Osterrmann Accepts CSEA Bid To Resolve MH Crisis Over Patient Therapy Tasks

(Special to The Leader)

ALBANY — At Leader pressstime, Melvin Osterrmann, director of the State's Office of Employee Relations, has agreed to the Civil Service Employees Assn.'s demand to meet immediately to resolve a crisis developing when thousands of patients throughout the Mental Hygiene institutions were told that they could no longer work to their assigned duties.

Historically, patients in Mental Hygiene institutions have performed certain duties as a routine basis. The tasks performed are recommended as part of patient therapy programs and

Arrange Additional HS Equivalency Training For Institutional Employees

(Special To The Leader)

ALBANY — In accordance with the 1972-3 contract for the State Institutional Services Unit negotiated between Civil Service Employees Assn. and the State, the Department of Mental Hygiene has arranged for additional remedial training opportunities for institutional employees who plan to seek a high school equivalency diploma.

According to a CSEA spokesman, the holders of high school equivalency diplomas must find them additionally valuable since the amendment of CSEA-negotiated career ladders.

These additional preparation courses for taking high school equivalency test will be held at sites that can be easily reached by Mental Hygiene employees.

The Mental Hygiene Department will also offer Spanish language versions of these courses on Long Island and in New York City, if enough interest is shown.

According to the CSEA spokesman, employees interested in taking these courses should contact their high school equivalency training coordinator or personnel office, or write the Bureau of Education and Training, Department of Mental Hygiene, 44 Holland Ave., Albany, N.Y. 12208.

Nassau Employees Get Increnienls Jan. 1, But Contract Talks Remain Deadlocked

MINEOLA—Increments will be paid effective Jan. 1 for Nassau County employees despite the failure to complete contract negotiations, it was announced by Irving Flaumenbaum, president of the Nassau chapter of the Civil Service Employees Assn.

Flaumenbaum said an agreement had been reached with the County providing that:

- Increments will be paid with the start of the new year.
- Benefits and protections under the current contract will continue in effect.
- Any new contract will be retroactive to Jan. 1, 1973.

Nassau Bridge Unit Employees Gain Pay Hike Over 2 Years

MINEOLA — A new contract boosts employees of the Nassau County Bridge Authority by 5.5 percent in 1972 and 1973. It was announced by Nassau Civil Service Employees Assn. chapter president Irving Flaumenbaum.

The agreement also provides improved fringe benefits, including an additional personal leave day, cash or carry-over for personal leave time not used because of scheduling difficulties, accrual of vacation time to 90 days and of sick time to 200 days.

An improved dental plan is subject to a cost-reimbursement clause for next year.

The contract, which took effect late last week, was negotiated by Flaumenbaum and union president Andrew McCloud. A ratification vote was held Dec. 17.

The agreement covers about 45 employees of the authority, which oversees the Atlantic Beach Bridge.

Metro Armories Praised By Weisz

Weiss praised the efforts of chapter president Alfred Knihot and the other officers for their success in bringing the chapter closer to the members. Knihot, since his installation earlier this year, has instituted a policy of holding meetings at various armories throughout the city in order to make it more convenient for members to participate.

Schenectady Unit Ratifies Pact For 14% Pay Boost

(Special To The Leader)

ALBANY—Theodore C. Wenzl, president of the 200,000-member Civil Service Employees Assn., pledged "full support and complete backing to all employees" at Green Haven Correctional Facility, in reacting to a recent rash of assaults on civilian personnel and correction officers working in the maximum security prison.

Wenzl said that violent incidents were "part of a wave of similar examples of laxity on the part of prison administration." He said he felt that the situation would get worse if security was not tightened. "Everyone is working on a powder keg about to go off."

CSEA has negotiated on numerous occasions for various methods of increased security and updating of equipment. They have also requested training for the civilian staff and reduction in the number of non-custodial personnel and correction officers working maximum security prisons.

Request Unheeded

According to Wenzl, however, "CSEA's requests have gone unheeded. Security is falling apart, rehabilitation is nonexistent, and correction officials seem only to ignore the whole situation."

"CSEA," Wenzl said, "has been receiving reports from union members of a breakdown of the authority's programs. This report came from Angelo Semeni, local CSEA president at Green Haven, who said that alcoholism has been evident in the facility and the inmates of high-security units are "definitely on the increase."

