Jerry Finkelstein Law Scholarship Awarded To Court Aide's Daughter

The daughter of an outstanding New York City civil servant has been named the first recipient of the Jerry Finkelstein Law Foundation scholarship for study at New York Law School. It was announced last week.

A distinguished panel of judges selected Patricia O'Toole, now a freshman at New York Law School, for the annual $3,000 award provided by the Finkelstein Foundation, a philanthropic fund established by the publisher of The Leader.

The scholarship is given to a State, Federal or local government employee engaged in legal or law enforcement work or to a member of their families. Based on the award is academic accomplishments or meritorious service or an outstanding contribution to the public good.

Miss O'Toole is the daughter of Thomas E. and Catherine O'Toole of Niagra Falls.

Meetings To Begin On Clerical Workers Plea For Pay Reallocations

ALBANY—Post election fatigue has temporarily delayed an meeting between the Rockefeller Administration and the Civil Service Employees Assn. on the growing unrest among State clerical workers because of failure to obtain a salary reaffirmation.

Agitation on the upgrading plea surfaced into a series of protest meetings by chapters of the Employees Association around the State. As a result, Governor Rockefeller wired Joseph F. Fealy, CSEA president, that either his members of his staff would meet the Employees Association on the matter as soon as possible.

The principal strain of the recent concluded gubernatorial campaign, however, caused the Rockefeller Administration to put off "for a few days" in order to get some much-needed rest. The meeting is expected this week.

The clerical protests came following a wave of reallocations of hundreds of other titles to State service. Even more such upgradings may be approved in coming weeks, but there has never been any indication from the State that is intended to reallocate salaries.

Whether or not the Rockefeller Administration now intends to improve clerical wages through a salary reallocation is by no means definite. The Civil Service Employees Assn. plans to push the issue hard, however.

Clerks working in State institutions also feel there is an added grievance in that they have not been given the 37-hour work week enjoyed by other clerks. This may be settled during the forthcoming meetings.

Niagra Aides Urge 1/60 Retirement Plan

(From Leader Correspondent)

LOCKPORT—Coverage for Niagara County clerks under the 1/60th retirement plan is being sought by the Niagara chapter, Civil Service Employees Assn.

The chapter has appealed to the Niagara County Board of Supervisors to implement the plan in the 1967 budget and called for retroactive coverage to April 1 1960.

Mr. R. B. Husckan, chapter president, and other Association officers have already discussed the proposal with Chairman Robert J. MacKinnon of Lockport, and other supervisors on the Board's salary committee.

The Niagara chapter also has requested:

• Longevity bonus after 15 13 years and 16 years.
• Five days personal leave a year.
• Five weeks vacation after 20 years.
• Premium pay for shift workers.
• A county-wide $2,000 death benefit for employees after retirement.

Post Mortem On The New York Election

In the meantime, several CSEA chapters plan further protest meetings should the reallocations for clerical titles not be approved.

The chapter at Brooklyn State Hospital set a definite deadline of Nov. 19 for such a march should the issue not be settled by the time. Other meetings were held at Creedmore, Hudson River Valley and Plattin State Hospitals.

Bridge Authority Chapter Upgrading Appeal Formulated

HUDSON—Plans to present an upgrading petition for employees of the New York Bridge Authority were formulated by the Bridge Authority chapter, Civil Service Employees Assn. at a meeting at the Rip Van Winkle Bridge recently.

Some 40 members of the chapter were in attendance when the resolution addressed to Authority commissioners was drawn up.

The formal request will be presented at the next regular meeting of the Authority. In addition to the upgradings, the chapter is also seeking cash overtime payments, according to Eugene Dorem, chapter president.

Invited to the meeting were the first recipient of the Van Praag Named

ALBANY—Kenneth Van Praag has been named secretary to the State Narcotic Addiction Control Commission, a $14,990-a-year post.

He lives at West Sub Lake in an Albany suburb.

A graduate of Colby College, Van Praag served previously as executive assistant to the director of the State Youth Divisions.

To support their fight to gain these demands, the membership instituted picketing last week in front of the OCB offices at 360 Broadway.

Salary and Status

“Our professional men and women have not had a salary increase in over three years and our status and rights have been diminished,” according to Arnold Billig, president of the SCOPOA. “Now the City Department of Labor and the Judicial Conference have frozen us out of collective bargaining. Supreme Court probation officers have been joined with lower court personnel and are represented in collective bargaining by the Probation and Parole Officers Association.

“We feel that we should be represented by our own professional group, not by a group that has less than five percent of our members on its dues rolls,” Billig noted.

