Local Death Benefit Bill Disapproved

ALBANY, July 26—Governor Rockefeller has vetoed a Civil Service Employees Assn. "death benefit" bill for local police officers, because he took the step somewhat reluctantly because of technical reasons in his veto message.

"Under the present law, death benefits are paid to the estate or beneficiary of a member of the Employees' Retirement System who dies prior to retirement or within thirty days after retirement. "

"Among those recommending disapproval are the Department of Civil Service and the Department of Labor."

proposals suggested were not sanctioned by the government itself. The basic goal is to employee relations on a patchwork basis, mostly by executive rules. What they want now is something that is supported by law; a law that will respect their bargaining rights and the right to grievances without fear.

In essence, public employees have now set equality with the general working community as one of the most vital accomplishments made in the civil service.

Vetoed Holiday Pay

ALBANY, July 26 — A bill to give police officers in the State pay for holidays even if they recibed the holiday off has been vetoed by Governor Rockefeller. In a disapproving message, Rockefeller stated: "At present, both firemen and policemen who worked on any of eight special holiday days are entitled to compensatory time off or overtime. Now that this basis is statewide for these worthy public servants, a further adjustment should be made..." Rockefeller has been active in the localities which, under present law, have adequate authority to adopt local legislation for this purpose.

NAMED DIRECTOR

ALBANY, July 26—Mrs. Elizabeth H. Hay of New York City, has been named to succeed Mrs. Martha Pinkler, 23 children from New York City high schools. They quickly embraced the project and chose 23 children from New York City for their city visit.*

Bill Restricting City Civil Commission Powers Vetted Based On Objections of Mayor Wagner

(From Leader Correspondent)

ALBANY, July 26—Governor Rockefeller has vetoed a bill restricting the powers of the Civil Commission at the request of Mayor Roberts F. O'Connell and his predecessor are part of a wider community department planning as well as for an enterprising and imaginating public relations operation.

In the City where it has had for years, as has been wisely used in the past and may be useful in the future." Rockefeller noted that both the State and City commission now were set up to those of promotion units and that "this power has proved essential..."

in the personnel administration of large departments and departments which are decentralized.

In urging the veto Mayor Wagner greeted the governor as follows: "There is no reason why this power to subdivide departments wherein promotion units are placed in the locations of functions such as the Transit Authority and the Controllers Office, and for agencies that are scattered over wide geographic and climatic area's even within the Department of Water Supply and the Board of Water Supply. "The power to provide for such units for lay-off purposes is also invaluable where functions are discontinued for lack of work and Ba usefulness was proven in connection with lay-offs in the Transit Authority and for local bodies in the time of their sale to the incorporated Edison Company. Only through the exercise of this power was this transaction affected in an orderly manner and without a considerable amount of efficiency. These powers are important for the administration of government of a large city like New York City which have been wisely used in the past and will be useful in the future."
CSEA Correction Officer Retirement Bill Signed

(Censored from Page 1) activity sought to defeat the measure in its contacts with State Lobbyists' added Pety.

He further stated: "Our Association was pleased by the support given to this improved retirement arrangement for Correction Officers by State Correction Commissioner Paul O'Mahony who signed the bill and left to right: Frank Scott, a laborer with the Department for nine years; Rominaelli; Bernard Easer, assistant civilian engineer with the Department for 30 years; John Campbell, construction equipment operator for 18 years.

Ogdensburg May Raise Salaries

OGDENSBURG, July 26 — Mayor Edward J. Keenan has disclosed that this city's 1966 Tentative budget contains provisions for higher pay for municipal workers and a better health program benefits.

The mayor said the new employee insurance plan will cost $12,000.

No Tax Increase

"While raises and increases in insurance costs are incorporated in the proposed 1966 budget, I want to stress that there will be no increase in taxes," said the mayor.

He also had a pas on the back for municipal employees.

"I am proud of the cooperative efforts of our city employees who contribute to the progressive improvement of the City of Ogdensburg," improvement predicated on long-range planning," the mayor asserted.

