Preliminary Plans Set For Annual Meeting

Central Conf. Meeting And County Workshop Set for Utica, Sept. 14

(Special To The Leader)

The 18th annual Fall meeting of the Central Conference and Central Counties Workshop Conference of the Civil Service Employees Association will be held at the Hotel Utica at Utica, as the announcement last week.

Registration for the two-day session will begin at 7 p.m. on September 14 and 15 at the Utica Radisson Hotel, Utica.

The study was authorized by Harold Lerner, the director of the Department of Education in Albany, for his study, "Deafness.

The registration of delegates will begin at 4 p.m. on Tuesday in the lobby of the hotel. The formal opening of the convention will begin at 9 p.m. in the Ballroom on the lobby floor.

On Thursday, CSEA President Joseph J. Pfeil will preside over the conclusion of the business meeting of the delegates. On this day, the final session of the convention, a dinner-dance will be held in the lounge on the lobby floor.

"Delegates are reminded that all sessions will start promptly at the times specified in this agenda," Pfeil advises.

The request was made by William B. Blom, CSEA's Director of Research, at a hearing before J.R. Earl Kelly, director of the State Division of Classification and Compensation.

Bloom enumerated the duties and responsibilities of the State's hearing reporters and asked the Association to state that they have not been given adequate salary recompense by the State.

He said "the case for reallocation of this position can adequately be shown in the merits of the position itself, but compensation with the State's competitors in the labor market for the same position in each instance offer ample testimony that many civil sub-divisions within the State as well as the Federal Government offer a higher and more remuneration for the position of hearing reporter."

following goals during his next four years, if re-elected in office.

1. The creation of more than 500,000 new jobs in the state.

2. A sweeping series of programs to further legislatively strengthen consumer protection.

3. Exploration of new areas in civil rights.

4. Expanded program of highway construction and repair.

On this latter pledge, Rockefeller can be expected to make good use of existing expenditures contemplated. It is reported that when Rockefeller visits an individual county he will be able to tell local residents the precise amount of money that will be spent in that specific county and during what time period.

5. No new taxes will be imposed.

In addition, a personal platform will be added to as the campaign waxes toward November.

Official Stands

The official Republican platform is expected to state that the GOP has brought fiscal integrity to the state through pay-as-you-go policies.

A better business climate will result from the removal of the reformist public leaders, which will claim that some 450,000 new jobs have been created under a GOP administration during the past four years and some $7,000,000,000 has been spent in New York City.

It is predicted that the GOP will make great use of the fact that the state aid to schools has increased from $500,000,000 in 1958-59 to $530,000,000 in 1962-63, a hike of over 6%.

The civil service vote will be won with the reminder that the Democratic platform has been brought closer to private employment pay rates during the Rockefeller Administration, which is expected to receive special lambasting as unrealistic: "This generation of politicians is so out of touch that it believes the conveniences our descendants will use for many generations. No business could make an employee pay $3.00 for a dollar worth of work in this way," they say. Their substitute slogan: "Pay-as-you-grow."

Governor Rockefeller will be attacked as not understanding the bread and butter needs of the people, or more precisely, the need for fresh milk. It will be brought out that the state is receiving $70 million in tax revenues, but true old, the governor will be accused of wasting all the state's resources by the people of the city who want their milk. Rockefeller will have no ambitions for the state income taxes to be lowered.

Both sides will add to their platform as the campaign develops. The general approach is expected to be on the lines mentioned above. What philosophy has the most appeal to the public? This is the question for the vote.

In the New York City Comptroller's Office, the City's Department of Public Employment will be placed on human relations and public relations. The Board of Education will be placed under the Act of March 1, 1870, thereby giving the Board of Education the power to make hay of the fact that a prominent Democrat, Arthur C. Levitt, was a Democrat. Rockefeller will be accused of bringing money to his administration, with the definition that subventions and assistance. Levitt at that time declared that revenue would exceed expenditures by some $90,000,000. The argument was that the tax bite was somewhat eased when the state debt was retired in 1968, but the rebate did not come this year and the Dem- crackers have the rights to show local communities that an increase in taxes did not mean an increase in local benefits.

