Postal Worker's Idea Wins Jerry Finkelstein Foundation $1,000 Prize

In a City Hall ceremony that brought out a full corps of major television network and newspaper representatives, Mayor John V. Lindsay last week presented a $1,000 check and a gold medal to a U.S. Post Office worker whose idea for making New York City a safer, happier place to live took first prize in a contest among public employees that was sponsored by the Jerry Finkelstein Foundation. Gold medals also were awarded in three other categories, chosen from among more than 3,000 public employees who submitted ideas in the contest.

"Problem Solvers"
The first prize went to Larry Townsend, employed in the Church St. station of the Post Office, for his idea of an interfaith, non-profit, non-political, non-denominational humanitarian organization to operate throughout the five boroughs of Manhattan to be known as "Problem Solvers." The group would help direct people in need of help to help themselves.

Second prize went to Benjamin Lang, a field auditor for the State Unemployment Insurance Fund, for his "join a block" idea in which civil, religious, industrial, fraternal and other groups undertake, on a voluntary basis, to work with particular blocks within the city in need of major improvement.

Alexander Steinh, a surface dispatcher for the New York City Transit Authority, was chief plaintiff of the third prize for his plan to revise real estate taxes based on market value of property. Sam Lichtig, of the New York State Division of Veterans Affairs, was fourth prize winner for his idea on swift crime detection and prevention by installing telephones in tax cabs for use in reporting crimes as they were witnessed by drivers cruising throughout the City.

No Action on Pay Bill; Some See Vets Threat

Latest reports from those who should know indicate that the Federal pay bill will not come up for final consideration in the Senate until after the Independence Day recess, which has been offered as the target date for Senate action on the House-approved bill.

Many Congressional leaders and employment experts are convinced that the reason for the delay is the Administration's desire to get off the effective date of the legislation until Oct. 1 in order to require Federal employees to face the full rate increase when the new term of Congress begins.

This turns out to be true of many of the same Congressmen are determined that the Senate receive July 1 effective date no matter how late the money comes to a vote.

Some spokesmen close to the action have brushed off rumors that the White House is exerting pressure to bring about the Oct. 1 consideration. They maintain that the Administration has more or less exhausted its lobbying strength in the matter and that the delay is only a means to align Senate action on the Federal pay bill with passage of the House budget bill.

This possibility is out of consideration of the argument of Rep. Mendal Pedearl, the House Appropriations Committee's subcommittee on post office and civil service, which is the key to the fate of the parcel post rate increase.

The Senate stopgap measure passed July 9 would allow the parcel post rate to be raised to $1.10 being written. The Implication of this turns out to be true of many groups, some of which have already piled up.

THE CIVIL servant is caught in some mysterious way to the fate of the career post rates, and the administration, which has not mentioned the possibility of a veal at all.

Since hardly anyone seems aware of the justification for the pay delay at this right now, for instance, very little has been heard from the ranks of the Civil Service group, which does not want the Senate for action as this is being written. TheImplication here is that the Senate,作用 the 1971 annual rate boost bill will thereby provide the funds for the present, and possibly for the first of a number of annual rate boost bills the Administration considers excessive. It also implies that a three-year pay bill is being something

A bill which would give back any arduous duty pay to certain Federal employees, such as technicians and engineers, would be in line along with the military in hazardous areas has been passed by the Senate, and the House, which would provide pay up to 25 percent. The Senate bill has gone back to the House for its consideration, however, probably late in July. It will be at least July 11 before a clearer picture is present.

City vs. Suburb

THE WIDENING gap of misunderstanding between city and suburb isn't doing anybody public relations any good, least of all the corps of civil servants, whose basic job is to make work the policies of the city council.

THE CIVIL servant is caught in a squeeze between what suburban political leaders consider the suburb's best interest and the financial troubles of the city, which the people who populate the suburb helped create.

WHAT IS appealing is the seeming lack of knowledge by many legislators representing districts outside the city about modern urban problems, such as the growth of a new monster called "the megapolis."" THE TONGUE-twisting term describes a city, the population of which has jumped the city's population of 1.3 million in the last 20 years, which could easily reach out 100 miles to connect physically—but not politically—into the city at the very least. CSEA Committee Poses Workshops On Human Rights

Annual workshops on all aspects of human rights and an intensified drive to promote minority group interest in leadership of chapters, were among several recommendations adopted last week at a meeting of the Human Rights Committee of the Civil Service Employees Association.