Parking Bill

(Parking Bill from Page 1) able near State buildings. In effect, this provision would establish a free benefit for 500 employees in downtown Albany (3-400 more when the South Mall is completed). With no comparable benefits for roughly 15,000 employees in New York City, practically all of whom must pay commercial parking rates or alternatively accept the cost of using public transportation. The point here is that this bill mandates an inequity.

No Death Benefit For Local Aides

(Censored from Page 1) ordinary death benefit is based on the compensation earned by the number of years of service. In effect, this provision would establish a free benefit for local officers and employees. Similar to the "survivor's benefits" which is provided for all full-time State employees with at least five years of service, the proposal would not cover a local officer or employee who is not a member of the State Employees' Retirement System.

Other Objections

"Without reaching the merits of the bill, it is noted that the bill provides a formula for determining benefits (annual compensation times the last twelve months of service), which, in some instances, would be impossible to compute, and in other instances, involves a computation detrimental to a number of individuals. The bill makes other technical objections, I am concerned to disapprove the bill.

Disapproval is recommended by the Department of Civil Service, the Office for Local Government, the New York State Conference of Mayors and the State School Bus Association, among others.

Postal Workers Walk For Raise

Postal workers from the Metropolitan area were out in force last week as a result of a rally calling for substantial pay increase. The rally was held outside the New York City General Post Office. Prior to the demonstration the letter carriers, clerical workers, and mail and motor vehicle operators attended a meeting at the Manhattan Center where they were addressed by Congressional representatives and employee leaders.

After the meeting, the workers marched in rank to the Post Office where they staged a two hour walkout. They voiced their dissatisfaction with current salary levels and their disappoint with Administration-backed salary proposals. They feel that the President’s offering of a three percent wage hike is inadequate. Also, they are at odds with the proposal that the raise not take effect until Jan. 1, 1966.

The postal workers demand a pay increase being made pursuant to the Lloyd-Latham Act of 1912 which guarantees them the right to petition Congress for those who participate in the “walk” did so on their own time. The major objectives of representatives across New York City, legislation, which would introduce a seven percent pay increase, the proposal that the USPS pay raises exceed those benefits to continue and I am sure none of us here doubts that our Government will do much on its promise to pay pensions to retired employees and those who will retire.

Urged Hudson Comm. The New York City Citizens Budget Commission proposed last week extensive establishment of the Hous- son River Basin Commission to oversee the development of a commu system for irrigation and recreation program for the intermediate watershed area.

Higher Payroll Deductions May Bankroll Benefit Hike

At the first round of meetings of the President’s Cabinet Committee on Federal retirement last week in Washington, the consensus of employee organization spokesmen seemed to be that if Federal employees are willing to pay for better retirement benefits through increased payroll deductions.

Appraising before the committee, which is chaired by Budget Director Charles L. Schultze, nearly all the employee spokesmen agreed in principle to an increase in the current 6.5 percent salary contribution now made by employees.

The Committee, which is due to make its report by Dec. 1, hopes to come up with recommendations for a fairly uniform retirement system for all Federal personnel.

The feeling among the employee representatives was that in addi- tion to success in gaining more liberal employee retirement bene- fits from the government they have to make an effort to get the re- tirement fund from former issuing. Top Federal officials estimate that the Civil Service Retirement Fund, which now stands at about $1.364 million to the fund, a small- ly. That is the amount by which current retirement costs plus-in- creased basis excess income from employee deductions and match- ing agency contributions. The Dirksen amendment was killed by the Senate after a lengthy debate.

The situation, as it stands, is that since it has been in the Senate Franklin (R. Mass.), said “naturally the Federal em- ployees’ groups would like an increase in their contributions, and $500,000 this year and $500,000 next year. The last is not adequate to cover the cost increase, nor does it cover the costs. This is why many of the employees feel that the proposed method of financing the fund, or whatever is decided by the Senate, would not be adequate.”

The Committee, which is due to meet this week, has outlined a number of alternative methods.

The first is that Congress could make a compulsory contribution of 160 billion. This is considered most unlikely.

