DON'T REPEAT THIS

parity with private industry and winning of retirement benefits, employee organizations are now turning full attention to this year's task of creating a new labor relations program to replace the long-obsolete Civil-Service Strike law.

The more responsible organizations, such as the New York City fire and police groups and the big, statewide Civil Service Employees Association, have already announced they will retain no-strike clauses in their constitutions. In return for this, however, the state legislature and the Governor—by their action in supporting the new Civil-Service Strike law—will effectively undermine the loss of such a strong bargaining weapon as the strike. In the main, they want true collective bargaining, protection of the rights to organize and to be recognized and some other source of appeal than the branch of government for which they happen to be representatives of employees.

Reaction Fears

The greatest fear afflicting civil servants right now is that public reaction to the recent subway and police strikes will adversely affect the long-range labor relations program needed to satisfy public employee needs in New York City and which will also protect the police at large. Any attempts to capitalize on any current public feeling against these civil service strikes by winning another strong, punitive law for public employees will do so at the risk of alienating the civil service vote.

It should be noted here that the size of that vote in New York City is vast. At present, nearly 1,000,000 persons work for some branch of government in the State (this includes Federal employees voting here) and as a family vote, using the conservative estimate of two and one-half votes per family, the electorate. In recent years, the "politics" have taken notice not only of the size of this vote but also the fact that public employees are better organized and more active at the polls than in previous years.

Because of conflicting views in the Legislature on just what this new measure will mean, there is considerable concern that the new law, as drafted, will result in no solution but merely a continuation of Civil-Service Strike law.

By voting for another strong, new law, the voters are afraid of their own interests. Candidates of both parties take note.

Craig Colony Offers 3-Year Nursing Course

Dr. Vincent L. Bonafede, Director of Craig Colony School and Hospital, has announced that the School of Nursing is about to open for the Fall 1966 class.

The school, which has been in operation since 1897, offers a three-year diploma program with a minimum of 10 academic units. It is affiliated with the Livingston County Public Health Nursing Service, so that its graduates will not be in a position to go to unorganized communities, as was the case in the past.

As all members of the civil service, one of the first rules of activity is more than mere observance of civil rights. It covers the areas of human activities at A, B, C, D, and E, and civil rights and public relations run on precisely the same road.

The close relationship of civil rights with all government activity is best illustrated with the Governor's Cabinet Committees on Civil Rights.

To BEGIN, here is the interdepartmental body headed by the Chairman of the State Commission on Human Rights, George H. Fowler, whose Commission spans housing, employment, education, and at least one study just about all human activities.

Although a government official, Fowler doesn't run the departments of the State dealing with those three and is not expected to see that discrimination doesn't rear its ugly head into those three areas.

Thus, COMMISSIONER Fowler's partners in the Cabinet Committees are the Secretaries of State, the Superintendent of Public Works, the State Industrial Commission, and the Attorneys General of Education, Commerce, Social Welfare, and Housing and Community Renewal, the President of the Civil Service Commission, and the Attorney General.

Government Relations

NO SMALL part of a civil service employee's public relations is his relations with government—with other agencies with which he does business, with legislatures and legislators, with government entities on other levels.

THUS it is that the State University of New York will have contact with State Department of Revenue; the Comptrollers' Office, Purchasing, Agriculture, Highways, etc., depending on where the unit is located.

This INTER-RELATIONSHIP among government employees and agencies and their dependence on one another is dramatized most among government employees and their dependence on one another is dramatized most by voting for another strong, new law, which will also...
Shabby Treatment Of Barge Canal Employees Hit; CSEA Urges Salary Reallocations

ALBANY—The Civil Service Employees Asso., last week strongly protested the State's treatment of its Barge Canal employees and urged that salary reallocations for the Canal positions be considered.

In a letter to Mary Goode Krone, president of the State Civil Service Commission, CSEA President Joseph F. Feily said the Employees Association had been waiting since early in February for a determination on its appeal for a pay upgrade of the titles of Canal Title Operator, Grade 11 to 13, Canal Lock Operator, Grade 7 to 9, and Canal Electrical Supervisor, Grades 13 to 15.

The Commission earlier had upheld a denial of CSEA's two-grade salary request for the positions, made in November of 1964 by J. Barl Kelly, Director of the Division of classification and Compensation.

Approximately 110 employees are affected.

Fay Cut

In requesting the Commission to reconsider its decision, the Employees Association pointed out that "employees in these titles on the Barge Canal have had a reduction in their work week, with a proportionate reduction in salary, with absolutely no consideration given to the resulting effects."

CSEA was referring to a work week reduction last year, from six to five days, for employees of the Canal. The six-day week had been in effect for more than 17 years and, because the State had chosen to treat the sixth day as overtime during that entire period, the employees actually lost a full day's pay in being moved to a work week comparable to other State employees.

Feily last week told Miss Krone that "… the reason for this necessary overtime lies with the State and its failure to provide sufficient Canal operating personnel to permit a five-day work week. When an overtime situation such as this exists for a period in excess of 16 years, we strongly feel that one can justifiably consider the entire situation as existing conditions of employment for the employees involved," Feily said.

Feily said "Since the State permitted the necessity for a six-day work week to exist on the Barge Canal for such a long period of time and found this arrangement convenient for itself, there is no doubt in our minds that the employer has a moral obligation for equitable treatment of these employees with respect to the severe cut in their salaries."

