Forum To Hold Quiz Program

Forum is planning a "de dreary" program for the student body. The true and false statements will consist of pronouncing a statement true, false, or nonsense; a rough estimate may be obtained of one's knowledge of current events.

At the meeting Wednesday, Vern Simons, "I imagine that Forum sponsored Americanization classes for new citizens. Shirley Wurz, "I have had the honor to study to conduct such classes, we would be cooperating with the community, which is doing a great deal to help us. We should like to contribute to a community need during this busy period next semester.

Among other activities, Forum members are doing research on Congress, Government, and the World War II. This research is necessary for the forums in the first and second weeks of January.

Illustrated Map In Art Exhibition

Main feature of the art exhibition tonight at 7:30 p.m. in the Seabury Memorial Hall is an original illustration of the state of New York. The principal features of Orange County during the revolutionary period are included in the information which formed the basis for research. The whole display was organized by the art department and included artists and art students.

Two Added to Soc Husse Staff

Two new Sophomore desk editors have been added to the staff of the Daily. They are Edna Marsh and Mary Louise Reynolds. These two have acted as feature writers during their first year. Both have been selected by the News board after they reviewed the first two plays, The Skin of Our Teeth and The Caucasian Chalk Circle.

Jerks in ERCs Will Get the Works

"The change in the rules is a change in the works," said J. Michael Hippick, "but not in the jocks."

WAC State Fair Slated for Feb. 6

Booths, Stand, Kit Entertain Students

One of the most important events of the semester will be the State Fair held in the Youman Gym on Friday, February 6. This Fair, sponsored by the Women's Auxiliary of the United States Army, was designed to provide college-side activity for the purpose of uniting the family and the student body, as well as to raise money for War activities on the campus.

The spirit of the groups involved will have charge of an event this afternoon and evening. By Wednesday, final plans will be submitted for approval. The group will be under way immediately.

College Banquet Held In Syracuse

Seven representatives of the college administration and faculty attended the annual meeting of the Associated Secondary School Principals of New York State at the Hotel Statler in Syracuse.

The highlight of the evening was a traveling salesman's lecture given by J. Allan Hicks, professor of guidance, whose topic was "Crusaders Are Not Conspiring." The entertainment for the evening was provided by the Syracuse College Chorale, under the direction of Dr. Robert Frederick, President of the College.

Miss Stokes Likes Student Cooperation, Optimistic About War Activities

By Jane Heath

"I am fascinated by them," remarked Miss Stokes, "and I think the first time they stopped talking long enough to get a good look at me, they were amazed and took an inordinate liking to me." Her eyes still shone with excitement and she was radiant with happiness.

"These lectures will benefit everyone," she continued. "Our students will be well informed and well prepared for the most important career they will have in their lives."

Miss Stokes has an avid interest in the effect of the war and is optimistic about the future of the war. She believes that the war will end with the defeat of our enemies.

"I am sure that our students will be well prepared for the peace-time period," she said. "We must keep our eyes on the future and plan for the time when peace will come."
No Tax On Spirit

This is a plea to State College students. It is a plea for something that demands attention—more than ever.

In a few weeks a weekly percentage of the male students of this college will be leaving to go into a phase of their lives they have not known before. They are leaving a school life in which they were able to make a mark of which they shall always have more than a healthy pride, and they are leaving home for the first time, but only for a few weeks to come, not for an appointment.

What every student has in common, however, has been the opportunity to enjoy himself. This is not to say that he did not make mistakes and suffer the unpleasantness of many disappointed hopes, but it is a fact that he has also come in contact with the realities of life and the significance of the sacrifices that his college life gave him.

We are not here to exhort the college of continuing our education in our present environment. We are not here to argue the case for or against the value of college life. We are here to say that if you have an opportunity to go to college, use it. If you have the ability to do so, take advantage of it. It is an opportunity that is not available to everyone.

Put This In Your Pipe

It is time for something to change. A new era is dawning. It is time for us to take charge of our lives and our destinies. It is time for us to make our own choices and live with the consequences of those choices. It is time for us to take responsibility for our actions and to be held accountable for them.

Natives and Half-Natives

All of the Natives and Half-Natives have an equal right to the advantages of State College. They have the same opportunity to succeed as any other student. They have the same potential for greatness. The only difference is that they are from different backgrounds. This does not mean that they have to be different in order to succeed. It means that they have the same opportunity to succeed as any other student.

Practical Religion

In this week's issue of The Loyola, there is an article by the Reverend Professor James O'Brien on the subject of practical religion. He discusses the importance of practical religion in the life of the individual and in the life of the community.

Sports Chatter

The basketball tournament is still in progress. The men's and women's teams are both doing well. The men's team is currently ranked second in the state, while the women's team is ranked third. Both teams are playing well and are looking forward to the remainder of the season.

Flighting Cross for Extraordinary Achievement

James Potter, a graduate of the Class of 1942, has been awarded the Flighting Cross for his extraordinary achievement in the field of aviation. He is currently serving in the Navy and has been awarded the Flighting Cross for his service there.

In a Letter to Soldier

The Editor of The Loyola had the honor of receiving a letter from a soldier stationed in a remote area. The soldier expressed his gratitude for the support and encouragement he has received from The Loyola and from his family.

The best gift you can give me is the gift of your love. You have given me the greatest gift you could have ever given me. Thank you for your love. Thank you for your support. Thank you for your prayers. I love you. I will always love you.

'State Fair' Tomorrow Evening to Provide Finances, For War Activities on Campus

Finance Board Asks Activities To Cut Expenses
Decreased Enrollment Causes Budget Set-Back

Profs. Prophesy and Predict—Air Thoughts Concerning Students

Nelson Releases Reserve Data; ERCS Will Go About Feb. 10
Each person ordered in active service will receive a flat rate of $100, which will be deducted from the budget-based enrollment, and will also be subtracted from the cost of tuition. These deductions are to be made in order to provide funds for the war effort.

Nelson's statement is made in the context of the budget-based enrollment, which takes into account the number of students enrolled in order to determine the amount of funding allocated to the university. The budget-based enrollment is an important factor in determining the amount of money the university can allocate to various programs and activities.

Straight Facts—Nelson Enacts Ban On Slacks

Nelson has recently enacted a ban on slacks for all students, effective immediately. The ban applies to all male students, regardless of their grade level or major. This decision was made in response to concerns about the impact of slacks on the university's image and reputation.
