Fire Testimony Verifies CSEA Warnings About WTC Safety

BY MARVIN BAXLEY

MANHATTAN — "Everything we've been saying for years, they turned up here today," said Civil Service Employees Assn. vice-president Solomon Bendet, head of the union's New York City Region 2 and New York City chapter.

Mr. Bendet, who represents thousands of CSEA members employed in the World Trade Center, made his comments about testimony offered at a New York State Senate Labor Committee public hearing on "Fire Safety In High-Rise Buildings: The Protection of Employees Working Within."

Although CSEA representatives were not scheduled to speak until a later hearing in September, Mr. Bendet, along with Thomas DiNatale, president of the union's Nassau chapter, and Genaro Pischetti, chairman of CSEA's Southern region, said he would immediately seek 77 unfilled positions and 35 new posts.

The state has been revealed, have taken steps to end the bitterness and divisiveness of the recent past, and to move forward toward the ideals that have inspired our Founding Fathers and that have made America the inspiration of freedom-loving peoples throughout the world for the past two centuries.

Clear Final Legal Barrier To Start Ulster Bargaining

ALBANY — On the heels of a legal order directing the County of Ulster to negotiate with the Civil Service Employees Assn. on behalf of county workers, CSEA's Ulster County unit has demanded immediately an 18% across-the-board salary increase.

Jim Lennon, president of CSEA's Southern region, said he expected a reply from the county legislature in "a couple of days," noting that CSEA was prepared to get into negotiations at any time.

"Contract demands are now prepared, based on the input received from the membership in a recent survey," he said. The State Public Employment (Continued on Page 3)

Nassau Hospital Demonstrators Draw Attention To Understaffing

MINIOLA — Employees at the Nassau County hospital, who have vowed to stage peaceful demonstrations starting Aug. 14 unless there is substantial action to correct understaffing, this week were awaiting bona fide action by the county. County Executive Ralph G. Caso has promised a crash program of hiring after making an unannounced inspection visit when the crisis had been exposed by a mass rally of employees conducted by the Civil Service Employees Assn.

Nassau chapter president Irving Flamenghausen and unit president Doris Kano were scheduled to carry the staff's complaints to the county Board of Supervisors at their meeting this week. The meeting was scheduled for Monday, after The Leader deadline.

Mr. Caso had announced that he had found "obvious" understaffing of the wards of the new $77 million, 14-story Nassau County Medical Center. He said the county would immediately seek 77 new employees, representing 42 unfilled positions and 35 new posts.

Parents of stricken patients, it had been revealed, have been taken to the wards because of the shortage of ward-service personnel. Nurses and others have been overworked and forced to work enormous amounts of overtime.

A second rally of employees last week repeated their unanimous vote at the first rally to stage peaceful demonstrations starting Aug. 14, unless there is a significant action. Another rally was scheduled Tuesday to review the action of the Board of Supervisors on Monday.

The number of additional personnel required was the subject (Continued on Page 14)

Correction: Both Are Top Notch

Jean C. Gray, Authorities representative to the Civil Service Employees Assn. Board of Directors, has brought the 'Leader's' attention to an error in the July 30, 1974, issue of the paper.

In that edition, CSEA vice-president James Lennon was described as the highest ranking Thruway employee in the CSEA structure. In actuality, CSEA treasurer Jack Gallagher has that distinction, whereas Mr. Lennon is the highest ranking Thruway employee. Mr. Lennon is employed with the East Hudson Parkway Authority.

Both the Thruway Authority and the East Hudson Parkway Authority are represented by Ms. Gray on the Board.

Moriah Impasse Ends With 14% Increase

MORIAH — Wages and benefits providing a 14 percent increase have been agreed to for employees of the Moriah Central School District.

The agreement, reached earlier this month, provides for a $400 across-the-board salary increase, plus equalization of increments and equalization of the number of steps in the salary schedule.

The contract was a reopener on salaries only. Talks had stalled, however, and a state of impasse had been declared. With Dr. Nicholas Trutni of SUNY at Plattsburgh as mediator, the salar

Congressman Blasts Transfer Of Criminal Insane To Open-Door Mental Institutions

NEW YORK — A recently enacted New York State law has thrown Bronx State Hospital and other mental institutions that are under the jurisdiction of the Department of Mental Hygiene into a state of panic and fear, it was charged by Congressman Mario Biaggi (D-C-N.Y.).

"The effective operation of Bronx State Hospital is peril by the recent transfer to the institution of nearly 30 inmate-patients from the Matteawan State Hospital for the Criminally Insane," said the Congressman. "And because of this recent move, the state law (Chapter 629-1974) repealed the provisions in the penal code that sent indictees incompetent to stand trial or incapacitated for sentencing or not guilty on the ground of insanity to Matteawan State Hospital.