The second is that the Federal government would abandon its federal laws that would prohibit Federal employees from organizing. The third is to increase the amount of the Civil Service retirement fund. This would be used to bolster the fund. The fourth is that Congress could make a 160 billion contribution to the fund. This would be considered an act of Congress.

The fifth is that Congress could make a compulsory contribution of 160 billion. This is considered most unlikely.

The seventh is to increase the amount of the Civil Service retirement fund. This would be used to bolster the fund. The eighth is that Congress could make a 160 billion contribution to the fund. Two Decisions

TWO DECISIONS IN cases against the New York State Department of Civil Service were rendered on June 23, 1965, by Justice Isadore Bookstein, sitting in Supreme Court, Special Term, Albany County. One of the cases (Kurtz et al. v. Kroft et al.) was handled by attorneys for promotion to deputy clerk, Supreme Court, First Department. The other case (Tarigo et al. v. Kaplan et al.) was brought by employees of the Office of Civil Defense of the City of New York to nullify a qualifying examination.

FOLLOWING THE HOLDING of the multiple choice, promotional examination under review in the Kurtz case, the petitioners were permitted to examine the proposed key answers. They then filed objections to certain of the answers. The Commission evaluated the objections and in due course determined the final key answers. The examinations were graded, an eligible list promulgated, and the examiners were notified of their marks. No further administrative review is provided.

THROUGH AN ARTICLE 78 proceeding, the petitioners sought judicial review of the official answers to three of the examinations on the ground that they contended their answers were as acceptable as the key answers.

THE CASE WAS initially brought before Justice Koreman who dismissed the petition on June 5, 1964. This ruling was reversed by the Appellate Division, which directed the Commission to fail with its answers the record of the proceedings under review. Instead it made the questions and other pertinent material available to Justice Koreman for his private perusal.

AS REQUIRED BY the Appellate Division, the Commission finally affixed a complete transcript to its answer. Upon reconsideration of the questions, however, Justice Koreman in a letter to Justice Koreman that the official answers were the most acceptable.

IN A PROCEEDING involving another question on the same examination (Dolan et al. v. Kroft et al.), the question read:
The court may direct the jury in a criminal proceeding to be discharged before the case is submitted to them if it appears from the testimony that:
1. The facts proved constitute a crime of a higher nature than that charged in the indictment.
2. The court does not have jurisdiction of the crime charged in the indictment.
3. The facts as charged in the indictment do not constitute a crime.
4. A 2 only
B 1 and 2 only
C 2 and 3 only
D 1, 2 and 3

THE PETITIONERS’ answer was “D” which indeed was the Commission’s proposed key answer. However, the Commission’s final key answer was “C”. The change was in response to objections. Answer “D” is supported by the Code of Criminal Procedure, which provides that a specific partial discharge of the jury if the facts proved constitute a crime of a higher nature. However, section 400 was judicially declared unconstitutional because it exposes defendants to double jeopardy.

STILL, ANSWER “D” is apparently sustained by the Penal Law. However, the Appellate Division, the Commission’s final key answer was “C”. The change was in response to objections. Answer “D” is supported by the Code of Criminal Procedure, which provides that a specific partial discharge of the jury if the facts proved constitute a crime of a higher nature. However, section 400 was judicially declared unconstitutional because it exposes defendants to double jeopardy.

IN A POWERFUL dissent, Justice Herity, Acosta v. Lang, observed:
The difficulties encountered before deciding which answer was the right answer may well have required the services of the proverbial “Philadelphia lawyer.” The application to the Indictment 2. THE COURT DOES NOT HAVE JURISDICTION OF THE CRIME CHARGED IN THE INDICTMENT.
3. THE FACTS AS CHARGED IN THE INDICTMENT DO NOT CONSTITUTE A CRIME.

BEACON, July 26 — Rodney Doren, correctional hospital officer at Mattewan State Hospital, has been named “Psychiatric Aide of the Year.” The award was presented to Doren on the last day of his employment before reassigned.

