CSEA Asks State to Give Fairer Mileage Rates

Costs of operating an automobile have increased so sharply that the Civil Service Employees Assn. has asked for immediate meetings with Budget Director Thomas F. Conroy to discuss the possibility of raising the mileage rate paid employees for their personal use of vehicles.

The state Department of Labor has been set to examine the case of the Hospital of the State Employees Retirement System, which has never received any increases in the rate of reimbursement, despite the fact that the entire state has experienced an increase in the cost of living.

Costs of computing payroll, including the purchase of vehicles and gasoline and related materials and services, have increased by a per cent. In the event that the rate of reimbursement is increased, the state will be able to purchase a new and more realistic mileage allowance for its employees.

The slight increase in dues will be used to finance a new and more realistic mileage allowance for its employees.

On Prompt Payment of Retirement Benefits

ALBANY, Sept. 13—"Prompt payment of benefits is a matter of constant concern and will continue to top priority," the administrative director of the New York State Employees Retirement System, the CSEA, said in an interview last week.

The request was made by President C. A. Conroy, who is in charge of the system's operations. The system is the largest in the country, with a payroll of $500,000,000.

According to the CSEA, the system is facing a $500,000 deficit this year, and it is expected to be $1,000,000 in 1966.

The CSEA also warned that the system is facing a serious problem in meeting its obligations to its employees.

"We are, therefore, urging you to re-open negotiations with this organization at an early date, on the adequacy of mileage allowances afforded State employees," the CSEA said.

Tenure, 25 Year Pension Plan, Longevity Pay, Other Benefits Considered For Nassau Aides

Twelve Nassau County Civil Service Employees Assn. requests, made in their 1965 program, are receiving the consideration of the Nassau County Board of Supervisors. Presiding Supervisor Ralph G. Chao told Plaumenbaum, chapter president, in a letter last week.

"I wish to inform you that at an early date," Chao wrote, "I intend to place upon the desk of the Board of Supervisors a proposed local law which would guarantee non-competitive and labor class employees that they could not be removed from their jobs after one year of service without preferred changes and a departmental hearing. Such job protection is now guaranteed Town of Hempstead employees and is also in effect in North Hempstead and Oyster Bay."

Chao told Plaumenbaum that the request for a twenty-five year pension plan at guaranteed one-half pay is now the subject of a legislative study. He also proposed that Nassau County make a cost study for "true longservice" that would be based on ten years of public service with an additional longevity increment after fifteen years.

"Your chapter request for pay for accumulated sick leave upon retirement or separation cannot be accomplished by a local law," Chao declared, "since there has been a recent ruling of the State Comptroller against it . . ."

A non-contributory state health insurance program demands State legislation and cannot be accomplished by an act of the Board of Supervisors." Chao told the CSEA chapter, in his communication, that members of the Board agreed on the basic principle that salaries should bring on a cost of living index from January 1, 1964, based on figures of the New York State Department of Labor and the

House Will Act To Allow Relocation Allowances

The House Government Operations Committee, in response to testimony by Federal employee representatives, has allowed that it will act swiftly to pass legislation which would make it the policy of the government to pay most of the costs involved in the job transference of its workers. Administration spokesmen appearing before the committee were in accord with the employee representatives as to the necessity of such action.

Rep. Benjamin S. Rosenthal (Dem., N.Y.) has promised a bill which would call for such relocation allowances and the subcommittee chairman, Rep. William L. Dawson, (Dem., Ill.) has stated that he will do all that is possible to expedite the speedy enactment of the measure.

Once the bill is enacted the implementing regulations that must accompany it might take up to 90 days. However, the benefits of the legislation would be retroactive to the date of enactment.

Main provisions of the Rosenthal bill are:

- Employees would be reimbursed for transporting all their household goods.
- Reimbursement for food and lodging for families in transit to new job locations.
- A free house hunting trip for the employee and spouse once he is notified of his transfer.

EMPLOYEES of Oneida County are suffering a drought that is every bit as dangerous as the water drought so much in the news these days. For five years, these civil servants have been denied a salary increase, except in select titles, and the long, dry spell is having the usual results — demoralized workers, poor job recruitment and the abandonment of county employment by the best qualified people.

While the heads of the board are well aware of this situation, they have sent a request to the state that such proposals are unfair since many of the workers in the Civil Service Employees Association have been denied a salary increase, except in select titles, and the long, dry spell is having the usual results — demoralized workers, poor job recruitment and the abandonment of county employment by the best qualified people.

The Civil Service Employees Association has refused to accept this last rejection of workers' needs and has demanded that the County Board of supervisors meet with them immediately to begin wage negotiations anew.

There should be no delay in getting these new seasons started and with the aim of ending the drought in Oneida.