Mental Hygiene Opposes

The new law transfers these types of inmates to the State Department of Mental Hygiene, which had asked for a veto of the bill when it was passed because it did not have the kind of security measures in its institutions to enable it to properly care for patient-inmates in this classification. Also transferred from the Department of Corrections were patient-inmates who had been placed at Matteawan because they were too dangerous to be confined in a civil hospital.

Representative Biaggi said the current policy of locking the wards, which constitutes a minimal and ineffective security measure causes inhuman treatment to those who were not transferred from Matteawan, and violates their civil rights. He said the principles that motivated the enactment of the law might have been high-minded, but in reality they are currently depriving the majority of the population of the institutions affected of their civil rights.

Another aspect that Biaggi discussed was that the Matteawan transfers were also being deprived of privileges by the locked ward, since, at a secured institution, they had been allowed outdoor recreation and other activities.

"At Bronx State, they are confining the Matteawan inmate-patients with the general population," he charged. (Continued on Page 5)

This point was also made during testimony by Robert Di Virgilio, a member of the executive board of the NYC Uniform Firefighters Association, who said: "I believe that the elevator operators in the World Trade Center, in an attempt to bring the attention of the public to the danger that exists, may have made statements that were not in the best interests of the public."

FIRST AGREEMENT

The State Department of Civil Service has signed its first agreement with the Department chapter of CSEA. The agreement, effective through March 31, 1974, covers more than 500 employees of the Department. Shown shaking hands after signing the agreement are Gregory L. Davie, left, chapter president, and Harvey Benzhaid, Department personnel director.
From Department Order No. 143 dated July 30, 1974:
"The Eminence Terrence Cardinal Cooke wishes to express his appreciation to the members of the Fire Department for the fine work performed by them at the third alarm in the rectory of St. Vincent Ferrer Church on Monday evening, July 29, 1974. Fire Commissioner John T. O'Hagan and Chief in Charge Augustus A. Beckman join in this commendation to our men."

At 8:48 a.m. on Monday, August 8th, some sort of power cable went kaflooie up in the Bronx and instantly a blackout covered the Bronx Telegraph Bureau, from Department Order.

During the next two hours and eight minutes, dispatchers lived and worked through a nightmare. There were, for instance, 30 stalled elevator emergencies, some of them in buildings as high as 30 stories. It is interesting to note that some of the elevators were stuck between floors. While the firefighters were working to free the people from them, there was no way of knowing when the power would suddenly go on again. Therefore, if the button had originally been pushed for the twentieth floor and the elevator was stuck between the fifth and sixth floor, the elevator would automatically take off for its destination with firefighters on top of the car or people in the process of leaving the car via ladder. Therefore, extreme care had to be exercised by the firefighters to see that the car was immobilized. Just another "little" thing which makes the firefighter have to know all about.

Some of the special situations which took place that morning included sending Ladder 39 of Microcirculatory Hospital for use of its power generator.

Ladder 56 at Monroe Avenue and 174th St. was sent to Montefiore Hospital for the same purpose and that was one hell of a distance. There were 23 calls for wires which were down and working. Rescue Three was sent to Jacob Hospital for the emergency use of their oxygen supply since the oxygen system in the hospital is electrically motivated. Chief Grant, using the old beamline special, called the oxygen therapy unit from Manhattan and had them standing by at Bronx Telegraph for dispatching to any place such as a hospital or nursing home which might come face to face with an oxygen emergency. There have been some really great dispatchers on the various borough platforms throughout the years and I have had great admiration for all of them as they worked their way up the ladder to their present positions. I recall often watching Fred Grant as a regular dispatcher and wondering what, if anything, would ever make him flip. Nothing seemingly ever did. I have often thought that when he came out of my office last Monday he was rolling up his sleeves as he went to the platform, he felt like an old firehorse hearing the sound of the bell once again.

The number of possible emergencies was staggering. Just imagine iron lungs stopping because of no power! Little premature incubators turning off for want of power! Kidney machines suddenly stopping while the helpless victims were hooked into them for want of power! All these things were racing through the minds of the dispatchers on that Bronx platform. When the need was expressed, the help was there. The dispatchers were given the facts of minds, brains, and instant reactions. When you talk of all these things, you talk of telegraphic dispatchers who do a hell of a lot more than pull cards and dispatch messages. They were only three false alarms for some strange reason, but one of them, believe it or not, came from Bronx State Hospital, which on that very day had been the subject of a story in a New York paper concerning its inadequate fire safety protection system.

