Wenzl Continues To Progress

GENEVA—Continuing progress is the latest report in the recovery of Dr. Theodore C. Wenzl, president of the Civil Service Employees Assn., seriously injured in an auto accident here on May 1. Dr. Wenzl, who is now recovering at Memorial Hospital, has been in intensive care in a New York hospital since being injured. He is expected to make a complete recovery.

AFSCME Orleans Record Deplored By Its Leaders

BUFFALO—A tremendously bleak picture of inadequate and mostly nonexistent representation by AFSCME was painted for members of the Erie chapter of the Civil Service Employees Assn. by the top two leaders of the AFSCME local in Orleans County yesterday. Jean Bistoff, president, and Kay Dragan, immediate past president, of the Orleans County AFSCME local, said employees are so totally disillusioned with representation by AFSCME that a challenging union offers the "miserable" representation the challenging union offers.

A few weeks ago a fire took place in a tenement at 955 East 8th Street, Manhattan. It was vacant and one of the surrounding properties happened to be a vacant lot where a mob of spectators, thinking it to be a safe spot, gathered to watch.

As the fire progressed, they crowded in closer until they were dangerously close to the rear of the building. The place was a shambles and became obvious to the chief in command that a collapse was imminent. Engine Company 6 was ordered to the rear to clear the spectators away and they did just that. Unfortunately, they had that been done before the walls started to come down and at that moment a little child broke from the crowd and started to run directly into the path of the falling wall. Fireman Alfred Bocchetti of Engine Five spotted him and, without a thought, for his own safety, ran toward the child, grabbed him and started to run. However, the crashing falling wall caught up with him and pushed the child to the ground. Bocchetti fell upon him using his body to shield the child from the bricks and debris now cascading down upon them both. The troops in Five Engine were sure that both were buried and lost. However, as they started to dig they found that both the child and his rescuer had been lucky and were dug out in a few moments. The child unharmed thanks to the heroism of his rescuer. Congratulations Fireman Alfred Bocchetti! Nothing I could write here would add to your deed. It speaks for itself. I'll see you Medal Day, 1975...

When Ladder 31 and friends arrived on the scene in the Bronx, they found a woman and child straddling the window sill of the top floor due to double parked cars. Ladder 31 could not get near enough to use their ladder so Lieutenant Donald But- ler and Fireman Neil Neary, both of 31 Truck, raced up four flights to 9 and make it from the inside. The place was so charged that the paint was melting on the walls and ceiling and they had to make several trips before, then got past the fire and on their way to the victims. Meanwhile from the street, the situation seemed so bad that Engine 83 had spread their nets just in case. As Lt. Butler and Fireman Neary made it to the victims, the fire came into the room after them, trap- ping them. Meanwhile Ladder 48 managed to get close enough to the building to kick off their ladder and run it to the window sideways. It was now a tough job to get those people out of the ladder at that perilous angle and they had to work like Trojans to do it. As Neary bent out the window to assist one of the vic- tims, the fire swept the room and went right up underneath his coat giving him 2nd and 3rd degree burns of the back. The Lieutenant was also burned but not seriously. It's a miracle that anybody got out alive! Congratulations, gentlemen.

The firefighters who read this column know all about the in- credible heat which is encoun- tered during a fire in a project apartment. The retarding ma- terials, gentlemen, holds the heat so that you have to be super human to stay in the place more than a few moments.

For the civilian who has never experienced such a thing, just try to imagine placing your hand on your stove oven door while you are roasting meat, then take...

ALBANY—The Civil Service Employees Assn. (CSEA) has filed a request with the Albany City Housing Authority to have CSEA represent Albany Housing Authority employees who are members of the Civil Service Employees Assn.

The Housing Authority had previously represented by Local 200, Service Employees International Union (AFU-CIO) until the CSEA chapter representatives or from the union headquarters at 33 Elk St.

The Housing Authority had represented by Local 200, Service Employees International Union (AFU-CIO) until the CSEA chapter representatives or from the union headquarters at 33 Elk St.

There was no existing collective agreement between Local 200 and the Albany Housing Authority.

Mr. Corcoran said that CSEA expects the Housing Authority to act on the union's representation request at its June board meeting.