Federal Taxes

Democrats are also going to "make hay" of the fact that the GOP has brought more Federal aid the State of New York. The New York Comptroller in his 1960, but the rebate did not come this year and the Dem-ocrats will plug away on the theme of excessive taxation.

Democrats say their polls indicate a bitter resentment of the Republican Administration, and that the return of the Republicans in 1960 will bring a better understanding of what's going on in the outside world. What's going on in the state of New York is the subject of a competitive exam for the Board of Education, which, if the Examiners' time is carried on, will have taken 20 months from the writing to the implementation of the law. A COMPETITIVE exam for identical professionals by the Democratic Party, knocking off in face of a critical shortage of teachers who can't get jobs, is expected to be a great public service to the teachers of New York. It will be brought out within the framework of a knowledge of what's going on in the outside world.

GOOD PUBLICO relations can be achieved only if all the following: a) the performance of bacteriological, pathological and chemical procedures and assistance at numerous laboratories of the city, and b) the government, particularly in the offices of the Monroe County Medical Examiners, which, if the Examiners' time is carried on, will have taken 20 months from the writing to the implementation of the law. Mental Hygiene Memo

By William Rossiter

CSEA Mental Hygiene Representative

(The views expressed in this column are those of the writer and do not necessarily constitute the views of this newspaper or any organization).

WHETHER it is in the hospital, home, office, industry or wherever, hate can be handled. Scientists say that it is akin to love. But if it may, it can be a destroyer, overtly or covertly, and the history books show what it has done in times of world conflict.

INDUSTRY, in general, admits that hate exists. Hate infects all levels of employees, from the clerks fresh out of school to the presidents of the corporation. But it does.

ON THE non-management levels, hate tends to be more open and obvious. Among executives, hate goes underground and works in concealed channels.

MOST COMPANIES don’t like to admit that hate can flourish among executives. But it does.

MOST COMPANIES tolerate a surprising amount of dissent in the ranks. When employers are pushed into action, it’s usually rash and heedless. Events come to a head in a flurry of charges and countercharges, climaxing with tension in the ranks.

In times of world conflict, MOST COMPANIES admit that hate is an infectious disease that infects all levels of employees, from file clerks fresh out of school to the presidents of the corporation. Hate has had some success in dealing with and controlling hate. These guides are:

1. Recognize that hate exists.
2. Talk with employees individually and as soon as you hear about antigens. Tell them about the trouble.
3. Be patient. Let them talk the problem out fully. Many times a sympathetic ear is all an employee needs.
4. If hate persists, talk to the people involved together. Tell them their work is falling off and that the trouble must stop or you’ll have to take action to protect other employees and the company. Don’t try to make them friends. Be as good as your word. Transfer personnel or let them go.
5. Make decisions on promotions and policies once you have all the facts.

EXPERIENCE has proven that when dissent exists, it detracts from good mental hygiene and that when hate exists, work production suffers. Mental hygiene workers are patient, careful and effective, and had some success in dealing with and controlling hate. These guidelines are:

What Is The Answer?

THE Letters To The Editor column, two weeks ago, contained a letter from a girl working for New York State as a summer replacement. She inquired why it takes so long for her salary check to be sent to her. Today, another reader has answered her letter. The remedy he has suggested is perhaps a bit too severe, however.

We would, therefore, suggest that an employee or a group of employees working close to the situation in the department responsible, take advantage of the State Suggestion Program and try to come up with a solution to the problem. To coin an old adage, "A man is worthy of his hire;" and this includes immediate payment of that which is due him.

The employee who finds the solution would benefit not only his fellow worker—sometimes a man with a family to support—but also himself, for the financial rewards of the State Suggestion Program are generous.

N.Y. City Employees—Do You Want A Choice?

New York State employees are now given a choice of health insurance plans. Federal employees have this choice. Hourly paid employees of the Transit Authority are also given this option, although this was only given after many efforts by employees and employees' representatives.

New York City, although the forerunner in the granting of a part-paid health insurance plan, has now been studying the choice of plans for several years. However, the City is continuing to study the plan while City employees wait and hope, and other civil service employees enjoy its benefits.

