Danes Run Out of Time; Cortland Wins, 20-14

By Therese Powers
The Danes fell victim to a last-minute effort by the Red Dragons in last Saturday's game. Cortland's 36 yard line the one time Albany had possession six times in the first quarter, they turned the ball over on down twice and with less than a minute on the clock, they were called offside. On the second play, Armstrong missed but the Danes were able to put points on the board. Armstrong's extra point also went through.

Women Netters

The Danes are off to a fine start in the SUNYAC women's tennis championship. Through the first week of action, Albany is 3-0 in the conference with wins against Fredonia and Binghamton.

Freedom of Information Challenged

The new FOIA would change the method of obtaining national security information through the Freedom of Information Act. It would also affect the way in which the FOIA is often used to skirt that purpose. By Claude Pimentel

The candidates spoke on topics ranging from budgeting to public safety. Touhey and Fred Dusenbury at Thursday's debate held last night.

Women Netters

Fredonia had a very strong showing in the Albany game plan right off the bat. The Dragon power backs. Bob Ncaring displayed his versatility out of the backfield, catching four passes and running for 111 yards on the day. Chuck Priorc and Rob Ncaring for the Red Dragons. Cortland's Robert Armstrong scored the only touchdown of the game on a 46-yard field goal.

Run Nearing described his return to the lineup against Central Park as "fine." He was held out of the lineup against Central Park because of an injury.

Homecoming Events Bring School Spirit to the Campus

by Jake Mountain

The Homecoming season is in full swing, and Schenectady is buzzing with activity. The homecoming games, which are held on the 26th and 27th of October, are eagerly anticipated by students and fans alike.

A Pep Rally is held on the 26th, and the Homecoming Dance takes place on the 27th. Both events are sure to bring a lot of excitement to the campus.

The homecoming games feature the Schenectady High School football team facing off against local rivals. The games are always intense, and the crowd is packed with students, alumni, and families.

The Homecoming Court is also selected during this time, with the students voting for their favorite candidates. The court members are featured in the Homecoming Dance and in the Homecoming Parade.

The Homecoming Parade is another highlight of the season. It features floats, marching bands, and the Homecoming Court. The parade route takes students through the center of campus, where they can celebrate with their classmates.

In addition to the games and events, there are also a variety of other activities taking place on campus. The annual Fall Festival is held on the 26th, with food, crafts, and music.

The Homecoming season is a great time to be a student at Schenectady. The campus is filled with excitement, and there are so many fun activities to participate in. Whether you're a student, alumni, or just visiting, you're sure to have a great time at Schenectady during homecoming season.

Albany politics. A sort of thinly disguised threat is all too common in business with his political friends.

During the past five years, as a member of the board of education, I have seen at close range how politics in Albany affects even the lives of school children.

Earlier this year, the city spent $20,000 more than it had to for bullet-proof vests which were bought from a commissioner who runs a clothing store that usually sells blue jeans. Another recent example—you can buy Lysol at the Price Chopper for 76 cents for a five ounce bottle, but the other brand is sold for a commission at $2.07 for the same five ounce bottle.

I want to put an end to this sort of corruption, and I want to bring about a new era of excellence. The people of Albany want a change, and I'm running for mayor.

Students have so much to offer to this community. In the Community Service Program alone, over a thousand students each year contribute their time to more than 200 community organizations.

We need to use the human resources to make our city administration, and with your help, I know we can make it happen.

It's time for a new generation of leaders. Vote Tuesday, November 3.
Questions To Ponder

Andrew Rosenthal

To the Editor:

I feel this is a most importan issue and if we do not act now, I believe we will continue to see the effects of it for years to come. We must act now to prevent further harm to the students who are being affected. By taking action now, we can help to ensure a better future for all who are affected.

I urge everyone to take the time to read this letter and to consider the issues that are being raised. We all have a responsibility to act in the best interests of our community.

Let's work together to make a positive difference.

Absurd Points?

To the Editor:

I agree with the idea of having more student involvement in the decision-making process. However, I believe it is important to have a clear understanding of the goals and objectives of the program.

Meet The Men Who Move The Many!
Tomorrow is Community-University Day, a time for administrators to introduce people on the campus, and for kids to introduce themselves to their parents. It's also a time for the University to bond with the Albany area, a relationship that has seemed tenuous over the years. Which makes a point advertised as a festival of friendship and culture, why haven't the University advertised it, if anyone?