Time And A Half

Q all the issues at stake in the current round of proposals and counter-proposals dealing with the economic welfare of all concerned, I can qualify for the question of whether thousands of postal workers should be paid more than straight time for work over forty hours in one week seems to be easiest to answer. Yes. Everyone else who works for nine people gets it. Of course it could be taken further and you could say there is something nostalgically about a situation which finds postal employee organizations struggling to gain over the loss they are suffering. On the other hand, we are not dealing with the more than forty hours done in excess of eight hours in one day. Takes one back to the days when you could get a good cigar for a nickel and a good chocolate came on the way to your place of employment. In fact, it was for these reasons that the post office unions were formed. The post office unions were formed because so many of the workers in question (substitutes — career substitutes at that, and there lies another story) work less than forty hours a week and are paid more than the straight rate. It is about the many who you anywhere from ten to forty hours past the basic 40 in a week. At straight time, (Maybe they need the money)

The bill authored by the House Post Office and Civil Service Committee does authorize the payment of time and a half for these workers for work done in excess of forty hours a week and eight hours a day. The Post Office Department says "no good" for the eight hour. The bill is described by the editor of the Union Leader as calling attention to the neglect by the State of New York of the economic plight of the postal workers. The amending proposal given solely to those who were in the groups which could not be used for Great Society projects and those in the high grades being included by that sweep in very substantial measure only because "no one more no less affected them as well. Thus, the some economic reason could censure the amendment's failure to all its rates, the fact of actual service not being the basis of the proposal.

And it was not alone the giving of those substantial pay increases that caused for equal treatment, that caused for the salary in excess of forty hours to be paid. The gift was for all its returns, the fact of actual service not being the basis of the proposal.

The Board argued that the statute precludes only those employees who have been granted a retirement benefit by the Board of Education may especially arrange for the person to be deprived of the privilege of employment with the Board. The Board of Education may especially arrange for the purse to be deprived of the privilege of employment with the Board. Charges On Brooklyn Navy Yard
Answered By Department of Navy

In recent weeks The Leader has run a series of articles on the Brooklyn Navy Yard. These articles caused Senator Jacob Javits to ask the Department of the Navy for an explanation of the charges made in those articles and in the Senator's office for worded to The Leader a point paper, prepared by the Navy Department, and letter signed by Rear Admiral Charles A. Curtze, acting chief of the Bureau of Ships.

The Letter

My dear Senator Javits:

"This is in further reply to your inquiries to the Department of Defense, concerning an article appearing in the 20 July 1965 issue of the Civil Service Leader containing certain allegations relating to the closure of the New York Naval Shipyard.

"To view of the orderly process, thus far, of the phase out of the New York Naval Shipyard, it is difficult to comprehend how the author of the Civil Service Leader article could have made such allegations. I have had a detailed analysis of the article made. A copy of the point paper that was prepared from this analysis will be sent to the Bureau of Ships.

"I trust that the above information and enclosed point paper will be of assistance to you. The exclusion to your inquirers has been returned as requested."

The Point Paper

Pertaining is the point paper, which the Navy Department says "provides factual data on the Brooklyn Navy Yard and enclosed point paper." The following quotations are from the analysis of the article from the Bureau of Ships.

Comment

Admiral McQuilkin has been running a psychological warfare game with the workers here. Since November 19, 1964 he has time and again announced over our PA system that the yard is closing and no reversal of this decision will be possible. This is done nothing about this.

Admiral McQuilkin also determined that he would only announce over the public address system matters having a strong impact on employees to receive all who come in the timeable and fashion as he determines. The following announce public announcements:

(a) 19 November 1964—Announced the closing of the yard in accordance with instructions from the Secretaries of the Navy, the Secretary of Defense, and the Secretary of the Air Force.

(b) 23 November 1964—Announced the result of a trip to Washington and stated that the decision to close the Shipyard was firm.

(c) 3 December 1964—Limited the subject of the Secretary of the Navy, the closing date was announced.

(b) 19 January 1965—In accordance with instructions from the Secretary of the Navy, announced the closing date of 29 June 1965 and discussed forthcoming General Notice of Reduction in Force.

These statements do not represent the fact that the Shipyard is closing and in no way will be construed as making psychological warfare game."

Item

HE HAS REPEATEDLY called press conferences and stated at them the yard is closing. In fact during the last few months he has said that he would take his decision in just a few months and until this month has done nothing about this.

Admiral McQuilkin also determined that press conferences and statements made by him are being made of vital importance. The following press conferences have been made:

(a) 19 November 1964—In accordance with instructions from the Secretary of the Navy, the announcing the closing of the yard was announced.

(b) 23 March 1965—the Shipyard, the Secretary of Defense, and the Secretary of the Air Force, as outlined as a matter of public interest.

In response to questions at these conferences, the Admiral did state that the Shipyard would be separated by employees by reduction in force provided they had not declined a placement offer or were otherwise unable, under the terms of the Secretary of Defense "job offer" commitment, to continue working or able to work. The terms were longer required, and they were withdrawn. Fortunately, voluntarily employees, and the others were not the employees and even if they are unreasonably unreasonable. We wonder if we are unreasonable when we ask that the setting of stabbing, not the yard, of the men we are when we unreasonable.

