Suffolk Chapter A Winner
Gains Health Insurance

From Leader Correspondent

RIVERHEAD, July 13 — Suffolk County Chapter, Civil Service Employees Assn., has won its long battle for the adoption of a county health insurance program. The board of supervisors, pursuant to a resolution in the state health plan—"to become effective on about October 1, 1964." The health program will be available to 3,500 Suffolk workers, including police department members. Thomas Dobbs, president of the Suffolk Chapter, declared, "We are very pleased that our efforts of the past several years have resulted in the adoption of this plan. We think that many Suffolk employees will want to participate."

The health program, Dobbs estimated, will cost the county about $770,000 for a full-year's participation in the plan, which the county has been making various studies regarding health plans for several months. Dobbs said that he believed the chapter's role in securing county participation in the plan would aid the chapter in securing new members in the coming year. The Suffolk chapter now has a membership of upwards of 3,500. About 1,800 are county employees. (Continued on Page 3)

The permanent ruling on employees has been restored by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee after having been once rejected by the House.

The American Federation of Government Employees and the American Legion in particular who led the successful battle against the provision in the House, will continue the struggle. They believe, with no little cause, that the ruling will ultimately help keep the other government agencies and destroy the civil service system.

Thus, they will fight; it is once again, this time in the Senate—and this time against the open,” said President Johnson.

However, 200 employees have been in one step further and granted more jobs.

President Johnson has extended one-year step increases in all postal pay levels to step seven. Thus, should the Senate bill take effect, postal employees who have been in steps four, five, and six of level seven and higher for 12 months or more would be advanced to the next higher step. Although ultimate benefits of the pay raise bill have been doubled and discussed, Federal employees will owe any salary increase to the bill that finally becomes law to postal and government aides unions. Those groups were primarily responsible for getting this bill.

Defense Condemned For 'Vague' Study

The Navy Department has been asked to delay contracting out work to private industry and closing down its installations until more data has been gathered on labor costs.

Representative Henderson (D-NC), chairman of the House Civil Service Manpower Utilization Subcommittee recently told De- fense he was “concerned” by the Department's 'vague and incom- prehensive information regarding operations at its various facilities. His request followed two days of hearings on Defense contracting out policies to private firms.

Deftens declared that Defense is only initiating a program to determine if labor costs are really less in private industry.

Henderson called the efficiency of Defense management into “serious question” and called for a "more complete and detailed picture of the costs of labor” in that department.

Is $800 Earned

Sydney Drucker, a plan- nester at the Brooklyn Navy Yard, recently received the highest of all cash payments he has been given during his career with the yard. Drucker re- ceived $800 for his suggestions to redesign a commercial electrical switch for Navy use. The idea should save the Navy Yard $30,000.

With the Brooklyn yard since 1941, Drucker was given a 800 bonus in 1948 for proposing a modification to light fixtures now used in most vessels. He was also commended for his work on the construction of the aircraft carrier Saratoga.

By ART YATES

This is the second in a series of six articles on "How the City Handles Emergencies and Disasters." This week's article concerns the role of the Police Department in handling emergencies.

That's all it took to swing into action for a city emergency. One telephone call and Operations began to function.

What was behind this? What had to be done to avert tragedy, destruction, and death?

Here is your answer.

Temporary headquarters is established, all units are notified as the communications division puts all available men to flush the emergency signal across the city.

What's left?

Traffic control, equipment, police coordinator, personnel assignments, staging and parking areas, red light corners, crowd control, evacuation plans, first aid stations, temporary morgue, press and information center, recovered property center, shut-off of utilities, property damage center, plus special procedures.

Their reaction is, "What a tragedy!" But do they realize what takes place after such a horrible act? They do not.

Here is what happens:

Dec. 7, 1941, 8:56 a.m.

Amid snow, cold and low visibility, two commercial airliners collided over the Georgia Mills section of Staten Island and plunged to destruction at two separate points within a mile.

The Rapid Mobilization Plan was put into effect by the Police Department. This plan activates all necessary units, whether on duty or not, to go to the immediate area, to see that medical facilities are notified as the communications division puts all available men to function for a city emergency. One telephone call and Operations began to function.

