A Victor Costa, Capital District Conference president, and Mildred Fuller, chairman of the conference's new Activities Committee, were members of the session, according to Benoit.

Costa outlined the role of the Conference in the scope of CSEA activities and gave his views on what the Capital District Conference should be doing for membership.

Miss Fuller explained the

Again, the meeting last week was held at Leader press time and no details are yet forthcoming. Some report on the progress, or lack of it, in these meetings is expected in the near future, however.

Jefferson County Rejects Own Committee's Pay Plan, Lops 60% Off Wage Proposal

(From Leader Correspondent)

WATERTOWN, Nov. 18—The Jefferson County Board of Supervisors repudiated its own Salaries Committee and approved a compromise pay boost plan, attacked as "weak" by Mrs. F. Evers, Audit & Control, and President of Jefferson chapter, Civil Service Employees Assn.

In an unusual move, the board voted to accept a plan of compromise which maximum raises to lowest paid employees and minimum increase to those already paid.

The compromise voted in was a 7.6 to one percent increase in the largest amount going to lower paid workers.

The salaries committee had approved a five percent increase on a graduating scale based on annual pay with the larger percentage going to lowest paid workers.

Revised Proposal Attached

Mrs. Smith had charged the superintendents with "political expediency." She said the compromise action was "unprecedented on the facts."

The county CSEA chapter had asked approval of the five percent cut in retirement payments which would be tantamount to a raise in pay.

"Our plan was designed to meet a cost of living advance," Mrs. Smith said.

The salaries committee proposal would have cost $84,000 a year. The compromise plan will cost $21,000.

Named To Council

ALBANY, Nov. 18—George B. Costigan of Long Beach, a member of the Nassau County Board of Supervisors, has been appointed by Governor Rockefeller to the Council of the State University at Stony Brook. Costigan Is a Democrat and former president of the Long Beach Board of Education.

Olean Heeds CSEA Plea To Add 4th Police Sergeant

OLEAN, Nov. 18 — A request by Cattaraugus County chapter of the Civil Service Employees Assn. to increase the number of Olean police sergeants from three to four has been granted, the Leader learned last week. Arthur Hale, president of the chapter, appeared at a public hearing in Olean last month to urge creation of the additional post.

Hale argued that the position was desirable not only because it would strengthen the police department but also because it would offer another promotion opportunity for men in the ranks.

"There are very few promotion opportunities at present," Hale pointed out, "and the addition of a fourth sergeant position would be a great morale booster."

Olean recently approved the addition of a fourth sergeant position to the force.

On-Coming Election Year May Influence Chances of Pay Bill

The major drawback of the New York pay bill, which is now in the House Rules Committee, is the fact that rates of pay for employees in the City will be the same everywhere. It is said the bill, is reported.

Most members of Congress are highly in favor of a pay raise but are afraid of trouble with the voters back home. Congressmen remember that next year is an election year.

On the other hand, members of Congress are not anxious to make less money than career Government and postal employees. Substantial increases are scheduled for the higher level civil service jobs in this package.

At any rate, as long as the Democratic leadership in the House and Senate back this bill, an increase, the bill stands a good chance of approval and the backing has been good.

CSC Staff Developing Plans For Increased Job Protection Rights

As many as 46,000 to 50,000 Federal employees are now eligible for job protection in the event of agency functions from one city to another. In many cases, employees are only permitted to transfer the right to transfer to another job in that agency if they will not transfer.

As a result, the Civil Service Commission is developing a system which will provide greater employee job protection rights in regard to agency shifts. There are several proposals under study but no decisions have been made as yet. . .

17 Top-Level Officials Attend Recent Meet Of New York FEB

A relatively new idea is apparently bearing fruit with greater acceptance of the idea if the attendance at the recent Receiving Committee meeting of the New York Federal Employees Board is an indication. Seventeen top level officials were present, under the chairmanship of Thomas V. O'Keefe, to discuss and plan for problems involving New York area personnel.

In attendance, were Joseph C. Clarke, manager, New York Operations Office; Atomic Energy Commission; Arthur Miller, regional administrator; General Services Administration; Captain E. A. Goodenough, Jr., assistant chief of staff for personnel, Third Naval District; P. A. Espert, director, Immigration and Naturalization Service, Department of Justice; Colonel W. D. Baumberg, First U.S. Army; P. O. Ballantine, program management officer, D.A. Ward, regional director, National Labor Relations Board; Warren Wooley, executive secretary, NYFEB, Civil Service Commission; Howard Taylor, vice chairman, NYFEB, regional commission on Federal Employees; Internal Revenue; O. L. Baker, regional director, Federal Aviation Agency; Captain

The Boards have it possible to coordinate Federal activities on the regional level and provide broader, understanding of interrelated activities.