Doren has been active in the group counseling program at Mattewan, having completed both the regular and advanced courses in “Techniques of Group Counseling.”

Hospital spokesmen said, “He has developed into an exceedingly good counselor, making good use of his ingenuity and showing humanitarian qualities. He has also served as the coordinator of the group counseling program as well as one of the instructors. He will be sorely missed at Mattewan, but is going on to Camp Montereys, where as a youth camp worker, he will be active in both group and individual counseling.”

Doren is married and the father of three children. He completed two years of college with a major in Psychology and an early interest in understanding and helping those less fortunate. The award winner entered State Service on May 3, 1950 in the Department of Mental Hygiene at Central Foundation.

Doren has served three years as a paratrooper in the 11th Airborne Division.

Thruway Queen for Exposition

The State Exposition will be held in Syracuse August 31—September 6, and the management again has invited the Thruway Authority to choose a Miss Thruway for the Court of Honor.

Over the last six years, a Miss Thruway has been chosen from members of the Thruway Commission, the Thruway Agency, and the Thruway Employees.

The competition is now open to daughters — a n.e.w. generation — of Thruway employees. This not only enlarges the field considerably but emphasizes the family nature of the Thruway operation.

Miss Thruway will attend the annual Queens banquet the evening before the Exposition opera, and during the open day activities including an appearance at the Thruway exhibit to greet Fair goers.

The Authority provides transportation to and from Syracuse, and accommodations at the Radisson House for one night for the rite and her chaperone—usually her mother. Authorities will also contribute $30 toward the cost of Miss Thruway’s gown and chest accessories, “Miss Thruway.” The rest of the expenses are met by the Thruway chapter of the Civil Service Employees’ Association.

Applications can be obtained at the Thruway Offices in Trumansburg and at all toll stations.

Q & A

Why is it that only H.I.P. is able to provide the widest range of services, including "miracle" surgery, without extra charges, loopholes, claim forms, deductibles, discussion of family income with the doctor or other red tape?

It's not hard to see if you picture each H.I.P. Medical Group as a sort of "super-doctor"—a kind of family doctor who at the same time possesses all the specialist skills, knowledge and equipment of modern medicine. Since he combines all medical training and experience, he needs to maintain only one professional office and pay only one technical and nursing staff.

Furthermore, instead of giving this "super-doctor" a fee each time you see him, suppose you decide it makes more sense to pay him a certain amount every month to take care of all your family's medical needs. You pay him the same amount whether everyone in the family is sick or well during the month. Since this "super-doctor" has all the skills and experience to be found in the medical profession, you would know your family was in capable hands. And you would know that the monthly amount you pay him is all you have to pay.

That's the idea behind H.I.P. But since there is no such person as this "super-doctor", H.I.P. offers an even better alternative—the combined services and combined judgment of a whole team of family doctor and specialists who work together for you. And you have no doctor bills to worry about!

No Vesting Rights Now For New York City Court Aides

ALBANY, July 26—A bill that would have provided vesting retirement benefits for officers and employees of certain courts and probation departments who are members of the American Federation of State, County, and Municipal Employees, was vetoed last week by Governor Rockefeller.

The veto of the measure was Mayor Robert Wagner of New York City. In asking the governor to sign the bill, Wagner said: “With respect to court employees within the City of New York, this bill, if enacted, will confer a very costly benefit on a special group of personnel. No valid reason has been advanced for this piece

The City government is presently studying the entire question of vesting rights. When its consultants have completed their work, the City will be better able to make any necessary changes in its retirement plans on an equitable basis for all City employees—not just a favored few.”

“This legislation is thus premature as well as being extremely generous in its application. Its approval will actually hinder the formulation of a uniform policy for all City retirement systems. Moreover, the increased cost resulting from approval of this bill will be great. Such increased costs should not be mandated on the City of New York at this time, when its available fiscal resources could be better employed for the good of all its citizens.”

BILLS HIGHER?

It's much more than that nowadays. Just reflect that you're using so much more. True, rates have gone up, but less than most items in your budget. And that's the way we plan to keep it.