Two years in the planning, one day in the making, but they're ready now. An August homage to the arts on the first day of the year.

Newman Stays A Step Ahead

On your AM radios, Eddie Rabbit and Kenny Rogers seem to be the next "big" thing in country music.

But there's another talented musician, a woman from the University of Wisconsin and before graduating the famed choreographer, who also seems to be the next "big" thing in country music.

We told him you were a Post-Modernist, and he said, "Go West, Young Man." What Newman does is blend conventional elements with an unpredictable twist. The result is dance music with a highly unconventional wit.

Newman exhibited her approach to making music greats that should not be overlooked, but country music is kind of going crazy.

That's the swing thing about laws. They change constantly. And although changes are made, the word still remains. It's not always easy to keep up. Laws don't change, but a law that works for one group now might not work for two groups today. But there's always room for ideas when it comes to the law. It's important to know that the law is there. And if you need to know what the law is, then you should know where to go. Job search is a process in which you try to get as much information as possible about the field you want to go into. Of course, there are many different ways to get this information. You could go to court and try to get a release, but you can't always do that.

Spikers Continue Winning Ways

By Michael D'Inello

"We should have played better," new Coach Pat Dwyer described Albany State women's volleyball team's poor performance last Saturday.

The Danes may not have played up to their potential, but their performance was still strong enough to place second in their pool and to earn a berth to the regional tournament.

The Spikers had a late match with Vermont in the semi-finals. Although both schools played well, the Danes were able to win both matches.

The Albany women had a hard time with the Vermont defense, but according to Dwyer, "the team was able to break through and to play the game that we should have played."

Women Booters Beaten in Sudden Death, 2-1

by Mark Gourley

Although the women's soccer team will gain nothing from their final game of the season, which they lost 2-1 to Hartford on Wednesday, they did win the fight for the season’s most valuable statistics.

The first of these was a team attitude, which was epitomized by the performance of the goalkeepers, who kept the game scoreless into the second half. The second was a team spirit, which was evident in the way the players responded to the loss of their leading scorer, Sarah Kerinitis, to a red card early in the second half.

The women’s team, which is now 3-3 for the season, will not move on to the playoffs, but they did show that they can compete with the top teams in the country. They just need to work on their offense, which has been inconsistent throughout the season.

The game against Hartford was a hard-fought, physical battle, with both teams playing to the best of their abilities. The women’s team, however, was unable to translate their efforts into goals, and they paid the price.

The men’s team, which is now 6-7 for the season, will move on to the playoffs with a win over Macalester next week. They will need to play better if they want to make a run in the tournament.

The Mid-East is the Focus of Walters

by Elizabeth Reich

The Mid-East is the focus of Walter Walters, an assistant professor of journalism at SUNY Albany.

Walters, who has been teaching at SUNY Albany for 20 years, said that the region is important for several reasons.

First, it is home to many news organizations.

Second, it is a region with a rich history.

Third, it is a region that is often overlooked by national news organizations.

Walters said that he believes it is important for journalists to focus on the Mid-East, and that he hopes to see more coverage of the region in the future.

Two Groups Take NRC to Court

by Laura Baker

Two groups have taken the Nuclear Regulatory Commission (NRC) to court, claiming that the agency is not doing enough to protect the environment.

The groups, the Environmental Defense Fund and the Natural Resources Defense Council, filed a lawsuit against the NRC on Tuesday, claiming that the agency is not doing enough to ensure that nuclear power plants are safe.

The groups are asking the court to order the NRC to strengthen its regulations for nuclear power plants.

Judge Delays Citizen’s Suit Against Controversial Mall

by Marc Schwartz

A judge has delayed a citizen’s suit against a controversial mall.

The citizen, who is suing the developers of the mall, said that he is concerned about the impact of the mall on the local environment.

The developers of the mall, who are seeking to build a large shopping mall in the area, said that they are confident that they can work out any environmental concerns.

The judge, who had originally scheduled a hearing for the case, said that he wanted to give the developers more time to address the citizen’s concerns.

The developers said that they would work to address the citizen’s concerns, and that they hope to resolve the case before the hearing.

The citizen said that he is disappointed by the judge’s decision, but that he will continue to fight for his concerns.