The committee also recommended:
1. That the Employees Association actively work to abolish the one-for-three choice of candidates from the police list, on the grounds that it could be used to screen out minority group members.
2. That CSEA actively support and promote recruitment by the State and local government agencies of employees from minority groups.
3. That CSEA intensify its own efforts to enroll members from minority group employees.

The committee suggested that in order to promote effective leadership participation in CSEA chapter activities, the task force be based from among minority group employees.

Civil Service Laws Need Revision For Police Recruitment

HYDE PARK — Poughkeepsie City Manager Theodore Maurer told members of the Dutchess unit, Civil Service Employees Association, here recently that changes are needed in Civil Service laws to enable cities to hire more policemen and to tell those attending about the plans for a new municipal complex for city government.

The event was the annual installment dinner of the unit, held at the Alpine Restaurant. In charge to offer were R. Matthews Neter, president; Ellis Adams, executive vice-president; Mrs. Beatrice Sheffield, Miss Joan Yeoop, and Ronald Boehm, vice presidents. Mrs. Anne Boheim, recording secretary; Mrs. Lidwine Velt, corresponding secretary and Mrs. Mary LaTolle, treasurer.

Mrs. Minozzi Seeking Contributions For Utica College Library Fund

UTICA—Mrs. Lila Ann Minozzi, coordinator for the Civil Service Section of the Utica College Library Building Fund, has announced that any other State employees wishing to donate to the fund may contact her at the Department of Taxation and Finance, 1000 Genesee St., Utica.

Over-all objective is $1 million toward the new $2.5 million library, teaching and administration campus for the Burrastown Road campus.

Contributions have already been received from the Department of Public Works, District 2;观念 Charles Nicholas Clinton, president; Utica Chapter, Philip J. Caruso, president; and, as an individual depart, the Department of Taxation, Arthur Warkness, district tax supervisor.

Correction Supervisor Appeals In

ALBANY — Salary reallocation requests for supervisory security and rehabilitative positions within the State Department of Correction have been forwarded by the Civil Service Employees Association to the Commissioner of Correction for his review and subsequent transmission to the Division of Classification and Compensation.

The requests, which were prepared by CSEA with the cooperation of the Department of the unlucky supervisors association, concern nine titles. They are:
1. Correction Sergeant, from Grade 15 to Grade 18.
2. Correction Lieutenant, from Grade 18 to 19.
3. Correction Captain, from Grade 20 to Grade 21.
4. Correction Hospital Chief Officer, from Grade 19 to Grade 20.
5. Correction Hospital Security Supervisor, from Grade 22 to Grade 23.
6. Correction Assistant Deputy Superintendent, from Grade 23 to Grade 24.
7. Correction Deputy Supervisor, from Grade 25 to Grade 26.
8. Assistant Deputy Wardem, from Grade 22 to Grade 23.
9. Deputy Wardem, from Grade 23 to Grade 24.

Other ideas

Other recommendations adopted by the Committee were that CSEA representatives be present on a tentative schedule at Washington, D.C. July 18 to 20 to promote Federal personnel legislation, and that the br- laws of the Employees Association be amended to give the Human Rights Committee standing committee status.

The proposed six day workshop would review all aspects of human rights as it applies to the Employees Association and civil service in general, in accordance with a proposal from the State Commission for Human Rights.

The committee has proposed that the workshop include CSEA conference representatives, Human Rights Committee members, field representatives, other CSEA staff and professional people in the field of human rights to outside the Employees Association.

CSEA Victory — Salary Reallocation For Barge Canal Employees

ALBANY—The State Civil Service Commission for more than 300 employees of the State Barge Canal System, the Civil Service Employees Association, was informed.

The reallocations, for structure operators, lock operators, and electrical supervisors were the results of appeals by CSEA from earlier denials by the basic commission and the Division of Classification and Compensation.

The reallocations now must go to State Barge Director T. Mow- hain Hunt, for final approval.