This is the 75th anniversary of the organization of Engine Seventy. The reason that the attack team hit has not materialized in City Island as of yet is because the floor won't hold a tower ladder. Until the floor is reinforced, the cellor realized that the ceiling was squeaking and groaning. They beat a hasty retreat and gave the alarm after which the rearmount truck was quickly removed and a tiller type truck substituted. That house was being built when the rearmounts were being considered for use by the Fire Department. Why wasn't the stress of the extra weight of both tower ladders and rear mounts taken into consideration when that house was being designed? Forward planning just doesn't seem to be an art in the Fire Department as it is with other city departments. If that sort of foolishness kept loose in some city departments of which I have a working knowledge, somebody would be fired forthwith.

Right To Strike

According to the New York Metro Area Postal Union, the 1978 contract negotiations are expected to be more difficult than the previous two, and so the New York Area Union, affiliated with the American Postal Workers Union, is introducing a "No Contract—No Work" resolution to be presented to the APWU-AFL-CIO convention to be held in Miami Beach the week of August 10.

According to the New York Area Postal Union, "the fight to win the right to strike must be infused with new life. Waiting on Congress alone has not done it." The New York Area Union is bringing such a resolution to the state and national conventions, and urges all locals who support the right to strike, to adopt similar no contract-no work resolutions at their own state and national conventions.

ALBANY—Gladys B. Biaggl said that the state law allowing the institution, putting two or three in each ward with 10 other patients and then locking the ward door," said the Bronx-Queens legislator. "If they are co-mingled into the general hospital population, they become dangerous to others in the wards. We must realize that the category of prisoner-convict includes those charged with murder, armed assault, and other crimes of violence." Biaggl said that the state law was a breach of the Department of Mental Hygiene until 1973 to complete the transfers. The department has complained that there were not enough rooms available to provide or prepare the kind of institutions necessary to provide the care and security needed.

Rockefeller For President

In addition, whatever differences may have existed between Rockefeller and Senator Barry Goldwater in 1964, when Goldwater was the Republican candidate for President, have since been put aside. Both Rockefeller and Rockefeller have dedicated himself to the work of the National Commission on Critical Choices, a Commission of the President, as its chairman. President Ford is also a member of that Commission. The Commission has been delving deeply into such matters as the nature of the American economy, changing concepts of military strategy and national defense, the conservation of energy and natural resources, the preservation of the environment, and many other problems that are necessary to sustain a growing national and world population, and a wide variety of other problems. Not many people in the country are as widely informed about the critical problems we face and about the critical choices we must make in the years ahead. But few people in the country are as well versed as he in government operations, management and planning.

State Of National Economy

In fact, the state of our economy has been made by Rockefeller the first order of business on the Republican's agenda. This is consistent with public opinion polls that show the economy as the most pressing issue in the minds of voters. The Governor, like the rest of us, is deeply concerned about inflation, rising living costs, the costs of doing business, the need for a balanced budget, and the need for a growing national and world population, and a wide variety of other problems.

President Wilson

Governor Rockefeller as Vice President would be an invaluable asset to Governor Wilson in his campaign. From a partisan point of view, Republicans who must look to 1976 on the horizon, must consider the significance of a Republican administration in this State, on the eve of the 1976 Presidential election. Rockefeller could bring to his party the broad base it needs for successful Presidential campaign. The fact is that the Republican Party, despite its overwhelming, landslide victory of President Nixon in 1972, did very poorly in races for the Senate, for the House of Representatives, and for the Governor's race. Clearly, the Republicans face an urgent need for a broader umbrella to cover many voters who today are either Democrats, Independents, or Republicans who are independent of the Republican Party.

ACTION Announces Program To Service And Comfort Elderly

Manhattan — A grant of more than $300,000 from ACTION, the Federal agency for volunteer service, is beginning two experimental "Senior Companion" programs for the elderly in New York City and Jersey City. The program was announced last week by Mayor of New York, Robert Wagner, and Mayor Paul J.ordon of Jersey City.

The program will pay $75 low-income, elderly persons in New York City an annual stipend of $1,870 to visit 168 under-up old people five times a week, for two hours a day each, and will pay the same amount to 61 older persons in Jersey City. The aim of this program is to help the elderly and the isolated who are unable to travel to visit 123 older people in Jersey City five times a week.

The program is aimed at helping the senior companions themselves, as the $1,870 per year will be a great help in allowing them to afford the small income that many of the elderly in New York City and elsewhere have to live on. A recent law states that the money earned in volunteer programs by the poor will not affect the amount of money they are entitled to in public assistance.

