Budget Puts It In Writing

Job Vacancy Control Won't Hurt Promotions, Work Load

CSEA Gets Assurances After Talks With Hurd, Marshall

ALBANY, June 3 — The State Division of Budget has assured the Civil Service Employees Association that "nothing in the policy of this Administration or in (its) vacancy control programs will interfere with orderly promotions." In addition, the Budget Division, in a message to CSEA President Joseph P. Peil, stated that "there is no intention to require any agency to be staffed on a level which will impose undue workloads or work requirements on employees."

The assurance to the Association came as a result of a meeting between Dr. T. Norman Hurd, Director of the Budget and his deputy, Alton G. Marshall, and Peil and members of the CSEA staff, at which the chief subjects of discussion were the State's job freeze order to all departments and agencies and the effects of a long-range vacancy control program instituted by the administration.

The CSEA representatives had asked for direct assurances that the vacancy program would not interfere with orderly promotions and would not create other hardships on State employees. The job freeze order, instituted May 2, has been lifted from all but a few departments. In order to have the freeze lifted, however, each department was required to submit mandated vacancy programs to Budget for its approval. It was reported that although those departments which had stated approval of their programs may now resume hiring, they must do so on a strict economical basis.

In pledging that the vacancy programs will not interfere with orderly promotions, the Budget message to CSEA, signed by Marshall, noted that "increased emphasis should be placed on the whole person of identifying capable State employees who can assume the responsibility of higher level positions."

In its request, CSEA has pointed out "that in agencies such as the Departments of Correction and..." (Continued on Page 14)

Employee Problems Dominate Metropolitan Conference Meet

Three major employee problems dominated the discussion at the recent meeting of the Metropolitan Conference, Civil Service Employees Association, at the Brooklyn State Hospital.

The reallocation and reclassification of painters in Mental Hygiene Department: the request for the State to adjust the salary law to restore the resulting difference from recalculation of number of days in the fiscal year, and an expression of distress over the new overtime rules. The conference was addressed (Continued on Page 11)

Meal Choice Given Mental Hygiene Aides

ALBANY, June 3 — Employees of the Department of Mental Hygiene who reside at the Department's institutions will have a choice of what meals they want to take at the institution, and will pay for only those meals they take, under a new departmental ruling.

Previously, employees who lived on the institution grounds were required to pay for three meals a day, whether they chose to eat at their institutions' cafes or not. This practice had been criticized by the Civil Service Employees Association as unfair. The Association had requested changes in the regulation so employees could eat meals outside the institution if they cared to without being assessed for the same meal at the institution. Personnel Practices Topic Of 2-Day DE Albany Meeting

ALBANY, June 3 — The special Division of Employment committee of the Civil Service Employees Association held a two-day meeting here recently to discuss a wide scope of personnel practices affecting D E employees. Included on the agenda was a half-day session with representatives of the administrative and personnel staff of the Division of Employment to discuss committee recommendations.

Committee chairman Edward Craft of Rensselaer and alternate chairman Fred Cave of Brooklyn led the CSEA group in discussion with Dr. Elmer Laney, administrative officer of the Division of Employment and Irvin Weitstock, director of employment personnel.

Main Points

Principal items brought up by the CSEA group were:

1. Reallocation appeal for examiners and interviewers. The ad... (Continued on Page 16)

While Republicans across the country are playing the fascinating game of trying to figure out which of their number will lead the party ticket in the presidential race of 1964, local GOP leaders in New York State are giving all their attention to a more immediate problem — grass roots.

It is on the solution of local difficulties that the county level, in some important areas, that GOP leaders find cause for concern and the cessation of local difficulties is one of the major problems facing the new GOP State Committee Chairman, Fred Young.

In one county, Erie, the problem is one of intra-party rift between Sen. Walter J. Mahoney, the powerful Senate Majority Leader, on the one hand and Buffalo Mayor Chester Kowal and Erie County Leader Robert Grimm, the new GOP State Committee Chair-

What is interesting in all this is the position of the Democrats and the local worry-

Your Public Relations IO

Error Corrected

WE SUSPECT that most of the top Internal Revenue Service officials in Washington involved in the plan to move the New York regional office to Boston, were relieved when the idea was abandoned.

UNDoubtedly "higher authority" had a hand in setting up the original idea. The IRS executives were probably handed a "fait accompli" and told to make it work. Unfortunately, that's cart-before-the-horse public relations, and almost always disastrous.

WE AREMst incredirevaise that the in end good public relations, sense prevailed, and that some of the public relations damage is being repaired.

AT LEAST there are some advantages to a mistake or a blunder before too many mistakes are made. The mistake, or prospective mistakes, are good objective lessons as well as good examples of what NOT to do the next time.

A KEY ELEMENT in developing a successful public relations program is research. What are the facts? With the facts as they are, can a public relations problem be solved? Or are actions needed to correct the bad things uncovered by research?

RESEARCH ON the proposed New York-to-Boston move would have revealed all the overwhelming facts against the move, which we reported May 14th.

THE SAME RESEARCH would have disclosed that the “publics” of the Regional Office were overwhelmingly opposed to the move because the greatest number of people would have been inconvenienced.

NOT THE LEAST of these "publics" is the Region’s employee, both men and women, who have made the New York IRS Regional office one of the most efficient in the United States.

THE DAMAGE which could have been done to these loyal, devoted civil servants might have been irreparable. Lifelong careers hampered, family life dislocated, efficiency drastically reduced, were only some of the possible results.

HERE is a good public relations problem only possible because the people in an agency or corporation make it so. Good public relations aren’t made with a magic wand waved by someone in Washington. They’re the result by the people who do well or badly what they’re paid to do.

GOOD PUBLIC relations are certainly impossible for a government agency when some legislator begins pressing for a regional office to move just because he has his own political nest. There’s nothing wrong in the legislator trying, but there’s something drastically wrong when the agency, knowing of the resultant damage to their agency, knuckles under to a trend.

WE HAVE always urged civil service executives and staffs to treat legislators with the greatest courtesy and do everything possible to help them. But when the help does serious harm to the agency, then there is a very nice method in public relations known as “saying no” with extreme courtesy and intelligent explanation.”

OURS IS A political government and politics are impossible for government operations. But, public relations must never be allowed to interfere with good public relations between government and its civil servants.

You don’t have to be a lawyer or an accountant — to use H.I.P.

H.I.P. provides prepaid medical services — not cash payments toward doctor bills.

In the H.I.P. program for civil service employees there is no need to study the policy line by line to see what is and what is not covered... There are no fee schedules and no claim forms... There is no need to worry over insufficient cash allowances... There is no need to "share" additional charges through deductibles and co-insurance... There is no need to accumulate and total up medical bills in order to prove you have exceeded a deductible... There is no need to discuss your family income with the doctor... You don’t have to watch for limitations on number of services and on kinds of services (such as specialist care).

And in H.I.P. you also have the satisfaction of knowing that each medical group physician provides only the services for which he has been specially trained.

HIGH SCHOOL DIPLOMA

If you are over 17, you can receive your HIGH SCHOOL DIPLOMA at home or you can attend full day classes and work toward your G.E.D. You don’t have to worry over insufficient cash allowances... There is no need to "share" additional charges through deductibles and co-insurance... There is no need to accumulate and total up medical bills in order to prove you have exceeded a deductible... There is no need to discuss your family income with the doctor... You don’t have to watch for limitations on number of services and on kinds of services (such as specialist care).