The reallocations also were to overcome a long-standing inequity which resulted from a work-week reduction last year, from six to five days, for employees of the Canal.

The six-day week had been in effect for more than 17 years and, because the State had chosen to treat the sixth day as over-time, the employees actually lost a daily pay in being moved to a work week comparable to other State employees.

CSEA sought to overcome the salary reduction through legislation which would have provided for no loss in pay when the work week was reduced. The legislation sponsored by Assemblyman Joseph F. Feeney, (D, Rockland); and Senator Earl Brydges (R-Niagara) was passed by the Legislature but had not been acted upon.

In commenting on the Commission's action, Joseph J. Feeney, president of the CSEA, said:

"We receive with great pleasure the news of the action taken by the Civil Service Commission. The reallocation of the salaries of those positions presents a more equitable solution to the problem than was offered by the Legislature to guarantee no loss in pay.

"However, he said, "we are pursuing the matter of the denials of Mr. Mastey and Mr. Brodwell in anthropoligical support for those positions and in part by focusing public attention on this inequity.

Under the reallocation, a canal structure operator would go from salary grade 7 to 8; a chief lock operator from grade 11 to 12 and a canal electrical supervisor from grade 13 to 14.

The reallocation takes on added meaning because of the effects of legislation passed earlier this year which empowered State employees whose titles are reallocated. Under this legislation an employee could be moved in to the same salary step or increment he been in his position. Under previous law, a reallocation of only one or two grades could result in the employee being moved down a grade, however, the salary he had been earning for the first year or two in his higher grade.

The Governor's Turn

RECENTLY, this newspaper took note of the fine civil service record compiled by State Police Commissioner Rockefeller during two terms of office. We are happy to be able to show the Governor how he can improve this fine record even further.

The Legislature has now approved legislation that would provide—on a mandated basis—a minimum survivors' death benefit to State workers currently and for manpower and training in the future with a guaranteed half-pay retirement system.

On technical grounds, the Governor now has the opportunity to approve a similar bill with the objections removed. One of the most important bills approved by the Legislature in 1966 was a bill to give State workers a $2,000 death benefit after retirement; a free life insurance policy in effect Rockefeller has already stated his support of this bill.

As we said, the Governor has a fine civil service record—and a fine chance now to improve upon it.

Thanks For The Idea

PUBLIC employees on all levels of government service showed how they are also truly public spirited by pouring in over 3,900 ideas on how to help Mayor John V. Lindsay manage the city's growing manpower problems. The ideas were sponsored by the Jerry Finkelstein Foundation, a fund created by the publisher of The Leader to help various philanthropic and civic causes.

One of the more important ideas received prizes, Mr. Finkelstein summed up the contribution of these civil service employees when he declared that “every one of the ideas has something in it to help our Mayor with the difficult problems facing the world's most complicated City.” Mayor Lindsay said that he would like to give his personal thanks to every one who sent in an idea. And we add our thanks, too.

Dr. Lafave To Head Recruiting

ALBANY—A young Canadian physician has accepted the appointment of director of nursing at the State's expanding mental health system. He is Dr. Hugh G. Lafave. His appointment is a sequel to the Governor's appointment of Dr. Robert E. Schleifer to take over as director of Rockefeller during the past six months, and a confirmation of the Governor's desire to strengthen the mental health field.

Dr. Lafave, 37, has been associate commissioner of mental hygiene in New York City. He became chief of staff at the State's new mental hospital, the State University Mental Health Center, and is also chief of staff at the New York City Department of Mental Hygiene.

His dedication and service to B'nai B'rith is thus gratifying to see.

He has been a member of the B'nai B'rith Medical Society for nearly 10 years, since the inception of that organization.

The case of the FRACTURED "FLYER"

A man went to bed after watching a movie in which the hero was a daring aviator. In his sleep he dreamed that he too was an ace flyer. From the foot of his bed he made a fine take-off but lost altitude rapidly and crashed landed on the floor. He awoke abruptly with a broken shoulder blade. His pocketbook might have fractured too—without his Accident policy.

We admit this might never happen to you, but each year accidents and sickness cost millions of Americans a staggering toll in both disabilities and money.

