CSEA Meets With Budget Appeals Started To Help Workers Disenfranchised Under New Overtime Rules

ALBANY, Aug. 12 — The Civil Service Employees Assoc. last week submitted the first of a series of appeals to regain overtime rights for employees disenfranchised by recently promulgated State overtime rules.

CSEA representatives, led by Joseph F. Peily, Association president, met in an intermin 3-hour session with top Division of the Budget officials to discuss seven job titles.

The seven, subjects of a detailed brief also presented at the meeting, are:

- Land and Claims Technician (Grade 8);
- Junior Land and Claims Examiner (Grade 15);
- Administrative and Land Claims Examiner (Grade 16);
- Senior Land and Claims Examiner (Grade 17);
- Forest Ranger (Grade 14), and Narcotics Investigator (Grade 14).

The Budget Division issued a mixed decision on the CSEA request.

Still Opposed to Rules

Employee Association representatives represented at the meeting the seven job titles "relate only to the seven positions in question because of the availability, at this juncture, of specific information pertaining to the titles" and did not in any way prejudice CSEA's right to present further appeals for other titles. The CSEA spokesmen also stated their unaltered opposition "to the titles" and did not in any way prejudice CSEA's right to present further appeals for other titles. The CSEA spokesmen also stated their unaltered opposition "to the titles." The Budget Division's final determination on whether a title should be included is pending.

Hearing Reporters Lose Reallocation Appeal By Budget Director's Veto

ALBANY, Aug. 12 — For the second time in recent months, the Budget Division has blocked the reallocation of job titles which already had the stamp of approval by the Civil Service Commission. The latest veto was a reallocation request on behalf of 300 hearing reporters.

In April of this year, the Civil Service Commission approved the reallocation of hearing reporters from Grade 14 to Grade 16, following a duly approved request by J. Earl King, director of the Division of Classification Compensation. The reallocation was then referred to Budget Director Dr. T. Norman Had, for final determination and the subsequent rejection.

The reallocation bid, which was submitted one year ago by several State departments, had the strong support of the Civil Service Employees Association on behalf of its members in the Division of Employment and the Department of Law.

Last year, the Budget Director threw out a request for the reallocation of titles affecting 6,000 Correction Dept. employees, after the action was approved by the Civil Service Commission. In turning down the hearing reporters' bid, as in the case of the correction officers, the Budget Director did not give reasons for his determination.

CSEA contends that the Budget Director should be required to give reasons in writing when he disapproves a salary appeal which has received prior approval by either the Division of Classification and Compensation or the Civil Service Commission. In this regard, the Association has sought legislation to reinforce its stand.

CSEA spokesman said the situation with respect to the hearing reporters now has evolved to "a point where they find themselves in the same position as the Correction Officers." He said, "We intend to follow up this matter in order to determine the reason why the Division of the Budget denied the reallocation which has been approved by the Civil Service Commission."

They Do A Lot. A Westchester County resident from the wealthier parts of the area, who holds high official posts, serves as a major party functionary and contributes significantly to the Democratic or Republican Party.

Many of them are housewives and mothers at the same time, and have found meaningful and rewarding jobs in private industry. As a starter for your column I would like to tell you about Miss Eliza Regina, who is vice president of the New York State Republican Club, a position which she won through a heated woman-led campaign, as the female party's answer to the 1953 with the Federal and State unions.

Miss Regina, one of the most popular Republican women in the State, is the first woman to serve as a vice president of the State Republican Club. Her determination and her ability to work hard are well known to everyone who knows her.

Mrs. Dorothy Bell Lawrence, of Westchester, is a partner in a research firm and is the first woman to serve as a member of the State Civil Service Commission. She is also a member of the local Republican Club and is involved in several political organizations.

Several women serving as vice presidents of the various Republican Clubs were proposed for our list. They included Mrs. Joseph Smith of Putnam (St. Lawrence); Mrs. Ruth Kornman of Elmira (Chemung); Mrs. Jane Stevenson of Monroe (Monroe); Mrs. Anne Meek of Rock Creek (Orange); Mrs. Ruth Berger of Brooklyn (Brooklyn); Mrs. Mabel Goode Krone (a fellow resident) of Potsdam (St. Lawrence); Mrs. Evelyn Green of Utica (Utica); Mrs. Anne Meek of Rock Creek (Orange); Mrs. Ruth Berger of Brooklyn (Brooklyn);

Recovering From Heart Attack

The many friends of Fred Castiglione, popular field representative of Terminal Employees Local 823, are happy to hear that he is recovering from a heart attack which felled him last week.

While hospitalized only a short time, and now well on the road to recovery, his doctors recommended a complete rest away from his heart problems.

Fred Castiglione's condition is not expected to change until Labor Day. A lifelong resident of Staten Island, Fred resides with his wife Lila, his mother-in-law and son and daughter at 491 McAllan Avenue, Staten Island 5.
CSEA In Final Phase On Sponsorship For Albany Co-Op Apts.

ALBANY, Aug. 12—Joseph F. Pelly, president of the Civil Service Employees Association, last week announced that the Association would seek final approval to sponsor, as a cooperative housing project, the 158-apartment building now under construction at the site of the former Dohler Brewing Company overlooking Lincoln Park in Albany.

The building will be financed under the Limited Profit Housing Company Law of the State and will be for occupancy by middle income families as provided under State law.