Veterans performers from Nashville, Tenn., the capital of country music, will be vocalists Penny Defilaf and David Rogers with the Country Opryline.

Ms. Defilaf, a recording star, has also been seen on the television show, "Hee Haw." Mr. Rogers and his group are featured on Columbia records.

"This show is being held to provide funds for programs which our CSEA union carries on in the community, for which there are no public funds," Mr. Cathey said. "We hope to expand both rehabilitation and prevention programs.

Among programs the CSEA probation unit sponsors are summer camps for troubled youth in cooperation with the Fellowship of Christian Athletes.

Among members of the fellowship are Mr. Cathey, Mr. McMillian, and Mr. Kreis, who have completed five years in state service, and who have not been rejected for this insurance at the expense of the insurance company.

The cost of the insurance is $10 from a present difference of $50.

Other highlights of the CSEA-negotiated agreement are: the establishment of a mid-term meal for night captains; establishment of a labor-management committee to meet with the employer to improve all aspects of working conditions; a continuation of the letter of intent regarding transfers and promotions; an increase in union support to $150,000; and improvements in health and dental benefits.

Commissioned officers will also be included in collective bargaining for pension improvements as a result of a labor-management committee on Probation which is coordinating a hearing throughout New York state on the new code probation services in the aftermath of Attica.

"This fund-raising event and the statewide committee's work both seek to improve probation services," Mr. Cathey explained.

The greater emphasis on probation services since Attica requires a constant improvement on our part," he said.

On Involvement

WE BECOME so used to thinking in generalities such as "minorities," "union members," "athletes" or "politicians" that we sometimes forget that beneath the exteriors of all these designations, everyone shares the same human qualities.

We are reminded of this by current efforts at fund-raising by members of the Civil Service Employees Assn. in the Department of Correction.

Purpose of the fund-raising program, as described by the coordinator of the efforts, Bulis M. Cathey, an Erie County probation officer, is "to provide funds for programs which our probation CSEA unit carries on in the community, for which there are no public funds. . . . We hope to expand both rehabilitation and prevention programs."

The method by which the union workers are raising funds is by sponsoring a country and western entertainment.

Among the programs for which funds are being sought, according to Mr. Cathey, are "summer camps for troubled youth in cooperation with the Fellowship of Christian Athletes."

A number of local athletic heroes from the Buffalo Bisons and the Buffalo Bills are participating in the activities. The contacts troubled youngsters have with these athletes is invaluable," Mr. Cathey has said. "If we can reach more youngsters before they are mired, our jobs as probation workers will be more meaningful and personally rewarding."

This is just one more instance, in our book, of public employees taking their jobs to heart. There have been many instances in recent weeks throughout this newspaper, of CSEA employees in various Mental Health institutions giving up their holidays to provide parties and special entertainment programs for the residents, of New York City firefighters and policemen acting as "dads for a day" by escorting groups of children on various recreational outings, of individuals throughout the state who have undertaken special projects for servicemen overseas.

We urge all to be identified with public employees, especially when we can write about good works as practiced by such citizens as the Erie probation workers.

We urge that their efforts at fund-raising also gain some local attention to the good work they do on a daily basis on their jobs.

Back In Town

ALTHOUGH she seems to be a shy, retiring kind, one of the most popular girls in Albany is named "Lulu." She made an appearance in the closing weeks of the Legislature's regular session and made 136 legislators very happy.

"Lulu" is the term used for those extra little bonuses legislators vote for themselves as extra pay for additional work. They can sort of be described as "ladder" increments, since they generally go to those legislators in the Senate and the Assembly who have successfully won re-election enough times to achieve committee chairmanships or leadership status.

Cost to the taxpayer in order to maintain "Lulu" in the comfort to which she has become accustomed is $709,000. Lulu is only distributed among certain of the legislators, however— the others must content themselves with a salary raise (after next fall's election) from $15,000 to $23,500 . . . plus 40 a day expenses while in Albany and $50 a day while working in New York City.

Has anyone given thought lately to the idea of civil service exams for legislators? It would certainly be a boost up the career ladder for a good many other public employees.