The C.S.E.A. Accident and Sickness Income Insurance program, administered by Ter Bush & Powell, Inc., covers over 52,000 members. As a group they have already received benefits totaling millions of dollars. It could also pay you an income each month if an accident or sickness disables you.

We will be happy to send you complete information.

100 Year Association CS Awards

Mayor John V. Lindsay presented the 100 Year Association career civil service awards, ranging in value from $100 to $1,000, to five City Service employees.

Receiving the awards, designed to give incentive to Civil Service employees and their families.

Detective Arthur Mandula, Bureau of Criminal Identification, $500 for developing a new method for coding latent fingerprints which permits the use of computers. He opened a new field of positive identification of criminals through fingerprints.

Alain Marlowe, public health educator, Department of Health, $500 for developing effective health educational programs in the Williamsburg-Greenpoint area.

Mrs. Evelyn Cahan, guidance counselor, High School of Fashion Industries, $100 for developing new guidance techniques to aid underprivileged children.

Mrs. Dorothy F. Smith, case worker, Department of Corrections, $100 for her unselfish effort to solve pressing problems of imprisoned women and for her rehabilitation of her former inmates.

Mrs. Ruth L. Tickie, supervising chief, Department of Hospitals, $100 for her efforts to reduce the number of Workmen's Compensation cases and for her efforts to reduce hardship to injured employees by having them retired and employed in jobs that do not conflict with their disabilities.

Also present at the ceremonies were Solomon Bohrman, acting personal director, City of New York; Robert O. Courson, president, 100 Year Association; Curtiss R. Frank, chairman of the Awards Committee, 100 Year Association; Allan Graham, secretary of the Civil Service Commission; Commissioner Georje McGrath of the Department of Correction and Arnold DeBelle, director of recruitment of the Department of Personnel.

Transit Police Protest Tour's Of Late Duty

Det. James H. Rooney, president of the Patrolmen Benevolent Association of the Transit Police Department, called upon Transit Authority employees to join the police in the face of rising resentment and deterioration of morals.

Overburdened by a chart that still requires five weeks of night tours in every six, 132 members of the Transit Police Department, or nearly five percent of the force, have thrown in their lot with December 3 and resigned their jobs.

In the June 1 to 21 period about 94 resignations were submitted in an unprecedented wave that threatened the efficiency of the Transit Authority Police Department and places the fare-paying public in increasing jeopardy, Det. Rooney warned.

Despite the pledge made by Mr. Gilhooley in a speech March 14, no official action has been taken by the transit agency to ensure adoption of a three-platoon system or to restore members of the Transit Authority Police force to a more balanced around-the-clock schedule.

A bill mandating the three-platoon concept and prohibiting more than five eight-hour tours in any seven consecutive-day period has been passed by both houses of the Legislature but still requires the signature of Governor Rockefeller.

It is expected to be sent to the Governor as a 30-day bill upon the adjournment of the Legislature.

BAG OF IDEAS — Mayor John V. Lindsay, right, is seen as he reads one of the more than 3,000 ideas submitted in a contest sponsored by the Jerry Finkelstein Foundation to help the Mayor make New York City a safer, happier place to live. Looking on are Jerry Finkelstein, left, publisher of The Leader who created the Finkelstein Foundation to aid philanthropic and civic causes, and N. H. Mager, business manager of The Leader. The mail bag of ideas was given to the Mayor at a ceremony in City Hall last week.

HOSPITAL PSYCHIATRIC AIDE FETED BY SNOW

POUGHKEEPSIE — Mario A. Piccolo, psychiatric aide of the year of Hudson River State Hospital, was lauded recently by Dr. Herman H. Snow, hospital director, as a "difficult and sensitive individual who helps the children at Hillcrest in such a manner that the children regard him as a second father."

Said to be honored also at a luncheon to be given in Albany by Governor Rockefeller, Piccolo received gifts from his fellow employees at Hillcrest, presented by Dr. Weelymyn Lence of the children's unit; Miss Tharruelle Schwarz, vice president of the hospital chapter, Civil Service Employees' Union; and O. Russell Louter, president of the Dutchess County Society for Mental Health.