Mr. Johnson's frequent trips to New York, airplane crashes, floods, high tides, oil strikes, market losses, brush fires, forest fires, explosions of minor and major importance, and-you name it.

"We are confident because we have had the experience. No office runs without experience. We can handle anything, because we have proven in the past that we can.

The inspector in charge of operations enjoys confidence. He isn't an armchair executive. He is a former beat pounder, who worked up through the department to his present high level position.

One of the officers told me, "He knows his business."

Operations in Action

Sitting at a desk with three or four phones ringing is a lieutenant, his job, checking out a check list.

He has a list of names which must be contacted and as each one is accounted for a check mark is put next to his name. Since this list totals 135 of many small agencies, in city government, it is a long and tedious task. But to him, it's nothing and is done accurately and swiftly.

Field commanders report the situation at the scene. As each call in, his report is analyzed and..." (Continued on Page 8)
The Statewide Key

MAJOR advances in pension legislation for New York City Civil Service employees until 1956, had been a rare sight. Rare indeed when the City decided to refund the money which is necessary to permit legislative action on Administrative Code Bills.

By use of the "Message of Necessity" the City kept tight control over pension demands by City employees. To over-look changes and go to direct the people by the process of referendum.

However, in 1956, a new method was discovered, buried deep within the structure of the New York State Constitution. This was the enactment of "state-wide" legislation carefully tailored to fit the employees of large cities. The City can no longer overrule legislation by refusing the message of necessity.

This formula has become the most potent weapon available to civil service employees in Albany. No longer need the employees be dependent upon the City administration.

This formula can be used for other legislative requests — not just for an increased benefit, but for a plan. If used for a choice of health plans for City employees would be embarrassing for New York City.

The City employees are now demanding a plan and there is no way to equal the plan with the employees of New York State, the Federal Government, the Board of Education and the Transit Authority, they are going to the Legislature with the "state-wide" key to the problem.

Questions Answered On Social Security

Below are questions on Social Security put to the readers and answered by a legal expert in the field. Anyone with a question similar to one of these may write it out and send it to the Social Security Editor, Civil Service Leader, 215 St. Mnn., New York 1, N.Y.

"I am a mechanic and recently made some major repairs on a friend's car. In return, he painted my shop for me. No money passed hands either way. Do we pay social security taxes?

"My shop for me. No money passed hands either way. Do we pay social security taxes."

"I am thinking about applying for social security benefits. How much can I earn and still collect all of my social security benefits?

"My 76-year-old father receives railroad retirement but never had any social security coverage. I operate a small business which he must have a night watchman. Can I hire my father for this job and pay social security taxes on his earnings."

"I plan to put my application for social security card now or wait until I actually get a job?"

"I have earnings from wages or self-employment which I estimated that my earnings would be $180. I have since received a raised salary. Will I have to file new forms of things involved."

"What do you mean when you tell somebody they're currently insured?"

"I am married and my wife is working. I have been in the labor market for a long time. Do I have to file a new and separate application for social security benefits?"

"I have been in the labor market for a long period of time and then received a raise. How do I apply for social security benefits?"

"My son is receiving "social security," I have been told that "social security" should be $25 per month. Can I receive the maximum of your benefit?"

"If my earnings from wages or self-employment are $1200 or less for the calendar year (tax year), can I receive any of your benefit?"

"What does it mean to "file a claim?"

"I am 62 and operate a fishing and hunting club. I only averaged $1850 in 1963. Would I be due any social security checks for last year?"

Flexibility And Good PR

INTELLIGENT flexibility can go a long way toward generating good public relations for civil servants. There are still a few individuals in government who wouldn't bend if a hurricane bluw at them.

WHEN WE talk about flexibility we mean employing imagination, intelligence and judgment in the discharge of your duties. Example: You don't shout a categorial "no" at a person who has been waiting in a line for an hour and who forgot to fill in one of twenty blanks on a form.

BEING FLEXIBLE means pointing out the omission, allowing the man to fill it in right then and there, and not sending him to the end of the line to wait another hour.

WE'RE SORRY to report that we've seen civil servants act like martins and jailhouse monitors because someone inadvertently overlooked a blank space.