"We know this," said Senleti, "and have continually requested metal detection devices and better intra-facility communication, which the higher-ups in Albany have continually rejected."

Late last week CSEA members and correction officers at the correctional facility were subjected to the possibility of a walk-out. According to CSEA reports, there have been over 40 instances of assault on civilians and uniformed personnel. While certain measures have been taken for protection in the case of correction officers, CSEA's Senleti says, "Nothing has been done for the civilians in the kitchen or the guys working in the shop."

Work In Change Needed

As part of correctional re habilitation, civilians in the prison work in close contact with the inmates who, among other things, perform duties in the kitchen with shop instructors. The civilians are concerned that, in the event of an uprising, they will be without protection and adequate training to handle the situation.

Wenzl said there was a visitation to the prison by state correction department officials in Albany this week. Commenting on the visit, Wenzl said, "I think that we're going to recognize the urgency of the situation and the need for immediate action. Our members won't stand for much more of this pressure.

Riverhead Town Unit Agrees To Improved Two-Year Contract

RIVERHEAD—The Town of Riverhead unit of Civil Service Employees Assn. recently ratified a new two-year agreement, which was negotiated between the town and the local CSEA branch.

Five personal days per year; unused personal days applied to sick leave bank, 15 sick days paid at hourly rate for blue-collar employees; improved retirement plan that half pay at 25 years; $42,000 death benefit, and a 29 cent per hour increase for 1973.

During the second year of the contract wage scale will be opened for negotiations. All department heads received a $1,500 increase for 1973 and negotiates wages only for 1974.

Irwin M. Schorfa, CSEA field representative, said that this was one of the hardest negotiations. The overall town contracts negotiated this year and gave credit to the unity of the negotiating committee and Ed Gazdinski, president of the Town unit, for their outstanding cooperation and assistance during negotiations.

Group Life Insurance Benefits Continue

During the last few years, the CSEA Group Life Insurance Plan has been a valuable benefit to the members. This additional benefit was increased by 10 percent per year with no additional insurance premium cost to the member. This additional benefit has now been guaranteed for another year, ending on Nov. 1, 1973.

If the loss experience under the plan continues to be favorable, then it is expected that this 10 percent additional insurance premium will remain in force beyond that date.

Urgent Right To Buy Back World War II Service For Vets In City Employ

Editor, The Leader:

New York City civil service employees who are also World War II veterans have been discriminated against with respect to their pension rights. While World War II veterans who are federal and state civil service employees are given the right to buy back for pension purposes time served in the military service, there is no reason why union contracts involving city employees do not contain the same provision.

I urge all World War II city employees to contact their local legislative representatives; to wit:

A Step Forward

SERIOUS flaw—perhaps the most serious—in the State's Taylor Law is that penalties for violations of the law are heavily weighted against public employees and their unions. Probably the only injunction against the employer would have their pre-strike status restored, probations would be terminated, and any payroll deductions returned to them.

We are glad to see a man of Senator March's stature sponsor such a measure, particularly in view of his firmly stated position as a conservative. We need the support of his fellow conservatives to pass this bill across.

We propose, however, that the legislation be further expanded. The language of the Taylor Law does not spell out in any mandatory form the violation of representation rights on the part of the employer. Until this happens, employees and their unions will still have to carry too great a burden of proof as to who instigated a walk-out.

The March bill is, however, a step forward and we urge its adoption as a minimal improvement in the Taylor Law.
that tenure was not the issue in this case and that the issue is the reason for Ms. Proctor's dismissal. It said:

"They (appellants) claim that tenure could be acquired after only three years of probation and, since Ms. Proctor was not eligible for tenure prior to the expiration of the probationary period. (Matter of Weinbrown v. Board of Education, 28 N.Y.2d 474, 322 N.Y.S.2d 714, 271 N.E.2d 549)

"Second, if we were to accept the argument, only those probationary teachers who finished their three-year probationary period and were notified at the end of that time that they were not being retained would be barred from arbitration. The parties who worked shorter periods, for example, only a week, would have the remedy of arbitration, while those who worked the full three years would not. The parties to the labor agreement obviously intended no such thing. This would be contrary to Section 301 of the Education Law, which provides that the services of a non-tenured teacher may be terminated at any time during the probationary period without a hearing."

