CSEA Plans To Fight Veto Of Bill Allowing Payment For Unused Sick Leave

ALBANY — Governor Rockefeller last week vetoed a measure that would have permitted political subdivisions to pay cash to employees for unused accumulated sick leave upon separation from service. The veto was supported by Comptroller Arthur Levitt.

The veto drew sharp reaction from the Civil Service Employees Assn., sponsors of the bill, and, at Governor press time, plans were reported in the works to fight for the measure's repassage. A CSEA spokesman declared last week that "we are deeply chagrined at the veto of the Governor and the support of the veto by the Comptroller. We contend that State employees have established a precedence for the holding of accumulated sick leave by legislative sponsors of the Governor last year."

The bill for political subdivisions was rejected on the grounds that the cash payments constituted a gift of monies in a manner that was unconstitutional.

For Political Subdivisions:

The CSEA spokesman declared further that "what is completely impossible for us to understand is why this legislation should be vetoed when, in the first place, it is merely permissive, and, in the second place, it is simply an extension of the same philosophy for the benefits of local employees that was underlying in last year's legislation recognition of State employees' rights to accumulated sick leave credits."

The Senate now uses accumulated sick leave credits to pay for health insurance plan premiums after retirement. "Wherever possible," the spokesman said, "the Employees Association seeks to make sure that the benefits of State employees are received by our thousands of members within the municipalities and the political subdivisions. We ask and strongly urge the support of all State members for their fellow employees who are entitled to their assistance for this time in seeking repassage and approval of the bill to allow these cash payments by local governments." Mayor Cites New CSEA Headquarters

(Special to The Leader)

ALBANY — The Civil Service Employees Assn.'s future headquarters building has received an official stamp of approval from the city's Historic Sites Commission.

Favorable reaction by the Commission, one of whose functions is to approve construction of new buildings that would impinge on historic districts, was reported by the Department of Civil Service.

The city's first such building, the future headquarters building, would pay for

Assembly Passes 1-60th, Supplemental Pension & $2,000 Insurance Bills

ALBANY — Three major bills sponsored by the Civil Service Employees Assn., two of which had previously passed both houses of the Legislature but were later vetoed, were on the move in the Senate after Assembly approval last week.

One of the revived measures, reintroduced to overcome objections in Governor Rockefeller's veto, would guarantee future members of the State Retirement System a half-pay reversion of the so-called 1/60th bills would give present members of the System a 1/60th credit back to 1960.

Another bill reintroduced would, in essence, provide supplemental pension increases for future retirees based largely on current cost-of-living index adjustments in State retiree pensions.

Still another major. CSEA legis- lative goal near accomplishment in the second session, a bill that will allow state workers a $2,000 death benefit after retirement.

The 1/60th pension bill is per- missive for political subdivisions. Approval of such measures for State workers has usually resulted in local adoption of the legislation throughout the State.

Don't Let Up!

While anticipating the support of Senate Majority Leader Harl W. Bridges on these bills and the approval of Governor Rockefeller because earlier, technical objections have been overcome, Joseph P. Foley, CSEA president, said it was still imperative for the Association's 127,000 members to keep up a steady drive; writing campaign to Senators and the Governor to insure every possible chance of success.

For Political Subdivisions:

More detailed signs of passage and approval were seen for the $2,000 death benefit after retirement since Governor Rockefeller has publicly supported the measure and did so specifically at the annual dinner meeting of the CSEA.

Waterfront Aides To Receive $240 Cost-Of-Living Raise

WATERFRONT — Waterfront workers will get a $240 "cost of living" pay boost effective July 1 and, during the 1966-67 fiscal year, the City Council has authorized a professional salaries study to make possible implementation of a new City pay plan a year from now.

The new pay plan will be de- signed to reimburse employees on a basis of duties and responsibility, according to Mayor John H. Ostrin.

The new salaries consideration comes as a result of efforts of the Jefferson chapter, Civil Service Employees Assn., to better the municipal living standard. The present City pay plan is seven years old and has been frequently amended.

the vacuum created by the newspaper's lack of information, or by a newspaper's lack of space. EVERY ONCE in a while a newspaper will run a feature story on child adoption. But seldom will newspapers tell you the whole story, as does the New York State Department of Social Welfare in their sample, informative brochure, "Adopting a Child.

SOCIAL WELFARE deserves a hat on the back for "selling" a public service announcement on radio with their adoption brochure. In an announcement of the publication's availability on New York's WGNR, and the Department is asking to my post card request. This informational "package" is highly recommended.

PROBABILITY THE most prolific State agencies—such as the District Attorney’s Office—do the most advertising. They have a very wide audience. But there are still some few newspaper editors who are naive enough to think that every time they publish an item from a State agency, their newspaper is acting as publicist for that agency. That philosophy is undoubtedly true, but is the reality in the field.

RADIO AND television are what we call "cream skimmers." None of the radio or television is the top of the news, and if there's no whipped cream, there's no coffee. Thus, THE leaflet and the brochure are the handy tools to fill the vacuum created by the newspaper's lack of information, or by a newspaper's lack of space.

Rochester City Council Cuts Pay Raise Boost

ROCHESTER—Over the objections of the Board of Education, the City Council has reduced recommended pay raises for 1,200 Board employees from five to two and half percent.

The Council adopted its financial recommendations by reducing the Board of Education's proposed budget by $695,993 to $212.8 million.

The Board has proposed pay raises of 10 percent for about 140 administrators and five percent for some 1,300 civil service employees. These were reduced to two and two and half percent, respectively.

The cut in the proposed salary hikes amounts to $310,419. Other reductions were made by switching the purchase of school buses and close-circuit television equipment from capital expenditures to financing by notes.

As a result, the anticipated increase by local taxes for school costs will be reduced to $1.
