CSEA Health Dept. Meet On Vital Issues

A successful session of the CSEA-Health Dept. was convened in room 200 of the Administration Building in Albany last week. The session was attended by more than 100 members of the Department of Health, Employees Relations Committee, and the Departmental Central Committee.

The meeting was called to order by President Joseph B. Roulier, who was assisted by Secretary-Treasurer William Cunningham and Assistant Treasurer Catherine Inkson.

In his opening remarks, Roulier said that the purpose of the meeting was to discuss important issues affecting CSEA members who are employed in the Department of Health.

Among the subjects covered were:
- The current state of the health care system in New York State.
- The need for more public awareness of the work of the Department of Health.
- The importance of public education in health care.

Roulier emphasized the need for increased funding for public health programs and the importance of involving the public in decision-making processes.

The meeting concluded with a vote of confidence in the leadership of the Department of Health and a call for increased involvement of CSEA members in the decision-making process.

Vote Exclusive Bargaining For Levittown

LEVITTOWN—The Levittown School Board last week voted to recommend the adoption of a contract with the CSEA for employees other than office staff and school administrators.

The contract, which is to be negotiated between the CSEA and the Board, will cover all employees in the Levittown School District.

The Board's decision follows a vote of the full school board in favor of exclusive bargaining for all employees.

The CSEA is currently negotiating with the Board on the terms of the contract.

Perkinson Takes State Post

Roulier Appointed CSEA Public Relations Director

ALBANY—Appointment of Joseph B. Roulier to the position of public relations director for the Civil Service Employees Assn. was announced last week by Joseph P. Felly, CSEA president.

Roulier, CSEA's assistant director of public relations, has been asked to submit his resignation prior to his promotion to the new position.

Perkinson, who resigned recently to assume the post of director of public information for the New York State Teachers' Retirement Fund, was a resident of DeForestville, North Greenbush, where he had worked for many years.

In his new position, Perkinson will head the Teachers' Retirement System's newly-created department of public information.

In addition to informing the public and the system's members of its activities, the new department will offer informational and counseling services directly to interested groups throughout the state through a staff of field representatives.

Perkinson, who lives in Loudonville, is a graduate of the State University of New York at Albany, Class of 1959. He began a career in journalism as a writer with the Troy Record and later worked in the Albany Bureau of the Associated Press. He is a member of the Hudson Mohawk chapter, Public Relations Society of America; vice president of the New York College Alumni Association; and was Public Relations chairman of the State Division of the Albany Community Chest-Red Cross Campaign of 1966.

Roulier, CSEA's assistant director of public relations, has been asked to submit his resignation prior to his promotion to the new position.

A resident of DeForestville, North Greenbush, Roulier joined the staff of the Employees Assn. in 1963 as field representative in advertising and sales promotion for more than a year.

In that position, he worked in the Albany Bureau of the Associated Press. He is a member of the Hudson Mohawk chapter, Public Relations Society of America; vice president of the New York College Alumni Association; and was Public Relations chairman of the State Division of the Albany Community Chest-Red Cross Campaign of 1966.

State Releases To CSEA Lists Of Positions Ineligible For Overtime

ALBANY—The State Budget Division last week submitted to the Civil Service Employees Assn. lists of additional positions recommended by the Albany area, where he had worked as an associate in radio and television for more than a decade.

In addition to informing the public and the system's members of its activities, the new department will offer informational and counseling services directly to interested groups throughout the state through a staff of field representatives.

Get Close the Friendship

How close is the friendship between Albano and Lindsay? Lindsay's close friend, former deputy mayor and political consultant Peter Price was Albano's nominator at the leadership election.

Lindsay attended the election and heard Albano call him "the greatest Mayor since Fiorello La Guardia." Albano was the prime mover in Lindsay's election to Congress and there is a lot of mutual respect apparent.

But Albano's first loyalty goes to the Republican Party and not to any one Republican—say Gover- nor Rockefeller. It has been made very clear that Lindsay cannot command money for the Man- hattan GOP. Albano shows strength in matters of his own administration and he alone runs the County Committee.

Nassau Hits False Union Reports

Suffolk Board Agrees — No Deal

With Unions After Villa Protest

RIVERHEAD — A sharp protest voiced by Robert Villa, president of the Suffolk County chapter, Civil Service Employees Assn., last week drew an agreement from the county board of supervisors that no deals will be made with any unions.

