Resolutions Due From Chapters

ALBANY—The 15 chapters of the Civil Service Employees Association of New York State have been asked to submit resolutions they would like considered at next October’s annual meeting to the state-wide Resolution Committee which will meet here June 16 and 17.

Henry C. Meyers, chairman of the committee, last week issued a call to all chapters, presidents to include with a proposed resolution the problem the chapter seeks to correct and the approximate cost of the remedy, if any.

CSEA by-laws require that resolutions for consideration at annual sessions be submitted to the Resolutions Committee by August 10 for review, editing and consolidation, by the committee, which shall, on or before the first day of September, report to all chapters on the problems and disposition of such resolutions.

Resolutions are scheduled to chapter presidents “It is not fair for advisable for delegates to bring new resolutions to the annual meeting which have not been given a full consideration of the proposal by the chapters and Resolutions Committee since there is an assurance which has caused this to happen.”

Overtime Strike Pay On The Way

ALBANY—Payments to State employees in New York City for overtime work during last winter's transit strike is finally on the way.

The State Civil Service Employees Assn. has been advised that the State Department of Audit and Control was processing the long awaited checks and that affected employees might expect them within a week's time.

CSEA spokesman noted that the Employees Association had constantly pressed for action after the governor's directive authorizing the payment.

Resolutions for Consideration at Fall Meeting

The following CSEA committee members were present: John Raymond, chairman; Vince Gunderson, vice chairman; Nick Cimino, John Riley, Edward Malone, Alice Dundon, James Cimino, John Riley, Edward Malone, Alice Dundon, James Cain, Henry Klopke and John Dumas. Representing CSEA Headquarters were: P. Henry Gaquin, assistant executive director, and Joseph B. Roulier, assistant director of public relations.

The Department of Public Works was represented by Joseph P. Rosan, administrative deputy; Franne Miller, assistant director of personnel, and William Dauchy, associate bookkeeping analyst.

Conservation Chapter Re-Elects Savard

ALBANY—Clarence Savard of Tupper Lake, a career conservation officer for the New York State Conservation Commission, was re-elected president of the chapter’s Conservation Officers Society at the annual meeting recently.

WHAT IS "FIRST DOLLAR COVERAGE"?

Some health insurance plans protect you against medical care costs—true—but only after you've paid a certain amount of money out of your own pocket.

With GHI, however, there's no such requirement. GHI gives you "first dollar coverage"—meaning you're protected the first time you see the doctor. And, in addition, you choose a GHI Participating Family Doctor (from thousands in the New York area), who will take care of everything you need—outside of the hospital.

That's just one reason why so many Civil Service workers are picking GHI. Find out what the other reasons are. Write or phone today!

Your Public Relations IQ

BY LEO J. MARGOLIN

Reporting Government Activities

APPEARING HERE and there on the public relations horizon are some hopeful stirrings, which could augur well for the civil service corps.

AT A FEW POINTS in the United States, the daily press is showing signs of worry about the quality and quantity of its reporting of municipal affairs.

ISOLATED THOUGH they are, the signs are unmistakably there. In some instances an outside agency is prodding the conscience of the daily press. In others, the daily press is belittling itself.

OUR READERS must not be deluded into thinking that these are indications of a powerful movement among newspapers to mend their ways. It is anything but powerful. Just a few twitches is all we see.

WITH FEW EXCEPTIONS, the daily press in the United States has shown little evidence of understanding the function of the civil servant in the operation of government. Nor has there been any great effort to fill this vacuum. Instead, the civil servant has been a ripe target. The reason? Anyone in government is fair game.

THE REASONING went like this: anyone in the public business is everyone's business, even if everyone had not the slightest understanding of government operations.

WE HAVE always been supplied to witness an almost fatal lack of comprehension by otherwise intelligent reporters of the business of government. We have in mind one young man, who thought his only function as a reporter was to try to bait civil servants into embarrassing quotes.

TODAY, THIS same young man is a government official and is now catching worse than he gave. In fact, he still hasn't the slightest idea of how municipal government should be reported although he is an integral part of it.

RECENTLY THE Ford Foundation made two grants—one for $750,000 and another for $1,000,000—to try and improve both the understanding and the quality of reporting municipal government.

THE SMALLER grant went to the American Political Science Association for the expansion of awards to a total of 16 journalists for outstanding reporting of the public service. Winning journalists will also attend a one-week seminar on state and local governments.

IN ADDITION, 12 newspapermen will spend six to nine months studying government at a university of their choice.

