A.A.U.W. APPROVES STATE AS MEMBER

College is Recognized as Standard For Membership in National Organization

President A. R. Proctor announced this week that State college in the first number of bulletins to be placed on the fully approved list of the American Association of University Women. State college has been on the association's eligibility list since 1924 and has been recognized scholastically since that time.

The social status requirement, however, has been met.

Dean Catherine Rogers Allen of Kells college, Virginia, is chairperson of the committee who made the official inspection. Her committee reported favorably on the annual meeting of the association.

Membership in the association automatically takes the standards of a college and makes it eligible for the privilege of being an associate member. Social privileges of the association will be accorded the college upon acceptance of the application for membership.

The state college's application for membership in the association will be delayed until the college's catalog is published in May. The application will be submitted as soon as the catalog is ready.
An Arizona who had witnessed the grand opening of the college was present at the celebration. The college was established for the purpose of training teachers for the schools of the Territory.

The college was founded in 1891 and is located in Flagstaff, Arizona. It is a state-supported institution.

The college offers a variety of undergraduate and graduate degree programs in education, business, health sciences, and other fields.

The college has a strong commitment to providing quality education to prepare students for successful careers in their chosen fields.

The college is committed to providing an excellent education for all students, regardless of their background or financial situation.

The college has a rich history and tradition of community engagement and service.

The college is committed to providing a safe and welcoming environment for all students, faculty, and staff.

The college is dedicated to promoting diversity and inclusion in all aspects of its operations.

The college is guided by a set of core values that include excellence, integrity, innovation, community, and respect.

DR. ELDRED TELLS
FUTURE TEACHERS TO BE UP-TO-DATE
Dr. Arno Eldred, executive secretary of the New York State Teachers' association, was the speaker in the assembly of graduate students who Dr. Eldred warned future teachers not to think they knew everything about their subject, but to keep up-to-date and keep growing. He also said that in our first year as a teacher we shall become the greatest teachers we shall ever be,
which we are, and especially with our first students, the ones we shall teach everything in the first week, but look the spectacle.
Teaching is a profession, a very professional one, even though it is talked of as much as the studying of doctors and lawyers, Dr. Eldred said.
"The teaching profession is in the laws of life, the very foundation of the states," he added.
Dr. Eldred said that New York State stands at the top educationally, being probably, the only state which guarantees its teachers a living wage whatever they may earn. As an organization, the New York State Teachers'association strives to keep up its proficial ideals of the profession, and is one to which every teacher should belongin, he said. Eldred added.
Eleven More Seniors
Get Teaching Positions
Eleven seniors have scored teaching positions for next year, according to Dr. Fredric H. Cowles, head of the music department, and members of the placement bureau. William Nelson will teach English at Allegheny. Mr. E. M.
Brooks, mathematics at Shreve. Mary Putnam and Marcia Hold, sophomores-
