CSEA CALLS IMPASSE IN STATE BARGAINING

Willowbrook, Others To Benefit
Governor Adds More Funds For Mental Hygiene Staffing

ALBANY — A relentless year-long campaign by the Civil Service Employees Assn. to dramatize the brutal effects of firings and budget freezes on patients and employees in the State Mental Hygiene Department bore fruit last week when Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller announced he had included an extra $20,000,000 in his proposed budget to allow for additional staffing in State mental institutions.

The amount is little more than half of the funds cut from Mental Hygiene in last year's diminished of the Governor's budget by the Legislature. While the money will not allow full-staffing in all institutions, it will permit positions to be filled as they fall vacant from now on. In addition, special attention will be paid to staffing at Willowbrook State Hospital, Letchworth Village and other units, which means that more attendants and other personnel will be hired in so-called "certain" situations despite the general freeze on hiring.

Responsibility for allocating the additional funds falls on Dr. Alan Miller, Department Commissioner.

The CSEA campaign to call public attention to the overburdened staff in State institutions, and the accompanying drop in the quality of patient care began immediately after the State closed down some hospitals and reduced the work force in others, mainly by not filling positions as they fell vacant.

Some Risked Jobs

During this period, many CSEA members, working in these institutions caring details of the plight of patients to the press and other media. The Leader covered in depth the deterioration of working and patient conditions in institutions ranging from Long Island to Buffalo. As recently as last Friday, Mental Hygiene chapter presidents in the CSEA (Continued on Page 14)

Accord Reached In Nassau

MINEOLA—After the longest and hardest negotiations in Nassau County history, the Nassau chapter of the Civil Service Employees Assn. last week came up with a package that provides a salary increase plus 24 new benefits for employees.

The one-year agreement, accepted unanimously by the 15-member negotiating committee, was being submitted to a mail ballot among members of CSEA. It was announced by chapter president Irving Flamenbaum. The settlement has already been approved by the 69-member steering committee.

The agreement was topped by a flat five percent pay increase, with a minimum of $2,500. This was in addition to graded-salary-plan increments averaging five percent. About 70 percent of the County's more than 13,000 workers are eligible for increments this year.

A struggle during 30 weeks of negotiations over the County's proposal to eliminate the graded salary plan had triggered three walkouts by the CSEA negotiating team.

Flamenbaum said that the 24 new benefits gained included items of concern to the entire range of County employees. "This is," he stated, "a result of the broad spectrum of interests represented on the negotiating committees." Other major points included:

- Mileage allowance upped to 12 cents.
- Extra vacation day after 10 years.
- Conversion of accumulated sick leave upon retirement upped to 25 percent.
- Death benefit of $10,000 for on-the-job accident in addition to other benefits.
- Across-the-board revision of nurses' salaries to bring scales in line with public and private pay rates in the area.
- Seniority to be a major con-

Walks Out on Talks After State Fails To Make Wage Offer

The union has been negotiating with the State since last fall. Their action occurred before the Governor had submitted his new budget proposals to the Legislature early this week. Although his fiscal program did not call for any further reduction in the State work force, it also did not include any funds for a salary increase or any other benefits.

In addition, the Governor called attention to the fact that the job freeze was still on, with certain exceptions in Mental Hygiene and one or two other agencies, and said that savings through job attrition would continue.

CSEA president Theodore C. Wenzel, said: "It's obvious to us that the State has no intention of making any offer at this time, that it is futile for us to continue any discussions under these circumstances."

Wenzel said the Administration "is using the current fiscal situation as an excuse not to bargain. State employees should not be deprived of a decent contract, particularly of the raises and other benefits recently accorded Federal workers and public employees in jurisdictions such as New York City, which is faced with similar fiscal problems." Wenzel noted that substantial pay increases have been won by clerical workers, hospital aides, transit employees, fire-

THE UNITED STATES Department of Labor has entered into an historic agreement with the International Association of Firefighters, which will help in the training and recruitment of minority groups for Fire Departments in cities across the Nation.

OUR ONLY regret is that New York City is not one of the 16 municipalities chosen to begin the $425,000 program.

AT THE CONTRACT signing ceremony held at the Labor Department last November, IAFF President William Howard McGlennan said: "We feel that this project will go a long way toward increasing minority representation in the fire service. At the same time, this project will help to maintain vitally needed professional standards in the fire service and to continue to provide first class fire protection to our urban areas."

UNDER the program, firefighter recruiters and instructors, serving under the direction of a full-time Project Administrator, will prepare applicants for civil service exams, oral interviews and physical exams, which make up the firefighter selection process.