Raymond Pacific Installed By Jefferson Chapter; Ten Retirees Cited At Annual Dinner-Dance

(From Leader Correspondent)

WATERTOWN—Sgt. Raymond C. Pacific of the Jefferson County Sheriff's Department, has associated with the Jefferson chapter, Civil Service Employees Assn., and Mrs. Fannie W. Smith, chapter president for the past four years, assumes the role of delegate to the State Association.

Sergeant Pacific was formally installed as head of the chapter in ceremonies in connection with the annual dinner-dance of the unit at the Iron Hills Country Club. The officers were installed by County Judge Milton A. Wilcox.

In her farewell, Mrs. Smith, outlined organizational accomplishments during the past four years and suggested a five-point program for continued operation:

1. Continue to try to get every municipal employee into the chapter.
2. More active participation among members to promote leadership programs to promote future officers.
3. Continue to propose plans to improve membership benefits.
4. Publish a handbook of rules and regulations and other pertinent facts for the new employee entering civil service.
5. Establish a permanent scholarship fund for use of needy students of civil service.

Compromise Needed

NEW YORK City employees by the thousands picketed City Hall last week in protest of Mayor John Linday's proposal to cut back hours of many city employees, for which a bill has been introduced in the Council.

This demonstration, sponsored by the United Committee for Collective Bargaining, made up of labor unions representing 30,000 employees, was the first indication to the Mayor that some compromise is needed in the field of labor relations, especially with respect to the tri-partite committee plan.

A bill was also learned by The Leader that amendments to the original proposal are being discussed by various members of the Council and also, that the United Committee's proposal on Collective Bargaining will be introduced at the Council meeting this week.

Both these steps could mean compromise is in the works. This is good and should stabilize labor relations in the future.

Another reason for the protest was the Mayor's plan to discontinue the summer hours that have been in effect for so long.

Some union leaders agree that drastic action will be taken if the Mayor does implement his plan.

We join with the Social Service Employees Union, Terminal Employees Local 682 and all the other labor organizations who have urged the Mayor to reconsider this idea.

The answer is yes. The Medicare program will help you pay your hospital and doctor bills, but it won't tell you what doctor or hospital to go to. You will be free to choose your own doctor as you have always done. And it will be up to him to decide if he should go to the hospital, what tests are to be covered, which drugs are covered, the length of your hospital stay and the type of medical care you need.

My child will be 18 next year. He plans to continue going to school. Will his benefits continue? Yes, provided he is taking a full-time course in an approved school. Practically all high schools and colleges are approved. For help, touch us a month or two before he is 18 and let us know that he will be in school.

I am over 65, but never worked under social security. Am I eligible for Medicare? Probably. Nearly all people 65 or older are eligible for Medicare. There is no work requirement. Get in touch with your nearest social security office for information about enrolling in the program.

The month of June is the official annual inspection period for the renewal of unlicensed weapons. Police Commissioner Howard R. Smith has called upon all persons in the City to turn in such weapons to the Police Department. The law requires that such surrenderers may be made without penalty, unless the weapon is dangerous in itself. It was pointed out that illegally possessed weapons can be the source of serious accidents and crimes.

All possessing such weapons were warned that failure to turn them over will result in a 30-day period and prevent the possession of the weapons causing injury to themselves or others in the administration of their own lives. The immunity period is provided for in Section 75.29 of the Penal Law.

Albany—Employees of the Department of Taxation and Finance led other State agencies this year in contributions to the state's March of Dimes campaign, Joseph P. Feily, president of the State Employees Assn. and chairman of the Dimes campaign among State Employees, said.

Contributions given to the campaign by State employees in Albany this year brought in $659.60; Department of Motor Vehicles, $566.58; Division of Employment, $562.77; Department of Labor, $215.45, and the Department of Motor Vehicles, $228.35. The Department of Education led all other state agencies with $135.60; Department of Education, $135.60; Department of Motor Vehicles, $228.35.

Total contributions were received from some 30 other departments and agencies within Albany County.

President Elected

The usual procedure in invoking judicial review is to apply to Special Term which transfers the matter to the Appellate Division for initial determination. In the recent case of Wiegmann v. Broderick (New York Law Journal, May 12, 1956), the initial judicial review of the penalty of dismissal of a patrolman was had at Special Term instead of by the Appellate Division. The reason the case was not transferred to the Appellate Division was that the petitioner, a policeman, pleaded guilty to the charge for which his dismissal was sought. He denied the charge was failing to handle property his service revolves. As there was no hearing, there was no basis for an order by Special Term transferring the matter to the Appellate Division.

The FACTS were not disputed. The petitioner is the sole support of his widowed mother. His employment record was exemplary. His sergeant stated, "He is level-headed, does his job well. He is a credit to our Department."

