Service Employees Association supported his interpretation of his duties last week. The Employees Association pointed out that pensions were guaranteed by the State’s Constitution and its statutes.

“It is regrettable that a person has done wrong,” said CSEA President Joseph P. Felly. “But pensions are guaranteed to keep them from being used as threats to employees.”

If the employee Is well dressed, he’s been on the Job a long time, conclusion: “He looks like a big shot.”

If he’s been on the Job a long time, conclusion: “He thinks he’s a big shot.”

If he’s been on the Job a long time, conclusion: “He’s entitled to his pension.”

JUDGE STEVEN’S opinion threw half of Subdivision 1 of the regulation out. Now, when is the Civil Service Commission going to act on the rest of it? I hope it will be amended before September 1st of this year because the new judicial districts will no longer be part of New York City and the new city will be in a different judicial district. When that change is considered, it would be a good idea to get rid of the entire paragraph.

Throw It Out

THE SUPREME COURT of the State of New York is divided into judicial districts. Section 160 of the Judiciary Law provides that there shall be ten judicial districts in the State, and effective September 1, 1962, the County of Queens will be taken from the tenth judicial district, consisting of Queens, Nassau and Suffolk, and will be constituted the eleventh judicial district. Now, what has that to do with the civil service? Far more than it should. Let me show you.

SUBDIVISION 1 of Regulation 2 of the Regulations of the State Civil Service Commission, entitled “Certification of eligible lists,” provides that “Appointments to positions in the State Service,” confined to localities outside of Albany County, “shall be made, so far as practicable, from residents of the Judicial district or districts including such locality,” except in the Borough of Manhattan of New York City, where they “shall be made from among the residents of the first, second and tenth judicial districts.”

DID YOU ever see that before? Personally, I think that sort of breakdown for State jobs is bad, and I dislike it. A man from Saratoga County should get a State Job in Manhattan if he is higher on the list than his competitors in the first, second and tenth judicial districts.

Vee-Vee, a man from the first, second or tenth judicial districts should get a State Job in Saratoga if he is higher than any of the Saratoga residents. The men in each case took an examination for a State Job, and it is anybody’s business where they live.

This OLD FASHIONED nonsense has been on the State books for many years. It is a relic of the old days, revised and readopted in 1954. It really should be wiped out of the books. If I pass a test for a State Job in the first position, I want it or at least I want the right to get it, wherever it is.

COURT MODIFIES REGULATION

RECENTLY, THE Court in New York City, helped materially by ruling that the Regulation did not apply to promotions, but only to original appointments. There evidently had been no prior cases on this subject.

IN MATTER OF DAUB v. Copper 9 A. D. 2d 260, the Appellate Division of the First Department, in New York City, decided about a year ago, that a man seeking a promotion could make no headway without original appointment.

VEECK—AS IN WRECK is literally non-stop entertainment.

Here, in full, is the story of the brash, hotheaded Chicago boy who arrived in Milwaukee in 1944 to take over his new “purchase,” the bankrupt Milwaukee Brewers, with nothing but an outstanding sense of humor and $11 in his pocket and parlayed these beginnings into the most unusual, most hilarious, most successful baseball career of our time (“To give one can of beer to 1000 people is not nearly as much fun as giving 1000 cans to one guy. You give 1000 people a can of beer and each of them will drink it, smash his lips and go back to watching the game. You give 1000 cans to one guy and there is always the outside possibility that 50,000 people will talk about it.”)

Veeck is the arch promoter, head of a unpredictable laugh a day (‘To give one can of beer to 1000 people is not nearly as much fun as giving 1000 cans to one guy. You give 1000 people a can of beer and each of them will drink it, smash his lips and go back to watching the game. Postal Jobs: Clerks, Carrier, Paying $2.53

Men and women can now qualify for jobs as postal clerks and post office carriers as a result of a recent ruling by the Post Office Department.

Post offices in the New York City area are accepting applications for full or multiple temporary positions which will eventually lead to a permanent appointment.

There is no residence requirement for the position. Certification to fill vacancies will be made first of the highest available candidates who also actually reside in the above-named postal areas or who have done work. Local eligibles will be admitted in the absence of sufficient local applicants.

This position has no experience requirement. The appointments will be made on the basis of a written examination, which has been shortened. Some of the tests to be given are clerical abilities, knowledge in instructions, and address checking.

Job Benefits
The nature of this appointment is that career appointments are made to substitute positions and advancement is made on regular positions according to seniority of appointment. Substitutes are required to be available for duty on short notice and, generally, they will be working regularly.