Southern Region 3 Prepares For County Challenges

By HERB GELLER

NEWBURGH — Southern Region III of CSEA has brought out its heavy artillery and is getting ready to win another smashing victory over the Service Employees Interna tional Union (SEIU), state and regional officers said at the regional executive board meet ing at the Holiday Inn here earlier this month.

One of the actions announced at the Region 3 meeting to meet the challenge among county em ploees in Orange, Sullivan and Ulster Counties was the tempo tary transfer of Edwin Cleary, chief field representative of the Long Island Region, to head a team based in the Southern Re gion’s Office in Fishkill.

Mr. Cleary will be assisted by field representatives Don Mc Carthy Jr., James Rogers, Mi chael Aiello and Lee Frank in the three-county campaign. Their job, according to Southern Region president James J. Len non, will be to head an inten sive person-to-person campaign in order to give SEIU the beating of its life.

Pamphlet Issued

Mr. Lennon cited the record of SEIU as one of withdrawal and defeat. This theme was car died out in a new campaign pamphlet announced at southern Region meeting.

The pamphlet states: “SEIU is a loser. Their record is marred by withdrawals, decertifications andabandonments. It is a sorry and disgraceful record: Kingston School District, withdrew; Poughkeepsie School District, withdrew; Albany Housing Au thority, decertified; Oyster Bay Sewer District, abandoned em ployees, New York State em ployees and other elections, test to CSEA. You deserve a winner. You’ve got one in CSEA, New York State’s largest public em ployee union.”

The campaign theme was also stressed in speeches by Joseph Dolan, CSEA’s director of local govern tmental affairs, and by Mr. Cleary.

Mr. Dolan said SEIU’s effort in the three-county challenge seems to be pointed towards many of the younger and tech nically skilled employees in county and local governments. These include county public health nurses, probation officers and non-teaching school district employees.

Dolan’s Tell All

“SEIU is trying to woo young idealistic people over to its cause by telling them an election is the democratic way to do things and everybody should get a choice. What it doesn’t tell them is that you can’t tear an organi sation apart at a whim and substitute a new organisation for it and expect to do a good job for public employees,” Mr. Dolan told the Southern Region execu tive board.

He also noted that a change to another bargaining agency would destroy the knowledge and experience and the personal con tracts built up through years of patient negotiations.

Mr. Dolan accused the rival union of deception and trickery in its effort to get signatures for its challenge. One of the in stances he cited was a meeting held by SEIU which was falsely announced as a CSEA meeting.

Mr. Dolan said CSEA is trying to get its message across to the county and local employees affected by the challenge. “If we do so, and I know we will, then CSEA will emerge victorious as it has al ways done in the past,” he con cluded.

Don’t Believe Them

Mr. Cleary also hit at SEIU’s tactics in his speech. “My advice about that bunch is don’t be lieve them and don’t trust them. They are our enemies. They try to tell people they are out to help the little guy but they real ly want to help the big guy.”

Angelo Sembis, of Green Haven, disclosed that CSEA, whether Southern Region would get the additional field representa tives it asked for in February. Mr. Cleary replied that Southern Region is getting three addi tional field representatives by the end of May, but these men will probably work in the chal lenge area until after the elec tion.

President Lennon said chapter and unit officers could, in an emergency, perform field ser vices for their members. “The important thing now is to win the challenge,” he said.

Employees Help

Mr. Lennon also pointed out that plant employees have agreed to help wherever possible to achieve another CSEA victory in the three counties.

In other business at the meet ing, Richard Snyder, of Wassaic chapter, presented the Southern Region with a $500 check from the chapter to be used for the new Southern Region office in Fishkill. The money was turned over to the Southern Region sites committee.

President Lennon invited the members to attend the Tri Region Workshop to be held at the Hotel Concord in Rondout Lake on May 27, 28 and 29.

Richard Snyder, left, president of Wassaic State School chapter, hands over check for $500 to Region 3 treasurer Patricia Comerford as Region president James Lennon beams appreciation. Money is to be used for furnishings in Southern Region headquarters at Fishkill. The office is located centrally within the Region near the point where Dutchess, Putnam, Orange and Ulster Counties’ borders meet.