The OFFICER was dismissed from the police force because of an accidental killing during his mealtime on post, 12 midnight. He met two other patroliers from his precinct at a restaurant at one o'clock early this morning. They had been friends, the officer's friend. The officer observed that the strap of his holster which ordinarily is snapped into place over the hammer of his gun was unsnapped, and the hammer was cocked. He removed the gun from its holster. It was uncocking. At this point, the gun discharged a bullet that struck the officer's friend in the forehead causing his death.

As ALL the evidence confirmed that the killing was purely accidental, no indictment was found. The deceased, prior to his death, twice stated that the shooting was accidental. The Police Department also conceded this fact. The petitioner at every stage of this case had no other option but to come to be a cocked position, his arm was being that this happened when his nightstick was hung over his revolver under his raincoat.

The COURT, by Mr. Justice Murray T. Feilden, held that the mere happening of the accident justified the charge of neglect. Still, there remained for court review the question whether dismissal as a penalty was an abuse of discretion.

Before coming to grips with this question, Judge Feilden reviewed the relevant authorities with special emphasis upon the Mithlack case, an important guideline in determining whether a penalty constitutes an abuse of discretion. In that case, the Court of Appeals affirmed the Appellate Division's finding that dismissal of a station agent by the Transit Authority was an excessive penalty.

The offense was stealing fares. By court order, the penalty was reduced to six months' suspension.

Judge Feiden was also guided by the case of Wood v. Portwell, where he concluded that the penalty imposed was not excessive. The officer charged with molesting a female. The Appellate Division remitted the matter for reconsideration of the punishment which the Court clearly felt was too severe.

Note: If your judicial precedent is Paulton v. Board of Police Commissioners of the City of Corning, a case which the dismissal of the petitioner for filling false expense vouchers was annulled by the Appellate Division as an abuse of discretion.

Judge Feiden reasoned that the petitioner was not guilty of a willful wrongful act, but rather of an accidental dereliction. Such dereliction in and of itself was not serious enough to warrant any punishment, but the consequences of the dereliction that caused the then Police Commissioner to dismiss the petitioner. Considering the background of the situation, the court reasoned that the penalty should be achieved either by lesser punishment or dismissal, the court reduced the penalty to a suspension of one year. Following the lead of the Mithlack case, the Court held that the less severe punishment of reconsideration of punishment so as to avoid circumvention.

annuities whenever that marriage is dissolved if any payment made after termination of the annuity is returned to the Civil Service Retirement Fund. This provision applies only to active annuitants of employees on the active rolls on the date of enactment.

* The House security adjustment bill for postal workers was amended. The Senate bill divides the Post Office into three divisions—Motor Vehicle Service, Maintenance and the remainder of Post Office employees.

* Government life and health insurance coverage would be extended to all full-time officers of Federal employee organizations. The cost would be split between the union official and the government union.

* A 16 per cent increase in the annuities of widows or future widows of employees who died or retired before Oct. 11, 1962. Since the Senate bill is estimated to cost about $14 million dollars less than the House-passed bill, Sen. McCory of Oklahoma, the chairman of the Senate committee which drew it up, thinks its chances for Administration cooperation are good.

The Veteran's Counselor

BY FRANK Y. VOTTO

IF YOU are a veteran who served on active duty with the Armed Forces of the United States after January 31, 1955, you are eligible for educational assistance under an act recently signed into law by the President. Under this law, the Veterans Readjustment Benefit Act of 1966, you can obtain educational and training assistance to help you achieve a better career or employment in civilian life. Assistance payments will be made for periods on and after June 1, 1966.

You Are Eligible If You Are:

A VETERAN who has served on active duty for a period of at least 181 days, any part of which was after January 31, 1955, and who was discharged or released under conditions other than dishonorable.

A PERSON who is in service if he is assigned or required to serve for a period of at least 181 days and is released because of a service-connected disability.

A PERSON who is in service if he is assigned or required to serve for at least two years. The service period of 181 days does not include periods when the veteran was assigned to a civilian school or the Armed Forces General Education Development program.

Under certain circumstances, a course pursued in a foreign country may be approved.

How Much Education You May Receive:

THE VA may provide training for a period of 36 months. This would cover four school years of nine months each for a veteran who served on active duty for at least three years after January 31, 1955. If you served less than three years, you may receive one full month of educational assistance allowance for each month or part of a month you served on active duty or on or after February 1, 1955. If you are from a state that previously received any VA educational benefits based on your own service or on your part of a war orphan, the 36-month period of eligibility for educational assistance under the Veterans' Readjustment Benefit Act of 1966 may be reduced.

Expiration of our Eligibility

The VA may not provide training after eight years from the date of your last discharge or release from active duty of your discharge is on or after January 31, 1966.

Raising of Assistance

Your RATE may be more if you have a wife, child or dependent parent.