Feily also mentioned the fact that the State Legislature last year had recognized the unjust treatment given to these employees by passing legislation which would have provided for no loss in pay when the work week was reduced to five days. The legislation later was vetoed by Governor Rockefeller on a technical basis, Feily said, but "the important fact is that the Legislature represents the citizens of New York State and, as such, supposedly reflects the feelings of the electorate."

The CSEA president said that an "immediate favorable re-determination be made by the Civil Service Commission which would grant the upgrading of these positions as requested."

The case of the
DATED DOLL
A housewife went down to the basement to stoke the family coal furnace. Unfortunately, the water heater chose that moment to blow up. A fragment of metal struck her bare arm and branded it, in reverse, “Patented 1896.” (Although no woman likes to be “dated,”
a sizable Accident check was most welcome.)

We admit this might never happen to you, but each year accidents and sickness cost millions of Americans a staggering toll in both disabilities and money.

The C.S.E.A. Accident and Sickness Income insurance program, administered by Ter Bush & Powell, Inc., covers over 52,000 members. As a group they have already received benefits totaling millions of dollars. It also pays you an income each month if an accident or sickness disables you.

We will be happy to send you complete information.

Cities And States May Share Federal Talent Crop

Not too long ago at a City Hall press conference here in New York City, Mayor John Lindsay lamented the fact that rather stiff procedures, the time involved, and the virtually impossible for the experienced aid is needed from,
among other sources, the ranks of Federal civil servants. The Mayor stated that there were many highly trained and talented individuals in the Federal work force who could have and would have been glad to answer the City’s call in its hour of need but the intransigence of procedures, such as those ruling the transfer of retirement credits, proved to be the undoing of a good deal for everybody.

Out of San Francisco, now, by way of Washington, or vice-versa, comes a tale that would almost make you believe that somebody up there likes and listens to Los Angeles. A very legitimate looking press report has it that the Johnson Administration is planing to make a formal request of Congress to provide “incentives”
to the idea of inter-governmental exchange and transfer among workers in Federal and local civil service staffs.

Among the items so to be included as incentives would be the liberation of the Federal retirement and leave credit police and the health benefit program to allow for periods of employment
in other levels of government
other than National.

The official reasoning here
seems to be that now, as the workings of all levels of Governments become more interrelated
and the problems of the offices and states seem to be piling up with more and more speed, Federal executive staffs will have greater freedom to service for their use as they come from Washington.

But, also included, is the important benefit to lower level government workers who have completed their stint in the few years of the inevitability of talented people to operate its facilities.

The State governments whose Civil Service systems lag far behind the likes of New York State’s have found this lack to be a most malignant weakness. And in New York City lately with its constantly mushrooming administrative workload and almost insurmountable if delicate problems the “water, water everywhere and not a drop to drink’’ nature of the talent shortage seemed an unnecessary frustration. President Johnson’s idea, if it blossoms into meaningful legislation could do much to ameliorate the kind of lower level government the country is soon to need very critically —

Pain. The adage "what comes first, the chicken or the egg" would seem to apply to the recent New York City Labor Department action of suspending all representation procedures in "tri-party" and "double-party" setups passing the bill through the Office of Collective Bargaining." Until this law is passed, and there is no guarantee of that, labor representatives will have no place to go in furthering their representational activities. And, if the bill is not passed, then what?

Puristic activity was taking place last week. Those in favor of the Tri-Party Panel report, which is the basis for the Office of Collective Bargaining, were trying to line up support. Those opposed to it, specifically the United Committee for Collective Bargaining, which is composed of 16 City labor unions representing 30,000 employees, were planning a mass demonstration in protest of the panel report on June 1.

The Committee has also proposed its own Labor Relations Bill and will present it to the City Council and Administration.

At first glance, their proposition seems to have merit in that the differences between it and the Tri-Party Panel proposal are at odds concerning arbitration, mediation and the check-off system of collecting dues for union or other employee organizations.

It would also appear, that a compromise between the two plans would be appropriate since the Committee report states the feelings of the smaller labor unions; those that would be most adversely affected by the Tri-Party Panel proposal.

The compromise has general and collective bargaining specifically in New York City.

If I take reduced wages benefit at age 60, will it be increased to the full rate when I reach 85?

No. The amount of your benefits will remain the same if you don't receive benefits for all months before you are 65. In this case, your benefit will be adjusted at 85 to take those months into account.

I am a physician and I understand the new social security law revolving around my earnings from the practice of medicine. When is it effective?

The Social Security Act (P.L. 88-214) is effective January 1, 1966. However, the law will not be in effect until January 1, 1968, and 1969. The new law will cover all physicians and surgeons who are paid on a salary basis and who spend more than 20 hours a week in professional practice, regardless of whether they are self-employed or not.

I am 65 and undecided about whether to retire. In 1966, I have a heart attack in July.

The Social Security Administration is the government agency responsible for administering the Social Security program. They offer a wide range of services to help you plan for retirement, disability, and survivorship. You can receive benefits at age 62, but your benefits will be reduced. You can choose to delay retirement and receive a higher benefit at a later age. The best age to start depends on your personal circumstances. If you have any questions, you can contact the Social Security Administration or visit their website to get more information.