There will be a salary range of $2.16 to $2.63 per hour. Substitutes are employed on a temporary basis but regular employees are paid on an annual basis.

Some of the benefits of these positions are:
- classified with career-appointee positions;
- advancement; life insurance, health benefits, retirement benefits;
- leave without pay, and vacations of 13 to 26 days.

Other requirements for the job are that applicants be at least 18 years of age and have an interest in enforcement and investigative service. Because of the exacting entrance requirements at age 50 after 20 years of service, because of the exacting physical demands of these jobs, the customs agency prefers young, vigorous applicants who are physically observant, and have an interest in enforcement and investigative service.

To be considered for the position of customs port investigator, O-3, a person must acquire eligibility in an appropriate examination, prove observatory on character investigation, and pass a medical examination.

Applicants for this type of employment are required to have a minimum of two years in criminal investigative work. College credits may be substituted for experience.

For further information regarding this position, applicants may write to the Customs Agency Services, Post Office Box 356, Village Station, New York, New York, 10014.

Customs port investigators investigate cases, vessels and persons (such as passengers, stevedores, and ship owners) in the pursuit of Revenue laws, treaties, and other federal laws.

The New York office, established in 1907, maintains an active and continuing program of arrest and prosecution of contraband in transit including bribery, concealment, and misuse of authority.

Unemployment in New York City is still above the national average but the city is showing a steady improvement in this important area. The government has an urgent need for these positions.

A renewable pension system provides long-term benefits for those who qualify.

Applicants for these positions must be citizens and must reside in New York State. The New York office employs over 800 persons.

The duties of clerks are to handle sacks of letter, paper mail, and parcels which may contain 500 pounds or more; to sort and dispatch mail to post offices and to carriers in accordance with established schemes. Clerks are also responsible for various duties at public windows of post offices.

Carriers are responsible for the prosecution and collection of mail on foot or by vehicle.

Applications for these positions are available at the main post office in New York City. For further details, applicants may address their inquiries to the U.S. Custom Service Commission, 220 East 42nd St., New York, N.Y.

Whatever you read about Bill Veeck is only a pop fly compared to his complete book.

"One of the frankest, most enthralling, amusing and provocative books of its kind I've ever had the good fortune to read. It sounds, in fact, like something which might have been the joint creation of Puck, Phineas T. Barnum, and Mack the Knife." — ROBERT CROMIE

"A ferociously honest, wonderfully comic book, which should forever bury the myth that the men who run baseball are sportsmen, rather than capital-gainsmen." — ROGER KAHN

The "Barnum of Baseball," champion of the underdog, professional iconoclast, has published his autobiography, "Veeck as in Wreck." It tells the story of Veeck's career as a player of the Indians, the Browns, and the White Sox, and Bill tells the inside stories of

- The first time a midget was sent up on a pinch-hit.
- The firework-and-music exchange scoreboard at Comiskey Park (which went off so stately whenever one of the Go-Go box hit one out of the park).
- The full-size burial, with military honors, of the pennant fling, one gray season.
- The first and only circus clown ever sent to the minors for seasoning.
- A thousand cupcakes delivered as door prize to one fortunate lady fan in Milwaukee.

An artistic painting of full-grown trees in the blisters of Wrigley Field — promptly stripped bare by Lake Michigan's winds ("...the blisters looked like the Russian stoppes during a hard cold winter")

100 cleaning women, plus Veeck himself, scrabbling down beautiful Comiskey Park with soap and water. Then in the small hours following a game, to the amusement of a crowd of photographers and spectators.

The largest opening day crowd to the American League in 194,2 — completely washed out in the third inning.

State Employees Share $1,785 Award Money

ALBANY, July 16 — A $700 award, the largest made by the New York State Employee Suggestion Program in 1962, went jointly to Francis McLaughlin and Edward Pay, Capital District employees of the Department of Taxation and Finance. They head the most recent list of 37 State employees who received Certificates of Merit and a total of $1,785 in award money for their time-and-money-saving ideas.

McLaughlin of Troy, chief of income tax data processing, and Pay, a data processing superintending clerk, were rewarded for developing an improved system of handling income tax returns in the city income tax cases. Their idea eliminates a great deal of manual work and saves the State almost $1,500 a year.

Another joint award, $300, went to Frank A. McCullough of Avevill, the moderator of the Schenectady Local of Schenectady, both of whom are income tax examiners in the Department of Taxation and Finance. They designed a printed announcement form which does away with the need for a large volume of dictation and permits junior staff members to handle a greater share of the work load.