If you are not over age 59 and are enrolled in the CSEA Accident and Sickness Plan, you can now add a Hospital Indemnity Rider to your policy without completing a health questionnaire.

This new low cost benefit is designed to give you greater financial assistance in the event you become hospitalized. It provides a $50 increase in whatever monthly indemnity for total disability (due to either accident or sickness) is payable under your present policy when you are hospitalized in a legally accepted hospital, as defined in the rider. Example: If you were entitled to receive $180 a month under your present policy, the addition of the rider, you would receive $230 a month or a total of $520 a month while hospitalized.

Hospital confinement due to pregnancy, childbirth or miscarriage is not covered under the rider and benefits do not apply to pre-existing conditions. Other than this, the terms and conditions of the policy to which the rider is attached apply.

Note the following schedule of low premium rates for this additional benefit.

Press Support Needs To Go Even Further

W A R E glad to see the daily press in many areas coming to the support of proposals on substantial increases in pay for higher echelons in Federal service. The reasons for this are twofold. First, an increase in both the level salaries and necessary conflict-of-interest laws, the United States Government simply cannot get the best brains and when it does, cannot hang on to them.

What is missing in this journalistic enthusiasm to date, however, is the following: what is going on all along the line. With few exceptions, shortages of skilled and able personnel exist in government agencies on all levels and for the same reasons that apply to the top positions.

Press and public alike must become even more aware that those who provide the services that are necessary to the health and well-being of the country are some of the greatest wastes. We sincerely believe that many of these people would not depart for business and industry if a career in government kept pace with the advantages, in terms of benefits as well as wages, of private employment. Surely, the retention of personnel permanently would allow enough genuine savings to pay the cost of higher wage scales. It would simply be a case of more expenditures in the beginning at a cost of greatly increased savings in the longer run.

We must add increased promotion opportunities to the need for more attractive financial compensation. A true career offers not only monetary reward but advancement in the ranks.

The Veteran's Counselor

The following are recent public laws, of interest to veterans and/or their survivors and dependents, enacted by the 86th Congress.

PUBLIC LAW 88-20

PUBLIC LAW 88-20, authorizes the payment of additional compensation in the amount of $47 per month to a veteran who has a service-incurred disability of deafness of both ears. With absence of this, and before the present law, a veteran who suffered from total deafness would receive an additional $47 a month or a total of $217 monthly.

PUBLIC LAW 88-21

PUBLIC LAW 88-21, increases by 10 percent (with fractions rounded off to next higher dollar) the monthly rates of dependency and indemnity compensation payable for eligible parents and children of veterans dying of service-connected causes.

THE RATE OF dependency and indemnity compensation payable to widows is geared to basic active service pay. As the service pay is increased, the widow’s rates under this program are automatically increased. The basic service pay was last increased on Aug. 1, 1960, and this, plus, payments to widows are not increased under the new Legislation.

HOWEVER, THIS automatic adjustment provision is not applicable to the monthly rate for parents or children, thus necessitating this amendatory Legislation.

Your Public Relations Q

By LEO J. MARGOLIN

Mr. Margolin is Adjunct Professor of Public Relations in the New York University School of Public Administration and is Vice President, New York Public Relations, of the American Institute.

The views expressed in this column are those of the writer and do not necessarily constitute the views of this newspaper.

Co-operation

WHAT POSSIBLE connection could there be between Mr. and Mrs. Jack Benny and the public relations of civil servants?

MORE—LOTS more—than meets a viewer’s eye when watching the gifted, incomparable Mr. Benny on television. MR. AND MRS. Jack Benny together are a good example of why civil servants, particularly those who suffer had public relations unjustifiably. The reason: lack of cooperation by the various "publics"—especially by the example-setting public like Mr. and Mrs. Benny—with law enforcement officers.

WHEN SOMEONE is as highly respected as Mr. Benny refuses to cooperate with police, the total problem becomes more critical. If prominent public personalities, who should be setting the highest standards of conduct for others, falter in their responsibilities as citizens, we’re all in trouble.

THE AVERAGE Mr. Joe Citizen will be quick to follow their example. That’s why product endorsements by public figures featuring their names are so effective.

THE REASONING is simple: if Jack Benny uses that new stainless steel razor blade for shaving, “it’s good enough for me.” And what follows with indifference to cooperation with police makes just as much sense to Mr. Joe Citizen: “If Jack Benny doesn’t, why should I?”

THE FACTS are these: New York City has had a bad rash of hotel jewel burglaries and robberies. Mostly, the victims were famous celebrities. It didn’t take long for astute New York detectives to discover how the victims were “cased.”