Poll Did It

Fully satisfied with the decision to undertake sponsorship of the project, which is being constructed by the City Construction Company, Inc. of New York City, was based mainly on the overwhelmingly favorable results of a poll recently conducted among Association members in the Albany area. The poll tested interest in the purchase or rental in the project and invited them to file an information form.

As a prerequisite for final approval from the State, it is necessary for the Association to furnish evidence that the project will be successfully sold as a cooperative to middle income families eligible under the Limited Profit Housing Company Law. In order to meet this requirement, the Association is now contacting all those who expressed an interest in the project and inviting them to file the information form and to pay a good faith deposit of $200. The deposit will be held in escrow and will be returned upon request or if a formal application is not subsequently filed or approved.

Occupancy of the apartment building will not be limited to members of Association members only and other interested persons are invited to write the Association at Capital Station, Box 125, Albany 1, New York, for detailed information and the preliminary application form.

What It Costs

Based upon schedules being submitted to the State, down payments and carrying charges by type of apartment are now expected to average approximately as follows:

PUBLIC RELATIONS as we know it and use it, is a force for the good. It calls for specialized techniques to achieve laudable objectives—good performance in the public interest, which in effect, is really a story of public relations as employed to achieve objectives on a national as well as an international basis.

Almost everything they talk about is directly or indirectly related to public relations. For example, they say some devastating things about the behavior of some Americans who travel abroad. This is 1% on a personal level, which, cumulatively, adds up to bad public relations for all Americans.

In making this accusation—and, incidentally, a justifiable one from our own knowledge—they are really saying that America can't be such a great country to some foreigners who see Americans abroad behaving like bozos.

"Modern propaganda—both national and international," the authors write, "rose to dimensions of significance with three vital changes in the Western (and now Eastern) world, all of which heightened to meaningful dimensions the power of persuasion for good or for evil."

THE LIST these changes as (1) the invention of the means of mass communication; (2) from the 19th century on, more and more people learned to read and write; (3) people became more and more a vital factor in political and diplomatic maneuvering.

It's possible the book's most effective chapters is the final one, appropriately called, "War of America." The authors are actually describing one of the most important elements in public relations history.

DISCUSSING America's ear, they are stressing the importance of knowing what other people are thinking and saying about our country. In the public relations orbit, this is no different from knowing what our publics are saying about what we are trying to do and what communications we must employ to reach the ears—and minds—of the proper public.

MESSRS. GORDON, Pain and Goddard insist that America does a lot of "telling," but not much listening. As a result, we're not making an impact for the good on our publics in other countries. These people want to be appreciated and respected.

BEING ARRIVING, insist the authors, the "twoway street" rule of public relations. This rule says that "the public be understood," not ignored or damned as some of America's earlier business tycoons erroneously believed.

"The idea Invaders" is a timely book for all readers of this column, because all our readers are people who want to better understand our world so that they can do a better job in the public interest.

Clark Renamed

ALBANY, Aug. 12—Paul T. Clark has been renamed to the Board of Trustees of Cornell Community Schools for a term ending June 30, 1972.

The AR2 is a lower cost version of our basic acoustic suspension design, with a 10-inch woofer and two 5-inch, specially treated cone "tweeters" to cover the treble range. The AR2 consists of an AR2 speaker system to which the AR 13/8-inch super-tweeter (the same one used in the AR-3) has been added to extend the extreme high-frequency response. Mid-range units and super-tweeters are independent and adjustable.

SIZE: 13½" x 24½" x 11½" depth

POWERED AMPLIFIER POWER (RMS): 20 watts minimum per channel

The concept of an acoustic suspension speaker is mounted on very free suspensions, so compliant they are unable to provide the elastic restoring force required in a speaker system.

This missing restoring force is then re-introduced by the cushion of air enclosed in the sealed cabinet. The speaker cone works against the elastic air cushion instead of against its own mechanical suspensions.

An acoustic suspension cabinet must be relatively small in order to provide the necessary air-spring. (The enclosed air in a larger cabinet would not form a cushion springy enough to be effective.) Since this air-spring introduces less distortion than mechanical suspensions do, the small enclosure size is accommodated by increased rather than compromised reproducing quality, especially in the bass.

In 1955, speaker systems designed for highest quality bass reproduction ranged in size from 6 to 16 cubic feet, and their prices ranged from $400 to $600. Today, owing mainly to Acoustic Research and the acoustic suspension design, the giant enclosure has almost passed from the scene, and speaker cabinets are a quarter of what they were a year ago. Of most important of all, it is possible to achieve an undistorted naturalness in musical reproduction that was not previously attainable.

Erie CSEA Wins Raise For Buffalo Sewer Auth. Aides.

(From Leader Correspondent)

BUFFALO, Aug. 12.—A long campaign by Erie County Chapter, CIVIL SERVICE Employees' Assn., ended successfully when the Buffalo Sewer Authority granted pay raises to its employees.

Chapter officers, led by President Alexander T. Burke, urged favorable action on the pay rate plan at several Authority Board meetings. The increases total $88,000 and they raise, in 18 instances, the pay from 8 percent to 12.7 percent.

Good. But Not Enough

"A step in the right direction," said Chapter Member Anthony Naples. He added however that the increases didn't go far enough to completely bridge the gap between Authority salaries and those paid by private industry for comparable work.

"We'll keep fighting," Burke said, "for adequate salaries for all our chapter members."

No City Raises

Most Municipal employees have had no salary increases in the past two years because of financial differences between Mayor Charles W. Koomson, a Republican, and the City Council, on the authority in control of the Democrats.

The Buffalo Sewer Authority is an independent body free from City Hall control.