“We feel that we should return to the higher classifications with the higher qualifications and salary. City residents are being shortchanged by the reduced requirements for our positions which were enacted under Court Reorganization some years ago,” Billig stated.

It was learned at Leader press time that offers had been received from seven agencies seeking to hire, on the spot, many of the 150 employees. Two organizations offered to hire the entire 150, it was reported.

Individual interviews are currently underway between these officers and the SCOPOA membership.

Retroactive Social Security Coverage

Deadline Is Dec. 1

Herbert S. Bauch, president of Terminal Employes Local 332, has advised his membership in all City departments that the pending opportunity to accept retroactive social security coverage, by Retirement System members who have previously rejected such coverage, has been scheduled for December 1.

All members of the local were reminded that this may be the last such opportunity for quite some time because the Department of Health, Ethedahud and Welfare’s Social Security Administration, does not contemplate sponsoring any further amendments to the Social Security Laws in the foreseeable future. They are also reminded that the effective starting date of March 1, 1966 will remain and that the cost of the retroactive coverage may well be beyond the reach of most employees.

A follow-up listing of employees in City departments who have heretofore rejected retroactive Social Security coverage is being distributed to affected department locations. These employees now will have another opportunity to accept Social Security coverage.

Bauch reminded all Local 332 members who meet the eligibility requirements and desire Social Security coverage that they would not be required to appear in person at their respective payroll bureaus, but could obtain the necessary forms from their location supervisors.

BUFFALO — Erie County is hurting again because the area is falling behind in other municipalities in paying competitive salaries.

Erie chapter, Civil Service, that medical, nursing and tech- nical positions have remained vacant for years because Erie County salaries do not attract qualified personnel.

The question was a topic of discussion here Oct. 15, 13, 14, and 15 at the meeting in the Buffalo Statler Hilton of CSEA. The press.

Public Health engineering appears to be critical right now in the Buffalo area, but it can not hire personnel to do the job.

But only four of the 11 jobs are filled. Two, including the associate commissioner post, have never been filled and three have been vacant for more than a year. Three engineers resigned from Erie County service recently to take higher-paying jobs with the state.

3,650 Jobs Being Created By City Program Beginning Dec. 3

Last week Mayor John V. Lindsay announced that the City’s Neighborhood Youth Corps has received a $9.1 million grant from the United States Department of Labor which will be used to create 3,650 jobs for out-of-school youths in poverty areas.

According to the Mayor, the City will add $1.4 million to the Youth program, which will begin operations Dec. 3 and run for one year. He said that after the 3,650 jobs are filled, the City has been assured of additional monies.

The $0.1 million grant was approved in Washington two weeks ago.

Mayor Lindsay said, "This is the first contract negotiated by the recently created Manpower and Career Development Agency, which is part of the new Human Resources Administration headed by Mitchell Stridbrod.

The New York City Neighborhood Youth Corps, under the direct supervision of Robert Schrank and under the overall direction of Commissioner Ganz, operates throughout the five boroughs. It provides work experience and jobs at $1.25 per hour for youths from low-income families in the 16-22 age group.

Young people in the Program work in either public or private non-profit agencies, doing jobs that would not otherwise be performed. Commissioner Ganz said in addition to jobs, the Neighborhood Youth Corps offers remedial education, counseling and some pre-vocational training.

Commissioner Ganz gave this illustration:

A young woman interested in a clerical career, is placed in an office in a public or voluntary agency. Under supervision of a regular employee of the agency, she learns not only work discipline, but technical skills such as typing, filing, keeping logs and making appointments answering phones and greeting visitors.

During this work experience, the girl's counselor advises her about educational courses available to increase her skills and employability and, when she is prepared, guides her into placement in regular private or public employment.

Other youths, working as aides in fields such as carpentry, teaching, food service and photo-offset, receive similar pre-vocational training, along with encouragement to pursue remedial or training courses to increase their employability.

The City-wide telephone number for the National Youth Corps is 468-1220.

Accidental Disability

IMPORTANT as a source of clearly reasoned doctrine, Mr. Justice Nathaniel T. Heiman's recent opinion in Osrandr v. Board of Trustees Police Pension Fund, City of New York, Article II (New York Law Journal, October 31, 1966) is presented in this space in its entirety. Mr. Heiman's opinion applies to all police officers' applications for an accidental disability pension.

THE PETITIONER, with 22 years of service in the Police Department, was disabled by diabetes mellitus. This condition dates back to 1946 and was controlled by insulin. Over the years, according to the petitioner, far from disabling him, the diabetic condition had vastly improved.

THE PETITIONER argued that his present disability was service incurred and resulted from permanent injuries to his foot and shoulder. He protested his retirement for ordinary age, but insisted that his disability pension rate be based upon the service incurred disability. However, the Medical Board insisted that his disability was solely the result of diabetes.