THE CRIMINALS were “spotting” their quarries through daily bulletins about celebrities published by several information producers. These bulletins, usually hurriedly mimeographed, specialized in keeping posted on the “comings and “goings” of movie, TV, radio and theatre personalities.

THE BULLETINS are a useful tool for TV and radio producers looking for actors and actresses to do guest appearances; for publicity people looking for celebrities for special “tie-ins”; for newspaper and magazine assignment editors looking for good feature stories.

UNFORTUNATELY, jewelry looking for good bookings also discovered the usefulness of these bulletins.

NOW THE POLICE subscribe to these services, too, and search the bulletins as diligently as an actor’s agent looking for his clients.

FOUR DAYS BEFORE Mrs. Benny was robbed of $200,000 in jewels, the police offered to install a detective and a policewoman in the Benny suite at the Hotel Pierre. The Bennys refused the police offer.

NOW THAT THE thieves have done their work, just as the police intelligently surmised, Mr. Benny wants to know why the police don’t go out and catch the thieves.

WELL, MR. BENNY ought to know that he can’t put on his television show without the cooperation of producers, directors, writers, cameramen, electricians, sponsors, sound engineers, makeup men, musicians, lighting experts, announcers, news man, daily-pular, standy, designer, truckmen, the coaxial cable, and his WOHN.

SO HOW CAN the police catch the jewel thieves if they didn’t have the cooperation of just two people—Mr. and Mrs. Benny?

WE GREATLY admire Mr. Benny for his magnificent talents as a performer. But we cannot be included among those who applaud his public relations sagacity.

NEW YORK 1, N.Y.

This year, the Commission for the Blind, located at 270 Broadway, New York City, is celebrating its 50th anniversary. The commission is a bureau of the New York State Department of Social Welfare. The above photo montage tells the story of the commission's growth over the past half-century. Top left, a field agent for the bureau puts the first blind news vendor to work in 1913. In 1940, the late Governor Alfred E. Smith, top center, was the guest of honor at the annual Christmas sale for the blind. One of the newest vending stands, top right, is operated at the Brooklyn General Post Office. Center left, Charles Maraldo, commission receptionist who is blind, is shown with one of the 9,000 talking book machines which the commission has out on loan to blind persons throughout the state. In the insert photo, commission secretary Phillis Ahlers is shown with the 50 year service emblem of the bureau. The center photo shows William Pickman, rehabilitation counselor who is also blind, checking out an electronic device which will aid blind persons in traveling. With Pickman is Allan Sandler, engineering director of Ultra Electronic Ltd. of London. The right photo shows Rosemary Brigandi, commission secretary, presenting plaque to Frederick Knarr of the Telephone Pioneers of America. Members of the Pioneers spend their off-duty time repairing the talking book machines. Four secretaries check the eye health exhibit during the bureau's 50th anniversary open house celebration in the photo, bottom left.

The girls are wearing long skirts, reminiscent of the styles when the commission first opened its doors to serve New York State's blind persons. The center photo shows blind vending stand operator serving coffee to Rendell H. Fussell, State Social Welfare Department area director in Buffalo at the opening of an ultra-modern snack bar at the Roswell Park Memorial Institute. Looking on are, left to right, representative Wayne Warden, commission member John Patterson of Buffalo and Frank L. Muddie, Roswell Park Memorial Institute administrator. The photo on the bottom right shows Commission for The Blind Director Oscar Friedensohn lecturing to a professional group at the bureau, Eye Health Workshop.

Those with 40 or more years of State service are: Coss; William Farrell; and S.G. Farrell, both of Albany, the latter employed in the Bureau of Criminal Investigation and in the Department of Mental Hygiene's Middletown State Hospital. He was granted $195.

A $400 award was made to William E. Tyson, of Schenectady, supervisor of the Business Machines Unit in the Department of Commerce. He suggested that all photographs for industrial re- search be printed on high-quality transparencies, instead of glossy photostatic prints. Annual savings of more than $700 was realized as a result, with no loss in quality.

Three $50 Awards

There were three $50 awards this year. Betty M. Filo of Troy, principal clerk, of the Department of Public Works, received a certificate for development of a new method of printing computer output, which prevents paper from catching fire and burning in stapler feeders and thereby increasing the amount of data destroyed by one third. Alvin Overton and Marie Marshall, both of Schenectady, received $50, the latter for a suggestion that symbols identifying the data processing machines be used on all contracts and agreements. Savings were reaped on $20,000 in contracts.

A $50 award was granted to acha, a file clerk in the Department of Public Works. His suggestion, which reduces the time required to paint each bed from 131 minutes to 15 minutes, will result in painting many thousands of dollars.
