Winston: Big Spark In 72-62 Triumph; Danes Lead SUNY With 4-0 Mark

by Mike Pikulski

The way St. Bonaventure looks now, you wouldn't expect the Bonnies to last long in the NCAA playoffs. With the Bonnies' second straight 20-win season, Danes' coach Bill Uytenga is anxiously awaiting his team's March Madness. The Bonnies' second straight 20-win season is a remarkable accomplishment, especially considering the fact that they won only 12 games last season.

The Bonnies' victory also marks their second straight undefeated season. They are in position to make a run at the NCAA tournament.

Staten Island (28) doesn't seem to be searching for big in action under the basket. Staten Island played big part in leading Albany to victory Saturday. The host Danes faced Myrick and Wagner, but Wagner was at a disadvantage at the point.

Staten Island went into the game with seven points of Albany. Staten Island closed out the winning in a hurry, and the home team surged to 9.3 for the eight. Result in shooting over 90 per cent from the free throw line and is among the nationals in today's game.

Candidsates Call Mission Morality

Staten Island's jumping ability is a great way to start the season. The Bonnies are in a unique position to make a run at the NCAA tournament. They have the experience and the talent to make a serious run.

Toni Pace's 4.0 mark is a great accomplishment. The Bonnies have made progress in recent years, and they are in position to make a run at the NCAA tournament.

New Strain of VD Catching On

V.D. has caused the death of an additional 35,000 people in the U.S. in the last two years. The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) report that an estimated 2.5 million people in the U.S. are infected with V.D. each year. In 2022, the CDC estimated that there were 1.1 million new cases of V.D. reported in the U.S., marking a slight increase from the previous year. The CDC recommends that everyone get tested for V.D. at least once a year, especially those who have multiple sexual partners or engage in high-risk behaviors.
VP Parker Ordered to Resign; Refuses: "Students Top Concern"

This year SA Vice President Gary Parker has faced censorship, impeachment proceedings, and has been ordered to resign. Ahead is a possible appeal of his suspension and removal from office. What has caused this impasse between Gary Parker and Central Council and where will it lead?

by Jonathan Stump

As their weekly Wednesday night meeting, Central Council voted unanimously to ask for the resignation of SA Vice President Gary Parker.

Citing harassment of students groups and internal traditions stunting the progress of Student Association, they ordered Parker to fulfill his duties and responsibilities required of him, the governing body of the SA executive board.

Parker remained silent throughout the vote proceedings. Immediately afterwards, he launched a defense of the SA executive board, which he said was a prerequisite for the resignation demanding his removal.

As the discussion that followed showed, the tense and heated atmosphere, with Central Council President Tom Donahue speaking on Parker’s behalf, a vote was made to order him to resign.

A similar motion was presented to the SA executive board, which Parker voted against.

While the motion was approved by the SA executive board, it was rejected by Central Council, a move expected to return to the agenda, leading to a possible showdown in the hands of Parker.

"We are not going to let Parker out of the room on this campus," a SA executive board member said.

Parker then said he feels he can work with the legislative body that has been in place for over two years.

"When we are permitted to make decisions, things work smoothly," he said. However, he is not sure if he is the right person for the job, and he would like to see if he can get another term.

"Unfortunately, we have to consider the implications of the decision that has been made," a SA executive board member said.

"If we are not going to lose the confidence of the students, we will not give up," Parker said. However, he is not sure if he is the right person for the job, and he would like to see if he can get another term.

All The Food
That's Fit to Eat

by Neil G. Rivard

Eric Stier, desk worker and philosophy of life, is quoted in an article on the role of food in our lives. Stier, who was quoted as saying that food is a source of comfort and contentment, believes that the way we eat can reflect our personal values and beliefs.

The article begins with a quote from Stier: "Food is a part of our culture, and it is important to understand its role in our daily lives. It is through food that we connect with others and express our emotions." The article then goes on to discuss the various ways in which food can be used to express different emotions and ideas.

The article then goes on to discuss the various ways in which food can be used to express different emotions and ideas. It notes that food can be used to express joy, as well as grief, and that it is important to be aware of the role that food plays in our lives.

The article concludes with a quote from Stier: "Food is a part of our culture, and it is important to understand its role in our daily lives. It is through food that we connect with others and express our emotions."

At the Improv

By NAOMI FREUNDLIEB

"I don't think to go out at The Mason concert! Catechism before the birth of Christ. A Lecture Tour!

The small group of students laughed appreciatively as they viewed the videotape of "The Kite and the Moon," and the tape of Kathy Bates, one of the stars of "The Exorcist." The screening was held in the New York City's concert, was shown University Center. I'm very happy to give you a report on the screening. This evening, you'll notice there's an atmosphere change, so we're looking forward to seeing it.

The Improv, a newly opened club, is a popular venue for comedy and drama performances. The Improv has been running for over a decade, and the quality of the shows has remained consistent. The Improv offers a unique experience for students and visitors alike.

The first performer shown, Bob Shaw, was met with great enthusiasm. Shaw is known for his humorous and entertaining performances, and he did not disappoint the audience.

"My lawyer was asked a book called, "I.O.K." and I'm very interested in it."

Bob Shaw's performance was well received by the audience. Shaw is known for his unique style, which includes improvisation and audience participation.

"Bob Shaw's choice was not just any. "Every time you're not, you're not."

The Improv provides a unique opportunity for students to experience a variety of performances. It is a great place to relax and enjoy a good show.

