To the Editor:

We, the undersigned, have a number one: the time is always convenient; the time is always right. It would be a great mistake for the university to start a new program now. The time is not ripe. The people are not ready. The needs are not great enough.

Why doesn't the college accept the will of the people? The people are not ready. The time is not ripe. The needs are not great enough. If the college wants to do anything, let it do it now.

Sincerely yours,