The response of Supervisor John V. N. Klein, chairman of the board's labor committee, was taken to mean that representation questions were frozen, until regulations under the new Public Employees Fair Employment Act are promulgated after next Jan. 1.

Villa also denounced erroneous reports in newspapers alleging that employees of the county buildings and grounds department wanted a union.

In Mineola the same day, Nassau chapter president Irving Flaumenbaum delivered a similar warning to the Nassau board of supervisors. Stories have been "planted" in newspapers, Flaumenbaum told the board, indicating that union organizational meet- ings are well attended. "We have had people attending these meetings," he told the board "and can report to you that the stories are untrue."

Villa told the Suffolk board: "Until procedures have been written and approved by the State Public Employees Relations Board no action toward ordering any new representation elections will be challenged—and we are prepared to go to court if necessary."

"We are the organization that represents the county employees and we intend to fight for our rights in whatever way that is necessary."

Villa referred specifically to published reports that a union had been adopted by members of the buildings and grounds department and that the union had scheduled a meeting with Suffolk Labor Commissioner Lou V. Tempera.

"The fact is," Villa said, "that CSEA represents 220 of the 238 members of this department and more than 200 persons met at the Elks Club last recently to honor William Hurlith Sr., on his retirement as traffic engineer for District 8, of the State Department of Public Works. Hurlith, who completed 40 years service with the State, was honored by speeches by assistant district engineer John Martin, Deep Voel, maintenance engineer for the district, and district engine- ers Nicholas Saccone.

"Presenting awards to Hurlith were John B. Kern, president of CSEA chapter of the Civil Service Employees Assn., who presented the Association's "Certificate of Meritorious Service);" James J. Moriaty, president of the District 8 Association of Highway En- gineers, who presented a "Life Membership" plaque; retired State Police Sergeant Frank Simmons who presented a gift in appreciation of cooperation by Hurlith with the various State Police Troops in the area; and Robert S. Cosgrove, dinner chairman and assistant to Hurlith, who presented a gift from fellow employees.

Mannahasset — Alex Bozza was installed as head of a list of officers of the North Nassau Town unit of the Nassau County chapter, Civil Service Employees Assn., in ceremonies recently in town hall.

The officers were sworn in by Robert Meade, town attorney and Republican candidate for supervisor. Assisting Bozza will be: Fred Rodurdy as first vice president, Elwood Case as second vice president, Angela Mora as third vice president, Vincent Vacio as treasurer, Catherine Campbell as secretary and David Rappeleye as sergeant-at-arms.

IN THE CONDUCT of disciplinary proceedings against civil service employees, the person acting as the hearing officer is usually a high official of the same department as the employee charged with misconduct or incompetency. As a result, there is a potential conflict of interest in the point of view of the commissioner and supervisory employees responsible for the charges and with the departmental attorney prosecuting them. Under such circumstances, the hearing officer can hardly be considered impartial.

In a recent disciplinary proceeding instituted against a plan examiner, the Commissioner of Buildings, Charles G. Moercier, dissolved this manifest impediment to due process by appointing an assistant plan examiner. This appointment had no relationship to the Department of Buildings. Arthur Q. Funn Bq, attorney for the National Urban League, denied his services in this capacity with unquestionable impartiality and conscientiousness.

There were five charges against the plan examiner. All of them alleged incompetency in the processing of building notices and applications for approval of building permits. The examiner's error was made two years earlier and then dropped without prosecution. However, they were resurrected.

The gist of the first charge was that the employee had examined applications in other than chronological order. The employee explained that he examined applications ahead of turn when the necessary information was not available for more orderly processing.

The second charge concerned itself with a curb-cut application for off street parking by the owner of a two family house. Actually, there was absolutely nothing wrong with the owner's plans or with the examiner's approval, but technical shortcomings concerning the examiner's procedures served as a basis for the charge.

The third charge was merely a statement in different words of the second charge.

The fourth and fifth charges consisted of an accusation that the examiner should not have approved an application to add a second story to a house. There was a miniature golf course. The employee contended that the approval was not in error at all because archery ranges are come under Use Group 13. This Use Group, besides including miniature golf courses, also includes children's amusement parks in which archery is a popular sport. A complicating aspect of this charge was the fraudulent claim of the property owner whose plan showed 180 feet available for the course, whereas, however, neatly turn the tables on an accusing supervisor when he called attention to the supervisor's cancellation of the employee's direction that a registered architect prepare the plan. The employee contended convincingly that if a registered architect had been required to submit plans, misrepresentation would have been less likely.