The psychiatric aide award was presented by Mrs. Irene T. Shumaker, chairman of the State Association of Mental Health's psychiatric aide project.

out, the leader publisher also presented Mr. Lindsay with a mail bag full of ideas that came from civil servants at all levels of government.

Jerry Finkelstein Praised

Before awarding the prizes, Mayor Lindsay declared that "I wish to thank all my friends as Mayor and personally to Jerry Finkelstein for the wonderful support he has given this administration in helping make New York City a dynamic city it must and will become. For much more than a decade, Jerry has been, himself, a dynamic leader in helping New York a better place to live. This contest, which the Jerry Finkelstein Foundation has sponsored, presents a wonderful opportunity for me in my constant search for new, creative talent to serve our City."

The Mayor went on to say that "I not only congratulate the winners—I want each person who enters in an idea to know that he has my deep thanks and appreciation."

Later, Mr. Lindsay also met and posed for pictures with the winners of The Leader's annual Mass Civil Service Contest. The two events comprised the annual Civil Service Day ceremonies.

Judges

Former City Administrator Maxwell Lehman, spokesman for the panel of judges consisting of himself, Jerry Finkelstein, Deputy Mayor-City Administrator Timothy Costello and former City Administrators John V. Connor, Charles F. Preusse, Dr. Lyle Pitch, Judge Charles H. Tenney and Dr. Luther Gulick, said that the judges had chosen the four top winners on the basis of originality of the ideas, city-wide applicability of the idea and whether the idea would or would not require a large expenditure of City funds. Lehman, Connorton and Preusse were present at last week's ceremonies.

Four Civil Service Beauties Receive The Judgement Of Paris — And Meet Mayor Lindsay

Four beauty queens shared the title of Miss Civil Service as winners of a State-wide competition among government employees, climaxing annual Civil Service Day festivities on Wednesday, June 29. The girls were congratulated by Mayor John V. Lindsay at a reception at City Hall.

Patricia McNamara, 22, Anita Apostolatos, 18, Marilla Mullen, 20, and Susan Stein, 19, representing State, Federal, local and New York City government agencies, were chosen from among the finalists by a panel of judges consisting of Anthony M. Maurillo of the New York City Civil Service Commission, Gustav Saunder of the State Department of Civil Service, Lawrence E. Bell of the U.S. Civil Service Commission and Jerry Finkelstein, civic leader and publisher of The Leader, who sponsored the competition.

Patricia McNamara, of 13 West 13th Street, New York, a deputy clerk in the Federal Court House, represents the Federal division; Miss Apostolatos, of 111 Wardsworth Avenue, New York, a State employee, is a stenographer with the New York State Psychiatric Institute, while Marilla Mullen, of 44 Butler Place, Brooklyn, representing the City, is a teacher at P.S.39 in Brooklyn.

Representing the County, Susan Raskin, 22, Ruff Avenue, Floral Park, Queens, is a typist clerk with the Nassau County Department of Welfare.

In addition to the honors accorded the four beauty queens, the girls carried off such gifts from the Civil Service Leaders as lapel pins and "Gingersnaps," Lily Dale's minx pieces, Jonathan Logan dress, perfume, and basket of flowers.

A LETTER TO H.I.P.

As a Transit Authority employee I was in H.I.P. right from the beginning. A little over a year ago, I had to leave H.I.P. because I moved to Lake Ronkonkoma, and H.I.P. isn’t that far out into Suffolk County yet, I belong to another plan now, and I miss the medical attention I used to get. I haven’t had any blood or urine tests for my condition, and no effort is made to control it. Every visit to their doctor is a Rush, Rush, Hello, Goodbye, one shot, no follow-up deal. There is paper work involved which I didn’t have with H.I.P.

This doctor doesn’t seem to be satisfied with what his plan pays him, and he shows it in his attitude. In all my years with H.I.P. the doctors didn’t seem to resent the Group they were associated with.

In my family, my sister-in-law died of cancer, but H.I.P. spared NO expense to try and save her. My father’s illness was successfully arrested by H.I.P., and he has been enjoying good health ever since. Currently, another sister-in-law has cancer of the neck and H.I.P. has done everything possible, and she too is on the mend.