In reaching a determination adverse to the petitioner, Judge Heiman ruled on the following issues:

1. WAS THE petitioner entitled to a jury trial?
2. WAS THE denial of an accidental disability pension arbitrary?
3. IS THE difference in treatment of members of the Article II pension fund from members of the Article I fund unconstitutional?

As to the right to a jury trial, the Court observed that the only issue was whether the determination by the Board of Trustees was arbitrary and capricious. Stated otherwise, the issue presented for review was whether this determination was based upon substantial evidence. This presents a question of law for the Court. There is no question of fact.

As to whether the denial of an accidental disability pension was arbitrary, the Court noted there was a conflict in the medical testimony. It was not for the Court to resolve the conflict so long as the Board's determination was supported by substantial medical evidence.

THE PETITIONER argued that the Police Pension Fund's doctors were prejudiced, but the Court did not believe they disregarded their professional obligations. Over the years, doctors were prejudiced, but the Court did not believe this doctrine was applied in a disordered or capricious manner.

ADDITIONAL ISSUES

1. WAS THE denial of an accidental disability pension arbitrary?
2. WAS THE denial of an accidental disability pension arbitrary?
3. IS THE difference in treatment of members of the Article II pension fund from members of the Article I fund unconstitutional?

Parole Pickets

It was a sad sight in a city whose sights can get suddenly sadder faster than Alexandria in a sandstorm when the parole officers of City's judicial right arm took to bearing the strikers' pickets. Departmental opposition to the absence of any pay raise by the City in the last two years in the face of the magnificent record they have built up in the performance of their duties, the parole officers themselves realized, was a threat to their privileges which the simple phrase 'pay raise' is almost too casual for. The parole officers realized that the absence of the promised raise meant their benefits, this being a part of their pay raise. They were faced with the prospect of having to change their ways of life to fit the new demands of their lives.

Power brings responsibility, however, and the Patro- men's Benevolent Assn. must quickly learn to exercise their power. The PBA victory was proof positive that parole employees can get what they want at the polls when they put their minds to it. The parole officers of City's judicial right arm took to bearing the Parole Pickets' pickets, not to seek employment elsewhere it can only result in the kind of sadness which the lack of hope promotes.

If you have been a member of the Statewide Plan for many years. Recently, I wanted to check the policy but can't find it. How can I get another copy of the insurance certificate, you should contact the personnel or payroll officer where you are employed for the necessary forms to accomplish this change. Since you do not say in your letter whether your son will be continuing in school, let me point out that if he is continuing in school as a full time student, you may cover him with a special student contract. If your son is eligible for this special student contract, you may get the necessary forms for this also from your personnel or payroll officer.

Q. I am a widow with one child who will be 18 next month. I now have a family contract under the Statewide Plan. I understand I can cover my son under a family contract after he becomes 19. How do I change over to an individual contract?

A. You should contact the personnel or payroll officer at the department where you are employed for the necessary forms to accomplish this change. Since you do not say in your letter whether your son will be continuing in school, let me point out that if he is continuing in school as a full time student, you may cover him with a special student contract. If your son is eligible for this special student contract, you may get the necessary forms for this also from your personnel or payroll officer.

Q. What are the benefits now under the Major Medical portion of the Statewide Plan? I understand these have been changed recently.

A. You are correct. Benefits under the Major Medical portion of the Statewide Plan were increased earlier this year. The maximum benefit during a calendar year is increased from $7,500 to $10,000. The maximum benefit during a lifetime is increased from $15,000 to $20,000. These increases along with the other increased benefits make the Statewide Plan even more valuable than it was before.

DO YOU SPEAK MEDIC?

Get a headache? Your doctor may call it "cephalalgia." Your nose bleeding? It's "epistaxis." Know somebody with the German measles? On the doctor's notes it'll appear as "rubella." You've heard of gallstones? The trouble is really "cholelithiasis." The technical terms describe the situation with scientific accuracy.

But no special jargon is needed to describe the doctor bill insurance protection you get as a GHI subscriber. Civil Service employees are covered from the first day, for the first dollar of cost. Your bills for home and office calls are paid in full for covered services if you choose one of thousands of GHI Participating Family Doctors in the New York area.

If you belong to a medical plan, we suggest you check the above list against your family's experiences with medical care over the past year or so.

If you can check the "yes" box for every question, you are either an H.I.P. member or you haven't had much need for doctors' services lately.

In H.I.P.'s basic service program, claim forms are needed only for emergencies requiring the use of non-H.I.P. physicians. They are also needed for optional benefits such as anesthesia and prescribed drugs and appliances.

