BUFFALO, Nov. 26—A "clear presentation of the facts" by the Welfare Unit of Erie County chapter, CSEA, is credited with persuading the Board of Supervisors to add $1,218,590 to the Welfare Department's 1963 budget.

One supervisor referred to the "clear presentation" contained in a letter from Joseph A. Cugini, president of the Welfare Unit. According to Cugini's letter, the Board added $200,000 for 44 new personnel jobs and another $950,000 for welfare programs.

Mrs. Francis Casey, Expresses Thinks

Mrs. Francis M. Casey, widow of the former field supervisor of the Civil Service Employees Association, has asked The Leader to express her appreciation for the double-standard in dealing to her on the recent death of her sister.

Mrs. Casey.

Faced with the loss of an employee, an employer must be concerned with the morale of remaining employees as well as with the replacement of a particular worker. The present situation is a stark reminder of the need for fair treatment.

The new budget, which is expected to be effective as of the date of the 1963 budget implementation, Jan. 1.

As a result, Wagner, who runs both New York City and the State, is giving up, power, importance—and probably even control of Tamblyn's Government. It is a full time job running the City and a job running the State, and when you add the two together, you are handed over not only political power but power to men he not only trusts in terms of recommendations and policy but to whom he also gives complete power to say "yes" or "no" on important appointments (except, of course, on the very top level, such as cabinet or ambassadorial appointments). Acting in this capacity for the White House, for President Kennedy, is his line staff chief Dan K. Healy who, in an altogether different degree, also works for Tamblyn's Democratic Committee Chairman Joe Ahearn, who have real authority.

On the State level, Governor Rockefeller attends to affairs of state and leaves the politics to the line staff chief. Now, of course, with his secretary, William J. Donovan, and his appointments office, the Governor can do precisely what he wants politically, with particular authority on the political level and Rockefeller, like the President, now acts as if he were not only at the top level, but also on top of everything else, with top politicians and top politicians being merged.

Wagner and DeSalvo

Now, with Mayor Wagner. The roots of his present attitude and actions go back to his split with former Tammany leader Carmine DeSalvo. The alliance with DeSalvo was an uneasy one for Wagner, who based it on sheer political-type appointments with the full approval of the Governor's Island staff, which operated with particular authority on this level and Rockefeller, like the President, now acts as if he were not only at the top level, but also on top of everything else, with top politicians and top politicians being merged.

Back Pay Bill Forced To Take a Rear Seat
In 87th Congress

Among the bills which failed to be enacted into law before the adjournment of the 87th Congress was the one to guarantee back pay and other benefits to Federal employees who were redundant in their jobs after having been unjustly fired, demoted, or suspended.

Even though this bill had full Senate consideration it was held in the House without any opposition, it will have to be reintroduced in the next Congress.

The bill failed to gain passage primarily because the Senate Civil Service Committee, in its preoccupation with the Government pay raise and postal rate legislation, was unable to give serious time to the schedule action on the measure.

Postal Employees
Sponsor Thanksgiving Dinner for Orphans

The New York Post Office Employees' Recreation and Welfare Fund sponsored a Thanksgiving Day Party which was attended by over 200 children from different orphanages in Manhattan and the Bronx.

The children were given the opportunity to view the Christmas parade from the windows of the Crystal Room in the Sheraton Atlantic Hotel where Santa and his helpers were stationed. Entertainment was provided and gifts were distributed, plus a postal employee dressed as Santa Claus.

Labor Bureau Study
May Result In Even Higher Pay Increase

A recent study of Bureau of Labor Statistics' pay rate study has shown an increase in pay rates for those already working.

Since January 1, 1964, the pay rates for those already working have increased by an average of 12%. This increase is expected to continue in the coming months.

New Procedure On
Overtime Pay For Blue Collar Workers

The 500,000 or more "blue collar" Government workers can look forward to a change in the overtime payment policy as a result of a new law (Public Law 87-581). The change permitted overtime pay for any work in excess of the regular eight hours a day while the old rule provided overtime payment only after employees had completed the regular forty hour week.

Although the new law will apply in connection with the Manpower Development and Training Act of 1962, it is currently being studied in the field of manpower requirements, development, and utilization.

Among the problems being studied are:

- In what occupations are there existing or foreseeable shortages of workers for which people should be trained?
- What are the benefits and problems resulting from automation and other technological changes, and how do such changes affect the jobs of workers?
- What practices of employers and unions make it difficult for workers to move from job to job, and what policies facilitate such movement?
- What special problems confront young people in getting work experience and training?
- Plans have been made by the Department to publish these research studies as soon as they are completed.

Questions Answered On Social Security

"Under the new law, how much credit is needed for a person who was 65 in 1961, to be eligible for a retirement benefit?" One must have 20 years of work credit.