Item

Admiral McQuilkin announced the class of the Brooklyn "job opportunity granted for the yards in the area would be so under the job offer. What is really not necessary. In fact he said that he would cut the same grade."

Item

The food services of the Shipyard are being drastically cut back because of rising food costs and lower volume of business. This has been announced by the Food Services Board, an employee group which manages the food service. The yard was made upon an approximate $100,000 deficit now existing.

Item

WHEN SECRETARY OF DEFENSE Robert McNamara announced the closing of the "Canal" yard, he said that we would be offered a job. Yet the yard has taken little action to find the food service.

Item

In no way could be construed as making a "psychological warfare game.""

The Department of Personnel has announced that provisional, non-competitive and temporary employees and their dependents are eligible to enjoy the history-making program of medical and hospital insurance long available to other City employees.

To qualify the employee needs to have 90 days of continuous service, work no less than 20 hours a week and be assured of no less than six months of consecutive employment.

In most departments and titles the City pays half the cost of both H.I.P. (doctor care) and Blue Cross (hospital care). In some departments and titles the City’s contribution is 75 per cent.

To take advantage of this opportunity, you must enroll now during the open enrollment period.

Many Good Jobs In Department Of Buildings As Housing Inspectors

A new training plan for police with the New York City Department of Buildings as Housing Inspectors will commence this fall at the Institute of Design and Construction in Brooklyn. The plan will have the active participation of members of the Department of Buildings.

State's highest court was vacant last time. Francis Brennan, a Democrat, worked out, it ts reported, between Mayor Robert F. Wagner, Dan P. O'Connell, powerful chairman of the Albany County Democratic Committee, and Fred Young, then chairman of the GOP State Committee.

The upheaval and turmoil in Democratic circles this election year, however, have disrupted any such agreements, if they did exist. For instance, the assured pact between Wagner and Young was made when it looked as though Wagner would continue to stay on as New York City's mayor. The learning of that office has now removed the normal strong say he would have in the matter.
In addition, the Democrats took control of the Legislature and an ethnic problem. The teaching profession has consistently denounced its awareness in this area.

consideration are Attorney General Arthur Levitt; Bernard Myer, Nassau- and Supreme Court Justices William Lawless, Buffalo; and Bernard Myer, Nassau.

The GOP State Executive Committee is scheduled to meet Sept. 15, 16, day after the Democrats get together, to name their man for the race. Among the po-criticism Republicans under serious consideration are Attorney General Louis Letlowitz, long rou-tered interested in the post; Fred Young, who was reported interested in getting back on the bench after leaving the Court of Claims to serve as State Supreme Court judge, Supreme Court Appellate Justice Charles D. Breetz, counsel to the battle through Republican support. The "censor" in this fight could certainly not be expected to honor any Wagner commitments in this or any other past year. Certainly that could be the formal "excuse."

The best fact, is that the Democrat party leadership feels that running a state wide report-deal will help the party maintain Legislative control.

CSEA Demands New Wage Negotiations in Oneida

alarmed at the earliest possible moment, the Council of the Civil Service Employees of our Association and an authorized representative, with full powers to negotiate on our behalf, do not believe that our membership of over 6,000 people, or for that matter, our recent history, will continue to disregard the absence of any real good faith on the part of those responsible for this situation with our Association. In addition to our own County membership in this area, there are still approximately 5,000 public employees who are hourly interested in our plight, and we now tell you unhappily that we shall wage a campaign to rally the full support of this entire group to react against this action.

"Finally, we ask for a salary increase, realistic in its proportions, not unduly large. The County has received a substantial amount of money from the State in the approximate amount of $700,000. This amount is unrestricted in any way and uncommitted in the budget for any purpose. You, therefore, no longer have the excuse of the absence of funds. The only excuse you now have is the indifference on the part of those people that the Oneida County do not wish to have more than a bare subsistence or fringe benefits."

Nassau Co. Chapter Announces Pay Hike For Sanitary Dist.

Irving Flaumenbaum, president of Nassau chapter, Civil Service Employees Assn. announced last week that the employees of Sanitary District No. 1, through their Board of Commissioners, have received pay raises and increased fringe benefits.

The building, biler, operator, drivers, and cleaners received across the board increase of 600 percent and 100 percent increase in vacation leave. Hall and sanitation men received an across the board increase of 500 percent. In addition, Sanitary District No. 1 has agreed to pay the full cost of the pension fund for these employees. Vacations were increased to three weeks after five years of service and four weeks after ten years of service.

Cooperative

Alfred M. Oppenheimer, president of this Unit of Nassau chapter, said that the board of commissioners, through their chairman, Lawrence Rosenberg, has been very cooperative in working out this increased program for the employees. This is now the second political sub-division in Nassau County that is paying the full New York State Public Pension payment."