THIS IS the sensible, fair way to achieve greater minority group participation in the Fire Department. The New York City Fire Department has had a long history of successful integration in the work force, basically because every man was truly equal to the task, and we worked as a close-knit team.

BUT THE UFWA is dead set against these schemes put forth by the Lindsay Administration to achieve greater minority participation by lowering standards. That isn't good for the Fire Department. It isn't good for the minority group members being brought in. And it isn't good for the people of the City.

THE MAYOR, the Fire Commissioner, and the City Hall aides who have so much to say about the operation of the Fire Department, should be pushing hard in Washington to expand the program to include our own City, and at the same time working to improve it even more.

NEW YORK CITY needs this program, and it is a shame that it was not included in the first year of operation. The Lindsay Administration should be pushing hard in Washington to expand the program to include our own City, and at the same time working to improve it even more.

ONE SUGGESTION would be to place heavy emphasis on recruitment and training of returning Viet Nam veterans. Statistics show that more than half of this City's veterans live in disadvantaged neighborhoods, and one in four is unemployed.

STEPS COULD be taken by the Federal Government, in cooperation with the City, to improve the prospects for veterans who want to apply for the Fire Department. One such step would be to allow special examinations for veterans by lowering standards. That wouldn't be good for the Fire Department. It isn't good for the minority group members being brought in. And it isn't good for the people of the City.

IF MAYOR Lindsay is sincere in his pledge to listen to the forgotten votes of America, he can begin here in our home City, where the Viet Nam veteran is being shamefully neglected. Only 19 percent of these young men are presently taking advantage of G.I. bill educational opportunities, mostly because $175 a month can't pay for the cost of a college education. That's basically a failure of our Federal Government, I know, but there are a great many things the Chief Executive of New York City can do to improve the opportunities for veterans to join the Fire Department.

IT IS NOT being done. It should be done.

Unit manager Kirby Hannan and his partner John Tolle took up their position in a special area in front of the Binghamton Regional Office's headquarters at the Security Mutual Building in Binghamton last week as Binghamton chapter president Stan Yaney, and field representatives Theodore Modrzewski and Rick Sroka stood by as informal waiting committee.

The unit, which had been on the roads since July of last year, was up and running and ready to roll at the Binghamton State Hospital. The unit representatives Trela and Hannan joined Modrzewski and Sroka in answering questions for CSEA members and visitors at both sites dealing with virtually every aspect of various chapters, the CSEA's mobile headquarters unit.

"TWENTY-FIVE YEARS OF SERVICE TO NEW YORKERS"
Poor Mouthing

THERE is no longer any doubt that the State is going to make the most out of its current budget crisis, by putting pressure on the Civil Service Employees Assn., which represents 140,000 State workers, to back off from its demands for a wage increase this year.

The crescendo of poor mouthing reached a climax last week when negotiations between the Rockefeller Administration and the CSRA, which calls out of the Employees Association — after the State refused to make any offer whatsoever on a wage hike.

Justifiably, the CSRA has accused the State of acting in bad faith and of trying to wear out its enmity with repetition. There is no guarantee, however, that meditation will produce any good faith action on the part of the State.

We find it extremely deplorable that the Rockefeller Administration is using the current fiscal situation as an excuse not to bargain. Local governments with far less sources of revenue at their command have recognized the moral responsibilities of raising employees’ salaries. The State, with its formidable means of raising revenue, has no such excuse not to bargain.

In essence, there is no need for an impasse. History shows that the State can always find money when it has to. In an election year, the State has to provide the public with the services the public demands and needs.

Suffolk County has announced a pair of promotional examinations now open for filling prior to the Jan. 28 deadline: principal stenographer and principal clerk.

The principal stenographer performs the necessary work and responsible clerical and stenographic duties. In addition to the usual duties of the office, this work is very painful and difficult.

The Jan. 28 deadline for the principal stenographer is $381.40.

A principal stenographer must have been employed for at least two years as a stenographer or at least one year as a senior stenographer or senior clerk typist and must be proficient in the use of a typewriter.

Salary currently is about $281 bl-weekly, although this varies by jurisdiction within the County.

The written test on Feb. 19 will include basic reading and punctuation test, and a stenography test for qualification only, calls for 400 words per minute typing speed and five minutes to transcribe 50 words.

For more information, see announcement of examination No. 794.

The principal clerk, with starting salary of about $381, is responsible for difficult clerical duties and supervision of other employees on specialized clerical assignments.

