A good deal of thunder is being heard in Democratic circles these days, with gubernatorial hopes. The dreams of public for their own candidate. Lightning hasn’t struck any particular candidate, but all the “boomers” for particular hopefuls still have not produced the man to head the Democratic state ticket this fall.

Democratic State Committee chairman Bill McKeon is reported to have jolted the committee last week, keeping his finger on the pulse of public reaction to several possible candidates by designating the attitudes and enthusiasm of local party leaders and following the direction of pressures from all directions toward the selection of a

DONT REPEAT THIS

A number of avowed candidates are putting on the nominating carpet, but where former, none of them are really coming through to date. From time to time, personable and attractive men in the public eye who are not actively seeking public office are reported getting unannounced invitations to run for the Democratic headquarters here.

Rumor has it that the latest "personality" being talked about is "labor arbitrator extraordinary" Pauline Kheel, who has been labeled "labor arbitrator extraordinary." A top man in the Rockefeller firm, he has been with the firm for 20 years (although he is now only 48 years old), he is known to labor leaders both nationally and internationally through his work within the framework of the Federal Government's Division of Labor Relations among the desirable candidates listed by the Democratic "pros" in our recent poll.

Currently, Kheel is the impartial chairman of the Trustees of the Meredith School, a private school in New York City; director of the Office of Impartial Review of the Electrical Industry; permanent arbitrator to the sheet metal industry, the paper industry and designated arbitrator to the U.S. and private industry. He was among the desirable candidates listed by the Democratic "pros" in our recent poll.

In addition to New York, Kheel is a special consultant to the Vice President of the United States, a consultant to the operations of the President's Committee on Equal Employment Opportunity. Past major positions include chairman of the New York City Board of Education, commissioner of the New York City War Board and director of the New York City Division of Labor Relations. The New York law firm of Kheel, Kheel, Mintz and Kheel, is a possible candidate rate his personal qualifications high in terms of presenting a good public image. He is a partner in the New York law firm of Rockefeller, Kheel, Mintz and Kheel. He is labor counsel to many of our "blue chip" industrial firms, serves as a co-coordinator, along with Deputy Mayor Edward Cavanagh, of Mayor Wagner's last mayoralty campaign.

Wagner's Responsibility

However, at this writing no candidate "has it made." The result: pressures will mount on New York state Democratic chairman Pauline Kheel to make a decision as to which Democrat she will support. If Kheel decides to support Rockefeller, she will face a problem in the Democratic primary to the Democrats in the state, and he is Catholic. Some are predicting that, when all others have failed to get the call, Rockefeller will be the last man standing. Some say that Wagner feels that, if he de- clares for Rockefeller, he will be marked as a "loser" on any ticket outside of New York City. He still re- mains a strong candidate, however.

Some say that Wagner feels that he should not be able to really cut down the Rockefeller vote and defeat him. He would have to be marked as a "loser" on any ticket outside of New York City. Federal Pay Pact Question Due For Legislative Action

The Federal pay raise question, which will affect 1.6 million classified and postal employees, has been an important topic in Washington for the past few months. This may cease to be a question very soon for the House Post Office and Civil Service Committee recently approved Louisiana Rep. James H. Morrison's plan. Although the House Committee has adopted the Morrison plan, there is no indication that President Kennedy will veto the bill. President Kennedy's budget director, David B. Smith, has made it clear that any acceptable bill had to carry the fundamental feature of Kennedy's reform plan.

The Morrison bill contains most of the features of the Kennedy plan, but it fails to provide for the payment of Federal salaries that are comparable with private rates and changes existing provisions for Federal employees under one union roof. This provides one by which President Kennedy has insisted be included in the acceptable pay bill.

 Manhattan-Bronx Postal Union Is Represented

Twenty-two delegates of the Manhattan-Bronx Postal Union were in attendance last Sunday, to Long Beach, Calif., to participate in the week-long national convention of the American Postal Union.

The Manhattan-Bronx Postal Union delegation, headed by President, Moe Biller, has been named several of its members who are employees in the New York Post Office to initiate action leading to economic and social improvements for postal workers. Merger of all postal unions into one mass, industrial-type union of all postal workers will be a major consideration of the convention. The National Postal Union is today the only postal worker group in the field engaged in organizing every classification of such employees under one union roof.

Among the problems on which the delegation will act are the elimination of the Post Office Department's Work Measurement system, abolition of the, 28 hour week, and Social Security benefits for Federal and Postal workers.

Police of $4,782 to $6,102 and they are now $5,600 to $6,9811.

Apparent in these facts of secrecy and evasion has been the disgracefully inhuman intent of this Board and City officials to starve, frustrate and pressure policemen out of the job.

Fundamentally, it is a serious indictment of the labor and civic leadership that supports this committee, and represents an abuse of their powers derived from civil service labor and the public.

Appellate Division Rules Against City in Dismissal Suit

(From Leader Correspondent)

ALBANY, Aug. 13—A Kingston attorney, who worked for New York City for nearly six years handling special claims cases, has won a victory in the Appellate Division. Third Department, in his suit position his removal from office.

In an opinion written by Presiding Justice Francis Bergan, the court held that Vernon Murphy, the ex-city employee, has raised sufficient points of law to be accorded a trial in his fight to be seated his dismissal as a principal attorney in the Kingston office of New York City's corporation counsel.

The Supreme Court first had ruled against Murphy's claim that he could not be removed without a hearing and charges. City Attorney Counsel Leo A. Larkin has contended that despite Murphy's veteran status, he held a deputy-level position and was a "provisional" or "temporary" employee and could therefore be dismissed.

Justice Bergan wrote: "The title may not necessarily be controlling; but the delegation of authority and responsibility may well be determinative of the issue." He added:

"That petitioner was suspended from duties and responsibilities for a time before his removal and hence had then no authority to act is treated by him as a fact indicating he could not be a deputy during this suspension of duties.

No Reversal

"But this, we believe, has no relevancy on the question whether he was a deputy. There are other factual issues raised by the answer, including the allegation by petitioner that he is a veteran, whom in any event require resolution by trial."

Murphy was appointed assistant counsel in charge of the Kingston office of the New York City Law Department on July 27, 1955 at annual salary of $12,000. His position was reclassified to that of principal attorney the following year. He was removed from his job on April 12, 1961 without the preformance of charges and without a hearing.

Provisions of the Civil Service Law require that a person holding "employment or position in the classified service..."

petitioner was appointed in 1935 became permanent "employment in the classified service..."

All of the above require a degree in engineering or a engineering license, plus one year of experience for the $8,450-a-year job, two years for the $7,065 and three years for the $6,245.

Also needed are bookkeeping machine operators, at $3,100 (three to six months experience required); electric accounting machine operators, $3,740 (one month to a year of experience); and stenographers, $3,540 (high school graduation and ability to take dictation at 80 words a minute required).

Applicants for the engineering positions should apply to Mr. J. Pagliaro, Personnel Branch, U.S. Army Engineer District, New York, Spring T-6200, Extension 345.

Policewomen Get Pointer from Text

This book provides helpful information about the history of women policewomen, present developments in the field, and a modern training program. It also outlines the type of people a policewoman will come in contact with and how to handle the many different problems involved.

Two apparent problems of the service policewoman, lack of understanding of police work with social implications and failure to recognize or accept responsibility in acquiring professional understanding and skill, are developed.

Doctor Higgins devotes particular attention to techniques used in dealing with children and adolescents.

If you are interested in becoming a policewoman or if you are merely interested in police work, this book is both useful and informing.