All New York City civil service employees are invited to take advantage of the coupon which is reprinted below. Fill out the coupon, mail it to The Editor, 97 Duane St., New York 7, N.Y., and we will deliver the completed forms to the Mayor and the Board of Estimate.

Mayor Robert F. Wagner,
City Hall, New York City

Dear Mr. Mayor:
As a city employee interested in receiving a choice of health insurance plans, I strongly urge your cooperation in seeing that the necessary legislation is recalled before the Board of Estimate immediately and further urge that you use your office to see that such legislation is passed before Election Day.

Social Security Questions

"I will be 62 years of age in October 1962, and I have many credits that I will need to get social security benefits when I retire in January 1963. A man becoming 65 this year will require 3½ years of work or 14 quarters of coverage. A woman attaining 62 this year requires 2½ years or 9½ quarters of coverage.

"My son is only 14, but wants to know what he can do to get one even though he is under 16 years of age?"

Yes. People can get social security cards at any age. However, you don't have to get a card until you start to work.

Advises Employees On Death Gamble

Editor, The Leader:

I wonder if the City Employees realize how important the passing of a "death gamble" bill is to their beneficiaries? The Teachers' Retirement and the New York State Employees' Retirement Systems are both in the legislative process and the one which collects winning awards under the "death gamble" provision, the employee of retirement age who dies in City service would be considered as having received under death taxes the entire retirement reserve. This would amount to practically double the death benefit under the present law.

All City employees, not only those over 55, should have their employee organizations sponsor such a bill, and even more important urge the Mayor to recommend its adoption. After the investigation of the City's retirement reserve, the State legislature has been required to make sure that the benefits are provided for all City employees who enter City service and continue in the performance of his duties and that it was not the result of willful negligence on his part.

If the member had a wife who survived him, then upon a successful case she would be considered as having received benefits. All City employees, whether the death was the natural and proximate result of an accident or not, should urge the performance of death benefits.

The employee who finds the solution would benefit not only his fellow worker—sometimes a man with a family to support—but also himself, for the financial rewards of the State Suggestion Program are generous.

Do You Want A Choice?

A Police Pension Case

Pauline Rosanno, formerly known as Pauline Clifford, was the widow and administratrix of John R. Clifford, who had been a New York City police detective. She had filed an application for an accidental death pension with the Police Pension Fund. Let us take a look at the principal section of the Administrative Code of the City of New York which governs applications in such cases.

The MEDICAL facts of an injury are determined by the Medical Board (Sec. B-18-20). That Board consists of three physicians, one appointed by the Board of Trustees, one by the Commissioner of Police, and the third is the Chief Medical Examiner of the Municipal Civil Service Commission. As stated, it determines the medical facts of Injuries, and reports on them to the Board of Trustees.

The NEXT important section in this type of case is the handling of the pension request. The employees' Retirement Systems (Sec. B-18-39). That section gives the Board of Trustees the power to determine, upon the accidental death of a member, whether the death was the natural and proximate result of an accident or not. If the members of the Board of Trustees determine that the member was acting in the performance of his duties, and that it was not the result of willful negligence on his part. If the member had a wife who survived him, then upon a successful case she is paid a pension of one-half of his final compensation.

Mrs. Rosanno's application had been considered by both the Medical Board and the Board of Trustees, and they decided that death did not occur as the result of any accident in the line of duty.

Mrs. Rosanno Goes To Court

Mrs. Rosanno then decided to go to Court. She started a proceeding in the Supreme Court, New York County, for an order to direct the Trustees of the Police Pension Fund, to award her a one-half pension, based upon her former husband's alleged line-of-duty accidental death pension rights.

The CASE was heard by Judge Owen D. McGivern. His opinion was short but he effectively stated the law on the subject point by point. The Judge, quoting from an old case, wrote as follows:

"While a penalizing statute expressly confers a discretionary power on the courts over the issues involved, such power, predicated on medical proof, may not be disturbed by the court in the absence of fraud, accident, mistake or bad faith.

The JUDGE then added:

"No such element is here present. The conflict of medical testimony does not permit the court to substitute its judgment for that of the Board of Trustees.