Candidates must have served as senior clerk, clerk typist or stenographer in their jurisdiction for at least two years. The written test on Feb. 19 will be similar to that for principal stenographer, and there will be an additional qualifying examination.

The principal clerk is responsible for the ongoing activities of the Association, but this has been completely rectified.

A report of limitations on natural gas supply.

To avoid what could become a serious gas supply problem, the New York State Public Service Commission has ordered all gas utilities in the State to put some limits on the sale of gas. Gas to one- and two-family homes is restricted; but for many other uses it is not.

Con Edison's existing contracts for natural gas and our provision for future supplementary gas supplies grant customers the right to use gas as required for cooking, water heating, and other purposes. New apartment buildings may use gas as required for cooking and water heating. Such buildings now using gas for other purposes may continue to do so.

2. New apartment buildings may use gas as required for cooking and water heating. Such buildings now using gas for other purposes may continue to do so.

3. New apartment buildings may use gas as required for cooking and water heating. But for other uses such as space heating, the buildings must be equipped with 100 percent standby facilities capable of using an alternative fuel. Natural gas is a clean-burning fuel and the gas is utilized in a furnace supply no more than two residential units.

4. New restaurants may use gas for the preparation of food.

5. Existing commercial customers using 12,000,000 cubic feet of gas a year are limited to 120 percent of their highest gas use in any one of the past three years. Those using 12,000,000 cubic feet, whichever is less.

6. Customers may continue to use additional gas for any purpose so long as they have 100 percent standby facilities to burn an alternative fuel.

There are certain other restrictions on the use of gas. Before you spend any money for new gas equipment, please contact us to make sure your intended use of gas is allowable under the PSC Order. One's father was a great daily newspaper photographer and also a very good person. George Torri was always one of the finest, kindest, and most considerate men I have ever known. In Valley Stream Schools

Custodial Employees Will Vote For Representation

(Special To The Leader)

VALLEY STREAM, N.Y., Jan. 24 -- The Civil Service Employees Ass'n, representing the majority of custodial employees in the Valley Stream (L.I.) school system, will defend its status as official representative in an election next week.

The election, which will be held on Jan. 26, 1963, at the CSEA against Local 100, SEIU.

Custodians and head custodians of District No. 1 may vote Monday, Jan. 24, from 3 to 4 p.m., at the Memorial High School Cafeteria.

District No. 24 custodians may vote Tuesday, Jan. 25, from 3 to 4 p.m., at the William Buck School.

Dr. Theodore C. Wenzl, state president of CSEA, said he felt "very confident that we will win in the Valley Stream school district. CSEA has done an outstanding job for our people there, and they know that.

"Local 100 is using every disruptive action in attempting to unseat us," Wenzl continued. "They know they can't beat us at the ballot box, so they are using the most foul means to divide the ranks. The employees have been working very well as one unit, and everybody, including Local 100, knows that. They just hope that by setting up conflicts between the two units, this will sap some of CSEA's strength. It's not going to work."

To Add Funds for Mental Hygiene

Southern Conference area held a press conference in Newburgh on hospital conditions.

The pressure on the State government to alleviate the medical aspect of patient care came to a head last week, and one official conceded privately that the administration's heavy-handed criticism in recent weeks had brought the issue to the forefront.

The official added, however, that the State must be viewed as a national entity in solving some of the urgent problems in Mental Hygiene with the present situation.

"I am determined to see our long battle result in recognition of our problems by compelling the State's most unfortunate citizens and the dedicated workers who care for them," he declared.

Wendt withheld judgement, however, on whether or not the problems are too great to be handled with the increased allotment in funds for the State.

A tour of Willowbrook State Hospital, by Governor Alfred E. Smith (D-Manhattan) was covered by ABC television in New York City last week, and the doubts of patients who were unable to take care of themselves, lying in corridors, and on the streets of State institutions because of an insufficient work force, caused a furor in the news media. Other aspects of the Mental Hygiene problem were also aired on additional telecasts.

Governor's Word Given

Another angle to the Governor's announcement of a seminar in the departmental freeze is that he will do something about Mental Hygiene or, at a minimum, not cut any funds from the department before the next legislative session. Wendt later made the pledge in return for Democratic support for his fiscal program.

A report on Martin Gilberg (D-Long Island), GOP chairman of the Assembly Health Committee, has already indicated that Wendt was more than willing to go along with the budget proposals. However, the resolution of the full Assembly and Senate to the Governor's fiscal plan will not be known until later in the session.

Insured On Injuries

Nearly 2.7 million workers and their families collect monthly social security disability benefits totaling $3 billion a year.