AT THE SAME time we've seen a veteran civil servant nurse hold in her arms a dying stranger, who begged, "Please don't let me die."

THE SYMPATHY and compassion this nurse possessed is another example of the kind of flexibility we mean. There was nothing extraordinary in the nurse's actions that regulations that instructed her to do what she did or forbade what she did. Her heart as well as her head told her what was right.

sort of ingenuity" in the matter of summertime automobile equipment violations, such as a burned-out light bulb.

WHY NOT DEVISE a summons, asks the Daily News, with automatic cancellation if a motorist returns it promptly with a receipt. Traffic tickets, as the newspaper's editorialists tell, would be "a real effort to ease one of the sharpest city irritants."

WE FEEL certain that Commissioner Murphy will respond adversely to this suggestion. He has the flexibility which marks an outstanding, highly respected public official. Commissioner Murphy already is cooperating in a parallel effort project to make it possible for simple assault and petty larceny, instead of throwing in jail.

OF COURSE, each person is carefully investigated by a team. The problem is to determine if there is sound reason to believe that he'll show up in court. But the fact is that Commissioner Murphy is giving it a try and that's genuine flexibility.

BY FLEXIBILITY we certainly don't mean permissiveness. Commissioner Murphy is flexible where judgement and long experience hold experience call for a show of flexibility. But he is absolutely inflexible about theft and corruption in his department, which is as it should be.

TO DETERMINE WHEN a civil servant can be flexible, all that is necessary is common sense. This can also be described as "using your head." A computer can't help in the final judgment. It means drawing on one's intelligence, experience, knowledge of the job, knowledge of the facts, and the general circumstances of the problem presented.

AS WE HAVE said on many occasions: it's the little things which can make good public relations or bad public relations. And all to frequently, it is inflexibility in little things which is the source of most bad public relations.

C.S. Associations Should Stay Away From Politics—Lanigan

UTICA, July 13—The worst mistake a Civil Service association can make is to become a political organization, Charles T. Lanigan told the Central New York Conference of the Civil Service Employees Association. Lanigan was the principal speaker at the conference dinner recently in Hotel Utica. Nearly 200 attended.

Lanigan said that while associations should not become political organizations, individual members should participate in the party of their choice.

Applause was given to the State Chapters of the CSEA, to the incoming officer, Samuel Borelly, treasurer; Ken L. Mann, Utica, secretary; Ken Corcoran, Utica, second vice president; Miss Leona M. Appel, Syracuse, secretary; Mrs. Ida Meltzer, Utica, second vice president; Mrs. Margaret Whitmore, Syracuse, treasurer; and Miss Eda Mellicher, Syracuse, treasurer.

At the dinner, during which the officers were installed, J. Arthur Temm, president of the Utica State Hospital Chapter, the host unit, presided.

Dr. Theodore C. Wenzl of the State Department of Education, was toastmaster. Dr. Oswald J. McKenzie, assistant director of the Utica State Hospital gave the invocation.

Rev. John J. Black, Catholic chaplain at Utica State Hospital, and Rev. Robert Anthony, Protestant chaplain, gave the invocation and benediction, respectively.

A dance followed the dinner.

SUFFOLK SCHOOL EMPLOYEES CLASSIFICATION IS ASKED (From Leader Correspondent)

RIVERHEAD, July 13—Officials of the Suffolk Chapter, Civil Service Employees Association, conferred recently with officers of the Suffolk Civil Service Commission on questions involving the classification of school employees.

Thomas Dobis, president of the Suffolk Chapter, reported that, while no conclusions were reached at the preliminary conference, he appreciated the cooperation of the county in trying to unify the working situations of many school district employees.

The Suffolk Chapter has nearly 700 members in school districts within the county.

Attending the meeting were: Joseph Watkins, municipal services division of the State Civil Service Commission; Trent Keats, acting chief examiner of the Suffolk Civil Service Commission; William Dunn, senior personnel examiner; Suffolk Civil Service Commission; Joseph Mahlgri, chairman of the Suffolk CSEA classification committee; Joseph O'Connor, there was no classification committee; and Joseph O'Shea, CSEA field representative, and