For a man who was 65 in 1961, ten credits (about 20 years of work) are needed to become eligible for retirement benefits. A woman who was 65 in 1961 will need 12 years of credit (about 24 years of work). The question is whether or not a man would receive a benefit if his wife were under 62 with minor children, to draw social security after his death.

The Health Department contributes $13,094 to Charities

- Lester J. Rosner, assistant commissioner of the Department of Health, announced that the Health Department's employees had contributed $13,094 to the 1952 benefit drives. The drive contributed to the research and special services, public health workers, cancer and mental health fields.

Civil Service Law & You

By HAROLD L. HERZSTEIN

Mr. Herzstein is a member of the New York bar.

Redesignation of Beneficiary

LAST WEEK I wrote on the decision by Judge Tesler in the Matter of Mudzinski (Board of Estimate), Supreme Court, Queens County, Special Term, Part I, New York Law Journal, 11-8-52, p. 17, col. 6. He held that under the phraseology of the New York City Administrative Code if a redesignation of a beneficiary is filed the day after a member's death, it does not count and the proceeds are paid to the beneficiary named in the policy.

IT SEEMED to me that Judge Tesler did not like such a harsh result, but rather followed the law as provided in the Administrative Code. He dismissed the petitioned petition "without prejudice to any rights the petitioner may possess" and even suggested some to her.

OF COURSE, such a decision must follow the law. In that case, the law that any designation of beneficiary had to be filed "during the lifetime of the member." (Section B3-32.0 of the Administrative Code.)

STATE LAW

THE PROVISION in the State law is not restricted to filings during a member's life. It reads, as follows: (Section 60, Subdivision of Ritelement and Social Security Law, as amended by Laws 1960, Chapter 669.)

The ordinary death benefit and the reserve for increased-take-home-pay shall be paid to the member's estate or to such person as he shall have nominated to receive such benefit, and if such nomination be effective, such a nomination must be in the form of a written designation, duly acknowledged and filed with the Comptroller for this specific purpose.

THAT DOES not seem to limit the effectiveness to filings prior to death. The Attorney General so construed the State law in his Report of 1934, Chapter 161, and his opinion differs from Judge Tesler's Interpretation of the New York City Administrative Code. The Attorney General also noted that a change of beneficiary became effective as to private insurance even if received by the company after the death of the insured. As to State retirement policies, he wrote, as follows:

However, as the precise question has not been passed upon by any court of this State, my advice is that payment of the benefits should not be made to either designated beneficiary without the consent of the other by direction of the court.

The dispute, if any, is between the two claimants and, for protection of the system, this dispute should be determined by the court before payment is made to either.

The NEW YORK City Law and The State Law are drafted differently. New York City retains a strict filing provision, which was rejected by the insurance fraternity many years ago. The State Law, which requires execution of a designation before death, but permits filing after death—Just as the insurance laws do—provides for better protection for the employees.

Requiem For A Fireman

JAMES RUANE, 32, the father of two children, was killed while fighting a fire in Harlem last week. He was the seventh fireman in a month to lose his life while doing work in the cancer and tuberculosis fields.

If her husband is receiving a benefit or is deceased?

"Yes, by her husband," said "mother's beneficiary," and is payable until the youngest child becomes age 18, and the reserve for ordinary death benefit until the mother reaches age 65. If the husband dies, the wife becomes beneficiary, and if she dies, her husband becomes beneficiary. If neither dies, the mother receives the benefit.

"Last year you withheld some of my payments because I earned $1800. How did you figure how much to withhold?"

We withheld from your benefit $1 for each $1 you earned because $1200 and $1000. Doing 50 per cent on the $2000 that was withheld over $1800."

In this office, paragraph 2, page 9, of the New York City Fire Department training course.
"Death Gamble" Discussed By Kenneth Stahl During Personnel Council Meeting

ALBANY, Nov. 26—Elimination of the so-called "death gamble" from the New York State Employees Retirement Plan was discussed this week by Kenneth Stahl, Director of State Retirement Administrative Service at a meeting of the New York State Personnel Council.

Stahl outlined sixteen other changes made in the Retirement Law this year and said he looked forward to an extension of section 77 of the Law—the new provision covering survivor benefits—for another year. He said that any "death gamble risk" had now virtually been eliminated from the plan.

Stahl's appearance today marked the first time an officer of the Retirement System had participated in a session of the State Personnel Council. The Council operates under the aegis of the State Civil Service Commission and is made up of the personnel officers of the various State departments and agencies. Its functions are to advise and assist in the development of personnel policy and conduct studies in matters of personnel management. David S. Price Price, Personnel Director of the State University of New York, is chairman of the Council.