During the periods involved in all of the charges, the employee had been working for another assistant plan examiner. His performance to plan examiner after competitive examination was subsequent to the periods encompassed by the charges. Yet, the charges erroneously characterized the employee as a plan examiner. His duties as an assistant plan examiner required him to submit reports for approval.

While an assistant, the employee's work was not supervised and his reports and recommendations were final. Under such circumstances, the employee, through his attorney, stated that he should be condemned not condemned.

The employee, with the specific interpretation of the charges, interpreted the charges to mean that the employee should have notified the supervisor of the employee's views. The employee, in his defense, stated that the employee's relief was not unusual of any of the examiners.

The Pension Committee is determined by the New York Workmen's Compensation Board and the employee contested the determination. The superintendent's decision was that the approval was not in error at all because archery ranges are come under Use Group 13. This Use Group, besides including miniature golf courses, also includes children's amusement parks in which archery is a popular sport. A complicating aspect of this charge was the fraudulent claim of the property owner whose plan showed 180 feet available for the course, whereas, however, neatly turn the tables on an accusing supervisor when he called attention to the supervisor's cancellation of the employee's direction that a registered architect prepare the plan. The employee contended convincingly that if a registered architect had been required to submit plans, misrepresentation would have been less likely.
The House Post Office and Civil Service Compensation Subcommittee has concluded public hearings on the Federal pay raises. The substance of the varied arguments on the pay increases will be considered by the eight congressmen on the subcommittee after the July 4th recess.

Meanwhile senator A.S. "Mike" Monroney, chairman of the Senate Post Office and Civil Service Committee has indicated that his committee will hold separate hearings on pay and postal rates. This comes after much speculation that the House would combine its pay recommendations with its recommendations on postal rates in a single bill for presentation to the Senate.

The public hearings added with very little added to the recommendations that had been coming in from employee representatives since the committee first began hearing testimony—a long time ago. Prime recommendations opposed to the President's proposed 4.5 per cent increase for Federal workers still are those suggesting around a 2 per cent increase. It is more likely, however, that the President will get his 4.5 per cent raise through with a clause making the raise retroactive to July 1 of this year.

ttee included Arthur F. Kasson, Jr., first vice president of CSEA's Central Conference and John J. Ray, CSEA field representative.

The increases in benefits asked include:

- An increase from $125 to $200 in the longevity increment given county workers at the end of 10 years and every five years thereafter.

- Full payment of the premium for the state health plan for employees (the county now pays one half the premium cost) and 50 per cent of the premium for dependents under the plan. Both will be effective Jan. 1, 1968.

- Full weeks of vacation after 15 years instead of the present 20 years. Employees receive two weeks vacation after five years and three weeks after 10 years.

- An increase from three to five days of personal leave.

What will result from this leader? It is now the task of the majority for the GOP.

Primary Fight Necessary

Lindsay's position is extremely difficult if not impossible at the present time to muster enough strength to win the nomination without a primary fight. And a primary fight, even if he were to run on a Lindsay independent campaign, would give him no real chances for re-election. But this is today. Tomorrow, next week or next day, new political—things could change.

Suffolk CSEA Makes Salary Break Through With School Board

PATCHOGUE—In a significant breakthrough, negotiators of the Suffolk County chapter, Civil Service Employees Assn., have won agreement with a school unit tying salaries to the county level and providing contingency funds to match an expected boost there.

The agreement came with the Board of Cooperative Educational Services, No. 2, which has about 4,500 civil service employees and serves the Smithtown-Islip-Brookhaven town area. The agreement came in a list of five major mands for exclusive recognition of CSEA and job tenure and security provisions for non-com petitive and labor class employees. "We expect results on these shortly," Villa added.

Negotiations were conducted by field representative John Corcoran Jr. with Dr. William Pethel, district superintendent, and Jack Fechter, assistant district super intendent.

Meanwhile, CSEA won a $200 across-the-board salary increase for custodial employees and payroll deduction of dues in the Patchogue-Medford School District 24. Unit president Joseph Lewis declared the gains "a mark new era for CSEA representa

ALBANY—A statement in full support of pending re allocating industrial investigator titles as follows:

• Industrial investigator, grade 13 to "labor standards repre sentative," grade 14.

• Senior industrial investigator, grade 17 to "senior labor standards representative," grade 18.
