Despite mostly gray skies and occasional light rain, Civil Service Day at the New York World’s Fair maintained a constant air of excitement and enthusiasm that resulted in a resounding tribute to public employees. And it was public employees, themselves, that were the stars of the show.

Feily Urges Quick Buffalo Pay Action; Erie CSEA Jubilant

ALBANY, June 8—Joseph P. Feily, President of the Civil Service Employees Assn., has urged the Buffalo Common Council to take “immediate action” to adopt a CSEA salary recommendation calling for an average increase of no less than 19% for city employees. Feily’s recommendation came following approval earlier this week by the Erie County Board of Supervisors of a salary tax distribution formula that would make available additional monies to the city.

Buffalo employees, a majority of them members of Erie Chapter, CSEA, were jubilant after the Erie County Board of Supervisors voted to raise the county sales tax.

Additional sales tax revenues will mean $7,200,000 in money for the city, guaranteeing a pay raise for the city’s 6,000 employees. They have had no salary increases for six years.

“ rendered victory,” said Alexander T. Burke, president of Erie Chapter, “at long last city workers will get a decent, livable wage.”

In letters to Chester C. Gorsky, County President, Randall Mahonecki, Majority Leader and Roland Bentov, Minority Leader, Feily called attention to the salary study compiled by CSEA and presented to the council formally at a meeting in April.

Feily said:

“It is most urgent that the recommendations contained in our salary study be adopted by the City of Buffalo; in order to equate salaries paid to City employees with those paid to their counterparts in other public employment and private industry. The adoption of any lesser program can only result in the continuation of inequitable salaries...

“Absolute Necessity”

“The adoption of our salary recommendations, which would provide salary increases averaging 19% to City employees, is an absolute necessity if the City of Buffalo is to make a sincere attempt to keep pace with current wage and salary trends within New York State.”

CSEA Has Mixed Feelings Regarding G-14 Prom. Test

ALBANY, June 8—A proposed promotion examination for Grade 14 administrative position in the state service has been met with mixed reaction by the Civil Service Employees Assn.

CSEA’s views on the examination were made when it was learned that the Civil Service Department is considering several firmations in the competition for the exam which is being planned for December of 1964.

The examination was last given in June of 1960.

Salary Increases For Welfare

CSEA Repeats Demand For Elimination of Inequities

ALBANY, June 8—The Civil Service Employees Assn., has repeated its demand for elimination of inequities in promotion salary increases to Welfare Department employees of Erie County.

It is the second such request in as many months by Association President, Joseph P. Feily, on behalf of more than 330 members in the Welfare Unit of the Erie County chapter.

In his latest request to Welfare Personnel Officer Donald M. Neff, Feily noted that the county will remain in the lower grade position thereby receiving his annual increment in the lower grade.

As a solution, CSEA has recommended a plan whereby an employee appointed or promoted to a position in a higher salary grade shall receive an increase which is equivalent to the full movement payable in the position or the minimum salary of the position whichever is higher.

60th Health Conf.

ALBANY, June 8—The 60th Annual Health Conference, opening in Buffalo this week, will feature addresses by Governor Rockefeller, Dr. Hollis S. Ingram, state health commissioner, and Dr. Berryn P. Mathison, executive director of the American Public Health Association.

Claims Court Backs Federal Firing Power

Employees who refuse to obey an order, regardless of reason or cause, are subject to immediate dismissal, the U.S. Court of Claims ruled recently.

This, in conjunction with the recent Civil Service Commission ruling that employees face dismissal for refusing to perform jobs even if unrelated to classification standards, evidences a new attitude of the government towards its employees that is anything but lenient.

13 Cited by IRS
Incentive Program

The Incentive Awards Program, sponsored by the Internal Revenue Service, gave recognition to 13 employees, all of the Regional Commissioner's Office, Commissioner Howard D. Taylor announced recently.

Cited for superior work performance were: James A. Duffy, Ruth H. Gindea, Edward Kuhn, Bernard Lillenstein, John J. O'Hara, and Marieke M. Yedlar. Sidney Goldblatt and Lucianne V. Caputo were recognized for special acts of service. For adopted suggestions, John J. Boyle, Dr. Charles O'Hara, and Marjorie M. Voelker were named.

McCormack May Delay Pay Raise

June 2 is the date for which action on the Morrison pay raise bill is tentatively scheduled. However, a delay may be caused by Speaker McCormack's hesitancy to call the bill in the House until a like measure is reported out of the Senate Post Office and Civil Service Committee.

President Johnson, eager to get prompt action on the bill in the House, sent advisors to discuss McCormack's request with the Senate PO and the CSC.

Letters To The Editor

Mr. Margolin is Head of the Division of Business Administration and Professor of Business Administration at the Borough of Manhattan Community College and Adjunct Pro-

essor of Public Relations in New York University's Graduate

School of Public Administration.

Readers Always Important

EVERY COLUMNIST we've ever met insists his readers "are the most important people in the world." We heartily agree with this sentiment—with one reservation. To us, the more our column is read by increasing numbers of our readers who continue to ask:

"HOW DO YOU FIND something to write about in the public relations field every week?"