Stahl said he was "most appreciative of the opportunity to discuss retirement matters with the Council and looked forward to continued cooperation in the future between his office and the Council in this vital area of personnel administration."

• Sponsored a Keep-the-Subways-Clean campaign.

• Evolved the courtesy campaigns among the cash customers themselves with more than moderate success.

• Adopted Industry's effective PR tool of open house for the huge maintenance shops of the TA.

• Used all the techniques of special events such as harbor salutes for new subway cars to call attention to the agency's progress.

• Stepped up the use of radio and television.

These are but a few of the items on the list of PR achievements.

In addition, the public relations program continued the routine resuance of news but did it with more service to the press and with more impact.

THE "MIRACLE" was also achieved through the foresight of the late Transit chairman Charles Patterson who first stressed good public relations.

THE PRESENT general manager of the Authority, James B. Edmunds, is also to be cited for his out hia cooperation and assistance, operation and the two present commissioners, Edmunds and John Gllhooley and Daniel T. Scannell shows a continuance of the policy which will make the TA one of New York City's showcases of good public relations.

The Maytag Washer you see is his gift to Mrs. Bell simply because she wanted "the most mod-

She expects both marriage and

Public Hearing Set To Abolish Chenango C.S. Commission:
Duties Would Be Transferred

NORWICH, Nov. 26 — A public hearing is scheduled for Friday, Nov. 30, on a move by the Board of Supervisors to abolish the Chenango County Civil Service Commission. The hearing was scheduled after the board, in an unexpected 19-to-3 vote, decided to abolish the commission and replace it with a personnel director.

Supervisor Donald Stanton of North Norwich, sponsor of the move, said the action will save the county money.

Budget of the commission now is $4,176. Mr. Stanton suggested that the money be better spent under a personnel director who would be $4,390.

One official observed that one of the commission members, Neal Baldwin, and the commission's executive secretary, Frank B. Anroll, are Democrats. The Board of Supervisors is predominantly Republican.

Most observers say, however, that the action was prompted by a situation in the county Motor Vehicle Department.

Several employees in that department have been placed on part-time pay scales because they have not passed the examinations for the jobs.

At a previous board meeting, it was reported that the examinations were prepared in Albany and are too difficult for the work required in the Chenango County department.

Some members of the board said that the examinations should have been designed more for the work required of the Chenango County personnel and should have been prepared locally.

Others said the examinations prepared in Albany are aimed for more complex departments.

State C.S. Commission
Sets Hearing on Deputy
Police Chief Exemption
(The From Leader Correspondent)
SYRACUSE, Nov. 26 — The State Civil Service Commission this week is scheduled to hold a hearing on the proposal to make Syracuse deputy police chief exempt from Civil Service examinations.

The plan, requested by Syracuse Mayor William F. Walsh, has been approved by the Onondaga County Civil Service Commission in the unit's first split decision in its history.

The state commission hearing was asked by the Police Benevolent Association after the local commission ruling.

The proposal would increase the number of deputy police chiefs from three to four, all to be appointed by the police chief who is named to the job by the mayor. The three deputys now are selected through Civil Service examinations.

In dissenting from the other two Civil Service commissions in the ruling, William M. Coyne declared putting the deputies in the exam class "would take the permanence out of the structure of Civil Service."

C.S. Frost Named
To Watertown Post
WATERTOWN, Nov. 26 — Carlton H. Frost, Black River, has been appointed a senior employee in the Watertown city engineering department to fill a vacancy of two-years' standing.

Frost was graduated from the University of New Hampshire in 1952 and for the past three years was engaged in banker work in Florida. He served as an ensign during World War II with the U.S. navy service. Under recently adopted civil service regulations, Frost will be reappointed to his post by the city before the end of his probationary period.

BINGHAMTON, Nov. 26 — Clifford J. Bingham, an employee of the Binghamton State Hospital, retired October 1, after forty-five years and eight months of service.

Three presentations were made: a certificate of recognition from the Department of Mental Hygiene by Carl R. Gillis, a member of the Board of Visitors, a gift from the Binghamton chapter, CSEA, by Robert A. Sullivan, president, and a gift from his co-workers and friends at the Binghamton State Hospital, presented by Maurice Sokolinsky, Albert Dextermill served as toastmaster. A short program of entertainment followed featuring a modern tap by Ruth Sokolinsky and several songs by Raya and Ella of the City's Newest Benefit.