Wendt said his union also will file an improper practice charge against the State Public Employment Relations Board, "because the State is refusing to negotiate, and is acting in bad faith."

Members of the joint legislative-political action committee of the Civil Service Employees Ass'n, were told by chairman Thomas McDonough that "The immediate problem today is to set up a responsible network of people throughout the State. Among those attending the meeting were, from left, George Butler, Boris Kramarich, Vincent Rubano, Delbert Langstaff, John Mrozowski and Albert D'Antoni.

Also participating in the Jan. 12 meeting at the Hyatt House Motel in Albany were, from left, Vito Dandrea, Andrew Placito, Olivia Allen, Donald Blake.

 associate counsel Jack Rice, left, brings the committee up to date on progress regarding voting records of legislators. Listening to his report are counsel secretary Llada Rosa, Henry Glaberg, Stephen Slouter, John Clark and CSEA public relations director Joseph Roulier.

• Unclaimed Checks Waiting For Many City Employees

Several dozen present and former City employees have already claimed their back pay, but many others con- cluded to pick up their unclaimed checks through the weekly listing of names in the Leader. If you are among these employees, you owe at least $75 in back pay, vacation pay, uniform allowances, etc.

This is the Leader’s tenth listing covering the period of deposit of unclaimed checks with the Finance Administra- tion’s Division of Refunds from Sept. 8, 1970 through Sept. 18, 1970. Because of the bookkeeping system of the City’s accounting funds, it is necessary to report this information when filing for an unclaimed check.

Claims must be made with the employer’s address, the abbreviation of which is listed after each name. The process is simple: just fill in the number and drawing the check then takes about four weeks, after which the check is mailed to the claimant.

Some of the employees listed may be deceased, and their beneficiaries may make claims by presenting a Surrogate’s Court order or a paid-in-full funeral bill.

CSEA Fights Termination Of MH Meat Cutters As Violation Of Agreement

(Special To The Leader)

ALBANY — At Leader preeminence, a third-stage grievance, filed by the Civil Service Employees Assn. was on its way to Mental Hygiene Commissioner Alan D. Miller protesting the proposed termination of meat cutters in all State Mental Hygiene facilities as a violation of the existing CSEA-State agreement covering Institutional Unit employees. A letter sent to all institutions by Jack J. Bell, director of the Mental Hygiene Bureau of Nutritional Services, calling for the laying off of meat cutters as of Feb. 9, 1972, and the cancellation of all meat cutting enterprises at the Mental Hygiene supply facility in Amsterdam, promoted the CSEA protest.

The union maintains that the order is a violation of Article 20.1 of the Institutional Services Unit contract negotiated by CSEA and the State.

The article states: "There shall be no loss of present jobs by permanent employees as a result of the State's exercise of its right to contract out for goods and services."

According to CSEA president, Theodore C. Wenz, the meeting has been set up for Jan. 29, between top CSEA officials and Miller in Albany, to discuss the meat cutter grievance.

Wenz said that the move to terminate the meat cutters "may sound familiar to many State employees. This action by the Department of Mental Hygiene is similar to a previous attempt to lay off bakers at Mental Hygiene facilities."

CSEA recently protested this move through the grievance procedure and the Department agreed to offer other jobs in the Department to all bakers that were fired, if we withdrew our grievance."

POLITICAL ACTION

Niagara Driver Rescues Man Near Falls

NIGARA FALLS — An act of bravery, above and beyond the call of duty, by an employee of the Niagara Frontier State Park Commission "should help to show the kind of concern and dedication that public employees in New York State have for their fellow man," according to Theodore C. Wenz, president of the Civil Service Employees Assn.

Neno Battachio, a delivery truck driver for the Commission, pulled a man, Gerald Schoures, from the Niagara River near the American Rapid Bridge about a quarter-mile from the Falls.

Upon seeing Schoures in the water, Battachio, who was driving on the Robert Moses Parkway, called the police on his truck's two-way radio and then seized a fence to reach the man in the water.

Wenz learned of the State employee's rescue at a meeting attended by Anthony Serranti, president of the Niagara Frontier chapter of CSEA.

Battachio is also an officer in the CSEA chapter.

"It shouldn't really require an act of heroism to bring to the public's attention the high caliber of men and women who are serving the people of New York State as public employees," Wenz said, "since this type of dedication is evident in the day-to-day work performed by the majority of our State employees.

"But if people begin to take for granted the consistently high quality of performance of these public servants, extraordinary acts, like that by Mr. Battachio, will continue to point out the altruistic spirit of the State employee, devoted to helping their fellow citizens."
