Administrative History

The University at Albany's Office of International Programs was established in 1964 as the Office of International Studies and World Affairs. In 1971, it became the Office of International Programs. At that time, Former Associate Dean of Arts and Sciences Charles W. Colman became the Director of International Programs. Colman held this position formally until his retirement 1980. He remained in the position as Acting Director until at least 1985. The Office was renamed the Office of International Education before becoming the Center for International Education and Global Strategy in 2015.

Scope and Contents

This collections consists of inactive records of University at Albany's Office of International Programs as well as web archives of its successors the Office of International Education and the Center for International Education and Global Strategy. Many of the files in this collection appear to come from the office of Charles W. Colman, the Director of International Programs during much of the period covered. This collection includes: correspondence, budgets and financial statements, program proposals and site visit reports, student program evaluations, program brochures and reference binders on the various programs retained by the Office. Materials in this collection document a number of overseas academic programs and summer language programs including those based in Nice, France; Wurzburg, Germany Tel Aviv and Haifa, Israel; Rome, Italy; Curenavaca and Guadalajara, Mexico; Moscow, Russia; Coimbra, Portugal; Singapore; and Madrid, Spain.

Arrangement

The Collection is organized into five different series. The first series is made up of files related to the management of Overseas Academic Programs (OAPs), the official name at the time for study abroad programs that the University administered. The second series is made up of administrative records of the Office itself. The third series is made up of the Office's letter files and informational binders the office kept on their overseas programs. The fourth series is made up of Articulation Agreements with overseas universities. The final series is made up of webcrawls of the Office's website.

Processing Information

Files containing personally identifying information removed in 2018 by Miles Lawlor.

Scope and Contents

This series documents the management of the Office of International Programs itself as opposed to the programs it administered. It is primarily made up of correspondence and letter files kept by the Office as well as form letters sent to students interested in International Programs. It contains material related to SUNY-wide International Programs and conferences held with the Directors of other college and university international programs. The series also contains policy statements, program proposals and international program reports.

Office Letter Files and Program Binders, 1970-1979

Date [inclusive]: 1970-1979

Physical Description: 1.66 cubic ft.

Arrangement

Series is arranged in its original order.

Processing Information:

Processing Information

Based on labels and notes written upon the original boxes, these materials appear to be part of a different accession than the materials in series 2. Files in this series documenting day-to-day activities out of retention including student payment receipts, purchasing vouchers and printing requests removed. Files containing personally identifying information including social security numbers and student grades were removed in 2018 by Miles Lawlor.

Scope and Contents

This series is primarily made up of letter files from the Director of International Programs from the time period covered, Charles Colman. This series also contains a number of binders documenting the administration of study abroad programs and are organized by year. These binders include information provided to students applying for these programs, orientation materials, travel itineraries, as well as contact information of students, faculty and support staff overseas affiliated with the program.