Frank Vignola of Middletown, an electrician in the Department of Transportation and room in the State Training School for Boys, received two separate awards of $125 each. He developed a cost mechanism to correct two serious problems in the operation of the training school.

Francis Durechel of Cohoes, a principal account clerk and Crosby of Rochester, a head account clerk in the Department of Mental Hygiene's Albany office, shared a joint award of $100. They developed a new mechanical procedure to provide institutions with a record of charges made to the individual accounts of patients. Installation of this procedure has saved an estimated $1,500 a year.

Another joint award, $300, went to William M. Klmer of Hyde Park, an industrial shop worker in the Department of Conservation, and Robert H. Pack, a senior accountant in the Department of Taxation and Finance. Their suggestions pertained, respectively, to the automated quality control of the 2,500,000 phonebook cores to mattress covers, new forms and procedures for the preparation of bills, and a simplified means of compiling civil service examination materials.

Individual awards of $15 were made to Joseph Anagnost, of Albany, an assistant librarian in the Education Department; Anthony Weil, of Troy, a tabulating machine operator in the Department of Mental Hygiene; Gloria Bedell, a school secretary in the Department of Conservation; and John W. Kesan of Cohoes, a clerical assistant in the Department of Mental Hygiene. Another $25 grant was awarded to Richard A. Bordwell, of Brooklyn, a senior tax collector, and Bernice Robinson, also of Brooklyn, an actuarial analyst in the Department of Taxation and Finance.

Suffolk CSC Gets Kaplan Bill of Health

Commissioner, who is also Suffolk CSC chaplain, commented that the purpose of the investigation is to look into extraordinary and unwarranted decisions, which at this time have not yet been fully investigated. Mr. Kaplan's approval of the general workings of the commission complements Suffolk County's general working environment. We want to make sure that the entire commission and all its functions continue to operate in the best interests of the counties.

Kaplan's Letter

Kaplan's letter to Flynn follows: "I have had an opportunity to examine the record and data in conjunction with the examinations conducted by the Suffolk County Civil Service Commission. It is not entirely clear to me just what prompted investigation of the commission's examinations. The nature and subject matter of examinations was for the determination by the Suffolk County Commission.

"Our own inquiry leads us to believe that the exams conducted by the Suffolk County Commission were probably within their jurisdiction and discretion. At least, we found no sound basis for public criticism of the commission's activities. As you may be aware, the local civil service commissions have autonomous jurisdiction within their respective local governments. The State Commission has only supervisory functions over such local commissions where there appears to be violation of our failure to enforce the Civil Service Law."

At one time, Dr. Katzive was assistant director of Mount Zion Hospital in New York City and director of Mount Zion Hospital in San Francisco.

The purpose of the committee is to secure better salary and promotional opportunities for attendants in the New York State Department of Mental Hygiene. The work of the committee will get underway at an early date so that the necessary actions, by salary appeal or otherwise, can be undertaken to secure adequate compensation for the services rendered by attendants and to provide the career opportunities necessary to attract and retain well qualified personnel.

Plans to Begin Action Relative to This Matter Have Been in the Making for Some Time Now. Actually, we have been waiting for the decision of the nurses salary appeal by the Civil Service Commission before beginning the appeal for the attendants. This decision has not, as yet, been reached. However, CSEA decided to proceed with the attendants appeal.

There Are Many Reasons That Can Be Given to Support This Appeal. The help of mental hygiene attendants and other employees is needed in gathering facts and data. This special committee needs your assistance. Special committees at the chapter level could possibly be advantageous.

The First Meeting of the committee will be in Albany on August 16th at Association Headquarters. Individual or group action is most welcome.

Attendants, the committee, CSEA, the Department of Mental Hygiene and many interested parties know and understand that the mental hygiene attendant is deserving of a higher salary—it is up to all of us to convince the Division of Classification and Compensation how serious is this need.

Any Committee member will be glad to hear from you. Why not get busy?

Newly elected officers by the Department of Public Works have been appointed by Joseph F. Peltz, president of the Civil Service Employees Assn. More Duties Deserve More Reward

More and more is expected of more and more attendants in our mental hygiene institutions. The work load is heavier and responsibilities are greater. There are many reasons that can be submitted to prove these statements.

A Special mental hygiene attendants' committee has recently been appointed by Joseph F. Peltz, president of the Civil Service Employees Assn.