The program will be run by United Neighborhood Houses, Inc., 101 East 15th Street, in New York, and will be headed by Robert Wagner, executive director of the New York State Department of Human Resources. Division of Senior Affairs, 20 Baldwin Ave., Jersey City, will run the program in Jersey City, and it will be headed by William A. Macchi.

Mr. Wagner said that the program represented the first time federal funds had been obtained to pay for poor elderly people to visit old elderly people. "It will make it possible for more people to live by themselves, rather than enter an institution," Mr. Wagner said.

ANOTHER CHANCE FOR DRUG ADDICTS

By JACK GRUBEL

How do you reclaim a young life blurred by drugs? The State of New York spends millions of dollars on an answer:

A look into the operation of the Manhattan Rehabilitation Center for girls, one of a number of facilities around the metropolitan area. Operated under the auspices of the Drug Abuse Control Commission, it is one of 18 around New York State, and each encompasses something to see. Each system is run by its boards, including volunteer committees.

As a 48-bed, nearly 300 resident, girls range in age from 15 to 21 to the center, with a maximum commitment of 18 months. Which girls apply have been involved in some drug-connected, such as install or rush to get money for drugs. According to Ms. Saunders, the MRC is unique in its look for a hard drug such as heroin, and for follow-up to notorious court and parole conditions.

The first stop for the incoming girl after being admitted is the trouble. Should they fail, addiction and counseling find no reentry, and each is segregated according to their criminal past, including volunteer communities.

The MRC en encourages an individualized treatment section and have few treatment programs for its girls, according to Ms. Saunders. If a girl comes back, we reinforce her training and try to emphasize the good times she had. Ms. Saunders said, "It is a problem. We do what we can, but the community out there must accept in part the problem, and that's not being happening." Vocational skills are emphasized at the center, but Ms. Saunders said it is much harder for a girl to leave the center and find a job than it would be for a male.

Many of the girls are retracted to institutional steward. Veronica Chapman, on the phone in the maximum treatment section.

Divorced? Did You Change Beneficiary?

Civil Service Employees Assn. members who belong to the New York State Retirement System are reminded that employees who have divorced their spouses since entering the Retirement System must change the beneficiary designation for retirement purposes. This reminder comes from the legal department of CSEA, which has been faced with several cases of members who have been divorced and who have forgotten to change their beneficiary. The legal department said that a 1971 Court of Appeals decision in such a case held that a man’s first wife was entitled to his annuity equivalent and accrued pension even though he had divorced her and been married to another woman for 12 years, because he neglected to notify the Retirement System to change his beneficiary designation.

BUFFALO—The establishment of a $5,000 Walter Walsh Memorial Scholarship Fund at Magy, Franklin Kellner's Working Boys' Home and distribution to youth-oriented agencies with whom its members work, was announced by Arthur Tomczak, president of the Erie County Probation Unit of the Civil Service Employees Assn.

The award to the Working Boys' Home, located at 4 Vernon St., Buffalo, honors the memory of an Erie County probation officer; with 44 years of service, who died last February. Mr. Walsh was described by his fellow probation officers as "a true professional, dedicated to the rehabilitation goals of the probationer." This scholarship fund is a tribute worthy of Mr. Walsh and his lifelong devotion to boys who needed help," Mr. Tomczak said.

The Working Boys' Home, often called "the Boys Town of Buffalo," is directed by Msgr. Kelleher, onetime boxer and wrestler, who has a reputation of getting good results from even the "toughest" boys who come to him.

The other awards for programs not funded publicly, accepted by Mr. Tomczak, were made to agencies with which probation officers work and include the YMCA, YWCA, Boys Clubs, Fellowship of Christian Athletes, and the Buffalo Recreational Soccer League.

Largest of the awards was the $5,000 presented Bay Msgr. Goodrich, state chairman of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes, for a career, dedicated to "helping to rehabilitate wayward youth" and because he's "much involved in church work and in improving his profession." Mr. Goodrich cited a testimonial to Mr. Cathey as a fellowship function where Mr. Cathey was credited by one of his former probationers for his "enthusiastic approach to helping kids when they needed help." Mr. Tomczak said.

In the Courier-Express article it was pointed out that Mr. Cathey was field representative for CSEA from 1968 to 1971 and that he helped negotiate the first union pact for the 5,000 Erie County white-collar workers.

The Buffalo Recreational Soccer League receives $520 on the recommendation of probation officers, Sandy Mineo and John Brody. probation unit past president, CSEA relative to the contract negotiations, and that he had never denied the implication that the county negotiator was also his negotiator, the sheriff being classified as a joint employer along with the county of the deputy sheriffs.