HERE'S OUR answer—a column's worth—beginning with a few vital statistics:

OUR EDITORIAL efforts here are now 3½ years old, equal to 175 columns totalling more than 100,000 words (the equivalent of several FBI subjects should be discussed, never what do we write about now.

PUBLIC RELATIONS is the most pervasive activity in both government and business. No matter what government does, no matter what business activity, public relations is involved, directly, indirectly, or even remotely.

FOR EXAMPLE, here are some items which could have been the subject of a column, and may yet be at a future date:

• IN ONE OF THE soundest, most intelligent strokes of public relations, the New York City Department of Purchase held an open house for business leaders to show how judiciously it spends $100 million annually. The event had several important public relations objectives, including an effort to increase the list of active bidders to fill the city's needs for services and supplies.

• THE U.S. SUPREME Court decision that a public official cannot collect libel damages from his journalistic critics unless he can prove that the criticism was a malicious and deliberate lie.

• THE PUBLIC relations impact of "Civil Service Day" at the N.Y. World's Fair, including Governor Rockefeller's and Mayor Wagner's proclamations officially designating the day in honor of civil servants.

• WHY IT WOULD be brilliant public relations for City Hall to hold a mass ceremony honoring the 600 or more civil servants — Transit Authority technicians, police, firemen, building inspectors, doctors, nurses, and others—who restored the Grand Central subway shuttle service 48 hours after a disastrous fire.

• A COMPLETE REPORT on the public relations being reaped by the State of New York from its stunning exhibition building at the New York World's Fair.

• WHY ONE MANHATTAN politician was playing with the most devastating propaganda bomb in the public relations arsenal when he said that the label of "Arab" pinned on a political opponent "started as a joke." Rumor is the most dangerous weapon in the psychological warfare stockpile because once started, it almost never can be controlled or stopped.

• WHY THE NEW York State Theatre and everything else in Lincoln Center is a feather in the public relations cap of the New York State.
NEW YORK CITY — Gloria Roschirich, 19 of Brooklyn, above, receives the Miss New York City trophy from Joseph Locher, executive director of the Civil Service Employees Assn. Gloria, a stenographer in the office of General Manager Walter L. Schelger, Jr., of the New York City Transit Authority, is celebrating her second anniversary of civil service this month. She started her career with the T.A. three years ago while between semesters at Catherine McAuley High School. Upon graduation, she qualified as a permanent stenographer through civil service examination. She has a new hobby — taking care of a home. She recently married Albert Winiarski, a steamfitter, and her main thought now is “being a good wife.”

FEDERAL — Vilma Armiline, 22, of The Bronx, below, an administrative aide to the Contract Administrator of the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission receives her loving cup from Paul Kyer, editor of The Leader. Vilma started with the AEC five years ago as a clerk-steno and moved up the ranks to her present position. Vilma is also a night student, having taken night courses at Fordham University while working during the day. She entered federal service following graduation from Aquinas High School in the Bronx. Five feet, eight inches, the light brown haired queen lives with her parents in the Bronx where she is close to her favorite hobby — horseback riding along Pelham Parkway. Other than sculpturing, as a passive hobby, she loves the outdoors and spends most of her free time playing tennis, swimming and boating.

LOCAL — Pettie Diane Jorgensen, 22 of Manhattan below, another first jobber in civil service, receives her loving cup from Joe Deasy, Jr., editor of The Leader, sponsor of Civil Service Day at the World’s Fair.

Runners-Up

Patricia Loik of Castleton-on-Hudson was selected as Queen of State Civil Service Employees, while; Vilma Armiline of The Bronx received the crown as Queen of Federal Civil Service Employees.

Public Servant's Make Civil Service Day Big Success

From the starting bell, when the Firemen’s Color Guard marched out, to the presentation of the Civic Service Day Awards, there was an ever present thrill in the program.

Jack McCarthy, WFXL commentator, delivered the master of ceremonies for the day. McCarthy is well-known for his annual presentations to the City Clean for the Mayor’s Cup, and is also known for his various shows that appear on WFXL, Channel 11, New York City. Festivities were aired over WNYW, Radio.

The moments tried their hardest to interfere, but couldn’t stop the opening ceremonies which included a demonstration of a fireman coming down a ladder on a rope, to the jude performances of the police and fire departments.

Firemen Demonstrate

Participating in the firemen’s demonstration were Capt. John D. Banks, Capt. Joseph J. Morisseau, who climbed to outstanding heights on the ladder and came down, and Off. S. J. Vaglio. Also participating in this act were Lt. James Nagle, division of training, and Sgt. W. A. Swincoff, assistant fireman who held a seat for the two rope men. As soon as the rope man was lifted, the firemen started moving slowly around the bowl, with loud speakers yelling the message: “Keep the firemen in mind!”

When the rope was let down, the truck was “Litler Critter”, the City emblem of cleanliness. Police Dept. Explorer Camp, Consisted of six members of the police department, a judo team, performed par excellence. The officers: Capt. Joseph J. Morisseau, Sgt. William J. Murray, Capt. William J. Murray, Mr. Mager, and Police Commissioner.