All you need is a ticket for admission. The ticket price is $10 for students and $15 for non-students.

On Location: Independent Filmmaking

By Stephen Elamovitz

The hallmark of independent filmmaking is in Albany is the support of its filmmakers. The Albany Independent Filmmakers (AIF) have been at the forefront of this movement, providing a platform for filmmakers to showcase their work. The AIF, founded in 1981, is a nonprofit organization that supports and promotes independent film and video artists. The AIF is committed to providing a forum for filmmakers to express their ideas and to connect with other filmmakers. The AIF is also dedicated to creating a community of support for filmmakers and to fostering the development of new film and video projects. The AIF has a strong commitment to diversity and inclusion, and it is committed to providing opportunities for filmmakers of all backgrounds.

In addition to providing a platform for filmmakers to showcase their work, the AIF is also committed to providing resources and support to filmmakers. The AIF provides a variety of resources, including film screenings, workshops, and mentoring programs. The AIF also provides a space for filmmakers to connect and collaborate, and it is committed to fostering a sense of community among filmmakers.

The AIF is also committed to education and to providing opportunities for filmmakers to learn from each other. The AIF offers a variety of educational programs, including workshops, seminars, and film festivals. The AIF is also committed to providing opportunities for filmmakers to learn from each other and to collaborate on new projects.

In conclusion, the Albany Independent Filmmakers (AIF) are committed to providing a platform for filmmakers to showcase their work, to fostering the development of new film and video projects, and to providing resources and support to filmmakers. Luxury Liner

By PETER HOFMAN
Everytime Harris has a voice with such depth, it's always a memorable experience. It's a voice that perfectly complements the music of its source, whether it's a ballad from the past or a new composition. Harris's voice has a unique quality that is both soothing and captivating. His ability to convey emotion through his voice is remarkable. Whether he is singing about love, loss, or anything else, he always delivers with passion and conviction. His performances are always a treat for the ears and a delight for the soul. His voice has a certain quality that makes it instantly recognizable and unforgettable. He is a true master of his craft, and his recordings are a testament to his talent. His voice is a gift, and his recordings are a true reflection of his artistry and skill.

Making Magic Work

This issue of the Albany Student Press marks the birth of the Albany Student Press Corporation. For the ASP, incorporation is the culmination of many years of continued improvement. As a truly separate institution at SUNYA, the ASP will be afforded the threat to objectively report on, and serve the university community. Student Association critics have complained that the ASP is becoming less of a student group as it stands further and further from SA. Such criticisms are absurd. The ASP is, and always will be, student-run and student-managed. The only difference between the ASP and most other student groups is that the ASP consumes none of the student tax dollar. The ASP supports itself, while providing the university with a wide variety of student media for communication — a newspaper.

In an effort to better serve its readership, the ASP has stepped up its publication and recruitment program, giving various organizations the opportunity to be heard. Most recently the ASP has agreed to include the financially troubled Troy Tribune as a regular Tuesday feature. The ASP has no desire to control the contents of the Tower Tribune — it is simply that all materials appearing in the Tower Tribune will still originate from the Office of Community Relations. Rather, the ASP views this as a valuable service for a large segment of its readership. The ASP is often the target of riddle and criticism from its readership. This criticism is appreciated, the riddle is tolerated, while both are expected.

Journalists learn to live with the fact that they will receive few compliments when no errors are made, but be castigated for mistakes. That's the way the business works, and they accept it. It's harder to accept when there's no other compliment to look forward to. An occasional put-on-the-back can help a student journalist grow.

There is a certain magic about newspapers. They seem to appear, out of nowhere, in crisp fresh bundles at the newsstand — or in the Campus Center. We remember the times people breaking their backs to make sure that the magic works. There are editors — students — staying up late in the morning struggling to get the paper finished on deadline so that the magic can continue.

These people are not, nor do they claim to be, heroes or perfectionists. They make mistakes. They also work thirty and forty hours a week to provide SUNYA with a newspaper — and they ask for very little in return.

But damn it, at least they deserve a "thanked."
Learn to read faster

The New England Reading Lab is offering their famous speed reading course to a limited number of qualified people in the Capital District area. The average person who completes this course can read five to eight times faster, and with substantially improved comprehension and better concentration.

This well-known course has taught many thousands of people to read over one thousand words per minute with the ability to understand and retain what they have read more effectively. Average readers can read most novels in less than one hour. In rare instances, speeds of up to 20 times faster have been documented.

For complete details about this famous speed reading course be sure to attend one of the five free orientation lectures that have been scheduled. These lectures are open to the public, and no age is required. Those interested should accompany a parent, if possible, and the course will be explained in complete detail, including class schedules, instruction procedures, and a tuition that is much less than similar courses.

Pups Win Close One

by Mike Polkowick

Gary Rawson's diving drive with 30 seconds left in the game gave the Pups a 30-29 win over the Albany Junior varsity basketball team in the 49-47 victory over Oswego Tuesday night at the Red Dragon home court.

"Gary's got a gut that's impossible to stop," said Albany coach Bob Baker after the game. "I wasn't too happy that you lost them in the first half, but we're happy we won." Baker added that the Pups had scored 10 consecutive points to take the lead 22-17. Oswego outscored the Pups points 7 points at the end, and the Pups were able to come out on top 30-29.

The Pups used a 10-2 run to take a 28-20 lead, and the Pups led throughout the game. The Pups outscored the Oswego in the second half by 6 points, and the Pups were able to come out on top 30-29.