After the dinner, Bingham related that when he first came to the hospital in February 21, 1917, his work started at 4:45 a.m. and continued until 5 a.m. After that he worked half a day each week and every third Sunday. On Wednesday and Friday nights "entertainment duty" was required of all employees stretching the work day from twelve to fifteen hours. Starting salary was $24.80 a month and room and board.

county leader to the full and roll up a good deal of political good will and success as a result of it. Albano is given a free hand locally, has access to the proper amount of Rockefeller state patronage and, because GOP-appointed Robert Christenberry is still postmaster of New York City, can even dispense Federal patronage via the Post Office. Wagner is not only unwittingly lending to Albano's credit, but also is compounding the patronage matter by stalling continually on any appointments at all.

Strength Still at Tammany

Costikyan's frustration at this is furthered by the fact, it is said, that he feels Wagner now has the kind of job the Mayor wants—"a pretty good argument for joining the force." It is said, with little wooly-eyed idealism in his countenance, that Costikyan at the helm would produce worthwhile patronage matters—his was to move or to transfer hie from one office to another so as to keep him in the State Tax Department under Governor Rockefeller.

NEW JUSTICE

ALBANY, Nov. 26 — Arthur A. Hirsch of Brooklyn has been appointed a justice of the City Court in New York by Governor Rockefeller. He will fill the vacancy created by the recent appointment of Judge William T. Covlin to the Supreme Court.

Judge Hirsch has been a deputy commissioneer in charge of the State Tax Department. Brooklyn office under Governor Rockefeller.

has produced worthwhile peopie to either run for office or serve by appointment—and he can raise some money.

Among other assets, Costikyan is credited with having the longitudinal personal and professional trust of some important New York City figures as Burrogate Samuel M'Palo, District Attorney Frank Hogan and Manhattan Borough President Edward H. Dudley.

The Questions

What this boils down to is that those who have both the interests of the Mayor and heart as well as the party feel that Costikyan may soon feel frustrated to the point of relinquishing his leadership. Should this occur, they feel that Tammany will lapse back into chaos and this, in turn, could cause the Mayor the loss of his base of support and staying either in Orncle Marion or going on to the halls of the U.S. Senate.

The questions posed, then, are:

1. Does the Mayor intend to restore vitality to the New York County Committee by restoring it to its proper place in New York City politics?

2. Does the Mayor intend to maintain the current calm in Tammany Hall by keeping Costikyan at the helm?

3. Will Costikyan still manage without a sign of greater trust and respect from City Hall?

4. When will the Mayor stop stalling and start moving on appointments?

5. Can the Mayor, in the long run, operate both the City and party politics successfully?

A question to these questions, according to a large number of political observers, may determine not only the future of the Democratic Party in New York but the political future of Wagner as well.

TRUCK SECURITY,
Defence Aides to Keep Jobs Until Dec. 14

ALBANY, Nov. 26 — Five State Civil Defense aides will continue in their jobs at least until Dec. 14th, under a court decision issued today by Court Justice Russell G. Hunt.

The employees went to court in an attempt to protect their jobs after civil service eligibility lists were set up for their jobs and they either were not reachable on the lists or had failed to score passing grades in the examinations.

Justice Hunt granted a stay of dismissal notices, which the agency said had been sent to the employees.

A higher court decision is expected on Dec. 14th, which is expected to be of a test case affecting the agency.

The employees are Vincent T. Kenny, radio supervisor; A. Vincent O'Connor, W. Peter Joyce; both Civil Defense representatives; John Marriott and David O'Brien, both Civil Defense safety representatives. All had received letters in September notifying them that their services would no longer be needed after Oct. 31.

One of the Civil Defense representatives, John Marriott, was the last to be notified. The invasion of his home on October 28th and his killing in Chicago years ago is in the case.

A spokesman for General Francis Farrell, Civil Defense director, confirmed the dismissals and said the five had either failed civil service examinations or for some reason or other had not obtained a high enough mark to be reachable.

An ugly situation has developed.

\section*{Little Opposition Expected To Pay Boost In Oswego}

OSWEGO, Nov. 26 — Little opposition is expected today at the (Continued from Page 1) Monday's (Continued from Page 1) public hearing on the new salary plan that would give Oswego's municipal employees an average increase of $200 a year.

Mayor John O'Connor, already approved by the Common Council, is scheduled to go into effect on Jan. 1. It will affect the salaries of more than 150 employees and city officers.

Prepared by a special Council Committee, the salary plan is the result of many months' work-including a number of executive sessions by the city's legislative body.

Total cost of the salary increases is expected to run more than $81,000, with the final figure to be computed by the budget commission now working on the city's annual budget.

Correction Officers

The selection of personnel for the position of Correction Officer was done by a panel of three persons, including a representative of the Correction Officer's Association, a representative of the union, and a representative of the city's Board of Education.

The panel is to meet on Tuesday, November 27, 1962, to discuss the qualifications of the applicants.