In this type of case in New York City, where the issue involved is based solely on conflict of medical testimony concerning the origin of a physical disorder, it is the function of the department heads and not the courts to resolve it.

The JUDGE said that the widow had failed to establish the case required to the relief requested and now the payment of the respondents was not 'arbitrary, capricious, illegal, ill-considered or based upon unsound or unreasonable factual data or professional opinion.' Accordingly, he denied her petition.

Usually, the findings of the Board of Trustees of the Police Pension Fund are upheld by the courts. Rarely, are such cases won in the courts. The place to win them, if possible, is before the Board.

At Law Dept. Chapter Annual Dinner-Dance

Nearly 200 members and guests of the Albany Law Department Chapter, Civil Service Employees Association, heard Attorney-General Louis J. Lefkowitz, address the characteristic "off-the-cuff" addresses at the annual dinner and outing of the Chapter, held recently at the Crooked Lake Hotel, Averill Park.

Lefkowitz was introduced at the conclusion of the dinner by Max Benolken, president of the Chapter. The Attorney-General's talk, although brief, covered a wide range of topics, not excluding the hotly contested National League pennant race. And he did not fail to mention one of his favorite subjects, the indispensable contribution of the career civil service employees, and the Law Department, to the welfare and progress of the State.

In his remarks, Mr. Lefkowitz emphasized both his professional and his personal concern for the members of the public whose property has been appropriated under the land acquisition program of the State. In this connection he commended the Real Estate Property Bureau of the Department, which was represented by numerous civil service employees, and by Assistant Attorney-General Edward R. Amend and his associate, Assistant Attorney-General Walter J. Hosman, for their various efforts in ameliorating payment to such landowners.

The affair itself, which was arranged by Benolken and by Samuel Latins, chairman of the social committee, with the assistance of various other members of the Department, covered a full afternoon and evening from 2 to 11:30 p.m. A large quantity of food and beverages were consumed.

Dinner was served at 7:30 p.m. following a cocktail hour, and afterwards the guests danced to the music of the Captain John Powers, director of field representatives of the CSA and Gary Parkinson, public relations director of the Association, were guests at the affair.

State Saved Millions
By Tax Dept. Workers

Nailing the tax-dodgers were employees of the department's special investigations bureau.

Reclassification Urged
For Hearing Reporters

(Continued from Page 1) the classification board has an extremely high turnover rate among the state's hearing reporters. Many of them are under-trained, inexperienced and prone to errors in their work. It is the contention of the classification board that the costs incurred as a result of an exceedingly high turnover rate can be reduced by holding to a minimum by maintaining trained personnel in hearing reporter positions through reallocation of the titles to Grade 18.

New York State residence requirement is one of the questions that the Civil Service Department is aware of the problems and difficulties encountered in maintaining and maintaining trained hearing reporters.

"The Division of Classification and Compensation should take immediate and decisive measures to provide a long overdue remedy to this problem and face up to the fact that the Civil Service Department is in a position to reallocate these positions to a higher grade," he concluded.

Eligibles on State and County Lists

State and county lists are now available to officials of the various cities and towns, and officers, state legislators, county executives and other appointed officials of the state and county. The lists are maintained by the State and County Examiners who are employed by the State and County Examiners.

JUDGE YOUNG
Young credits the "great teamwork" of the nine other judges and of the career, civil service employees of the court, who handled the multitude of state-appropriation cases and accident cases that increasingly are submitted to the court.

In lead claims, both the State Public Works Department and the Attorney General's office are involved, and Judge Young reports that all state agencies involved are cooperating in an entirely "new approach" to a problem that had state officials both worked and puzzled.

Commissioner of the division with Judge Young as a member, has been studying the problem. The Commissioner is William J. Rotan, secretary to Governor Rockefeller.

Judge Young has won esteem among civil service employees of the court for his judicial and fair approach to the problems of state law, regardless of race, creed or color.

Despite pressures recently, Judge Young has been able to attend on one case a list, starting to friends: "This is a civil service case, Senator L. B. D. first and I intend to appoint him.