When the chips are down and the patient has his back to the wall, H.I.P. comes through, without added expense, without burdensome paper work, and with medical attention beyond expectation.

I am patiently waiting for H.I.P. to open a Group Center in or near Lake Ronkonkoma so I can again get first-class medical attention.

State Softball League Opens
Season; Mental Hygiene, Tax,
Conservation Team Unbeaten

The New York State Employees Softball League has begun another season. The oldest and largest softball league in the Capital District, the State Employees have 16 teams and 400 players. Most teams are wholly or partially financed by their local Civil Service Employees Association chapter. Mental Hygiene has won the overall league championship for each of the past two years.

League officers for the current year are: President, Tom O’Reilly of the Department of Tax & Finance; vice-president, Bill Pealy of the Mental Hygiene Department; secretary, Mike Koop of the Department of Public Works; treasurer, John Purple of the Department of Tax & Finance, and public relations, Hugh Schrader of the State University.

Early season highlights have been narrowly missed no-hitters by Researcher’s Vance Bryant and State University’s Charles Paster. Each has pitched victories in which they only gave up two sacrifice hits. Pealy, who has been a member of the CSCEA since he joined the State in 1937, was last year’s batting champion for research in the State Safety Research Center.

Transportation Specialist

The New York City Department of Public Works upset the Mental Hygiene, 14-13, in the Blue Division. They defeated the Education Dept. beating the Public Works, 7-3, for the first time in three years.

To round out the league, Retirement’s has a team batting average of .362 and Correction features a one-armed outfielder, Hal Porter, who got a key hit and started a crucial double play in Correction’s opening game 8-2 win over Engineering.

With all games played on Monday and Thursday at the Shaker Elementary School, the standings as of May 20 were:

BLUE DIVISION

Team | Wins | Losses | .500
--- | --- | --- | ---
Retirement | 5 | 2 | .714
Mental Hygiene | 4 | 3 | .571
Correction | 4 | 4 | .500
Civil Service | 4 | 3 | .571
Public Works | 4 | 4 | .500

GOLD DIVISION

matters of political blunders, which cause legislative tunnel vision directed exclusively at narrow interests. It just never occurs to these myopic legislators that the suburb would witness a designated "wasted land" if it were not for the city's economic generating power.

PUBLIC ADMINISTRATION specialists in the nation's universities have warned again and again over the years that the problems of the city and its suburb are one.

Theodore W. Kerr, the labor arbitrator and mediator who knows a thing or two about a city's problems, says that "the artificial boundaries of our cities are no longer realistic. "What's more, he adds, racial and economic accretions of city and suburb in the United States "are intentionally creating a well comparable to kind of not degree to the deliberate separation entailed."

CS Commission Denies
Park Police Reallocaton

ALBANY—The State Civil Service Commission has announced it had rejected salary reallocation appeals by the Civil Service Employees Assn for Long Island State Park Police.

The appeal to the Commission had been made last January from a determination of J. Earl Kelly, State Director of Classification and Compensation, who earlier had denied requests by CSERA for salary upwardasing of the 170-member force.

The bulk of the affected personnel are traffic and park officers, who CSERA had asked to be reallocated from state grade 13 ($6,300 to $7,420 in five annual increments) to grade 15 ($6,600 to $7,720), while the city police were to be reallocated from grade 15 ($6,600 to $7,720) to grade 19 ($9,285 to $10,485) in five annual increments.

Other titles included in the appeal were sergeant, grade 15 ($7,950 to $9,050) to grade 18 ($8,245 to $9,245) in five annual increments; corporal, grade 16 ($8,500 to $9,500) to grade 19 ($9,285 to $10,485) in five annual increments; and police officer, grade 16 ($8,500 to $9,500) to grade 18 ($9,285 to $10,485) in five annual increments.

In announcing the denial, the Civil Service Department told CSERA that "At its meeting on June 22, 1966, the State Civil Service Commission examined the appeals which you submitted in behalf of the appeals for reallocation and reallocation "and "after reviewing the record in detail and considering all of the factors, the Commission determined that there is insufficient basis to support the reallocation and reallocation requests requested. Consequently, the Commission made no changes in the present classifications and classifications of the affected personnel."