There are two ways to choose a health plan.

1. The hard way:

Check every available plan to see how many of the following benefits it provides:
- 365-day coverage for each hospital stay, with covered-in-full benefits for most hospital services — not just room and board.
- Full hospital coverage for maternity care.
- Basic benefits for in-hospital doctor consultations.
- No dollar limit on most basic benefits... no limit on lifetime maximum basic benefits.
- No "deductible" to pay out of your own pocket for hospital and surgical services.
- Doctor services paid in full for those who qualify by income.
- Emergency dental care.
- Supplemental protection — up to $50,000 for each family member — to help take care of big bills not covered by basic benefits.
- Same supplemental benefits for nervous and mental conditions as for physical illness.
- Supplemental benefits for those eligible for Medicare:

2. The easy way:

Choose the "High Option" Government-Wide Service Benefit Plan. It covers you for all of the benefits listed at the left. This is the plan administered by Blue Cross and Blue Shield.

Since a point in the early sixties and so they have, if the adjective "government" is properly qualified, government employees can make a strong case about the driving of the concept of comparability and the fact that the latest figures do not include the most recent and substantial wage increases won in private industry.

Three Memorials Presented By Dongan Guild

Memorial for both the living and deceased members of the Dongan Guild of New York State Employees were presented recently by Catherine Hafele, guild president, during the annual Communion Breakfast at the New York Hilton Hotel.

The memorial for the living was given to the Rev. Dr. John E. Old St. Peter's Church, Barstow St, while the memorial, a set of Mass medals, was presented to Rev. Clarence Grossner, O.P.M. Cap, for delivery at the Church of the Perpetual Clare, at one of the Capuchin Father's missions.

Parker Hay is a former New York City firefighter.

The vestments were donated by a group of employees of the Motor Vehicle Dept. in honor of deceased members of the department.

Miss Hafele, president of the Guild for the past 13 years, was cited for her leadership by Lieutenant Governor Malcolm Wilson. Wilson has served as toastmaster at the annual Communion Breakfast for the past eight years.

Principle speaker was the Very Rev. M. R. B. Counselor General of the Trinity- an Fathers. Father Hay discussed the order's mission in Negro and underprivileged areas of Southern United States. He pointed out that many of students graduating from mission schools have not only graduated from college, but have become highly successful in professional life.

Parker Hay was presented with a donation for the designation of a memorial for deceased members of the guild.

General chairman of the breakfast was Joseph Conti, a member of the Dongan Guild. Wilson was presented with a donation for the designation of a memorial for deceased members of the guild.

Most of the public was well aware of Rockefeller's interest here—62 of 62 counties for John-Frank; an improvement over 1964 when he had a 17.9 percent share of the vote. Humphrey's candidacy had given his all for Rockefeller—once and probably will. But in the meantime, the “pols” are wondering whether Rockefeller should campaign in New York with anybody that counts. If Rockefeller is definitely out for 1968, perhaps this is because the Presidential election is two years away and they saw no immediate urgency in supporting him with permanent force. This thinking could change and probably will. But in the meantime, the “pol” are wondering just what they get from the Vice President after delivering the biggest Presidential victory here—62 of 62 counties for Johnson—and are very anxious to see whether Al Gore gets a chance to campaign for a Presidency in which he and Humphrey have been the leaders.

Other Observations

A great deal was said about the spending of money, more in New York and elsewhere. While Rockefeller did spend a good deal of money—more in Washington, that was not the only reason he won the campaign. His own political campaign committees have been very active. John and Frank O'Connor made the added effort. Perhaps this is why Rockefeller was not the only candidate who had a good showing, but the stock of the White House man was definitely raised.

At Oneida County CSEA Rally

Political candidates "owe a debt to the voters," Frank G. O'Hara, Oneida County CSEA director, told some 120 persons recently at a rally in the PLAV Hall, Utica.

Talienie continued, "This is an opportu- nity for the candidates to get to know people 305 days a year before election like they're doing now."

Talienie, who is special court clerk for Oneida County, said he thought "more emphasis should be placed on the delegates to the State Constitution Convention."

"I don't think there will be any- other such convention in the 20th century," he said; "we should make the crowd "to be very careful in your choice."

The overflow crowd, most of them government and civil service employees, jammed the halls to hear the speakers. Almost all the can- didates give their views.

If the candidates didn't appear in person, they sent representa- tives. Candidates, or their proxies were limited to two minutes speaking time.

Among those speaking were Sheehybookle, a director of the Receiv- ing County, and Scott Cleaver, White- stand in behalf of Assemblyman William Beekhouse, Jack J. Den-