Joseph Dolan, center, CSEA director of local government affairs, receives briefing from regional field supervisor Edwin Cleary, left, and collective bargaining specialist Rex Trobridge, working in Ulster.

John Long and Viola Svenson, vice-president and president of Helen Hayes chapter (former West Haverstraw State Rehabilitation Hospital) were among those attending meeting earlier this month at Holiday Inn in Newburgh to approve steps taken to combat challenges from outside unions.

Field representative Lee Franks, who has been working in close liaison with CSEA leaders in the Sullivan County area, updates delegates on progress in his area.
Manuel Ramirez, first vice-president of Letchworth Village chapter, makes report to delegates as Region 3 first vice-president John Clark, foreground, lists. Mr. Clark is also Letchworth chapter president and chairman of the statewide political action committee. At the right of Mr. Ramirez is State Executive Committee Chairman Victor Pearl.

Felice Amadeo, long-time CSEA field representative specializing in Southern Region problems, is seen here with John Mauro, Rockland County chapter president and representative to CSEA Board of Directors.

Cliff Carwell, new president of Walkill Correctional Facility chapter, is joined by Joseph Sabel, of the same chapter, and Walter Gass, of Eastern Correctional Facility chapter, as they listen to reports from regional officers.

Fire Flies
By PAUL THAYER

(Continued from Page 3) that heat which is unbearable and multiply it by, let's say, five hundred times and think of the room as a huge oven and you have some idea of what a fire-fighter has to face when he's told a person is trapped. Chiefs do not make mistakes. They do not charge and so when Battalion Chief Charles Behrens arrived first at 5465 Park Avenue in the Bronx and was told of persons trapped on the 15th floor, he knew that what he was hearing was correct. The door was open and, climbing on his belly, he crawled into the apartment in search of victims. He almost found a 30-year-old woman lying knocked out on the floor. He dragged her to safety and, as he turned around to make a fourth try for a second victim said to be still in there, he collapsed. At that moment Fireman John Murphy, with mask, arrived, crawled in and put another 38-year-old woman, unconscious in yet another part of the apartment. Both victims were taken to the hospital alive. To Chief Charlie Behrens, whom I know well, I have the satisfaction of being able to say, 'You did well.' Without a second's hesitation, they were rolling out of quarters. Arriving, they found five other persons in a window of the fire apartment. The trooper: 'It's Thomas Killin in command.' went to work. Fireman Desha Thompson hopped into the bucket while Fireman Gerard Crabtree worked the pedal. It got so smoky that Thompson couldn't see his way and had to be bird-dogged from the ground. When he got to the kids, he found that one was a cripple in a wheelchair which made his rescue job even tougher but he pulled the cripple out in good time. Just as he got the kid out, the fire, which was out of one window, got to the other window.

There were five people on a fire escape balcony directly over window four and went up and got them off too.

Had Ladder 44 taken their full rest time, which they were entitled to, three kids and perhaps some of the grownups would have been dead. All will receive a Unit Citation including Fireman Richard Cuddy, John Elder, John Brochert and James Noonan. The satisfaction within themselves, I am sure, will not surpass anything contained on a certificate. Congratulations gentlemen! Beautiful!

Mr. McGowan said he ex- pected quick approval for CSEA because of the independent as- sociation's vote and because of the enrollment in CSEA by a majority of the nurses at that hospital.

"Our field representative, Jimmy Stewart, has filed a cer- tification petition, which includes the CSEA enrollment cards of 60 of the 108 nurses at the hospital," Mr. McGowan said.

Here New York City chapter first vice-president Martha Owens presents the framed memento to Mr. Bendet, who was honored by co-workers for his 44 years of service in the insurance department. By means of passing six competitive civil service exams, Mr. Bendet worked his way up to chief of the insurance complaint bureau prior to his recent 44 years of service in the insurance department. Charles Bendet, left, brother of the guest-of-honor, gets special attention from testimonial committee members William Allmendinger and Andrea Vandenborg. A third committee member, Seymour Shapiro, was unable to attend.

State Attorney General Louis Lefkowitz describes Mr. Bendet as a hard negotiator, and as a man whose "spunk and integrity I've always admired."