High Court To Rule On Hatch Act Legality

The U. S. Supreme Court has agreed to rule on the constitutionality of the Hatch Act, the federal law prohibiting public employees from participating in political activity.

The nation's highest court will hear two separate cases on appeal from lower courts. One was brought by the National Association of Letter Carriers against the national law, and the other was brought by three Oklahoma state employees.

A three-judge panel ruled in the Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia in 1969 that the Hatch Act was outdated and too vague, and declared it unconstitutional in the letter carrier's case. The federal judge in the Oklahoma case, however, held the state law constitutional.

"People really think this is some monster place," said Irene Hillis, a 25-year employee of Willowbrook State School on Staten Island. "You have to show them bad things — but a lot of things have been done for the good." She paused and smiled sadly. "But it's not the good things that get you the money."

The disclosure of the "bad things" about Willowbrook, and other New York State Mental Hygiene facilities, has led to the appropriation of more money and the hiring of more staff. The hiring freeze on Mental Hygiene personnel, imposed in December 1970, was lifted in February of this year. The staff is now up to 3,400 from a low of 2,900 a year ago.

But, without exception, the Willowbrook employees, with whom The Leader spoke recently, found the picture presented to the public during the extended media "exposure" to be sensationalist and incomplete.

"Now I'm ashamed to say I work at Willowbrook," said Genevieve Benolt, a young recreation therapist. "My friends ask me, 'Is it really so bad?' and I say 'no.' The reporters picked out the worst to show — the pictures presented to the public don't tell the whole story." Ruth Lauria, an attendant in a ward visited by TV cameras, said bitterly, "They made it look like we weren't doing anything."

"But the reporters went only to the really profoundly retarded wards," Ms. Benolt said, a complaint echoed by John Lauria, an attendant in a ward visited by TV cameras. "They were only after the dirt," he said bitterly. "They made it look like we weren't doing anything."

Lauria talked about the problems he faces in caring for severely retarded men in his ward: they cannot be relied upon to use the toilet, they soil themselves and must be changed; some are abusive or incapable of controlling their movements and, he said, even like to have their limbs and heads ripped into their mouths and have to be constantly watched; some rip off their clothes and walk around nude; some are self-abusive or incapable of controlling their movements and, he said, even like to have their arms loosely bound to their plastic chairs with strips of cloth so they won't hurt themselves. Some residents have multiple problems, are blind or spastic. In Lauria's ward, 601, there are about 13 residents to each attendant — in the daytime. At night there are even fewer. We got eight new employees recently," he said. "If five of them stay, that's good. We need qualified help, not just a body to put in there. We need people who are going to care."

they don’t care—that they abuse and neglect patients—that most troubled employees about last winter’s scandal. Given the opportunity to talk about their relationships with their charges, they were eager and enthusiastic.

Expanding Housekeeping Dept. for Willowbrook

The State Department of Mental Hygiene has announced the creation of an expanded housekeeping department at Willowbrook State School for the mentally retarded on Staten Island that will for the first time extend specialized housekeeping services to areas housing residents.

Dr. Frederic Gnmberg, deputy trustee, said the new housekeeping department will be created as part of a continuing Mental Hygiene Department effort to upgrade the quality of care and treatment at state residential facilities for mentally retarded and chronically emotionally disturbed persons.

Freeing ward service personnel from heavy housekeeping chores will allow them to spend more time in therapeutic and rehabilitative activities with the residents,” Dr. Gnmberg said.

The new housekeeping department, which will fully staffed and number 15 employees, will be responsible for cleaning all of the school’s 27 residential areas as well as the storehouse complex.

According to Dr. Miodrag Ritsie, Willowbrook’s director, nearly one-fourth of the school’s 2,400 employees are housekeeping department employees will be residents or former residents of the state school.

The residents are selected by staff members for their ability to do the job and are paid at the established rate for housekeeping work.

During the first phase of their employment, the residents will continue to live at Willowbrook and will be allowed to return to their home at will.

Group Homes

But, according to Dr. Ritsie, as soon as the residents are able to live independently in the community, they will be helped to move into group homes under the supervision of school staff members.

“Besides making possible better care for the school’s residents it is hoped that the group home department will also provide a means by which school residents can gain self-sufficiency,” Dr. Ritsie said.

According to Dr. Ritsie, 27
