Danes’ Second Place in ECACs Ends Season

Edge Oswego in Opener; Hamilton Wins in Final

BY LARRY KAHN

The Albany Great Danes opened the East Coast Athletic Conference tournament on Friday afternoon with a 97-84 victory over Oswego State, the No. 8 seed, and followed it up Saturday afternoon with a 70-66 win over Hamilton, the No. 3 seed, to advance to their third straight appearance in the NCAA tournament.

Although the art results were reversed, the games were very, very close.

In the opener, the Danes led the Wolves 36-31 at halftime and then mounted a 19-9 run in the first 6:57 of the second half to put them in the driver’s seat en route to a 97-84 win. The Big East averaged more points per game than the ECAC this season and the Danes were no exception, leading the conference in points scored with 89.8 per game.

As for Hamilton, it was the Danes’ third straight victory over the Continentals and the first time that the Danes have taken three straight games from a single opponent.

In the final, the Danes had to overcome a 40-36 halftime deficit and then proceed to come back to win 70-66. The Danes have now taken seven of their last 10 games and have won three in a row.

The Danes will now face St. Lawrence or Union in the NIT and will have a chance to become the first ECAC team to make the Final Four.

Two Students Sue Campus Exxon for Damages

BY FELICIA BERGER

Two students at the University of New York at Albany have sued the Exxon gas station on Western Avenue in Albany for alleged negligence.

The students, who are both members of the track team, claim that they were injured when they slipped on a puddle of water outside the gas station.

The station has denied the students’ claims and has stated that it will not be liable for any damages.

Pizza May Become a Grad Hall

BY SHERRY COHEN

University President Daniel Greenberg has announced that a new graduate hall will be built on the campus.

The hall will house the graduate students and will be named in honor of outgoing President C. Donald Brumbaugh.

The hall will be a six-story building and will include classrooms, offices, and a large dining hall.

The announcement has been met with mixed reactions.

The Danes Rebuild

BY MARIE SCHUMACHER

The Albany track team has been reborn, and an individual and team effort has been at the heart of its success.

The team has been led by head coach Jim Walls, who has been with the team for 15 years.

The team has also been helped by the addition of several new members, including senior Chris Smith, who has been a star performer.

The team is currently ranked 17th in the nation and is expected to improve its ranking in the coming months.

The track team has a bright future, and the team is looking forward to the challenges ahead.
A man said it kills so swiftly it freezes victims and that it lacked sufficient evidence for the charges. But the Vatican has been accused of covering up for decades. Since the mass graves were opened, in an area near the Jordan River, little has been done to investigate the charges.

Meanwhile, Prime Minister Rehavam Ze'evi, who is due to form a right-wing government in the next few days, has accused the Vatican of ignoring the evidence. He said the Vatican has been actively involved in the affair and that it has sought to cover up the truth.

Nick The Nice

With baby steps, S. Russell's newest novelty curry house wows with the fine food it offers. The menu is a feast for the eyes and palate, with dishes that range from classic Indian curries to modern fusion favorites. The service is attentive and the atmosphere warm and inviting. Russell says his goal is to provide a space for people to come together and enjoy good food and good company. "We want to create a place where people can relax and feel comfortable," he says. "Whether you're here for a date night or a casual meal with friends, we want you to feel at home." Russell's passion for cooking and sharing his heritage is evident in every dish he offers. The menu is constantly evolving, with new dishes added regularly. From the signature dish of Russell's House Special, a hearty curry with spices and ingredients that reflect his family's roots, to the more experimental dishes like his Roasted Vegetable Curry, Russell is always looking for ways to push the boundaries of traditional Indian cuisine. "We're not just serving traditional curries," he says. "We want to bring something new and fresh to the table." Russell is also committed to using the freshest, highest-quality ingredients, and he sources his ingredients from local farmers and producers when possible. This focus on quality and sustainability is reflected in his menu, which is carefully curated to highlight the best flavors and ingredients. Russell's dedication to his craft is evident in every bite, and he invites everyone to come and experience the magic of Nick The Nice for themselves. "Whether you're a fan of traditional Indian curries or looking for something new and exciting, we have something for everyone," he says. "We can't wait to share our love for food and culture with you."

Defend Yourself

To the Editor:

In response to Vic the Cop's letter, I think that the local police department is doing a good job in enforcing the law. However, I believe that the department could do more to protect the women on this campus. I think that the police department should consider setting up a workshop for women to learn how to defend themselves in case of attack. This would help to prevent sexual assaults and other crimes against women.

More On El Salvador

To the Editor:

I agree with Mr. Schwartz that there is an urgent need to provide economic aid to El Salvador. However, I think that the United States should also do more to promote democracy in El Salvador. The current government has a history of human rights violations and repression. We need to support political reforms that will help to create a more stable and democratic society in El Salvador.

Place In The Sun

Today's the first day in many days not enough to spend outside. It might be a good idea to go to the beach and grab a pitcher of your favorite drink before you head out. It's a great way to enjoy the warm spring sun. This is what landscaping is all about — friends, beer, and an ASP editor!

With some luck, winter may be over. This winter has been some of the worst in decades. Many parts of the country are still recovering from the effects of the blizzard.

It's been a long, cold winter.

The daughter of a liberal American grew this winter. Thousands of people died in the wake of the huge storm. The U.S. government has been criticized for its slow response.

President Reagan's economic program is continuing to fulfill its intended purpose — increasing unemployment and higher inflation. But the plan is not a permanent solution. President Reagan's economic policy is continuing to fulfill its intended purpose — increasing unemployment and higher inflation. But the plan is not a permanent solution.

One of the country's best known scientists died this winter. John Smith didn't. Unfortunately, he missed this winter's snow color.

Reagan decided to retain his predecessor's program of draft registration. At the cost of the "peace" period that the president so generously allowed at home, he put his people back on the other side of the world. The Soviet Union has not been left alone.

It's been a long, cold winter.

Dear Editor:

I am writing today about a problem very close to home. Our local police department has been slow to respond to calls for help. This is unacceptable and needs to be addressed.

Future Looking Bright for Rebuilding Danes

By LARRY KAHN

Thrash our hopes for the Danes was expressed when the 1981-82 season opened, with Coach Dave Adams' ninth team being graduated and making the next step toward national championships before a Penninsula rolled into University of Buffalo for their first conference game. The Dragons, 101-61, but star forward; 37-pointing player; 14 points for the right to be seeded first in the regionals.

An overtime win over RPI proved one for rebuilding for the Danes. Much was hoped for, but little was expected from the 1981-82-82 season. Hartwick, started it. They knew that boasted a combined 64-18 record for the past three years, three teams would be used to national prominence for the first time for 16 years. This year Valentine organized a new league to replace the old one, the Danes finished at 18-10 and the point guards were the backup guards on a team that was expected to make the playoffs. Cortland also beat Potsdam on the road to the NCAAs. It was generally agreed that if they won one game in the national championship, the guys knew they could make the playoffs.
